

Democratic Sentinel

FRIDAY DECEMBER 11, 1885.

The President's Message will be found on our inside pages, to-day. It is lengthy, but is well written, and treats in detail, in a business-like way, the great questions presented for the information and action of Congress. Taken as a whole—it meets the expectations of the friends of the President, and dumbounds his partisan adversaries. Read it.

We have heard quite a number of Republicans speak in flattering terms of the President's Message. Our neighbor suggests no objections, and can only urge against it that "talk is cheap," etc.

With the Executive and Senate heretofore, and the Senate now, to obstruct any efforts of the Democratic House to secure measures of reform, and legislation for the relief of the people, radical papers have the dishonest cheek to say to their readers: "The Democratic administration is doing very effective work in perpetuating and aggravating the hard times." See Republican of yesterday. The fact is the "hard times" are chargeable to radical misrule and legislation and are "perpetuated and aggravated" by the radical majority which prevails in the United States Senate.

When this Democratic National Administration removes a Republican from office and appoints a Democrat to the vacancy the Republican organs set up a howl all along the line.

The Treasury Surplus.

The opposition party for several months has been declaiming savagely that the Treasury surplus has been allowed to accumulate, instead of, as heretofore, being applied to the extinguishment of the public debt. But we deem the action of the administration in this respect as in the highest degree statesmanlike. The country has been going on the road to liquidation too fast, and the excessive quantity of reduction has been a strain upon the industries of the country, cumbered, as they are, with debt, and the necessity of individual legislation. Nothing, in our opinion, could be more wasteful in view of the stringency of money than to draw funds from active employment through taxation in order to pay a debt, costing but 3 and 4 per cent, in the way of interest. Of course the Treasury accumulation, unless applied soon on such public works as are imperatively needed, would even be more idle than it would be if applied to the public debt, but this is not the course contemplated by the administration, which, for several months has been preparing to lay before Congress an extensive scheme for the rehabilitation of the navy, establishing a secure line of coast defense, and the improvement of our river system; perhaps, also, a canal across the isthmus.

Aside from the possibilities intended by the administration, and that may be decided by Congress, it is clear to all who have given any attention to the causes that underlie our industrial stagnation, that this would be exactly the course that should be followed. It is equally clear that money expended upon needed public works would not only flow into the channels of trade, but would serve the extra, and at this juncture, important service of giving employment to the host of idle men, whose present losses far exceed any possible saving that might accrue through its application to the public debt. Som. such impetus as this is ie quired to raise the wheels of enterprise from out of the rut, financial and industrial, they have gotten into; and the use of the public money in creating those forces of the navy and our foreign commerce would bear fruit far into the future, while the public debt is in that healthful condition now that it no longer needs to absorb the total attention of the Government.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Let our neighbor derive consolation from the above, and rest content.

W. H. Vanderbilt died suddenly Tuesday last, in New York, of apoplexy.

Senator John Sherman was elected President pro. tem. of the Senate, and Mr. Carlisle was re-elected Speaker of the House, in the organization of Congress.

LAST CALL FOR 1885.

All persons knowing themselves to be debtors of Ralph Fendig, either by account or note, are most urgently requested to call and settle during this month, as on January 1st, 1886, I shall put all notes and accounts into a collector's hands.

RALPH FENDIG.

Fair and Festival.

The ladies of St. Augustine Catholic Church will give a Fair and Festival at the Opera House on the evenings of December 21st, 22d, 23d, 1885, to assist in defraying the debt on the church. Everybody cordially invited. There will be songs, recitations, essays, etc. Admission, 10c.; Supper, 15c.

By order of COMMITTEE.

Commissioners' Court is in session. Mr. Tabor, the new member, appears to be a prudent, honest, wide-awake and intelligent business man, and will no doubt look carefully after the interests of the county.

William Wallace went to Lafayette, Friday of last week, to make arrangements to go South to spend the winter, and while going to the Wabash depot was stood up by three men and robbed. He returned to Rensselaer Saturday.

A number of large snow-plows have been constructed and placed at different points on the L. N. A. & C. RR. Evidently this road does not intend to be snow-bound at any time this winter.

Jake Kettering was brought in from Remington by Deputy Prosecutor Douthit and ex-Sheriff Powell. Jake coveted Treat Durant's cow, and hence is in trouble.

Mr. S. A. Henry and wife accompanied Hon. R. S. and Mrs. Dwiggins to Florida.

Goodland Herald:—The women's era-sade has opened in Goodland. Last Thursday about a dozen ladies called at Peter Trudeau's saloon, and expostulated with the clerk about his unhealthiness, the proprietor being absent.

Indianapolis Sentinel:—The L. N. A. and C. people are on the lookout for an independent entrance into this city, and it is understood that they are favorably inclined to the canal tow-path, owned by the water works Company. The west route leads down the canal several miles, thence divides and makes a belt connection, thence into the city, perhaps along the I. D. and S. right of way. The east route would bring the road near the turnpike. No route has yet been selected. Whatever decision is reached, the company expects to establish yards and other important facilities, probably on the East Line.

A Card to Ladies.

A lady who suffered for years, and who was treated by the most noted physicians in America without relief, was given a simple remedy by a Russian nurse which permanently restored her to health. To aid her sex, she now offers to send free the recipe, with full instructions for making the medicine yourself, at home without expense. If you are suffering with any form of female disease, do not throw away time and money on doctors and patent medicines, but inclose a stamped envelope (addressed to yourself), and receive a free cure. Address, Mrs. CLARA B. WRIGHT, 75 E. Eagle Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

It is evident that Leopold means business, and everybody would do well to avail themselves of this opportunity of saving 25 per cent. on all goods sold by him.

The Chicago Grocery, R. F. Priest, proprietor, is now in full blast, in the Williams-Stockton block. Extensive stock, new, fresh and at prices that defy competition. Everybody respectfully invited to call and see for themselves.

It is a notorious fact that Leopold gives greater bargains than any other house in town. Call and examine for yourself.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS!

I sell the McCormick machines, and the Jno. Deere Plows, in all styles; am agent for the Studebaker Wagons and Buggies. I can, on short notice, furnish any desired style a man may want, made to order. All work warranted.

The book accounts and notes of Roberts & Bro., are in my hands. Any one wishing to settle can find me at Kannal's Drug Store, or L. C. Grant's Blacksmith Shop, on Front street. Thankful for past favors and patronage, I hope to see you often. I am

Yours, Respectfully,
CHAS. A. ROBERTS.
November 9th, 1885.

Since Leopold reduced prices on all his Dry Goods, Clothing, Boots and Shoes below all competition, his goods go off like hot cakes.

F. Priest, at the Chicago Grocery, wants a chance at your Butter, Eggs, and country produce generally. Farmers, give him a call.

Special Invitation!—Everybody is respectfully invited to call and price my goods, and I will guarantee that out of every 25 customers 24 will be bound to buy of me, as I have reduced my entire stock to such prices that they will feel constrained to purchase unless they have money to throw away.—I mean business, and am determined to secure, by the above method, new friends. Do not be misled, but come at once and convince yourselves of the truth of this statement. Very respectfully,

A. LEOPOLD.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for January is received, exceeding even itself. It is the finest number we ever saw. It has two splendid steel-engravings, either worth the price of the number. Every mother will be in love with the one called "The Little Gardener," and every heart will beat sympathetically with "Homeless." The mammoth colored fashion-plate, engraved on steel, and colored by hand, is a marvel of beauty and taste. A colored pattern in Berlin-work is also given—a most exquisite affair, that would sell at retail for fifty cents. In a edition, there are some fifty other illustrations, including several very fine ones in an article on "Damascus." The stories, if possible, are better than ever. Two thrilling novels are begun: "The Millionaire's Daughter," by Ann S. Stephens, and "The Cedar Swamp Mystery," by Jane G. Austin. "Under a cloud," by Lucy H. Hope, is also an unusually powerful tale. Besides these, there are stories by Frank Lee Benedict, by the author of "Josiah Allen's Wife," and nearly a dozen others, all original. The Works-Table department with its patterns in embroidery and all kinds of fancy-work, is very full, and profusely illustrated. As we have often said before, every lady ought to take this magazine. The price is but Two Dollars a year, with liberal deductions to clubs, and costly premiums for getting up clubs. How the publisher can afford it so cheaply is a marvel, and can only be explained by its immense circulation. Specimens are sent gratis, if written for in good faith. Address CHARLES J. PETERSON, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia Pa.
