

Democratic Sentinel

FRIDAY, AUGUST 19 1887

Harper's Weekly which occupied a position of much prominence and to a very large extent contributed to the anti-Blaine defection from the republican party in the last presidential contest says:

"The mugwumps in supporting Cleveland against Mr. Blaine in 1884 walked largely by faith. In supporting Cleveland against Mr. Blaine in '88 they walk by sight. Whatever his mistakes, and however his course may have disappointed certain ardent expectations, no sagacious observer can doubt that Mr. Cleveland is much stronger with the people of the United States than he has ever been and that the very character of the opposition to him shows that his adversaries are conscious of the fact."

The New York Herald, independent, says: "The great body of the people, including a large contingent of the Republicans are more than satisfied with the present Democratic Administration. It means caution, stability and prosperity. And a great body of the people, including a majority of the Republicans, are tired of this everlasting chatter about the bloody shirt, with all that the words imply. They are disgusted with the Tuttle threats of violence and the sickly palsies of Fairchild. If, therefore, the administration takes its position definitely on the necessity of reducing taxation, and the Democratic party backs it up by redeeming the pledges it has already made, the Waterloo of 1888 will be reserved for our friends, the 'enemy.'

S. S. Cox on the Flag Episode.

From a brilliant speech of "Sunset" Cox, at the Tammany Hall celebration on the 4th of July, we print the following extract:

"Time rolls along! A quarter of a century elapses! A new generation appears! Slaves are counted one for one in the representation. The amendments of the constitution are unquestioned. The south is fraternal; they vote pensions to their late enemies; they meet together, as at Gettysburg, upon the old fields of strife, to renew their pledges to a united country—are proud to recognize the sentiment of Cicero—one thought for the republic! (Cheers.) The flags of the battle lie moulderding in the attics of the war department. A tender—illegal, but generous—is made of these new symbols of the unhappy strife, when lo! a cataclysm that has no parallel for violence, noise and quake since the world began! A party without an issue, a party without hope, seizes on this innocent and clement thought to arouse into flame the embers, almost fireless, of sectional hate. I can find no parallel or illustration for the unseemly performance. I beg par' on. I have one:

"Last summer it was my pleasure to live in one of the isles of the Princes. It is called Prinkipos. It is a few miles below Constantinople in the sea of Marmora. It is a sort of Saratoga for pleasure and health seekers, set on a mountainous island of pines—a Paradise—a new south, bursting out of the old and harried Pontus! There was one drawback to the pleasure of Prinkipos. The Isle, like that in Shakespeare's 'tempest,' was full of strange noises—not the nightingale in the evening, nor the cocks at dawn, nor the shepherds or the vendors of fish, nor the dry cicada, nor the flap of the American flag in front of our legation. These were pleasures, and they did not interrupt my morning dreams, but hark! when the sun paints in gold and purple the Asian mountains, I hear an equivocal sort of brute. Is it the distant thunder of Jove from Mt. Olympus, in sight of our Isthmus train across the channel? It starts afar! It approaches! It is—No? Yes? It is the grand diapason of longed laughter.) It frights the isle from its propriety.

"Be it known that the isle is full of donkeys. They carry water and vegetables—and tourists—up and down and over the mountains. I am not unfriendly to the donkey. He has a good name for patience and industry. I was familiar with them in and out of congress. I admire their courage. They can whiz a California grizzly. Most of those who are donkeys don't know it, and therefore they are donkeys. (Laughter.) When they know it they are donkeys. (Laughter.) The Republicans don't know it. (Laughter.) But I must draw the line on some of his qualities. I draw it on the bray. When Jack salutes his Jenney, though miles apart, then the jubilee of noisy affection begins. It is an infernal concert, amorous, jocund and ear-benumbing. It starts with an exaggerated case of asthma. (Laughter.) This rasps your soul. The beast loses, then catches, its breath with a harsh, squeaky sibilance, until a roar as of forty hungry lions comes to its relief. (Laughter.) All the powers of wheezy, waistling, grasping suction are exhausted. Then follows terrific expirations of the bellowing monster. (Laughter.) Suction and emission—repeated with 'damnable iteration'—until the noise dies in an agony unutterable. I used to hear when a boy the creaking of the untarred wheels of the Conestoga wagon from Pennsylvania. I have lately heard the screaming shadoof turned by blind buffaloes, pumping the Nile upon the fruitful land of Egypt, but never before or since have I heard such a diabolical concert as this braying of the donkeys of Prinkipos—until Foraker got the asthma about the flags and Fairchild got palsy, and John Sherman got booh. (Roars of Laughter.)

In Brief, and to the Point.

Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.

The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.

Greasy food, too h food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.

But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.

Remember: No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

A CARD.

The undersigned takes this method to express to the people of Rensselaer and surrounding country, my most sincere and grateful thanks for the very liberal patronage they have bestowed upon me, during the twelve years in which I have been in the furniture business in this town. I would also state that I have just sold and transferred my entire stock of furniture to J. M. Hopkins, an old and well known citizen, whom I most heartily recommend as a gentleman in every way worthy of your confidence and patronage. I will remain with Mr. Hopkins for a few weeks, and hope during that time to meet there all of my old friends and many new ones.

Very Respectfully,
CHAS. G. SEARS.

A Sound Legal Opinion.

E. Bainbridge Munday, Esq., County Atty., Clay Co., Tex., says: "Have used Electric Bitters with most happy results. My brother was also very low with Malaria Fever and Jaundice, but was cured by timely use of this medicine. An satisfied Electric Bitters saved his life."

Mr D I Wilcoxson, of Horse Cave, Ky., adds a like testimony, saying:—He positively believe he would have died, had it not been for Electric Bitters.

French Lick and Baden Springs are located 80 miles Northwest of Louisville on the "Monon Route." The cures effected by using these waters, even in the most severe cases of Scrofula, Bright's Disease or Rheumatism, are immediate and lasting. For analysis, illustrated pamphlets, &c., address E. O. McCormick, Gen'l Pass'r Agent, Adams Express Building, Chicago, Ill.

Don't Experiment.

You cannot afford to waste time in experimenting when your lungs are in danger. Consumption always seems at first, only a cold. Do not permit any dealer impose upon you with some cheap imitation of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, but be sure you get the genuine. Because he can make more profit he may tell you he has something just as good, or just the same. Don't be deceived, but insist upon getting Dr. King's New Discovery, which is guaranteed to give relief in all Throat, Lung and Chest affections. Trial bottle free at F. B. Meyer's Drug store. Large Bottles $1. 6

A grand excursion to Chicago, over the L. N. A. & C., is announced for Tuesday, August 30th.—Fare for round trip, from Rensselaer, $1.50, for one day; $2.50 for two days. Train will pass Rensselaer at 8:50 a. m., and will leave Chicago, on return, at 11:50 p. m.

The Coming County Institute.

The Annual Teachers' Institute convenes in the Rensselaer public school building, next Monday. All circumstances indicate that the institute will be one of the largest and best ever held in the county, and that is saying a great deal. The principal instructors for the institute will be Prof. R. G. Boone, professor of pedagogics in the State University and Prof. Carhart, professor of English Literature in DePauw University. These will be ably assisted by Profs. Reubelt and Nicholson, superintendents of Rensselaer and Remington schools, respectively. The published programs of the institute show that every evening of each week has been provided for with an entertainment or lecture, except one, and something will, doubtless, be improvised that will profitably and pleasantly fill that void.

DRS. STARKEY and Palens' advertisement of Compound Oxygen in this issue of this paper should be read by all of our readers. The cures which this treatment is effecting are almost miraculous. In the few years since its discovery they have treated in all parts of the world upwards of fifty thousand patients. Thousands of these have given testimonials that they are cured, and a large proportion of the others report great benefit from its use. Their offer to send a two hundred page book free, giving a history of the treatment, with a large number of testimonials, is a liberal one. Read the advertisement and send for the book now.

D. LANGE'S ASTHMA AND CATARRH REMEDY.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS,

Having struggled 20 years between life and death with ASTHMA or PHTHISIS, treated by eminent physicians, and receiving no benefit, I was compelled during the last 5 years of my illness to sit on my bed and do nothing but breathe. My sufferings were beyond description. In despair I experimented on myself by compounding roots and herbs and inhaling the medicine thus obtained. I fortunately discovered this WONDERFUL CURE FOR ASTHMA AND CATARRH, warranted to relieve the most stubborn case of ASTHMA IN FIVE MINUTES so that the patient can lie down to rest and sleep comfortably. Z. M. Carson, A. M., Warren, Kan., writes: "Was treated by eminent physicians of this country and Germany; tried the climate of different states—nothing afforded relief like your preparation."

L. B. Phelps, P. M., Griggs, Ohio, writes: "Suffered from Asthma 40 years. Your medicine in 3 minutes does more for me than the most eminent physician did for me in three years."

H. C. Plimpton, Joliet, Ill., writes: "Send Catarrh Remedy at once. Cannot get along with it. It will be the most valuable medicine I have ever tried."

We have many other hearty testimonials of cure or relief, and in order that all sufferers from Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever, and kindred diseases may have an opportunity of testing the value of the remedy, we will send to any address TRIAL PACKAGE FREE OF CHARGE. If your druggist fails to keep it do not permit him to sell you some worthless imitation by representing it to be just as good, but send directly to us. Write your name and address plainly.
