

In Brief, and to the Point.
Dyspepsia is dreadful. Disordered liver is misery. Indigestion is a foe to good nature.
The human digestive apparatus is one of the most complicated and wonderful things in existence. It is easily put out of order.
Greasy food, too h food, sloppy food, bad cookery, mental worry, late hours, irregular habits, and many other things which ought not to be, have made the American people a nation of dyspeptics.
But Green's August Flower has done a wonderful work in reforming this sad business and making the American people so healthy that they can enjoy their meals and be happy.
Remember:—No happiness without health. But Green's August Flower brings health and happiness to the dyspeptic. Ask your druggist for a bottle. Seventy-five cents.

NURSING SCARLET FEVER.—The child should be nursed by one who has all the details of the case under her charge, who should wear the simplest kind of clothing, and that can be daily changed and washed or aired. She should have an adjoining room in which to keep her clothes and make her toilet. Everything that comes in contact with the child, such as towels, brushes, blankets or sheets, should be kept rigidly separate, and thoroughly boiled and aired before being taken from the premises.

The room should be kept thoroughly ventilated, either by keeping open a window in the adjoining room or by some arrangement attached to the window of the sick room, which will allow the ingress and egress of air without a draught; its temperature should be kept at about 68 degrees and regulated by a thermometer. If the room receives its heat from a furnace, the hot air should be made to pass over a pail of water containing either Labarague's solution or Platt's Cholrides, a towel with one end dipped in such a solution should be tacked over the register. If there be a stove or, better than all, an open grate, these solutions can be placed near by, so as to be readily evaporated and distributed throughout the room.

The chamber should always contain some such solution in which to receive the excreta. A small quantity of urine should daily be collected in a clean vessel for the doctor's examination. It is usual to anoint the child with some greasy substance; this allays the intense itching or prickling, which is most annoying; it softens the skin, which is inflamed or swollen; it depresses the fever to a certain extent, and it serves to collect the scales of the skin, which, if shed, serves as carriers of contagion, and which are usually shed in flakes. The child should have its mouth washed once or twice daily, as also other parts of the body, for purposes of cleanliness, and the water used can contain either Labarague's solution or vinegar Listerine, and possibly the doctor will order the frequent use of the hand spray, such as is employed with cologne, using some good disinfectant for the throat in these cases.

Scarlatina, as far as we know at the present time, only comes from previous cases of the disease.—Cleanliness not only lessens the danger of serious complications which are often fatal, and mitigates the severity of an attack, but it is the great germ-destroyer and prevents the spread of this dread disease in households.—Dr. F. M. Keating, in Babyhood.

The people are rapidly becoming familiar with the valuable work performed by the Democratic administration in rescuing public lands from a gang of sharks who had obtained possession of them by the help of the Republican party; and the Providence Journal, a Republican organ, feels called upon to say:

"Much good has already been done by the determined measures of the Interior Department during the past year; the commendable work should not cease, even along lines where the prospect of success is small. The whole record of the government's past management of the public lands, held in trust for the people, is deplorable, not to say disgraceful. Everything should now be tried that promises in the least degree to rectify the blunders of earlier years."

The justices of the peace of the rural districts of Georgia, in the absence of regular lawyers, transacted a good deal of professional business for their neighbors. On one occasion, one of the gentry was employed to draw a deed of marriage settlement. The estate was limited to the use of the bride during her life, "and at and after her death, to the child or children of the said Susan Jones, she may have by the said Thomas Smith, his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns."

"What do you think of it?" asked Smith of a lawyer to whom he showed the document. "I think," answered the lawyer, "that whoever drew this deed was determined there should be no trouble by reason of failure of issue."

Mr. Hanway's settlement was made on the report of a board of experts appointed by the Board of Commissioners, of which Hon. Austin H. Brown was one, and Mr. Hanway paid over every dollar and every cent found to be due from him.—Indianapolis Journal.

That may be true—but the people were not satisfied. The first board of experts was not sufficiently expert. The books had been mysteriously kept, and two more boards went through Sam's books, and then it was disclosed that Sam had $32,000 of the people's money. Sam didn't know he had the money, and he finally paid over $7,500—pocketing $24,500 of the principal and $15,000 interest for eight years—the defalcation netting him, principal and interest, $39,500.—That is Republicanism, and the people are tired of it.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

"WHAT ARE WE HERE FOR?"—A Kansas City telegram says: When the jury in the criminal court to-day brought in a verdict of guilty against John Snyder, charged with attempting an outrage on Ruth Pollare, but fixed the punishment at only six months in the county jail, Judge White frowning angrily, said in an excited tone of voice:

"Gentlemen, I shall take the liberty to set your verdict aside. If you had found the defendant not guilty, I should have nothing to say; but when you find him guilty and assess his punishment at six months you perpetrate an outrage. If you think men may take female children from the cradle for the purpose of gratifying their lustful desires, and then escape upon an imprisonment of six months, you are a disgrace to the civilization of the day. You will now all be discharged from attendance, and forever disqualified as jurors in this court."

The jurors sheepishly made for the court-room doors. The case now stands as if it had never been tried, and another trial will be necessary. Snyder was recommitted to jail. A large crowd was in the court-room, and the summary action of Judge White was applauded.

The Fascination of the Gold Mines.

An old forty-niner says of gold hunting:
"It's the fascination of it. Lor', man, when you've struck it pretty rich and can see yer gold right in front of you; when you're piling it up every half hour o' the day, with a nugget now and again as big as a bullet to cheer you, and then when the evenin' comes and you count it up and find a hundred odd dollars just picked out o' the earth that day—well, there ain't nothin' like it. Then, when you don't strike it rich, you always think you're goin' to next day, an' it's just as exciting hearin' other men tell in the evenin' what they pulled out as it is countin' over your own. Why, I've been three and four months at a time without making a dollar and without a cent in my pocket; but, gee-whittaker! the excitement of it don't give a man twice to think how hard up he is."

Remington News: Inmates were so plentiful in the city prison last Thursday night that the Marshal had to discharge some to make room for others and the last one almost demolished the bastille

Brace Up.

You are feeling depressed, your appetite is poor, you are bothered with Headache, you are forgetful, nervous, and generally out of sorts, and want to brace up. Brace up, but not with stimulants, spring medicines, or bitters, which have for their basis very cheap, bad whisky, and which stimulate you for an hour, and then leave you in worse condition than before. What you want is an alternative that will purify your blood, start healthy action of Liver and Kidneys, restore your vitality, and give renewed health and strength. Such a medicine you will find in Electric Bitters, and only 50 cents a bottle at F. B. Meyer's Drug Store.

Proverbs for the Table.

Fast well, feast well.
A wise cook fondles his fire.
Diplomacy lieth under the dish cover.
Discretion is the proper sauce for cheese.
Let the doubting cook roast his fish.
Court the onion and flee the doctor.
A bad dinner is often redeemed by a good salad.
Rare beef and well-cooked fish betray a wise cook.
Peace hideth herself under the lid of the well-managed pot.
True economy in the household has heaven for its banker.
Neither the nibbler nor the glutton knoweth the value of feast.
He who eateth without drink buildeth his well without mortar.
Drink milk and wine, but keep them wide apart; Who joins their virtues will his stomach thwart.
Eat like a hearty man.
Drink like a sick one;
So may life's little span Not be too quick run.

JONES. "Say, neighbor Smith, how is it your horse blankets always wear so well?"

5/8 Six Mile.
