Editor Sentinel:
 In last week's issue we notice the following: "Shoes have become very cheap in front of some of the stores lately. But the proprietor of the Chicago Bargain Store should have the credit." While they may ask the credit for offering a few leaders for CASH ONLY we would kindly ask who should receive the credit for maintaining our public schools, building churches, paying our city and country taxes and aiding every enterprise of interest to the town. I have so-called "bargain hunters" have not the cash and want credit for from 3 to 12 months, as they accommodated at the Bargain Houses? No, they go to their home merchants. A word to the wise is sufficient.

"THE OTHER FELLOWS".

Enquire at the drug stores for the horse doctor.

Mr Harris is to-day moving into the handsome residence property he recently purchased from Judge Hammond.

J. E. Spittler, at the P. O. book store takes subscriptions for standard magazines and papers, without extra charge.

Mrs. L. O. Grant, Aggie Smith, Altie Smith, Melissa Stone, Dora Gleason and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Day, were immersed in the river, at this place, last Sunday, by Eld. Rob't Hall.

Charley Wren and wife expect soon to make a tour through the west, visiting friends and making observations of the country.

W. R. Nowels, at the elevator, keeps repairs for the Peerless reaper and mower.

Geo. K. Hollingsworth expects soon to take charge of a Dwiggins Syndicate Bank at Churubusco, Whitley County, Indiana.

Geo. W. Casey, Fair Oaks, is agent for the Peerless Machine Co.

John Macy, of Indianapolis, is visiting his mother, Mrs. John Makeever, and other friends in Rensselaer.

Some outbuildings near the residence of Frank C. Moore, in Barkley township, were destroyed by fire the other day. The assistance of neighbors saved the residence and furniture. Supposed to have originated from a defective flue.

The Peerless reaper and binder is highly commended by those who are best acquainted with its work. George W. Casey, Fair Oaks, is agent, and will do the fair thing by purchasers. Give him a call before purchasing elsewhere.
