

Only One Bottle.

PORT WAYNE, Ind., August 23, 1899.
Rheumatic Syrup Co., Jackson, Mich.:
GENTLEMEN: Having suffered severely for some time with rheumatism, so that I was unable to work, Messrs. Dreier & Bro. recommended Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup. After taking one bottle I was entirely cured. I have recommended your remedies frequently to my friends with like results.

Great Improvement.

Capt. Jasman, who owed a bill in a neighboring town, was drawn on through the bank.
"What's this?" he asked of the collector.
"It's a draft for $50."
"The first one I ever saw. Now, they get 'em up in good shape, don't they? Well, sir, there has been a big improvement in such things since I could first remember. When I was a boy, circus bills were mere daubs of red ink, but now look at 'em."
"Are you going to pay this draft?"
"Oh, I don't want it. Tell that fellow that I am much obliged for the kind attention he has shown me, but that I cannot afford to pay so large a price for so small a piece of paper. Good-day."
Arkansas Traveler.

Take Care! There Is Danger

In allowing inactivity of the kidneys to grow through neglect. The deadly shoals of Bright's disease and diabetes will wreck the goodly bark of health if it is allowed to drift rulerless upon them. The bladder, too, if inactive, and judicious medication does not speedily direct the helm toward the port of safety, will be whelmed by the quicksands of disease. In selecting a diuretic, let your choice fall upon Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which stimulates the renal organs without irritating and exciting them, two effects to be apprehended from the unmediated stimuli largely resorted to. These have a tendency to react prejudicially. The Bitters invigorate the kidneys and bladder, in common with the nerves and the digestive organs, and so afford lasting aid. It also affords dual assistance in preventing and curing intermittent and remittent fever. Biliousness, constipation and rheumatism it also subjugates.

The Regret of His Life.

Tramp—Yes, mum, them was stirring times when a lot of us crossed the plains with "Pike's Peak or Bust" on our wagons.
Woman—Tell me, my good man, did you get to the goal of your ambition?
Tramp—Yes, mum. I got through to Pike's Peak, but I've been sorry ever since that I didn't get busted sooner.

She Wanted Small Change.

She was a sweet-faced, demure little woman, and as she sat in the ladies' waiting-room of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in Jersey City, more than one man had his eyes on her and wondered who she was. By and by a young man in a check suit and carrying a great deal of cheek took a circuit around and sat down beside her. He had scarcely dropped into the seat before she gave him a sweet smile and inquired if he would please to do her a great favor.
"Ah! with all the pleasure in the world!" he made haste to reply.
"I want some small change, and if you will be so kind as to take this bill and—"

"Certainly—certainly—most happy to do so," he said, as he received it and started for the ticket office. He handed it in without looking at it and asked for the change, but the ticket man shoved it back with the remark:
"Wonder how many more fools she will strike before her train goes!"
"What do you mean?"
"Look at the bill."
It was a $5. Confederate note; and as the young man stood staring at it with blinking eyes the ticket man added:
"You are the fifth one within two hours. She brought 'em along for just such an emergency, and the proper thing for you to do is to take a back seat and make yourself as small as possible until your train goes."

The crushed young man did even better than that, he left the depot altogether, and his demeanor was that of a man who intended to hunt up a pile driver and let the hammer fall upon him half a dozen times.—New York Sun.

Kissed Another Man's Wife.

"You scoundrel," yelled young Jacob Green, at his good neighbor, Brown.
"You kissed my wife upon the street—I ought to knock you down."
"That's where you're wrong," good Brown replied.
In accents mild and meek;
"I kissed her, that I've not denied, But kissed her on the cheek, and I did it because she looked so handsome—the very picture of beauty and health. What is the secret of it?" "Well," replied Green, "since you ask it, I will tell you: She uses Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I accept your apology. Good-night." "Favorite Prescription" is the only remedy for the delicate derangements and weaknesses of females, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee of giving satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it returned.

For biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, and constipation, take Dr. Pierce's Pills.

The Dog Had to Climb.

We were comfortable seated around the hearth at Porter Lake, in Pike County, Pa., and the spirit of story telling was strong upon us, because the fishing had been unusually good and the supper bounteous. The flash and sparkle of wit filled the upper air of the room as with a wisp of smoke, and a halo of calm bliss encircled the brow of each enraptured listener. But first the dog and then the antidote.

The benevolent Colonel drew us down gently from the giddy heights with a story of a coarse plebeian, locally known as a catfish. Thus ran the tale: "A man and his dog went fishing in the Mississippi. In a short time the man felt a mighty pull on the line and he knew that a catfish had taken hold. The giant came along peacefully enough until he happened to change his mind, and then he decided to double on his course and take the man along. The faithful dog, seeing his master's danger, rushed to the rescue bravely enough. The wily catfish, when he found the dog pursuing, turned upon him and terrified the dog, who incontinently turned tail and swam vigorously toward the dry land, the catfish hotly following.

"Presently the dog gained the land and ran hastily, the catfish madly surging after him. The dog, sorely pressed and fearing a painful death, in his extremity climbed a tree, the catfish still pursuing."
"Hold on! hold on!" we cried in chorus; dogs can't climb trees."
"Can't climb a tree!" responded the Colonel. "But the catfish was close upon him and this dog had to climb,"—Forest and Stream.

A Remedy for the Influenza Cough.

A remedy recommended for patients afflicted with the influenza cough is Kemp's Balsam, the specific for coughs and colds, which is especially adapted to diseases of the throat and lungs. Do not wait for the first symptoms of the disease before securing the remedy, but get a bottle and keep it on hand for use the moment it is needed. If neglected the influenza has a tendency to bring on pneumonia. All druggists sell the Balsam.

Make a Guess.

At a grocery store on Church street, Belfast, Mass., recently, while quite a number of persons were gathered therein, the proprietor got them to guessing on various things, mainly coming to pea beans. A number of guesses were made as to how many were in a bushel. The most reckless person in the party guessed as high as 50,000. From that there were various other estimates of a smaller number. "Well, sir," said the grocer, "there are 119,000." Of course no one would believe him until he explained that there were sixty to a half ounce, and proved it. "Then how many bank notes will it take to weigh as much as a silver dollar?" he said. "One hundred!" "seventy-five?" "three hundred!" cried out several. "Not right," said the grocer, "just twenty-two," which he illustrated and proved.

Deafness Can't Be Cured

By local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

"My friend, what's something wrong mit dot coat?"
"I should remark! You warranted it fast color, and see how it has faded."
"Hem. I warranted it, did I?"
"You did."
"How long ago 'vas dot?"
"Four weeks ago—the day before I went to Toledo."
"Ho, ho! You had been to Toledo, eh?"
"Yes—just got back."

The Handsomest Lady in Town

Remarked to a friend the other day that she knew Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs was a superior remedy, as it stopped her cough instantly when other cough remedies had no effect whatever. So to prove this and convince you of its merit, any druggist will give you a Sample Bottle Free. Large size, 50c and $1.

FASHIONABLE SOCIETY.

The trying ordeals which fashionable society imposes on its devotees are enough to severely test the physical strength and endurance of the most robust. Irregular and late hours, over-rich and indigestible food, late suppers, the fatigue of the ball-room, the bad air of the ill-ventilated, overcrowded theatre, are each, in themselves, sufficient to upset the system and ruin the health of the delicate and sensitive. Combined, they can hardly fail, if persisted in, to seriously impair the health of the hardiest. Ladies generally possess less powers of endurance than their male consorts, and so the sooner succumb to these deleterious influences. They become pale, haggard and debilitated, and constantly experience a sense of lassitude—that "tired feeling" as so many express it. The least exertion fatigues them. Various neuralgia and other pains harass and distress the sufferer. Headache, backache, "bearing-down" sensations, and "female weaknesses" follow and sorely afflict the sufferer.
As an invigorating, restorative tonic, soothing cordial and bracing nerve, for debilitated and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has no equal. In fact, it is the only medicine for the peculiar weaknesses and ailments incident to females, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from its manufacturers, that it will, in every case, give satisfaction or its price ($1.00) will be promptly refunded. It improves digestion, invigorates the system, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, produces refreshing sleep, dispels melancholy and nervousness, and builds up both the flesh and strength of those reduced below a healthy standard. It is a legitimate medicine—not a beverage. Contains no alcohol or narcotics; no syrup or sugar to sour or ferment in the stomach and cause distress. It is as peculiar in its composition as it is marvelous in its remedial results. Therefore, don't be put off with some worthless compound easily, but dishonestly recommended to be "just as good," that the dealer may make more profit. "Favorite Prescription" is incomparable. The manufacturers' unprecedented offer to guarantee satisfaction in every case, or money refunded, ought to convince every invalid of this fact. Prepare for Spring

Now is the time to attend to your personal condition in preparation for the change to spring season. If you have not "wintered well," if you are tired out from overwork, if your blood has become impure from close confinement in badly ventilated offices or shops, you should take Hood's Sarsaparilla at once. It will purify and vitalize your blood, create a good appetite, and give your whole system tone and strength.

"For a first-class spring medicine my wife and I think very highly of Hood's Sarsaparilla. We both took it last spring. It did us a great deal of good and we felt better through the hot weather than ever before. It cured my wife of sick headache, from which she has suffered a great deal, and relieved me of a dizzy, tired feeling. I think every one ought to take something to purify the blood before the hot weather comes on, and we shall certainly take Hood's Sarsaparilla this spring." J. H. PEARCE, Supt.
