

If You Had a Friend
About to visit some section of country where malarial disease, either in the form of chills and fever or bilious remittent was particularly rife, what would be about the best advice you could give him? We will tell you—to carry along, or procure on arriving, that potent medicinal safeguard, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, known throughout malaria-plagued regions, here and in other countries, as the surest means of dispelling the malarious scourge, and robbery of its foul destructive influence. Not only does it act by its power in assuring its stamina, but overcomes irregularity of digestion, the liver and the bowels, and counteracts the unfavorable effects of over-exertion, bodily and mental exposure in rough weather, or over-eating, sedentary labor, loss of appetite, and excessive nervousness. The functions of almentation, billions secretion, and sleep have in it a most powerful and reliable auxiliary.

The Original Three-Card Monte man. I found a man in my rounds recently, says a correspondent, who was well acquainted with "Canada Bill," the original three-card monte man, now dead.

"The three-card monte game," he said, "was first worked by 'Canada Bill,' in 1869. Bill was a Canadian, as his name indicated, and he was as stupid a looking man as one could easily find. Bill worked his game on the trains usually, passing himself off as a cattleman from Texas. In 1873, after making a vast sum of money at his trick, 'Canada Bill' conceived the idea of organizing all the men inclined to be 'crooked' in the various points about which he plied his vocation. He called it, as all men of his calling now do, 'squearing the head'—that is, the head offices of a town if possible, establishing a fence, having a 'fixed' lawyer, and ready 'straw-ball property holders.' At one time he had working for him 1,600 men on the trains and in towns and cities."

We quoted a current item about the experience of Dr. Alanus with a vegetarian diet, and his attributing disease of the blood vessels to his use of that diet. We expressed doubt of any relation of cause and effect between such diet and softening arteries. Now Dr. Holbrook writes that probably it is a "fake" item, since the German vegetarians never heard of Dr. Alanus, and no such name appears in their medical directories. —Dr. Foote's Health Monthly.

An ancient statuette of Diana, said to be by Praxiteles and valued at $50,000, is on exhibition in New York.

S. JACOB'S OIL THE BEST.

Rheumatism.

Neuralgia.

N. Ogden, Mich.

May 17, 1890.

"A half bottle of your invaluable medicine St. Jacob's Oil is the only rheumatic and neuralgic cure. It is the best in the universe."

J. M. L. PORTER.

IT HAS NO EQUAL.

SHILOH'S CONSUMPTION CURE.

The success of this Great Cough Cure is without a parallel in the history of medicine. All druggists are authorized to sell it on a positive guarantee, a test that no other cure can successfully stand. That it may become known, the Proprietors, at an enormous expense, are placing a Sample Bottl. Free into every home in the United States and Canada. If you have a Cough, Sore Throat, or Bronchitis, use it, for it will cure you. If your child has the Croup, or Whooping Cough, use it promptly, and relief is sure. If you dread that insidious disease Consumption, use it. Ask your Druggist for SHILOH'S CURE, Price 10 cts., 50 cts. and $1.00. If your Lungs are sore or lack lame, use Shiloh's Porous Plaster, Price 25 cts.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY,
BEECHAM'S PILLS
For Bilious and Nervous Disorders.
"Worth a Guinea a Box" but sold for 25 Cents,
BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

To You, GENTLE READER.

If you have Dyspepsia, you have been tormented with pain in the stomach after eating, you have headache, are bilious at times, your bowels are constipated, your skin is yellow, your tongue is coated, you have dark circles around your eyes, you can not eat what you like, you do not sleep well, you are...

USED UP GENERALLY.

Get a bottle of

DR. WHITE'S
DANDELION ALTERATIVE
It will cure you. You can eat what you like, you will sleep like a child, your skin will get clear, your eyes will get bright, you will get FLESH ON YOUR BONES and will feel vigorous enough to take anything you can lay your hands on. Very large bottle for $1, and every bottle warranted.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

DOES CURE
CONSUMPTION

In its First Stages.

Be sure you get the genuine.

INDIANS WERE VICTORS

THEY REPULSED THE SOLDIERS OF UNCLE SAM.

Another Terrible Battle with the Redskins Near Pine Ridge Agency—The Troops Go Out to Meet the Indians and Are Driven Back—Six Soldiers Killed.

[Pine Ridge (S. D.) dispatch.]

The day opened with an attack on the wagon train of the Ninth Cavalry, within a mile and a half of the agency. Col. Henry and four companies of the Ninth arrived at daybreak. An hour after, the Indians fired into the wagons. In a few moments both the Seventh and the Ninth were out and in line of battle on the bluffs north of the agency. The firing was seen plainly from here. In one hour the skirmish was over and the soldiers started for breakfast, but were driven to withdraw.

A courier arrived with word that the Catholic Mission was on fire, and the teachers and pupils being massacred. In twenty minutes the weary, hungry, and exhausted cavalrymen were once more in motion. They found that the fire, the black smoke of which could be plainly seen, was the day school, one mile this side of the mission.

The Indians were found to number 1,800 and over. The Seventh formed a line and began the fighting, which was carried on by only 300 or 400 Indians at a time, while the great mass kept concealed. Col. Forsythe suspected an ambush and did not let them draw him into dangerous ground. Col. Henry started one hour later than Forsythe and, owing to the exhaustion of his horses, had to travel slowly. The Seventh became surrounded by Indians, but just as the circle was ready to charge the Ninth broke in upon the rear and they fell back. The weary soldiers slowly retreated, reaching the agency at dark.

The infantry had been ordered out, but was stopped by the sight of the head of the column of cavalry. The soldiers, brave and heroic as they are, were overwhelmed.

There are not enough troops at this point to clean out these Indians, who are still camped within seven miles of the camp on Wounded Knee telegraphs as follows concerning the battle there:

In the morning, as soon as the ordinary military work of the early day was done, Maj. Whitsides determined upon disarming the Indians at once, and at 6 o'clock the camp of Big Foot was surrounded by the Seventh and Taylor's scouts. The Indians were sitting in a circle. Four Hotchkiss guns were placed upon a hill about 200 yards distant. Every preparation was made, not especially to fight but to show the Indians the futility of resistance. They seemed to recognize this fact, and when Maj. Whitsides ordered them to come up twenty at a time and give up their arms, they came, but not with their guns in sight. Of the first twenty but two or three displayed arms. These they gave up sullenly, and observing the futility of that method of procedure, Maj. Whitsides ordered a detachment of K and A troops on foot to enter the tepees and search them. This work had hardly been entered upon when the 120 desperate Indians turned upon the soldiers, who were gathered closely about the tepees, and immediately a storm of firing was poured upon the military. It was as though the order to search had been a signal. The soldiers, not anticipating any such action, had been gathered in closely, and the first firing was terribly disastrous to them. The reply was immediate, however, and in instant it seemed that the draw in which the Indian camp was set was a sunken Vesuvius. The soldiers, maddened at the sight of their falling comrades, hardly awaited the command, and in a moment the whole front was a sheet of fire, above which the smoke rolled, obscuring the central scene from view. Through this horrible curtain single Indians could be seen at times flying before the fire, but after the first discharge from the carbines of the troopers there were few of them left. They fell on all sides like grain in the course of a scythe.

Indians and soldiers lay together, and the wounded fought on the ground. Owing to the firing being at long range, the damage done the troops was small. Lieut. Mann, of Company K, Seventh Cavalry, was wounded. He was shot through the side. The First Sergeant of Company K is also wounded.

The fights of yesterday and to-day have Company K without a single officer, either commissioned or non-commissioned.

Clauson, a private in Troop C: Kirkpatrick, of Troop B; R. J. Nolan, of Troop K, and W. Kern, of Troop D, Seventh Cavalry, were wounded.

The only man killed was a private of Troop E, Ninth Cavalry, but his name has not been ascertained.

A special to the Omaha Bee from Pine Ridge Agency says:

"The Seventh and Ninth Cavalry arrived here late this evening and found the wildest excitement prevailing. Immediately after their arrival a courier brought word that the Catholic mission, occupied by children, sisters, and priests, had been attacked and the small buildings and haystacks surrounding the church burned. The Indians were under the command of Little Wound and Two Strike. The cavalrymen immediately remounted on receipt of the news and hastened to the scene of the trouble. A courier just in says that a collision occurred between the troops and the Indians, and that six soldiers were killed. The fight was still in progress when he left."

The Omaha Bee's special from Rushville says:

"Advices from the seat of war give the news of another encounter between the troops and Indians at a point within four miles of the agency. The Seventh and Ninth Cavalry were just coming from yesterday's battlefield, followed at some distance by their provision train. On reaching the point named, a large band of Indians, headed by Chief Two Strike, dashed suddenly upon the train, captured it, and were making toward the Bad Lands, when the cavalry wheeled and gave pursuit. In the battle which followed over thirty Indians were wounded, but no soldiers were killed.

According to the latest reports Two Strike's Indians had yesterday been considered peaceable and subdued, but their sudden change of mind causes the gravest fears here that perhaps none of the so-called friendlies can be relied on.

However, word from Gen. Brooke to the settlers to-day is somewhat reassuring, it being to the effect that a great body of the savages have remained loyal all the while, and that nearly all the rebels are dead. He further says the settlers here are now in danger.

Reliable news is also at hand that Col. Henry is now approaching the agency with 700 Indians captured in the Bad Lands. This is believed to include all the remnants of the rebels on the reservation, and hopes are entertained of a speedy settlement. It has cost the lives of about 250 Indians and twenty-five or thirty soldiers killed and wounded to effect this result, if indeed it may be said that peace is yet established.

The bodies of gallant Capt. Wallace and the other dead soldiers arrived here at noon from the agency, and will be shipped to Fort Robinson, the nearest military post. Rushville is crowded with settlers. The churches and all public rooms are thrown open, and no effort is being spared to make the refugees comfortable. They are here, as previously reported, on the advice of Gen. Brooke. They are not only ready to defend their homes, but many are anxious to enlist with the regulars if further fighting should occur.

NOT AN INDIAN WAS LEFT.

How the Reds Went Down Before the Fire of the Soldiers.

The Omaha Bee's correspondent at the camp on Wounded Knee telegraphs as follows concerning the battle there:

In the morning, as soon as the ordinary military work of the early day was done, Maj. Whitsides determined upon disarming the Indians at once, and at 6 o'clock the camp of Big Foot was surrounded by the Seventh and Taylor's scouts. The Indians were sitting in a circle. Four Hotchkiss guns were placed upon a hill about 200 yards distant. Every preparation was made, not especially to fight but to show the Indians the futility of resistance. They seemed to recognize this fact, and when Maj. Whitsides ordered them to come up twenty at a time and give up their arms, they came, but not with their guns in sight. Of the first twenty but two or three displayed arms. These they gave up sullenly, and observing the futility of that method of procedure, Maj. Whitsides ordered a detachment of K and A troops on foot to enter the tepees and search them. This work had hardly been entered upon when the 120 desperate Indians turned upon the soldiers, who were gathered closely about the tepees, and immediately a storm of firing was poured upon the military. It was as though the order to search had been a signal. The soldiers, not anticipating any such action, had been gathered in closely, and the first firing was terribly disastrous to them. The reply was immediate, however, and in instant it seemed that the draw in which the Indian camp was set was a sunken Vesuvius. The soldiers, maddened at the sight of their falling comrades, hardly awaited the command, and in a moment the whole front was a sheet of fire, above which the smoke rolled, obscuring the central scene from view. Through this horrible curtain single Indians could be seen at times flying before the fire, but after the first discharge from the carbines of the troopers there were few of them left. They fell on all sides like grain in the course of a scythe.

Indians and soldiers lay together, and the wounded fought on the ground. Owing to the firing being at long range, the damage done the troops was small. Lieut. Mann, of Company K, Seventh Cavalry, was wounded. He was shot through the side. The First Sergeant of Company K is also wounded.

The fights of yesterday and to-day have Company K without a single officer, either commissioned or non-commissioned.

Clauson, a private in Troop C: Kirkpatrick, of Troop B; R. J. Nolan, of Troop K, and W. Kern, of Troop D, Seventh Cavalry, were wounded.

The only man killed was a private of Troop E, Ninth Cavalry, but his name has not been ascertained.

A special to the Omaha Bee from Pine Ridge Agency says:

"The Seventh and Ninth Cavalry arrived here late this evening and found the wildest excitement prevailing. Immediately after their arrival a courier brought word that the Catholic mission, occupied by children, sisters, and priests, had been attacked and the small buildings and haystacks surrounding the church burned. The Indians were under the command of Little Wound and Two Strike. The cavalrymen immediately remounted on receipt of the news and hastened to the scene of the trouble. A courier just in says that a collision occurred between the troops and the Indians, and that six soldiers were killed. The fight was still in progress when he left."

The Omaha Bee's special from Rushville says:

"Advices from the seat of war give the news of another encounter between the troops and Indians at a point within four miles of the agency. The Seventh and Ninth Cavalry were just coming from yesterday's battlefield, followed at some distance by their provision train. On reaching the point named, a large band of Indians, headed by Chief Two Strike, dashed suddenly upon the train, captured it, and were making toward the Bad Lands, when the cavalry wheeled and gave pursuit. In the battle which followed over thirty Indians were wounded, but no soldiers were killed.

According to the latest reports Two Strike's Indians had yesterday been considered peaceable and subdued, but their sudden change of mind causes the gravest fears here that perhaps none of the so-called friendlies can be relied on.

However, word from Gen. Brooke to the settlers to-day is somewhat reassuring, it being to the effect that a great body of the savages have remained loyal all the while, and that nearly all the rebels are dead. He further says the settlers here are now in danger.

Reliable news is also at hand that Col. Henry is now approaching the agency with 700 Indians captured in the Bad Lands. This is believed to include all the remnants of the rebels on the reservation, and hopes are entertained of a speedy settlement. It has cost the lives of about 250 Indians and twenty-five or thirty soldiers killed and wounded to effect this result, if indeed it may be said that peace is yet established.

The bodies of gallant Capt. Wallace and the other dead soldiers arrived here at noon from the agency, and will be shipped

STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, vs.
LUCAS COUNTY.

FRANK J. CHENEY makes oath that he is the partner of the firm of F. J. CHENEY & CO., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State of Ohio, and of said firm he has paid the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of CATARRH that cannot be cured by the use of HALL'S CATARRH CURE.

FRANK J. CHENEY,
Sword to before me and sworn to be true this day of December A. D. 1888.
F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

25 Sold by druggists, 75c.
Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O.

25 Sold by druggists, 75c.

Difficult.

One of the secrets of legible handwriting is a proper spacing of the words. A school teacher says:

I put a list of nouns on the board and wrote under them, "Form the plural of these nouns by adding to them s or es."

One of the boys looked somewhat bewildered and did not begin writing.

"What is the matter, William?" I inquired.

"Why," said he, "I don't see how you can make plurals out of those nouns by adding s or es to them."—Youth's Companion.

Husband and Wife

Have more than once been saved by the timely use of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and chest. Other remedies have been tried in vain. The Balsam stops dry coughs. There is no other medicine in the world that acts so promptly, certainly none that does its work so thoroughly as Kemp's Balsam. All druggists sell it. Large bottles 50c and $1.

A Gain—Not a Loss.

Col. Yerger—Why do you look so downcast. Lose anything?

Judge Peterby—Not exactly. In fact, when I think of it, it is a relative gain. To search had been a signal. The soldiers, not anticipating any such action, had been gathered in closely, and the first firing was terribly disastrous to them.

When slovens get tidy they polish the bottoms of the pans." When servants are given SAPOLIO they are never tired of cleaning up!

No Optum in Piso's Cure for Consumption. Cures where other remedies fail. 25c.

IF YOU HAVE

Malaise or Piles, Sick Headache, Cystic Bowels, Dumb Ague, Sour Stomach and Bowels; if your food does not assimilate and you have no appetite, and you have no appetite, and you have no appetite, and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,

and you have no appetite,