Secretary of the Treasury Manning has resigned.

Read President Cleveland's message containing his objections to the service pension bill. The President evinces the courage of his convictions.

Jameson, republican general superintendent of the railway mail service, has resigned. This will no doubt open the way to rejuvenation of all branches of the service.

Secretary of State Griffin with beaming eyes concluded he would accomplish what the republicans in joint convention had failed in, and at first refused to attest Gov. Gray's commission to Judge Turpie. The Governor gave him to understand he would give him until Monday for the performance of that duty. He signed it.

DIFFERING IN OPINION.—Commenting upon the President's veto of the service pension bill the Republican papers of this county thus refer to it:

Rensselaer Republican: The President, who has already shown that he is utterly devoid of sympathy for the union soldiers, and their families, has vetoed the pension bill," etc.

Message: President Cleveland has returned to Congress the service pension bill, with a lengthy message setting forth the reasons for his disapproval of it. The press has not been moved to make any great deal of comment upon the action. Especially have the papers of Republican politics been silent. As regards local comment, the preponderance is largely in approval of the President's course in this particular case.

There is a growing sentiment that pension laws might be enacted more general in their application, more beneficent to recipients, by equalization without reference to rank, the amount granted being graded in favor of the wounded and those suffering from disability and disease incurred in the service. The people will be slow to censure Mr. Cleveland for the conscientious discharge of duty. He clearly and fearlessly sets forth his objections to the bill in question in his message which may be found on another page in to-day's Sentinel.

"The state is flat broke and borrowed $60,000 Tuesday, from the university endowment fund to keep the state government running until a million dollar loan can be made. Too much democracy is the cause the shortage.—Republican.

The building of new Hospitals for the Insane and the reconstruction of the Soldiers' Orphans' Home "is the cause of the shortage," and the Democracy cheerfully accepts the opprobrium attached to the expenditure on these ey for these and other necessary improvements. Of the $6,006,608.34 owing by the State the Republican party created $4,829,783.22, as shown by the State Auditor's report. The debt was created in 1867, 1868 and 1873, when the Republican party had full control of the State. The Democratic administration borrowed $1,160,000 last year, and it has gone into the construction of the new State-house and the new Hospitals for the Insane and other improvements, which is shown by the record. Now what did the Republican party do with the $4,829,783.22? Can the Republican tell what its party did with the money for which they issued those bonds amounting to nearly $5,000,000? How did it expend the money? It constructed no public buildings. Every institution in the State has been constructed under Democratic management except the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, which was commenced under Morton's administration, and it comes with exceeding bad grace from one of the organs of the Republican party of Jasper county to raise a howl about the indebtedness of the State when its own party created nearly $5,000,000 of the $6,000,000 of the indebtedness and left nothing to show for it.

It is reported that Miss Mary Baker, the Monon fasting girl, on the 105th day commenced taking nourishment and that she will probably be restored to health.

Democratic State Treasurer Cooper delivered to his successor every dollar charged against him, and the opposition are inconsolable.

"Masks and Faces" was originally produced in this country at the Chambers Street Theater under Burton's management. Burton was the Triplet of the first cast, but his debut in the part was not all that the great comedian and manager had hoped. He had just finished his first long run of "Toodles," and the audience on the first night of the new play seemed to see and hear Toodles only in everything that Triplet did or said, for they laughed and roared every time Burton came on the stage and every time he opened his mouth. They had no respect for his most serious "mugs" nor for his most solemn utterance. They took it all in as a new phase of his fun, and the distress of the poor devil in the last scene, where Trippie, starving in his garret, is trying to write comedy, surrounded by his miserable family, brought their laughter to a climax.

Burton could hear it no longer. He had turned and sworn within himself all the evening, but, no longer able to conceal his anger and chagrin, he broke out before the public. He advanced to the footlights, and with the tears of Triplet still streaming down his face, but dropping his assumed character, he exclaimed, in a tone between a growl and a sob: "D-d funny, ain't it? Wife dying—children starving! D-d funny, ain't it?" But the remonstrance was of no avail. The audience only roared the louder, and Burton retired back to his part in disgust and finished it amid convulsions of laughter over his most pathetic speeches. The next night he gave the part to Charles Fisher, who since became the only great representative of the character in this country.—Boston Advertiser.

BOSTON HIGH CULTURE.—She was a Boston girl and was receiving New Year's with a friend in Washington.

"Ah, Miss X," said an esthetic lieutenant, who had just been presented, "you are from Boston, I believe."

"Yes, that is my home."

"Delightful place, Boston. So intellectual. So classic, I may say. Such elegant people. Such an air of refinement permeating every environment. Nothing loud; nothing coarse; nothing vulgar. Delightful, delightful!"

"You bet your life it is," she replied innocently, "but as far as I've got, I think Washington takes the

When they got the lieutenant out of the wreck he started to make out an application for a pension.—Washington Critic.

Death of the Recorder of Newton County.

Kentland Gazette.
 It is with great sorrow that we announce the death of Elisha Parsons, recorder of this county. He died at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday, of hemorrhage of the lungs. He has been in very poor health for some time. On last Saturday the first hemorrhage occurred, the same recurring again on Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday morning, the latter resulting in his death. Few men in Newton county were better known than Mr. Parsons and none were more highly esteemed.

WHAT TRUE MERIT WILL DO.
 The unprecedented sale of BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP within a few years has astonished the world. It is without doubt the safest and best remedy ever discovered for speedy and effectual cure of Colds, Coughs and the severest Lung troubles. It acts on an entirely different principle from the usual prescriptions given by Physicians, as it does not dry up a Cough, and leave the disease still in the system, but on the contrary removes the CAUSE of the trouble, heals the parts affected and leaves them in a purely healthy condition. A bottle kept in the house for use when the diseases make their appearance, will save doctor's bills and a long spell of serious illness. A trial will convince you of these facts. It is positively sold by all druggists and general dealers in the Ind. Price, 75 cents large bottles. 10.52

A Mean Trick.
 The subject of actors' vanity might yield endless stories. Everybody knows that it is a failing that runs down from the highest in the profession to the lowest "sup." Pardon me for an illustration from the lowest round. It was in one of Lawrence Barrett's Boston engagements, and the hero was the useful actor whose duty it is to come on and say to Barrett, "Forgive me, master, I slew your horse," whereupon Barrett strikes him down. The heroic Lucullus was one day chiding a friend for not coming to see his performance. "Why, me boy, it's the great hit of me life," said he. "My fall last night took the house right off its feet; it was simply immense. They were bound to have me before the curtain, but just as I was going on Barrett shoved me out of the way and took the call himself. It was a d-d mean trick."—Cor. Minneapolis Tribune.

Nevada is the paradise of the school teacher, where the average salary is $100 per month for males and $75 for females.

FREE TRADE.

The reduction of internal revenue and the taking off of revenue stamps from Proprietary Medicines, no doubt has largely benefited the consumers, as well as relieved the burdens of home manufacturers. Especially is this the case with GREEN'S UGUST FLOWER and BOSCHEE'S GERMAN SYRUP, as the reduction of thirty-six cents per dozen, has been added to increase the size of the bottles containing these remedies, thereby giving one-fifth more medicine in the 75 cent size. The AUGUST FLOWER for Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and the GERMAN SYRUP for Cough and Lung troubles have perhaps, the largest sale of any medicines in the world. The advantage of increased size of the bottles will be greatly appreciated by the sick and afflicted, in every town and village in civilized countries. Sample bottles for 10 cts. remain the same size 11-1

Very Remarkable Recovery.
 Mr. Geo. V. Willing, of Manchester, Mich., writes: "My wife has been almost five years, so helpless that she could not turn over in the bed alone. She used two bottles of Electric Bitters and is so much improved, that she is able now to do her own work." Electric Bitters will do all that is claimed for them. Hundreds of testimonials attest their great curative powers. Only fifty cents a bottle at F. B. Meyer's. Aug 29-2.
