LAST RESTING PLACE.

Burial of the Remains of Dr. P. H. Cronin.
A Chicago dispatch says: The last act in the Dr. P. H. Cronin tragedy was closed at Calvary Cemetery by the impressive burial service of the Catholic Church, of which the Doctor was a member. The murder occurred on May 4, 1893, a year ago, and the Doctor's remains have been lying in the receiving vault at Calvary Cemetery since the inquest, and it was to inter them and pay the last tribute of respect to a patriot and citizen that fully 5,000 people gathered within the gates. A special train carried the friends of the murdered man from the city to the cemetery. Arriving at the cemetery a procession was formed, consisting of the Phil Sheridan Guards, Capt. Frank Sullivan in command, preceded by a drum corps, and Division No. 11, A. O. U. L. Martin Dowling, President, together with members of the order from other divisions. Dr. Cronin was in his lifetime a member of this division. The procession passed to the open grave, near the east side of the cemetery, not far from the Sheridan road. Capt. Sullivan's company formed a guard about the grave. The casket was placed in a cemented brick vault at the bottom of the grave, and, resting under a profusion of flowers, was covered with a large limestone slab. The religious services were conducted by the Rev. Father Muldoon, Chancellor of the diocese, assisted by the Rev. Father D. B. Toomey. These consisted simply of the office for committal. There were no addresses of any kind made. As soon as the service was said the grave was filled, and upon the new turned earth the ladies' floral committee placed wreaths and bouquets. These floral tributes were so abundant that the grave was completely hidden by them. Thus, exactly one year after his untimely death, the body of Dr. Cronin was laid to rest.

SENATOR BECK NO MORE.

The Kentucky Statesman Suddenly Expires from Heart Disease.
Senator James B. Beck, the strongest man in many respects on the Democratic side of the Senate, died suddenly of heart disease, without a moment's warning. He expired in the Baltimore and Potomac Railway Station, in Washington, within a hundred feet of the silver star that marks the spot where Garfield fell when struck by Guitau's bullet. He had spent the previous day in New York City and had just arrived from the train, and as he was passing through the gate he placed his hand to his head, saying: "I am so dizzy," and fell into the arms of his companions. The Senator was carried to the Superintendent's room, and died before a physician could reach him. Ten minutes later the sad news was conveyed to the Senate chamber. The presiding officer read, in a voice betraying deep emotion, a brief dispatch announcing that Senator Beck had just dropped dead, and the Senate at once adjourned and Senators and officials expressed to each other their sincere sorrow at the sudden death of a man so much loved and respected. Mr. Ingalls instructed the Assistant Sergeant-at-Arms, Mr. Reed, to proceed at once to the station, ascertain the facts, make all proper arrangements, and have the Senate flag placed at half-mast.

POPE LEO'S RESCRIPT ON SOCIALISM.

German Bishops Urged to Combat the New Doctrine and Settle Labor Troubles.
The Pope's rescript to the German bishops urging them to actively combat socialism has been made public. His holiness declares that the church will play a more important part in the settlement of the questions between labor and capital than will the civil governments, because the divine force inheres in religion will lead men to turn willingly to correct ways. The priests are urged to intervene to settle differences by their paternal authority. They should endeavor to render the discomforts of the present life more tolerable to the poor, who should be urged to acquire more precious treasures in heaven. The priests of Germany are urged to extend the institutions, such as schools and work houses, for the education of poor children, which tend to hold the working people to good customs.

George B. Harris has been elected second Vice President of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company, to take effect June 1, and E. P. Stone announced his prospective retirement from the "Q." it was generally predicted that Mr. Harris would be his successor, and the choice of the Board of Directors at a recent meeting was therefore accepted as a matter of course, but the resignation of General Manager Ripley caused no little surprise in railroad circles. Mr. Ripley leaves the Burlington to become Vice President of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Road.

At night 20,000 strikers paraded the streets, committing many excesses. The cavalry dispersed all groups, and arrested twenty persons.

THE NATIONAL SOLONS.

WORK OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

Our National Law-Makers and What They Are Doing for the Good of the Country—Various Measures Proposed, Discussed and Acted On.

The comparative merits of the levee and outlet systems for the Mississippi were discussed at length in the Senate on the 26th, the debate showing that there was a great divergence of views on the subject. Most of the time specified was spent on the land grant forfeiture bill. Mr. Everts called up the bill to incorporate the Society of Sons of the American Revolution, which elicited considerable discussion, during which the Senate at 5:45 p. m. adjourned. In the House the conference report on the Fremont (Nebraska) public building bill was submitted by Mr. Milliken, of Maine, and was agreed to. The limit of cost is $30,000. The Speaker laid before the House the message of the President, returning, without his approval, the bill to allow Ogden, Utah, to increase its indebtedness. Referred to the Committee on Territories. The legislative executive, and judicial appropriation bill was passed without objection. The House then went into committee of the whole on bills relating to the District of Columbia. The bill for the establishment of Rock Creek Park was amended so as to pay out of the cost on the adjoining property-holders and after much discussion received a favorable vote, most of the Republicans voting for it and the Democrats against it. The bill was laid aside with a favorable recommendation by the committee of the whole.

The Senate on the 29th passed the land grant forfeiture bill. The bill provides for the forfeiture to the United States of all unneeded land grants for railroad purposes where the railroads have not been completed within the time specified when the grants were made. The Senate then, on motion of Mr. Allison, proceeded to the consideration of the customs administration bill. After the adoption of various amendments the bill went over as unfinished business, and the Senate adjourned. The House resolved itself into committee of the whole, Mr. Burrows in the chair, and proceeded to the discussion of Mr. Dingley's bill for the classification of all worsted cloths under the head of woolen cloths. Mr. Dingley took the floor, and was answered by Mr. Breckinridge, of Kentucky. Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Mills also spoke on the bill, as did also Mr. Blair and Mr. Cummings. Mr. Dingley moved that the committee rise and the motion was carried. The Democrats generally opposed the bill, though of course it was favored by Republicans. After a considerable amount of discussion the House failed to get a quorum the House adjourned.

In the Senate on the 30th Mr. Dingley, from the Committee on Foreign Relations, reported a concurrent resolution requesting the President to negotiate with the Governments of Great Britain and Mexico with a view to securing
