THE NEWS RECORD.

A SUMMARY OF THE EVENTFUL HAPPENINGS OF A WEEK.

The Latest News as Flashed Over the Wires from All Parts of the World—Regarding Politics, Religion, Casualties, Commerce, and Industry.

LESS VICTIMS THAN SUPPOSED.

Latest Estimates Place the Number at About 5,000.

Most of the correspondents at Johnstown, Pa., have revised their early estimates of the number of lives lost. They say the entire population of the three boroughs in which the loss of life was admitted not to exceed 30,000. Of these over 15,000 are already accounted for. Add to this list of people accounted for those who left immediately after the flood, those who have left since without registering—the register of the saved was not opened until several days after the flood—and it brings the estimate down considerably. There are any number of survivors in the district swept by the flood who have not yet registered, and the guards at the bridge kept a good many from registering who wished to. A number were not allowed to pass because they did not have passes. In view of these facts and figures it does not seem as though the loss could be more than 8,000, and the most conservative people still stick to 5,000 as the figures. Only about 2,500 bodies have been recovered so far, and this leaves 2,500 still unaccounted for. It is difficult to believe that more than that number could be entirely lost.

PENNSYLVANIA'S PLAN.

The State Will Clear Up the Mass of Debris.

As a result of a meeting of the Pennsylvania State officials, the Treasurer of the State will put up $1,000,000 for the people of the Conemaugh Valley, taking as security for its payment the bond of well-known Philadelphia and New York business men and capitalists. The whole matter has been turned over to the State, which will, under the direction of Adj. Gen. Hastings or a committee, as may be hereafter determined, take complete charge of the town, which will obtain until the place is rebuilt and the people are able to manage their own affairs once more; all money contributed will be devoted to the relief of sufferers, no part of it being appropriated to repairing public damages or clearing away debris.

DISEASE WILL NOT FOLLOW.

Said to Be No Danger of an Epidemic at Johnstown.

To quiet the fears of those who expect the outbreak of some fearful epidemic the health authorities of Johnstown, Pa., have issued the following bulletin:

The general condition of health in Johnstown and vicinity is excellent. No epidemic disease of any kind prevails, nor is it expected that any will arise. The whole region has been divided into convenient districts, and each placed under a competent sanitarian. The State Board of Health is prepared to meet all emergencies as they arise. The air is wholesome, and the water generally pure. If the good people of the devastated district will go on as they have so nobly done for the last week in their efforts to clean up the wreckage, good health will certainly be maintained. GEORGE G. GROFF.

Two Men in Attempting to Reach Goat Island Lose Control of Their Boat.

At Niagara Falls, "Jacko" Walker, a boatman and fisherman at the falls, with Frank Davis as a companion, started in a boat from the shore above the inlet of the hydraulic canal for the head of Goat Island. The men lost control of the boat, which was drawn into the current and carried over the Horseshoe fall. Walker was 30 years of age and Davis 23. "Pi" Walker, uncle of "Jacko" Walker, committed suicide ten years ago by lying down in his boat and going over the American fall.

A BINDING OATH.

Discovery of the Obligation of the Clan-na-Gael Oath.

According to a dispatch from St. Louis, the constitution under which the Clan-na-Gael operates has become public and the details have created a tremendous sensation. Each member has his individual number, which he gives as a password before being admitted to any of the meetings. The candidate for admission takes a solemn oath never to reveal what occurs at the meetings nor the names of any of the members. The famous oath binding the candidate not to reveal the secrets of the order under pain of death is as follows:

"I—[name in full]—do solemnly swear in the presence of Almighty God that I will labor while life is left me to establish and defend a republican form of government in [name]—[cipher word]—that I will keep strictly secret the name and everything connected with this [cipher] from all not entitled to know such secrets; that I will obey and comply with the constitution and the laws of the [cipher] and that I will faithfully preserve the [cipher] of the [cipher] for the cause of [cipher] revolution alone as specified in the constitution; that I will deem it my special duty and mission to promote and foster sentiments of union, brotherly love and national loyalty among all [cipher]; that I take this obligation without any mental reservation, holding the same forever binding upon me, and that any violation thereof is an infamy and a crime, and that I will so help me God." This oath the candidate is adjured to keep at the "hazard" of his life.

THE TRADE REVIEW.

The Flood Disasters Start a Sudden Demand for Iron.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The flood disasters have entirely changed the situation in the Eastern lumber trade, the coal, iron and steel trades. Producing companies of the first importance have suddenly ceased operations, and their orders must be filled by others or delayed. The flooding of many coal mines cuts off supplies of fuel for many manufacturing works, and the stoppage of the Cumberland and its branches, which produced yearly over 500,000 tons of iron in various forms, will affect the trade for some time. The destruction of more than forty bridges, about half of them on the Pennsylvania Railroad, besides many locomotives, cars and miles of track, creates a sudden demand which is felt in all iron and steel markets. Pig iron does not change as yet, the production previous to the disaster having been much in excess of consumption. In anthracite coal the tone is stronger. Many soft coal mines are cut off for the present. Wheat and oil have been lower, but in other speculative markets the general tendency has been toward higher prices. Coffee is a quarter stronger. Sugar has been advanced a quarter, and the statistical position is considered strong. Some grades of leather are a little stronger. Reports from the interior show a fair volume of trade in progress, except where disasters have interrupted it. Collections are backward at Milwaukee and but moderate at New Orleans. The money markets are well supplied and easy, with active demand at Cleveland and Detroit. The business failures number 225, as compared with 215 last week and 220 the week previous. For the corresponding period of last year the failures were 225.

AN UNKNOWN QUANTITY.

What the Spring Wheat Crop Will Be—General Prospects.

The Chicago Tribune's review of the crop situation sums up the outlook in this way: There cannot be much said either one way or the other about the spring wheat crop more than this: that so far the country has not received any intelligence of a "90,000,000" crop, which is generally looked for just after the wheat is seeded and before it shows a single spear out of the ground. As to winter wheat, everything depends now on the weather of the next thirty days. The prospects are pointing to a wet harvest. Drouth and Hessian fly are not showing their work early in the season. Harvest will be no earlier than usual, and perhaps a little later. It will not be general much before the 20th of June. An excellent stand of corn has been cultivated once. Fields that are clean need no more rain for twenty days at least, and upon the advent of warm weather ought to make rapid growth. The low price of corn is causing farmers to hold back their supplies.

WEDDING OF JUSTICE GRAY.

United in Marriage to Miss Matthews, Daughter of His Late Associate.

Justice Gray, of the United States Supreme Court, and Miss Jeannette Matthews, daughter of the late Justice Matthews, were married at the residence of the bride in Washington, the Rev. The bride will be in mourning during the coming season. The bride is one of the most attractive and intellectual young ladies in Washington. She is well advanced in young womanhood, of fine presence, and will grace the court circle with her many social gifts.

WYOMING TO COME IN.

A Proclamation Issued for a Constitutional Convention.

Gov. Warren of Wyoming has issued a proclamation for an election on July 8 of delegates to the Constitutional Convention to meet Sept. 2. The Governor, Secretary, and Chief Justice had previously divided the Territory into districts and made the apportionment of the delegates among the same. This action was taken in response to the request of the commissioners of nearly all of the counties in Wyoming, and is in accord with the views of the prominent citizens, without regard to party. Wyoming has the population, wealth, and public intelligence to entitle it to immediate admission, and its people will earnestly appeal to Congress to that end.

SIGHT-SEERS SHUT OUT.

Johnstown Allows no Visitors Except Workers.

A wall has been thrown around Johnstown, and nobody can enter unless it is shown he has business in the city. There is only one bridge across the Conemaugh, and a pass from Adj. Gen. Hastings or J. B. Scott is necessary before it can be crossed. Johnstown and adjoining villages are now under thorough military and police regulations. Each place has been provided with men enough to keep out intruders and none save those who are actually employed will be allowed to remain. The officers are arresting men every hour, some of them on the slightest provocation. In all cases where the offense is trivial the victims are pressed into work with the relief gangs.

THE BASE-BALL FIELD.

NEWS AND GOSSIP ABOUT THE NATIONAL GAME.

The League Battle for the Championship Pennant an Interesting One—The Boston Club Leading—What the Other Teams Are Doing.

[CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.]

With the exception of the three games which Chicago will play in Cleveland June 14, 15 and 17, the team will play an unbroken series of a month's duration upon the Chicago grounds, beginning with Cleveland this week and ending with Washington on July 6. Anson's men are just now pretty well down the list among the candidates for league honors, but the close of this long series upon familiar soil, and fair umpiring, will be very apt to find them a good deal nearer the front than they are at present.

The Eastern trip just completed was a sad disappointment to Adrian C. Anson. He felt full of confidence that Chicago would take at least half of the games played, and when the trip ended up by the Blacks dropping four straight to Boston, "The Old Man" was decidedly warm under the collar—not at the team, but at the miserable umpiring, which is mainly responsible for Chicago's poor showing on the trip. Chicago was, without doubt, outbatted and outfielded in the fifteen games it played with Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington, but it played good ball despite that, and would with little question, have won, at the least calculation, fully two-thirds of its games but for the incompetency of Umpires McQuade and Barnum. Speaking of the trip, Anson said to me the night we left Boston:

"We've done poorly on the trip, and it takes no figures to convince me of it. If we'd hit the ball as hard as we usually do we'd have taken two games from Boston, and possibly three; we'd have taken three from New York and at least two from Philadelphia, which, together with the two at Washington, would have given us a pretty good record. We didn't hit the ball, however, particularly at Boston. You know, and so does everybody else who saw the games, why we didn't. Of all the outrageous decisions ever given by an umpire those of Barnum were the worst! Understand, though, I'm not offering any excuses or making any 'kick.' Chicago isn't where it would be in the race if I'd been able to get my men together last spring and put 'em through the course of training, which I mean to let nothing on earth interfere with hereafter. I know what my team's capable of, and the fact that we
