FRIDAY MARCH 7 1890

Entered at the post office at Rensselaer, Ind., as second-class matter.

The result of the tariff tax is a small amount of public revenue, and an immense amount of private plunder.

The annual meeting of the Indiana Tariff Reform League, at Indianapolis, on the 4th inst., proved an immense success. A republican ex-attorney general, D. P. Baldwin, of Logansport, presided.

Remember! Protected "labor" means the "product" of labor, and not the laborer. The monopolist is the owner of the "product," hence he alone is benefited by the "protective" duties.

The U. S. supreme court has upheld the Mississippi law compelling railroads to furnish separate compartments for colored passengers.—Way goes the Civil Rights law.

The republicans in Oklahoma have taken up their Winchesters and driven the negroes out of that land of promise. We suggest that Billee Chandler call upon the Attorney General for information relating thereto.

By direction of the "Home Market Club" the Republican this week announces that "Protection is a Necessity," and the Monticello Herald informs its readers that "Protection Lowers Prices." Our friend, Alf. McCoy, a strenuous Republican, insists that any person who would put forth the last proposition is a d—d fool, and hasn't a d—d bit of sense. McCoy is correct.

Chas. Swayne, a briefless Philadelphia lawyer, was appointed by Harrison Judge of the United States District Court, in Florida.

John R. M. Zell, a political plug-ugly, was appointed U. S. Marshal for the district, and sent out the following letter:

Jacksonville, Fla., July 5, 1889.

Sir: You will at once confer with Mr. Bulby and make out a list of fifty or sixty names of true and tried Republicans from your county registration list for Jurors, United States court, and forward same to Hon. P. Walter, clerk United States court, and it is necessary to have them at once, as you can see. Please acknowledge this, I am,

Yours truly,
JOHN R. MIZFLL,
United States Marshal
C. C. KIRK, Esq.,
De Land, Fla.

Please get the names of the parties as near steam-boat and railroad stations as possible.

As a result of following the instructions laid down in the above epistle 23 out of 24 grand juries drawn were republicans; the petit jury was equally one-sided. The matter was brought to the attention of the court but it refused to correct the corrupt transaction, and old citizens of Florida were the victims of persecution for opinion's sake. Goaded by the wrongs received at the hands of unprincipled and corrupt officials, it is not a matter of wonder that some individuals would resort to violence to right themselves. In such cases the individuals alone would be responsible. And yet, Billee Chandler, Ingalls Sherman et al, want laws enacted that will convert Florida into a republican state as a punishment therefor.

Don't fail to see McGinty at the Opera House, 12th and 13th. "20 minutes with the corpse of McGinty," the most laughable farce on the American stage.

Editor Sentinel:

In a recent issue of your paper was an article from "Plus," whom I take to be a country republican, bitterly complaining of our faithful and fortunate town brethren. We too, up this way, have been counting noses, and are not at all pleased with the figures.

We find that the three hundred republican voters of Rensselaer are represented by twenty office-holders, and the thirteen hundred republican voters outside the town are represented by three office-holders—the three commissioners, two of whom cannot be residents of the town.

Now, if this is not "hogging the ring," we do not understand the meaning of this slang phrase. We must, however, bear with it a little longer, and only a little longer, too, for in a few weeks there will be a republican county primary, and this time no "hogging of the ring" will be allowed, but, on the contrary, we intend making it a grand ringing of the hogs; those old "porkers" and their pets have been nosing around the public crib long enough; they must be ringed and turned out to grass.

Of late we have been thinking that the securing of so many offices for Rensselaer republicans was for the purpose of creating a real estate boom for the town. Let them, in a few weeks, send out from the town ten or a dozen census takers; let them, in June, change the Commissioners' districts, have them all corner in Rensselaer, and in this way get the Commissioners all from town; let them, at the November election, elect two Judges; let them stand in with the administration, and get an office for every republican in town, that has applied for and expects one; all this done, Rensselaer's leading position among the great cities of the earth is fully assured.

A city where every republican holds office, is the place thousands of republicans "long have sought, and mourned because they found it not." Messrs. republican ringsters, if it is to boom our town that you want all these offices, say so, and we will forgive the past and lend you a helping hand in the future. Keep this matter a secret no longer, Rensselaer is so far ahead in office-getting that she need fear no rival.

Boil no more for oil or gas; vote no more tax for railroads; offer no more inducements to manufacturing enterprises, but let the world know that Rensselaer is the paradise for republican office-seekers. This new and novel plan will win; Rensselaer, in this way, can be made a famous city, a "great big" town.

Let Rensselaer republicans send something like the following out all over the world heralding the fame of your city.

There is a place where office sheds
The oil of gladness o'er our heads;
There is a candidate's re seat;
"Tis found in Jasper's county seat.

If you would breathe, in office, every breath;
Have a good fat job until your death,
And thus have plenty to eat and wear,
Oh, move to the Town of Rensselaer.

It's like you can nowhere find,
For he 'yon'e elected every time;
And 'tis not you wealth or great renown
That 'gets you there' it is the town.

Then came one and all, who would aspire
To a constable's seat, or something higher;
Come, women and men, girls and boys,
To the officers' city, on the Iroquois.

North End, March 4, 1890.

A few days ago the Post Office Department received from a postmaster his resignation, with the recommendation of his deputy for the succession, and the explanation that it was necessary that his resignation be accepted because he was about to leave that part of the country for an indefinite period. This excited the curiosity of the department officials who investigated the matter and found that the phrase "an indefinite period," was exceedingly well chosen. The postmaster wrote his resignation in jail where he was under indictment for killing two men, and as he had no means of knowing how serious a view of his conduct we'd be taken by the judge and the jury, and there were also possibilities of a lynching party, the postmaster could not state with any degree of accuracy how long he would be gone.

It is estimated that the country is compelled to pay an annual tribute to the "lumber barons" amounting to $89,000,000. On every 1000 feet of lumber not planed or finished there is $2 tax. Of this class of lumber we import per year about $5,000,000 worth on which the government receives a duty of about $800,000. Of course this raises the price of that class of lumber about $2 on every 1000 feet, and the barons reap a rich harvest on the enhanced price on lumber made in this country, at expense of the people. Truly is the tariff a blessing.

"What's the news?" said H. J. Weber, of Moundville township. "Oh, nothing, except we are all wearing republican badges out here—a big, broad patch on the seat of our breeches."—Mail.

No good reason for being in debt—the letter b.—[Puck] There are in the State of Illinois over 1,000,000 acres of land owned by aliens. Under a recent law of that State they must become citizens by the 1st of July, when the law goes into effect, to retain possession of it.

The protective tariff provides a small measure of public revenue and a large measure of private plunder. The standard taxation is not the amount which is collected by the custom house. It is the amount which the consumer pays by reason of the enhanced cost of the protected article.

The postmastership at Americus, Ga., has been given to a negro named Dudley. It is a Presidential office, and the advice and consent of the Senate must be given before Dudley can enjoy the emoluments of the place.

The rogues are falling out and by the next Presidential election honest men may get their dues. Dudley was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1888, and paid his own expense here, whereas the rest of the Georgia delegation, who proposed to contest his seat, came here, so one of the Georgia colonels avers, at the expense of John Sherman.

This same colonel, one Jack Brown, says in explanation of Dudley's appointment that it is a lame excuse to put it on the ground of a reward, for he had been rewarded. Brown was at Chicago, where he found Dudley. "I collared him and led him up to the Allison's headquarters. Dudley wanted $100. I offered him to Gov. Gear and Mr. Henderson, who has charge of Allison's headquarters, at that amount. They, however, refused to buy him. Allison was not buying delegates. Then I led the negro out like a mule and put him on the Harrison block.

Bill Dudley of Indiana quickly bid his price and got him for Harrison. The negro, Dudley, carried out his contract. He got his money, all he asked, and now gets a postoffice besides."

On this showing the New York Sun makes the comment that "if John Sherman believes in Col. Jack's story, he can hardly feel disposed to vote for the confirmation of Dudley. And what will Gen. Harrison think? Can it be possible that any wicked person or persons got votes for him in the national convention by arguments to the purse? And not merely as a matter of morals, but as a matter of politics, can he afford to give postoffices to delegates already subsidized?"

Gen. Harrison was willing to profit in the campaign by Dudley's blocks of five method and to aid thereafter in shielding him from the criminal consequences of his violation of law. His moral sense is not likely to be acute in the matter of the purchase of a negro delegate's vote. It is not to be forgotten that Gen. Harrison was a machine politician of Indiana years ago and that his backing for the Presidency came from the machine of that State.—Chicago Times.
