

FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 30 1887

Entered at the post office at Rensselaer, Ind., as second-class matter.

We regret to learn that the Brimfield, Ill., News C. F. Overacker, proprietor, was destroyed by fire last Monday night. The fire is said to have been the work of an incendiary.

FOR CUMBACK AND HARRISON.— Senator Simeon Peter Thompson, of Rensselaer, and Attorney William Darroch, of Kentland, are at the Grand Hotel. Senator Thompson said to a Sentinel reporter last night that the Republicans of Northern Indiana were for Cumback for Governor and Robertson for Lieutenant Governor. He also thought that Senator Harrison would have the solid Indiana delegation to the next National Republican Convention. In speaking of the election of Senator Turpie, Senator Thompson said he gave up that fight last Ground Hog day when Mr. Turpie was declared elected.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

Let's see! Cumback! The very same fellow denounced by the late Gov. Baker with having approached him with "indecent and corrupt propositions." Well, Cumback, William. The Republican politicians may endeavor to cancel their obligation to you, and make you the nominee, for your efforts to transfer the prohibition vote to them in the last campaign. But then the Democracy will tan your hide. Depend upon it this is the "God's truth of the business."

In the face of absolute knowledge to the contrary, the Democratic Sentinel repeats its assertion that the Tippecanoe county commissioners who made the index contract were Republicans and that the indexing work that had accumulated under Republican Auditors," etc.—Republican.

"In the face of" the cheap assertions of the Republican, the Sentinel, upon the strongest presumption of facts "repeats its assertion that the Tippecanoe county commissioners who made the index contract were Republicans and that the indexing work that had accumulated under Republican Auditors." The "assertions" of the Republican don't go for anything with the Sentinel.

Referring to us, Bro. Marshall says:

"He is a Democrat from away back, he is."

Very true, Brother Marshall, and it is matter of great pride with us. It is certainly a grand party, that can trace its organization to Jefferson, the author of the Declaration of Independence, and acknowledge as leaders Madison, the author of the Constitution, Monroe, Jackson, Polk, and others down to the present time. England, not satisfied with the result of the Revolutionary War, sought again, in 1812, to give the matter a final test. The patriotic Democratic Administration of Mr. Madison piloted the country through that contest with honor, victory perched upon the banners of Old Hickory at New Orleans, and lasting peace followed. Under the Democratic Administration of Mr. Polk a foreign war was waged to a successful termination, an insolent foe brought to terms, and indemnity for the past and security for the future yielded. It remained for the advancement to power of the opposition to bring about civil war. Yes, we pride in the Democratic party and its history.

ONE TO BE REMEMBERED

lected by a ballot of the two Houses of the Virginia Legislature, a deputy to the convention at Philadelphia.

Before the meeting of the convention he prepared himself for the discharge of his novel and important duties by examining the history of Governments, both ancient and modern, and noting all that was good or defective in them. With a mind stored with this valuable information, he entered upon the work of making a constitution which has challenged the admiration of the world for one hundred years. Knowing that he thus prepared himself, we almost cease to wonder that such a perfect system of government was devised.

As Virginia had taken the initiative in calling the convention, it was expected that her delegates would propose some plan of government. This they did through Edmund Randolph, and his resolutions became the basis of the action of the convention. The resolutions were the result of a consultation of the Virginia deputies, and while they are in the handwriting of Mr. Randolph and he introduced them, the history is that they were the result of a consultation with his colleagues. Mr. Madison has not informed us how much of the plan was proposed by him, but the debates show that he was very familiar with the resolutions. Mr. Madison never missed a day or even an hour from the meetings of the convention. His mind and soul were in the great work, and every question discussed had his undivided attention. He made full notes of the discussions and in this way kept fully informed of the views and arguments of the members. He was peculiarly adapted by nature for a peace maker, and part of his great work was in harmonizing the discordant factions in the convention. For years he had labored as a member of Congress and as a member of the Virginia legislature to bring the States into a more perfect union, and if the convention failed the last hope was gone. He fully realized the critical condition of his country and devoted every moment to secure a happy result from the labors of the convention. A parent never gave a child more unceasing care than he bestowed upon the infant constitution. No sooner had the constitution been published than a large, influential and powerful party organized to strangle the infant. His work did not close with the convention. His published letters, written while the question of ratification was pending in the several States, are evidences of his uniring efforts to secure its ratification.

After his death, a member of the United States Senate from Virginia well said in his eulogy "that Mr. Madison was, in an especial manner, the founder and author of that glorious constitution which is the bond of our union and the charter of our liberties." The more the history of the struggle is studied the more apparent does the fact appear that James Madison was the Father of the Constitution and the Union formed by it.

Acquittal of Mrs. Meadows. Bloomington, September 28.—The trial of Sarah Meadows for the murder of Elsworth Anderson, resulted this morning in an acquittal. The jury were out only a few minutes, and took but two ballots. Mr. Meadows was overcome with joy and in the open court thanked the jurymen. It was developed that Anderson forced his way into the house, where the woman was alone, when she shot him. The public approve the verdict.

DENTISTRY!—All those wishing their teeth put in order would do well to see Dr. Horton. He guarantees his work first class in every respect. Those having missing plates are especially invited to call, as, by the use of the lately invented cohesion forms, any one can secure a perfect fitting plate.

J. W. HORTON.

G. B. Antrim and G. P. Daugerty have returned from Kansas.

Mr. Thomas Ulyat and Miss Genet Hinds were married at the residence of the bride's parents, in Milroy township, Wednesday evening, Sept. 21, 1887, Rev. Aaron Patnam officiating.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Elec Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Belleville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at F. B. Meyer's Drug Store.
