HOUSEKEEPERS SHO'D KNOW.

That to have good coffee your coffee pot must be bright and clean inside.

That you can sweep a rag carpet much cleaner by sweeping crossways of the width.

That in making up unbleached muslin allow one inch to the yard for shrinkage.

That if you fold your clothes as you take them from the line they will fold much easier.

That your copper wash boiler, if well rubbed with a cloth dipped in castor oil, will be clean and bright.

That to keep your bedding pure and wholesome open your beds to air the first thing in the morning.

That one part suet to two parts lard rendered together is much better for frying purposes than all lard.

That if you want to keep your house free of moths, never put down your carpets till the floor is perfectly dry.

That to wash smoothing irons in dishwater after washing your skillet, will make them smooth and prevent rusting.

Sandpaper applied to the yellow keys of the piano will restore the color.

When troubled with neuralgia pains heat a flat-iron, put a double fold of flannel on the painful part, then move the iron to and fro on the flannel. The pain will cease almost immediately.

To remove egg stains from silver spoons, take a little common salt between the thumb and finger and rub the stain briskly. Then wash in hot suds.

Definition of Bible Terms.

A gerah was one cent.

A cab was three pints.

An omer was six pints.

A farthing was three cents.

A shekel of gold was $8.

A firkin was seven pints.

A talent of gold was $13,809.

A mite was less than $\frac{1}{2}$ of a cent.

A talent of silver was $548,40.

A bin was one gallon and two pints.

A shekel of silver was about 50 cents.

Ezekiel's reed was nearly eleven feet.

A cubit was nearly twenty-two inches.

A piece of silver, or a penny, was 13 cents.

A finger's breadth was equal to one inch.

A Sabbath day's journey was about one English mile.

An ephah, or bath, contained seven gallons and five pints.

A hand's breadth was three and five-eighths inches.

A day's journey was about twenty-three and one-fifth mile.

The Logansport Journal relates that the prosecuting attorney of Tippecanoe county has filed still another, and this time a monster list, and the amounts of hidden taxables (notes and mortgages) range from $100 to $42,000, the aggregate being over half a million. In every case made out the delinquent will be required to pay a penalty of $50. Where the amount hidden exceeds $500 the tax hider will pay an additional three per cent. upon the excess over that sum. Each and all will also be required to pay the taxes, penalties, interests, costs, etc., for all the years of delinquency. The process will put a very large amount into the Tippecanoe county treasury, and enrich the prosecuting attorney.

The whirligig of time brings around many changes. An exchange says: Ten years ago the superintendent of an Iowa railroad booted a tramp out of his office for having the cheek to ask for a pass. To-day that tramp is the superintendent of that same road, while the man who lifted him on his boots keeps a restaurant and feeds him over lunches.

FROM WHEATFIELD.

Business lively.

Farmers have mostly got their corn and other spring crops in.

Weather pleasant, but a good shower of rain would be appreciated by the farmers.

Mr. Smiley has at last secured the Wheatfield post office, and will take possession soon.

James Smith, of Rensselaer was the guest of Miss Flora Collins, Saturday and Sunday. Look out for another Wheatfield wedd

Ding at an early day. Fishing appears to be in full headway now; the river is being visited by crowds of fishermen daily, and all report good luck and lots of fish.

The funeral sermon for Grandma Snyder will be preached at the Wheatfield school house, Sunday, June 16th.

Mr. Hawkins, Mrs. Keene and Flora Knapp are still on the sick list.

Summer term of school commenced on Monday last, by a lady teacher of Moonshine.

BIRD-EYE BILL.
Wheatfield, 5, 21, '89.

All desiring to move South are invited to investigate FLOR- ENCE, ALABAMA.

In the selection of a business location, a pleasant home is also desir- able, and in no place will the intending settler meet with a more cordial welcome than is offered by the enterprising citizens of Flor- ence, Alabama, and Lauderdale county.

The soil is diversified and yields readily, as is shown by the variety and quick growth of crops, consisting of cotton, corn, tobacco, wheat, oats, sugarcane, iso apples, peaches and grapes.

Florence excels in beauty of location, being situated on the gently rolling plateau banks of the Tennessee River —navigable for the largest class of steamboats. The records show singular exemption from malarial diseases, and the mild temperature, pure air and water make it a desir- able resort, both summer and winter, from the extreme heat of the South and the rigorous cold of the North.

Aside from this it is on the basal line of the new iron and coal discoveries, and with abundant water-power supply, fa- vorable transportation facilities, by rail and pa- ket, and by virtue of close proximity to valuable ores not found in other localities, Flor- ence is destined to become the me- tropolis of the State, and will ne- cessarily concentrate the bulk of industries in this region.

The country north of Florence is cov- ered with a primeval growth of im- mense poplar, white oaks, maple, hickory, pine, and walnut trees, and within a few miles large quar- ries of beautiful marble are found.

Building stone and limestone abound all over the county. The erection of the finest college building in the South was commenced May 13th, and at this time there are over 250 houses in course of erection. For excursion rates and full particulars address,

H. B. MURRAY.

Newspapers and Politicians.

The editor not only suffers from the general business stagnation, but is obliged out of devotion to his cause to incur actual expenditure of money and make business sacrifices, besides neglecting his legitimate business.

If the truth could be known, says the McGregor (Iowa) News, not half the editors in this State have been paid their legitimate printing bills for campaign committees. This is to some extent true of others, but especially so of editors.

It is a credible fact that a large majority of American citizens do not, as a rule, go into politics for the money there is in it.

Of editors this is especially true. If his party is defeated and driven from power the editor, if he is true to his principles, must not only retire from office, if he happens to have one, but he must go right on with a cheery face, a bright smile and a stiff upper lip, defending a for a time unpopular cause.

The average business man goes about his business, hides his defeat by trying his utmost to make his customers think he cares nothing for defeat or has no politics at all. So fares not ye editor.

Then there are those hollow-mined persons who treasure up the fallacy that a political editor should not hold office. We are not prepared to claim that all the great men of the nation began to climb the ladder of fame out of the attic of a country printing-office.

But we believe an editor can be a
