

FRIDAY, JUNE 17 1887

Entered at the postoffice at Rensselaer, Ind., as second-class matter.

Our neighbor of the Republican seeks to establish the truth of his statement concerning the appointment of a successor to Dr. Harrison of the Insane Hospital, by giving the opinion of the Indianapolis News on that act. The honest reader will prefer to accept the controlling reasons as expressed by Gov. Gray himself, and published in our Sentinel last week.

Our neighbor has fallen deeply in love with John Sherman's tariff reduction theory, to-wit:

Reduce the tax on sugar to the extent of about 52 millions yearly, and give the sugar producers $10,000,000 yearly out of the national treasury as a bounty.

And how about our other infant industries. Does Mr. Sherman propose to reduce the tariff and establish the bounty theory in the cases of all? The "wisest and most statesman-like plan will never make John Sherman President.

The Rensselaer Republican is exasperated over the indictment of the high-toned Carnahan, chairman of the Marion county Republican Committee, by the Republican grand jury of the Federal Court. It says:

"There is not only absolutely nothing criminal in the circular, but nothing, even censurable in it. The indictment of General Carnahan was an outrage and his trial will be a farce."

The indicted democrats are held on charges similar to those against the lame-tell Carnahan, and not for forging tally-sheets. The proof will have to be forthcoming in the cases of the Democrats, while Carnahan's tell-tale circular is in possession of the court. At present Sim Coy is happy, and jocosely remarks that he and General Carnahan are paired. Not so with Carnahan and his sympathizers—there seems to be no bounds to their indignation.

The Rensselaer Sentinel says that Stanton was a coward and a tyrant. That's the way Voorhees used to talk about Lincoln, who was Stanton's chief. The Sentinel is resurrecting the copperhead sentiment of twenty-five years ago. Monticello Herald.

And, Billy, here is a sentiment expressed by Stanton about the time you refer to. He declared President Lincoln to be the—"Original Gorilla. Du Chaillu was a fool to wander all the way to Africa in search of what he could so easily have found at Springfield, Illinois."

Billy, how do you like the above coarse, insulting sentiment of Stanton, the subordinate, toward President Lincoln, his chief?

This was the same Stanton whose inhuman conduct and references to the brave "boys in blue" suffering in southern prison pens, drew from the Republican Governor of Pennsylvania (Curtin) his most bitter execrations accompanied with the request that he "resign as Secretary of War, and go to hell where you ought to have gone thirty years ago."

There is plenty of correct record now coming to light in the publication of the papers of the cabinet and other officials of Mr. Lincoln's administration which go to substantially prove that the President and the people were misled and deceived by these men in their efforts to brush aside the eccentric and obstinate selves in power. The papers left by Sec.

retary of the Treasury Chase, Secretary of the Navy Welles, Postmaster General Blair, and others, confirm many of the surmises and charges of the Democratic press, during the war, and are anything but complimentary to the ability, the wisdom, the patriotism, the humanity and the loyalty of E. M. Stanton.

It is now reported that the drive well case recently decided by the Supreme Court, authorizing the collection of a royalty on all drive-wells put in previous to 1885, was not a test case, but a "straw" case, and that the case on trial that was expected to settle the question, has not yet been decided. Hence it may be well for those receiving the circular letters demanding the immediate payment of the $10 royalty to investigate a little before paying the amount demanded.—Michigan City Dispatch.

For several weeks past the Sentinel has been reiterating the charges against Secretary of State Griffin of willfully violating the law in omitting to publish an abstract of the Treasurer's report in connection with the acts of the Legislature. The conclusive answer to the charge was that no report of the State Treasurer was submitted to the General Assembly as required by law.—Indianapolis Journal.

It is not a conclusive answer. The Secretary of State has nothing whatever to do with the State Treasurer's report so far as the publication of the acts are concerned. The financial statement required by the Constitution is to be obtained from the State Auditor's report. Will the Secretary of State and the Journal never learn that the Auditor is the State's book keeper.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

The Goshen News stops its press to announce the following stubborn fact: "It is extremely difficult for newspapers to build up a town when the town does nothing to build up the newspapers. Every boast made by a newspaper that business is booming when it hasn't the advertisements to back up the assertion is a dead give away."

Indianapolis Sentinel: "If the Carnahan secret circular to Republican election officials was such a harmless piece of paper as the Journal endeavors to prove why was it that one of those officials, in his frantic efforts to carry out the instructions of his chief, was forced to hide the tally-sheet upon his person, jump from the window of the polling place and run like a quarter horse to elude the Democrats on the watch for Republican rascality."

"Democracy and ignorance always go hand in hand."—John Sherman.

Shades of Lize Pinkston and other prominent Black Republicans!

"Advertise by the year," said an old experienced business man.—"It is cheaper and yields a better return in proportion to the money invested. An advertisement should always be before the public. If it disappears it is soon forgotten. Those who remain before the public have the advantage and superiority in the way of competition. There is only one excuse for the discontinuance of an advertisement, and that is retirement from business."

John Sherman has one set of opinions for the north and another for south.

ENJOY LIFE.

What a truly beautiful world we live in! Nature gives us grandeur of mountains, glens and oceans, and thousands of means of enjoyment. We can desire no better when in perfect health; but how often do the majority of people feel like giving it up disheartened, discouraged and worn out with disease, when there is no occasion for this feeling, as every sufferer can easily obtain satisfactory proof, that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will make them free from disease as when born. Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint are the direct causes of seventy-five per cent. of such maladies as Biliousness, Indigestion, Sick Headache, Costiveness, Nervous Prostration, Dizziness of the Head, Palpitation of the Heart, and other distressing symptoms. Three doses of AUGUST FLOWER will prove its wonderful effect. Sample bottles, 10 cents. Try it.

TRIANGULAR TRADE.

Every farmer as well as business man knows how convenient it sometimes is to make a three-cornered trade—that is, to make a "turn," as it is often called. Jones has a cow which Brown wants, but he doesn't feel like paying cash, and he has nothing to trade for it that Jones wants. In a few days he discovers that Thompson has a colt that Jones wants, and is willing to take in exchange for the cow, which it happens that Thompson does not want. He also discovers that Thompson does want the very pigs that he has to spare. So they strike up a three-cornered trade.—Brown gets his cow, Jones his colt, and Thompson his pigs. It is an even trade all around, and they are satisfied.

Sometimes the three corners of the trade are not all fixed at the same time. Thompson has a read, bought the pigs and given his note for them. Brown trades the note to Jones for the cow. When Jones presents the note, Thompson offers the colt in payment, and Jones takes it. A great many such trades are made in small villages. Here we can see them and grasp the whole situation. But how many of us realize that ninety-nine hundredths of the world's trade is three cornered, or four cornered, or more cornered, with deferred payments on some of the corners?

A large part of our foreign trade is hat way, and that is the reason the statistics of it are confusing to many people. It is in this three or four cornered trade that the protective tariff gets in its work and does damage that cannot be seen at a glance by superficial people. A very interesting case in point is our trade with Brazil. We may be able to make it clear.

It is nearly all done in British ships. A ship loads up with coffee at Rio Janeiro. It sails north to New York and unloads its coffee, but it doesn't load up with American manufactures and go back to Brazil. It loads up with American farm produce and goes eastward to Liverpool. There it unloads its grain or provisions, and loads up with British manufactures. Back it goes then to Brazil with them, and unloading them, loads up again with coffee.

It makes this round trip in the same direction every time, just as the ball goes round in a three cornered game. If you want to send anything to Rio Janeiro you often have to send it round by the way of England, because that is the way the ships go. A few of them go straight to Brazil, but they make it a point to charge as much as you would have to pay the long way round. They are American ships. And with all that advantage of a chance to charge as much for direct carriage as other ships charge which have to go across the ocean and back, they still want subsidies.

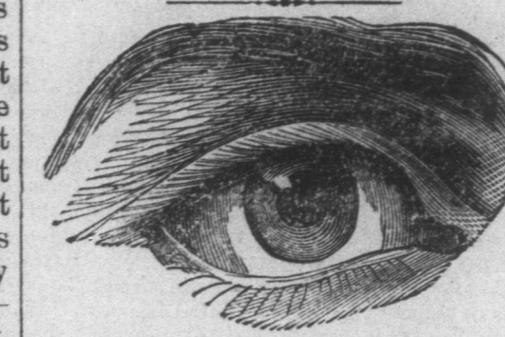

Now the Brazilians have no prejudice against us. In fact they are rather prejudiced in our favor.—As an American manufacturer just returned from there remarked to us the other day, they "like everything U. S." We have all the advantage of their prejudices. We might have an immense direct trade with them. We buy of them goods worth $50,000,000 a year, and sell $8,000,000 worth a year. We might just as well make it an even trade. We pay the balance in British manufactures because our own are tariffed up too high. We pay for these British manufactures in farm products which we are compelled to send over there in competition with India and the lowest priced labor in the world.

This is the mystery of our triangular trade with Brazil. Ship subsidies will not reduce the triangle to a straight line. A triangle it will be while our tariff handicaps American manufactures and puts them at a disadvantage as compared with those of other nations.

And who gets the profits? The trade is done all around with English capital, in English ships, all under English insurance. The commercial profits are all English. The freight earnings are English. We and the Brazilians are simply so many customers. The merchant is the Englishman. It is our tariff that makes him so.

The Englishman is also the manufacturer and in this case he is such, also, by virtue of our tariff. And yet it is pretended that this tariff is our best way of fighting England, and building up America. The absurdity of the pretense has often been exposed. The effect is exactly opposite. We are fighting ourselves and building up England; and if American protectionists do not know it, English free traders do. They are not helping their cause in this country. They are laughing at our folly.—The Million.

AFTER THREE YEARS, Dr. Tufts, the scientific Optician, is now again Rensselaer. His office is at Nowels House. Dr. Tufts is the only practical Optician that examines the eye free of charge. He then scientifically fits the spectacles for each person's eyes. His patrons are the best families from town and country. It costs nothing to consult him.—He remains here one week only.

Probably the largest barn in the world is at Popino, Neb., and owned by the Union Cattle Company of Cheyenne. It is 700 feet long and 276 feet wide, covering between four or five acres.

DRS. STARKEY and Palens' advertisement of Compound Oxygen in this issue of this paper should be read by all of our readers. The cures which this treatment is effecting are almost miraculous. In the few years since its discovery they have treated in all parts of the world upwards of fifty thousand patients. Thousands of these have given testimonials that they are cured, and a large proportion of the others report great benefit from its use. Their offer to send a two hundred page book free, giving a history of the treatment, with a large number of testimonials, is a liberal one. Read the advertisement and send for the book now.
