

By creating an artificial scarcity the Trusts are enabled to, and do, raise prices.

A protective tariff is the foundation rock upon which monopolistic trusts are reared.

A protective tariff is the protecting element in the progress and survival of trusts.

"An extra good ticket" is what is said of that placed in the field by the Democratic convention last Thursday evening. Vote for it.

Hon. Wm. H. Barnum, chairman of the National Democratic Committee died at Lime Rock, Connecticut, last Tuesday.

Since March 4th, Democratic postmasters have been decapitated at the rate of one for every two and one-half moments of working time.

Speaking of republican office-seekers, the other day, Judge Turpie said: "The applications for office under Harrison's administration exceed in number any two previous administrations."

Abram Simpson, for Marshal, served in the 51st and 148th Indiana regiments, about three years. He was a good soldier. He has filled the position of Marshal we think we may say to the satisfaction of all. Give him your support on Monday next. He is in every way worthy of it.

An exchange very properly says: "Never go where you are not wanted. If a man wants you to come to his house he will invite you to, and if a merchant wants you to visit his place of business he will invite you through the columns of your newspaper. It is wrong to intrude on privacy; don't do it."

Congressman Owen says that the office-seekers of this district are making life a burden to him by their unceasing importunities, and that from the piles of letters he receives that every one who voted for him wants an office.—Here is a specimen of the letters he gets:

Dear Bill, I want the post office and I want it d— quick. We knocked the Dimmys here in this township by 22 increased majority and I done it. Yours in a hurry.

Van Antwerp, Bragg & Co., of Cincinnati are making a desperate effort to make the new school book law of the state inoperative.—They have sent out circulars to all the school boards pleading with them to adopt their books for the schools under their control, hoping thereby to defeat the introduction of the contract books. It is about time this firm, as well as several others in the business were sat down upon. For years they have been waxing fat and saucy off the profits of their school books making no less than fifty per cent off of every book sold. Under the new law books will be much cheaper, and if any school board should endorse any of the school book monopolists it would look as if they were interested in the deal.—Enforce the law and give us cheap school books.—LaFayette Journal.

exchange says: "It is to Jefferson that the people greatest debt of gratitude. The idea of the sovereignty of the people was new in the eighteenth century, and it was utterly scouted at by statesmen like Hamilton & Adams. Jefferson engrafted the idea so firmly on the constitution as to make it the most substantial part of the fundamental law. He turned the electors into puppets and made them voice the will of the people, and on every hand he cut away the forms and ceremonies with which his predecessors had enumbered the Presidency."

FROM WHEATFIELD.

Business lively. Farmers are plowing for corn. Wheat, rye and oats look well. Prospect fine for good harvest and fruit crop.

Jacob Wesner and wife, of Valparaiso, are here visiting relatives and friends.

Eugene Bennett is the boss snipe shooter. He says he has this spring killed 1500 jack snipe and 250 ducks, and it hasn't been a good spring for shooting either.

Mr. Hawkins, Flora Knapp and Sarah Stembel are on the sick list.
