

A Base-Ball Sermon.
The Rev. Mr. Woolsack, popularly known as "The Deacon," in his sermon up the creek last Sunday, as reported by the Oil City Derrick, made a few remarks pertinent to base-ball. Pointing out of the window at a game in progress on the adjoining Wilson flats, he said: "See that loafer with the bird-cage on his head standing like a straddle-bug behind the bat. He is not desecrating the Sabbath day by playing ball, because he isn't playing ball. He can't play. He imagines he can, of course, and goes through all the painful contortions of a real ball-player, but in the Devil's score-book he is charged ten times over for every error he makes, and a nice record he will have when the season is over and the time for his eternal rest should be at hand. It will be a sorry rest for him."

Just then some one made a long hit and a shout went up from the crowd.
"Yes, hoopla!" yelled the deacon, raising his voice above the din, "hoopla till the cows come home, but unless you raise your voices in hosannas to the Lord you will never reach the shining home-plate of everlasting life. That was a long hit to center, and I give his nibs there credit for taking it in, but the Devil will take him in just as slick on the last inning of all. You may send in your curved balls, and smash the leather in the nose to the right or to the left field; you may steal from bag to bag and slide in home on your pantaloons, but finally you will get a goose egg in the kingdom to come. Aye, pound on the pearly gates with your base-ball bat, but if there is a shadow of a Sunday game on it down to the eternal roast you go. Saint Peter careth not whether you belong to the Snapdragons or Whangdoodles; if you swing your festive willow and pound the bags Sunday salt-peter will not save you. There goes another long hit to left, and another howl goes up from the assembled multitude of dudes and loafers. Chase the ball; aye, leg it until your ungodly heels beat a tattoo on your coat-tails, but my word for it the Devil will never get away from my elbow. Old Clotie is a base-runner and a ball-chaser himself, and he will stay with you until his own dominions freeze over and have to be abandoned for an ice pond." The deacon made a few more remarks, exhorting his hearers to shun the seductive ball-field and the trout-pond Sunday, and announced services next Sabbath morning and evening at the red school-house in Sugar-creek.

They Meant Business.
Girl's brother (while girl is dressing to receive company)—What is a snide, Mr. Jones?
Girl's beau (who has just called)—A snide? Well, my boy, I can hardly tell you.

Girl's brother—Well, I guess I can. Girl's beau—Well, what is a snide?
Girl's brother—Well, a snide is a feller that comes up to the house every night and burns coal oil and coal in the stove and never says to Mamie when shall you name the day, that's what Mamie says a snide is.

Girl's beau—And does Mamie say that?
Girl's brother—She does, and she told pap last night to give you a booting if you don't propose to her.
Girl's beau—She did?
Girl's brother—She did, and you should see her eyes flash when she said so.

Girl's beau—Good heavens! Well, I must be going.

Girl's brother—I wouldn't advise you to go. The bull dog's untied and pap's in the yard with a shot-gun.

Girl's beau—What must I do?
Girl's brother—Propose to Mamie.

Girl's beau—And if I don't your father is to boot me, the dog is to be set on me, and I am to run the risk of being shot besides?

Girl's brother—Yes. You have been teaching Mamie the various definitions of kissing for a long time. Pap says that there is only one definition of marriage and that definition is splice. If you don't splice to Mamie father says he will break your back.

Girl's beau—Let us have peace. Let darling Mamie come in and we will have the ceremony performed at once.

Painless Regulation.
It is no longer a question of doubt—although the contrary was once believed—that medicines which produce violent effects are unsuited to other than desperate emergencies. In other words, that super-potent remedies are calculated to weaken and injure the system rather than reform its irregularities. Among medicines of debilitating effect are cathartics and cholagogues which copiously and abruptly evacuate the bowels. Because it does not do this, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is preferable to the drenching class of purgatives. Painless in its effects, it is sufficiently active to remedy chronic constipation. It relieves by invigorating the intestines, and enables, not forces, them to perform the duty imposed upon them by nature. Promoting the secretion of bile in normal quantities by its healthfully stimulating effect upon the liver, it is eminently conducive to digestion, and contributes in no small degree to keep the bowels regular.

A Greedy Old Girl.
During Queen Victoria's reign—may her shadow never grow less; it can't grow very much greater—there has been added to her realm 7,260,000 square miles of territory, and the population she controls in her colonies has been about trebled. This is why our big-hearted mother country shudders with horror every time she sees any other nation casting greedy eyes upon an island in the Arctic Ocean, forty miles square. If Victoria—God save the Queen—reigns another fifty years, God save the rest of us. She would by that time own so much of this earth that the British possessions would stick out beyond the edges half way to the moon, and all the H factories in the universe would be running on time.—Burdette.

Mrs. W. K. VANDERBILT has a great antipathy for cats.

Easily Satisfied.
"Money, my dear young friend," said an elderly adviser, "doesn't alone bring happiness in this world."
"I know it doesn't, sir," responded the young man, frankly. "It only brings terrapin, and small bottles, and trips to Europe, and canvas-backs, and lying abed late in the mornings, and taking tailor-made girls to the opera nights, and all that sort of grief and misery. Give me a contented mind and, say, $20,000 a year, and somebody else can have the money," he concluded, with fine scorn.—Life.

In the thirteenth century Pope Honorius III., in order to conceal a disfigured lip, allowed his beard to grow, and inaugurated anew the fashion, which became prevalent in Europe in the age of Francis I. The right of the clergy to wear their beards was then again disputed. In 1561 the College of Sorbonne decided that a beard was contrary to sacerdotal modesty.

The Poor Little One.
We often see children with red eruptions on face and hands, rough, scaly skin, and often sores on the head. These things indicate a depraved condition of the blood. In the growing period children have need of pure blood by which to build up strong and healthy bodies. If Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" is given the blood is purged of its bad elements, and the child's development will be healthy, and as it should be. Scrofulous affections, rickets, fever sores, hip-joint disease, or other grave maladies and sufferings are sure to result from neglect and lack of proper attention to such cases.

A YOUNG physician, being asked by a friend why he did not hang out a shingle, replied: "Oh, I don't believe in signs, you know."

"Consumption Can Be Cured."
Dr. J. S. COMBS, Owensville, Ohio, says: "I have given Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Hypophosphites to four patients with better results than seemed possible with any remedy. All were hereditary cases of Lung disease, and advanced to that stage when Cough, pain in the chest, frequent breathing, frequent pulse, fever and Emaciation. All these cases have increased in weight from 16 to 28 lbs., and are not now needing any medicine."

Why should the letter "d" always be introduced into a family? Because it makes "kin" kind.

Prof. W. HAUSNER, the famous mesmerist, of Ithaca, N. Y., writes: "Some ten years ago I suffered untold agony from chronic nasal catarrh. My family physician gave me up as incurable, and said I must die. My case was such a bad one, that every day, towards sunset, my voice would become so hoarse I could barely speak above a whisper. In the morning my coughing and clearing of my throat would almost strangle me. By the use of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, in three months, I was a well man, and the cure has been permanent."

THOMAS J. RUSHING, Esq., 2908 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I was a great sufferer from catarrh for three years. At times I could hardly breathe, and was constantly hacking and spitting, and for the last eight months could not breathe through the nostrils. I thought nothing could be done for me. Luckily, I was advised to try Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and I am now a well man. I believe it to be the only sure remedy for catarrh now manufactured, and one has only to give it a fair trial to experience astounding results and a permanent cure."
