Democratic Central Committee Meeting.

The members of the Democratic Central Committee of Jasper County, Indiana, are requested to meet at the Court House, in Rensselaer, on SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1888, at 1 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of reorganization and the transaction of important business. Let every member be present.

JAS. W. McEWEN, Sec'y.

Mr. Blaine has written a very lengthy letter in which he expresses his great appreciation of the devotion of his friends to his fortunes, and fidelity to the great principles of the g. o. p.; says he sees victory in the air, and in mournful words announces that he withdraws from among the list of Republican aspirants for the Presidential nomination. While no one acquainted with Blaine's characteristic of deceit and deception gives him credit for honesty and sincerity in this movement, it is extremely amusing to note with what avidity and readiness the competitors of the Maine man, — Sherman, Allison, and our little Bennie Harrison, et al — catch on, assert their faith in his sincerity, declare that he is a truthful man and means what he says. They express deep regret (and in this they are equally as honest and sincere as Blaine) at his withdrawal. When the Republican convention meets Blaine, having reconsidered his withdrawal declarations in consideration for the 'heartfelt and sincere regrets' (?) expressed by his competitors, will shy his hat into the ring, and demand, if they were honest, that they will get out of his way and give him a unanimous nomination. Blaine has got his competitors foul the first fire

CONCERNING BLAINE'S LETTER —

Joe Medill, of the Chicago Tribune, says: "In my opinion it merely relieves Mr. Blaine from standing in the attitude of a candidate, like John Sherman, for instance, seeking the nomination. It places the whole responsibility on the convention of nominating without solicitation on his part and without responsibility for the result in case his name is again put before the people. * * *

In fact, I incline to the opinion that the letter of declination, if it has any effect, will rather tend to promote than to prevent his nomination." And that is the sole object of the letter.

Col. Bob Ingersoll says: "Blaine is like an anxious widow simulating coyness to allure wooers. She says no, but she means yes. Mr. Blaine, to my knowledge, has had the presidential fever for the last twenty years, and that never leaves him till life leaves him."

The Chicago News: "Blaine's withdrawal is no withdrawal," etc.

Republican Senator Farwell, of Illinois, in substance says: "If Mr. Blaine meant to be sincere he would have signed his name at the close of the first paragraph. I read between the lines that he is a candidate." Blaine is nothing, if not tricky.

Kentland Gazette: Mr. A. Leopold, of Rensselaer, has rented the old New York store and will engage in the general merchandise business in Goodland.

BLAINE vs. BLAINE.

His strength comes not from tariff laws but from himself, from the abounding resources of the country, and from the ambition, energy, and inventive genius of the people. If he earns more wages and lives better than the European workman, it is because he produces more. There is a certain aggregate produced each year. More this aggregate can not be distributed. The greater the aggregate the greater the share of each. — The aggregate is greater in this country than elsewhere, because the efficiency of producers is greater, and for the same reason the man who works for wages, as well as every other producer, gets a larger share here than elsewhere. Laws which, under pretense of protection, take from the shares of some men to increase the shares of other men can not increase the aggregate. On the contrary, they tend to diminish it by diverting capital and labor into others that are naturally unprofitable. That is their main purpose, and that is to a great extent their effect.

If Mr. Blaine would study the document published with his official sanction in 1888, he might learn better than to inflict upon the public such emissions of nonsense and absurdity as his message from Paris.

PROF. WILKINSON'S PLAT-FORM.

The following, although perhaps rather impracticable, under the present existing order of things, I tender as a peace offering, as a something to approximate as nearly as possible in the future:

"Let us unroll the endless scroll or everlasting time. Let us listen to the voices of the distant, the great and the mighty dead. They speak to us in leaping, living, rolling thunder tones of the millions of departed ages of the old and the mighty past. Let us abolish slander, persecution, wrong, injustice, intolerance and unkindness from American politics, and have peace on earth and good will to men. Let us, if you please, dear friends, drop all religious, political, national, sectional, social or domestic differences and be in reality and in truth what our name indicates—a universal band of brothers, as firm as the Rock of Ages, or the grand, everlasting gray old mountain tops—brightly shining away, away, look away in the golden light of the rising or setting sun or the sweet silver light of the moon for ever and ever."

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for March comes among the earliest and brightest harbingers of spring periodical literature. Steel and wood engravings, mammoth fashion-plates, illustrated articles in profusion and of the first order of merit, along with capital stories and poetry far above the average, make up a tempting list of contents. This magazine is all that it claims for itself; foremost in literary and artistic excellence, unsurpassed in its fashion and household departments, fitted in every way to be the guide for ladies, the friend of the family. Long years of popularity have never caused "Peterson" to lessen in the slightest its efforts to merit its established place in public favor. Each year it presents some new attractive features in the way of fresh literary talent, artistic improvement, or fashion novelty. There seems no limit to its resources; its unfailing variety is a constant surprise to its oldest readers, and new subscribers always regret that they had not, long before, added their names to its subscription list, which, for the last quarter of a century has been larger than that of all the lady's books in the country combined. It is not too late to subscribe for 1888. Terms: Two Dollars a year. Address PETERSON'S MAGAZINE, 306 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

That is to say your lungs. Also all your breathing machinery. Very wonderful machinery it is. Not only the larger air-passages, but the thousands of little tubes and cavities leading from them.

When these are clogged and choked with matter which ought not to be there, your lungs cannot half do their work. And what they do, they cannot do well.

Call it cold, cough, croup, pneumonia, catarrh, consumption or any of the family of throat and nose and head and lung obstructions, all are bad. All ought to be got rid of. There is just one sure way to get rid of them. That is to take Bochee's German Syrup which any drug,ist will sell you at 75 cents a bottle. CATARRH REMEDY.

L. B. Phelps, P. M., Griggs, Ohio writes: "Suffered with Asthma 40 years. Your medicine in 3 minutes does more for me than the most eminent physician did for me in three years."

H. C. Plimpton, Joliet, Ill., writes: "Send Catarrh Remedy at once. Cannot get along without it. I find it to be the most valuable medicine I have ever tried."

We have many other hearty testimonials of cure or relief, and in order that all sufferers from Asthma, Catarrh, Hay Fever, and kindred diseases may have an opportunity of testing the value of the Remedy, we will send a any address TRIAL PACKAGE FREE OF CHARGE.
