THE CAMPAIGN TEXT BOOK for 1888 is now ready, and will be furnished on application to the National Democratic Committee, 10 West 29th St., New York City. Price $1. In quantities of five or more 50 cents each.

"We favor the entire repeal of the internal taxes (on whisky and tobacco) rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system."—Chicago platform.

"The platform is in entire harmony with my views."—Ben Harrison.

"Unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation."—President Cleveland in his letter of acceptance.

"Trusts are private affairs with which President Cleveland and the people have no right to interfere."—Blaine in the interest of "Trusts."

"Such combinations have always been condemned by the Democratic party. The declaration of its national convention is sincerely made, and no member of our party will be found excusing the existence or belittling the pernicious results of these devices to wrong the people. Under various names they have been punished by common law for hundreds of years; and they have lost none of their hateful features because they have assumed the name of 'Trusts' instead of 'Conspiracies.' We believe that these 'Trusts' are the natural offspring of a market artificially restricted; that an inordinately high tariff, besides furnishing the temptation for their existence, enlarges the limit within which they may operate against the people, and thus increases the extent of their power for wrongdoing. With an unalterable hatred for all such schemes, we count the checking of their baleful operations among the good results promised by revenue reform."—President Cleveland in his letter of acceptance.

JAMES A. GARFIELD.

"In 1860 the burdens of national taxation were light. All our revenues, including loans, amounted to only $76,000,000. Our expenditures were $77,000,000, and our whole public debt but $65,000,000. In the year 1860 the tonnage of our ships upon the seas was 5,353,868 tons, which was more by 140,000 tons than in any other year of our history before or since. Two-thirds of our imports were then carried in American bottoms, as were also more than two-thirds of our exports.

Our exports that year reached the aggregate value of $400,000,000, which was forty-three and one-half millions more than during any previous year. Our imports were $362,000,000, decidedly more than any other year. And I make this statement on the authority of David A. Wells, that in 1860 we were exporting to foreign countries more American manufactures than in any other year of our history.

The fact is, Mr. Chairman, the decade from 1850 to 1860 was one of peace and general prosperity. —Extracts from speech of James A. Garfield in the House March 6, 1878.

The cartoon in to-day's SENTINEL fairly talks.

Ira W. Yeoman has been appointed election marshal for this congressional district.

Judge Turpie is doing a good work in the interest of the Democracy of Indiana.

Read Mills' defense of his bill, Don Dickinson's talk, the address of the Democratic National Committee, and other interesting political articles on inside pages of this SENTINEL.

The Democrats of Jasper county must have lots of money at command if it be true, as reported, that they subsidized the Rensselaer Democrat to the tune of $500 cash and 500 paid up subscription. —Goodland Herald.

The Herald man is badly codded. The masses of the Democracy take no stock in the property and Democracy of H. E. James.

To the Voters of the 30th Judicial Circuit.

GENTLEMEN: At the Democratic convention held at Goodland, September 28th, I was selected as candidate for Prosecuting Attorney. The nomination for the position comes to me unsolicited, and coming as it does, so late in the progress of the campaign it is not a very desirable one. It should be a laudable ambition in every one who is put forward for a place among the servants of the people to make some effort for himself, and to strive for honorable preferment. Owing to the lack of time I shall be unable to make much of a canvass. The place for which I have been selected is not a political one. It has to do with the morals and peace of society rather than with the political policy of the Government. The success or failure of attending the administration of the office depends upon the character and efficiency of the man chosen. While I make no claim for myself, it may not be out of place to say, that I have lived here, in Newton county, since 1851, and whatever reputation I may have for business fairness, and as a lawyer and a citizen, is here among our people and a public examination of it could not be avoided were it desired.

I ask a fair consideration of my candidacy from each of you, and shall most cheerfully accept your decision.

Very Respectfully,
WILLIAM DARROCH.

On October the 8th—Show Day—I will pay cash for poultry and eggs. Let them come.

THE 'TALL SYCAMORE,' at Rensselaer, Oct. 24th.

Gov. Hill, of New York, will speak at Lafayette on the 12th.

Letters of strong republicans have come to light which indicate that the leaders of that party are willing to purchase the number of votes that may be required to secure them the State.

The public acts of a public man is public property, and his constituency have a perfect right to criticize and condemn the same without being subject to the abuse and threats of the friends of the party censured. Mr. Owen should feel himself under obligation for the opportunity afforded him to defend his Babb letter, even though his attempted defense of it proved a failure.

We understand some of the opposition are circulating conflicting dates for Mr. Voorhees' visit to Rensselaer, in order to interfere with the attendance. Remember—October 24th.

The Small Boy's Revenge.

Arthur, who is forbidden to speak at the table, had his revenge the other day. As dinner began he was uneasy, but finally said: "Ma, can't I speak just one word?" "You know the rule, Arthur." "Not one word?" "No, Arthur, not until your father finishes the paper." Arthur subsided until the paper was finished, when he was asked what he wished to say. "Oh nothing; only Nora put the custards outside the window to cool, and the cat has been eating them up."

A Serious Omission.

Little Gotham Maid (reading)—"And the fairy prince and Blue Eyes were married and lived happily ever after?" Little Boston Maid—"Where did they live?"

Little Gotham Maid (consulting the last page carefully)—"It doesn't tell." Little Boston Maid—"That was a serious omission on the author's part. As we do not know where the prince and Blue Eyes lived we have no way of establishing their social status."

She Killed A Wildcat.

A lady living a few miles from Sanford, Ga., in the neighborhood of the Wekiva river, very narrowly escaped from being killed a day or two since by a wildcat, the animal having entered the house in search of something to eat. After a short struggle, in which the cat, the lady, and her husband were engaged, the blood-thirsty feline was killed by the lady breaking its back with a heavy garden rake.

NOTICE TO FARMERS.

COEN & PAXTON, having bought the Hay and Grain business formerly owned by J. C. Porter, will pay the highest price for grain.

NOTICE.

All persons knowing their taxes for 1887 and former years are delinquent will please call and pay the same and save all further costs.

Owing to recent prosecutions for sending postal cards containing notices of failure to pay indebtedness, none will be sent this year. I will send out collectors about Sept. 16th, 1888.

Gladstone's System of Working.

One of the most strangely marked traits of Mr. Gladstone's character is the method and exactitude which he brings to bear on his daily work. This is the great secret which enables him to get through an amount of labor which frightens ten ordinary men. It is owing to the possession of this quality that he is able, in the midst of his arduous Parliamentary toil, to write articles, treating of such diverse subjects as the poems of Homer, the early Christian fathers, and modern theology. As a trifling instance of Mr. Gladstone's curious habits of precision, it may be mentioned that he rarely opens a parcel without untying—not cutting—the string, tying it carefully up, and putting it away for future use in a drawer which is reserved for the purpose. His papers and documents are also kept in scrupulous order by himself, so he can lay his hands on any one of them at a moment's notice. It is to his habit of doing so much of his work for himself that the mastery of detail, which Mr. Gladstone shows on every subject with which he grapples, is in a great measure due.

Preserving Fish Alive.

It is proposed to preserve fish alive by placing them in vessels partly filled with water and hermetically sealed. It is said that fish so confined have been found alive after three weeks without air or water having been changed, while fish in an open jar have died in forty-eight hours. If the air in the vessel is compressed the life of the fish is still further prolonged.

Sublimity at Niagara.

Wife—"How great, how overwhelming, how beyond all compare, how exceeding all the wildest fancy paints the most extravagant imagine conveys." Husband—"What, my dear? The falls, or the hotel bill?"

Bring your poultry and eggs to me on the 8th of October and get the highest market price paid, in cash.
