

FRIDAY MAY 2 1890

Entered at the post office at Rensselaer, Ind.
as second-class matter.

Pursuant to call a Democratic corporation convention was held in the court house Tuesday evening last.

Dr. J. H. Loughridge was called to preside, and Jas. W. McEwen elected secretary.

The following named candidates were placed in nomination:

For Clerk—Jesse S. Grubb.

For Treasurer—Isaac Tuteur.

For Marshal—Abram Simpson.

For Trustee, 3d District—John Eger.

For Trustee, 4th district—John W. Paxton.

C. D. Nowels, Isaac Glazebrook and Archie Grubb were appointed Democratic Corporation Committee.

On motion, adjourned.

The settlement of the Town Board with Marshal Simpson was made without a rifle. His duties had been performed satisfactorily and everything found to be square and correct. Any reports to the contrary are gotten up for electioneering purposes. Give them no heed.

Jesse S. Grubb, for Clerk, is a young man of unexceptional character, trustworthy and competent.

Isaac Tuteur, for Treasurer, and John Eger and John W. Paxton to represent the 3d and 4th districts on the town board, are individually and collectively worthy a hearty support at the ballot-box next Monday.

As a result of the Democratic cyclone which this spring created such great havoc with republican trustees in Indiana, the republican attorney general consoles the injured ones with the assurance that as their terms do not expire until next August they have the power to appoint teachers for next winter.

The protected owners of the products of labor will be benefited by the republican tariff, and our neighbor is deeply impressed with the idea that the committee, and especially the chairman thereof, "deserves the thanks" of all such. While they are returning thanks the plundered masses will hurl from power the instruments who formulated and enacted the scheme to rob the many in the interest of the few.

"The McKinley Tariff bill is a measure which meets our fullest approbation * * * It is a faithful embodiment of the principle of protection as advocated by the Republican party," etc."—Rensselaer Republican.

The bill will largely increase the cost of necessities of life, and in return proposes to give the people cheaper tobacco. It makes large additions to the tax on woollen clothing, carpets, etc., and in return places diamonds and luxuries for the rich monopolistic classes on the free list. Summed up, it increases the cost of living, increases taxation, increases the tribute to be paid by the toiling masses into the coffers of monopolies and combines. This meets the "fullest approbation" of our neighbor, who declares it to be "a faithful embodiment of the principle of protection as advocated by the Republican party."

Hon. John Overmyer, of Jennings county has joined Judge D. P. Baldwin in the tariff reform agitation, serving notice on the Republican party, of which he has been an honorable and honored member ever since its organization, that he is a free trader in principle, and that the "protection" doctrine now advocated by the party is not Republicanism, but Blainism. He is writing a series of articles for the Indianapolis Sentinel, from the first of which we quote the following paragraph:

If "protection" be adhered to by the Republican party, then, when Blaine's political estate becomes insolvent, as it soon will unless some better capital than "protection," stock be speedily acquired, all the personal assets will be sold out with the general trumpery of the estate.

The Rose Lisle Dramatic Company will open at the Opera House Monday night with the beautiful drama "Wealth and Poverty."—There will be a change of play each night during the week.

What They may of Rose Lisle.

A thorough artiste—Inter Ocean

Miss Lisle is a powerful emotional artiste.—New York World.

Miss Lisle's Lady Isabel is a finished piece of acting.—Philadelphia Record.

Rose Lisle carried the play and won all hearts by her rapid transitions from sentiment to comedy.—Cleveland Leader.

A crowded house greeted the second appearance of the Rose Lisle Co. last night, and the universal verdict was that it is superior to any company that ever played in Alliance. Where all are good it is invidious to particularize and suffice it to say that Rose Lisle and her company have made a hit in Alliance.—Alliance Olive.

The Rose Lisle company commenced a week's engagement at the Opera House last Monday before a large and well pleased audience. Miss Lisle is one of the best artists who has ever visited our town. The support is unusually strong, in fact it is the best repertoire company that has ever performed here.—

[Union City Times.]

The Rose Lisle Company appeared at the Boswell Opera House on Wednesday evening, April 2, in the drama "Wealth and Poverty." The play gave the best of satisfaction and the company is one of the best that has ever visited our city. Miss Lisle is a grand actress and her acting is finished in every particular. Her support is good.—Boswell Argus.

The distinguished actress, Rose Lisle, was at one time a leading member of a stock company in London in which Henry Irving was then leading man. During a visit to Europe Lester Wallack engaged Miss Lisle for his theatre in New York city where she won the highest encomiums from the press and public. Then she has been the leading feature of Union Square Theatre Boston Theatre, and has starred in all the large cities in the United States.—Frankford Times.

The Only Big Show to be This Year is John Robinson's 10 Big Shows Combined, and the Date will be Rensselaer, May 17.

It will not come a day sooner or later, it never divides but always exhibits just the same in small villages as in small towns, it never deceives by false misrepresentation or exaggerated bills, but will exhibit everything pictured and described. It is the biggest show on earth and has more acts, actors, features and novelties than any 10 shows on earth. 4 monster railroad trains with 4 big engines to transport it. 60 cages and dens, its 31 sun-bright chariots, its 30 horses, its 100 ponies and 480 people. The parade is 2 solid miles of glittering gold and emeralds, and cost $300,000. It takes place each day at 10 a. m.

Many Lives, Histories, or Biographies of the late Jefferson Davis, purporting to be written by Mrs. Jefferson Davis, are being advertised throughout the country. The only genuine work of the kind written by Mrs. Jefferson Davis is that to be published by Belford Company, 18-22 East 18th Street, New York, entitled "Jefferson Davis, Ex-President of the Confederate States: A Memoir, by His Wife." All other works claiming the authorship of Mrs. Jefferson Davis must necessarily be injurious to her personally and pecuniarily. The book is sold by subscription, and territory is being rapidly assigned. The work promises to be one of the most popular ever published, and those desiring to have it should apply at once to the publishers, who will furnish circulars and information.

STEALING SENATORSHIPS.

[From 1st page—Concluded.] and odor of a plague worse than his who washed seven times in Jordan to be cleansed; but he was no spendthrift [Laught. r.]

He was trained to the most rigid habits of economy in the art and mystery of iniquity which he professed and practiced. He might be mistakend about what had been done for them at the county seat of Butte. He and those for whom he was laboring might be disappointed in the effect of that which had been done for them at Helena; but one thing he had made up his mind to do: he would have no more to do with Wallow; Wallow wanted too much money. The panderer to political self-pollution, is sometimes mistaken in his objects. The regular course of procedure in that hideous farce at Helena, the murder of the ballot, the assassination of the free vote of the people, had been hitherto extremely cheap, exceedingly inexpensive.—What he wanted with Mr. Pennington was that he would throw out the vote of precinct No. 34.

The Territorial board of scriveners, canvassers and accountants, that triple coil of adders, the chief justice recently appointed from Verulam, that secretary from Sodom, that governor from Gomorrah, had thrown out precinct No. 34, without money? without price? without any reward or the hopes thereof? This tribunal, so-called, high and mighty, this central authoritative, superior, supreme tribunal had taken upon themselves the form of servants, of servants without hire; they had become slaves to his bidding. Was it any wonder, then, that this prince and power of darkness, chaffering here and there to one and to another the Judas silver which he bore, that in the judge of the election precinct at No. 34 he at last met a man above his measure, and like one of old he was "troubled in his presence." He was troubled, sorely troubled in the presence of one who rejected the wages of the baffled procurer, who turned his back upon the proffered treasure of this paltering fiend, who declined to fix the price for which he would barter his conscience and his honor.

DUNN vs. THOMPSON.

Editor Sentinel: In circulating among the faithful of the g. o. p. in the north part of the county we find that the Hon. S. P. Thompson is likely to have an opponent for his senatorial seat in the person of Hon. I. D. Dunn. We do not know that Mr. Dunn has as yet declared himself a candidate, but there is a sentiment, and a growing sentiment, too, strongly in favor of him.

It is claimed, by his friends that though his official record in our state legislature is not as brilliant as some others, yet it is a very honorable one; one that is more acceptable to the common people than Senator Thompson's.

They claim that Thompson has no feeling, and but little interest in common with the laboring classes; that his course in the legislature, like his every day life here at home was all for self. They say that his position on the school book law, the election law, etc., show him to be the friend of wealth, the apologist of monopoly, and the enemy of the toiling masses.

In representative Dunn they think they have a friend; one they can trust and easily elect.

As for Democrats, one republican is about as acceptable as another. We care but little whether it be Thompson or Dunn, for when it comes to a question of politics either will suit the purposes of his party.

As for the personal advantages and aspirations of the two men we would prefer to see Dunn win.
