THE GRIP IN ENGLAND.

APPREHENSIONS OF A SERIOUS EPIDEMIC.

Natural Gas in California—Six Hundred Italians Arrive—Murdered by Indians—The Commercial Congress—New World's Fair President.

GOT THE GRIP.

An Influenza Epidemic Feared in England.

The reappearance of influenza in the north of England, where it appeared in 1889, before anywhere else in England during that year, causes great apprehensions of a serious epidemic. In addition to the fact that influenza is already prevailing in an epidemic form in Sheffield, as already noted, the disease is prevalent throughout Yorkshire, and has reappeared suddenly at Hull where the death rate has doubled during the last fortnight. In the Bradford district, twenty miles from Hull, nearly everybody is affected more or less, and work has practically been suspended everywhere. There have been many deaths in the district from the disease. Advice from Paris show that several cases of influenza have been reported to the medical authorities of that capital, but the prevalence of the disease is not yet general, although there is every indication of a serious renewal of the epidemic.

SLAIN BY REDSKINS.

Two Emigrants Murdered in Idaho—An Uprising Not Unlikely.

Great excitement was caused at Blackfoot, Idaho, by the killing by Indians of two unknown white emigrants who were camped a mile below the place. Nothing can be learned as to the cause of the affair, as there were no eye-witnesses. Their bodies were found by a party and a number of Indians were seen taking to the hills. An uprising is feared. Indian Agent Fisher, who was at Pocatello, was telegraphed for and responded on a special train. Deputy Sheriff Ross left immediately for the scene and took charge of the bodies, leaving an armed posse on guard. Business is suspended and the citizens are up in arms. About 100 armed mounted men have left the city to demand the surrender of the guilty persons. Should the Indians refuse trouble is sure to follow, as the posse are all determined men. Not an Indian was to be found in the city an hour after the affair. The Governor and Adjutant General have been telegraphed.

Killed in a Bar-Room.

In a quarrel following a game of "freeze-out" in a Cincinnati saloon, Joseph Hughes, the bar-keeper, shot and killed Frank Bell, a former ball player and now a private policeman. Hughes said Bell was beaten in the game and began to attack him, first by kicking, then throwing chairs, and at last was drawing his revolver when Hughes got a revolver and killed him.

Rushing Cattle Into the Strip.

Thirty trainloads of Texas cattle were unloaded in the Cherokee Strip in one day and more followed the next. The Osage Reservation is already full of cattle, over 30,000 head being in, and as the Santa Fe has contracted to haul 50,000 head more, the cattlemen no doubt intend to take forcible possession of the entire Cherokee Strip.

Trampled to Death by a Horse.

Miss Emma Leete, aged 35 years, was trampled to death at Guilford, Ct., by a vicious horse. She was holding the horse by the bridle when he reared and threw her to the ground. He then brought both front feet down with terrific force on her body and repeatedly trampled on her. Her back was broken in two places and she was injured internally.

Natural Gas in California.

A special from Pleasanton, Cal., says: While workmen were boring a well in Odd Fellows' Cemetery, and came to a depth of about 100 feet, they came upon a strong flow of natural gas. It was ignited, and burned steadily in a pillar of flame ten feet high. It has been extinguished and relighted several times. The supply shows no signs of exhaustion.

Died of a Broken Heart.

At Arthur, N. D., Joe Renington died in a peculiar manner. He was the aged father of the young man who recently murdered and robbed an Arthur grain dealer to get money for his approaching wedding with a La Crosse girl. He had wept almost constantly since his son's arrest, and died of a broken heart.

The Commercial Congress.

The Western States Commercial Congress met at Kansas City to consider ways and means for stimulating Western business and commercial interests. Delegates from twenty-four Western and Southern states and Territories were present.

Six Hundred Italians Arrive.

Six hundred Italians were added to the population of New York by the unloading of the steamship Columbia. A rigid medical examination will be held and some of these immigrants will be returned to Naples as unfit to land.

Big Sugar Export.

Thirteen thousand tons of sugar were exported to the United States from Honolulu between the 15th and 23d of March by steamer, and between March 31 and April 7, 2,000 tons by sail.

Chinese Consul General.

The President has recognized Li Yang Yew as Consul General of the Chinese Empire at the port of San Francisco.

New Fair President.

William T. Baker, President of the Chicago Board of Trade, was elected President of the World's Fair Directory.

A German Deal.

Germany is making commercial treaties with Belgium, Austria, Italy and Switzerland, with the aim, it is believed, of injuring France.

Want a Distinct Third Party.

President McGrath, of the Kansas Farmers' Alliance, has addressed a letter to the Southern Alliance, in which he says that unless they come to the Cincinnati convention prepared to act with a third party that the Northern branch of the order will go back to the Republican party.

The Fire Recor-1.

An early morning fire in Pittsburgh, Pa., destroyed three acres of sheds at the stock yards and cremated 137 head of cattle. The Eastern Hotel, adjoining the stock yards, was saved with difficulty.

WILL ITALY ACT?

Dispatches Report Uffizi Feeling Against America.

A Rome dispatch says that everybody is on the qui vive for the next act in the Italian-American drama.

Crispien has openly declared that the Rudini cabinet does not make a serious demand for redress upon the United States, and that the Italian people have been held up to ridicule by the vacillation of the minister. The statement that American utterances have had an influence in provoking hostile feeling is confirmed. In addition to the press dispatches the Consul General at New York has kept his government fully informed of the editorial expressions of the press of that city. These are considered as extremely obnoxious in their tone of contempt for Italy's strength, both naval and military. The caricature which is said to have given personal offense to King Humbert is one in which a monkey figures with a crown on its head and features bearing a resemblance to those of the King. The clerical, or Vatican, faction is alleged to have circulated widely wood cuts of these caricatures as showing American hatred and contempt for the Quirinal. Altogether, whatever the outcome of the difficulty, the feeling toward America in high Italian circles is very bitter. Among the lower quarters the admitted slandering of a contrary effect. The people seem to anticipate that the gates of the American paradise are about to be shut on Italians, and there is a rush to get in before they close. The ports are thronged with intending emigrants, and families, from patriarch to babe, can be seen trudging along the highways that lead to the points of departure. The authorities are making efforts to discourage emigration, but without effect. Nothing short of bayonets can stay the torrent.

THE WEEK OF TRADE.

Iron and Wool Dull, Collections Bad, Failures Big, and Labor Threatening.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

It cannot be said that the business of the country is expanding when there is a decrease of nearly one-sixth within a single month in the output of pig-iron. In nearly all quarters the admitted slackening of trade is attributed to merely temporary causes, but the state of the iron trade cannot be thus explained, and while it may at any time change for the better it is at present an unfavorable symptom. Another element which may prove of great though temporary importance is the decision of a great body of miners to strike May 1 for eight hours a day. The Eastern coal trade is very irregular, buyers waiting the effects of the Coxe interstate decision. Other industries show no material change, though the wool market is more dull. Reports from the various centers of trade are about the same as last week, but recognize temporary slackening, even more generally, while it is attributed mainly to bad weather and the state of country roads. Pittsburgh reports lower prices for iron products, but glass is sustained with improving trade. At Cleveland general trade is fairly active. At Cincinnati, and at Cincinnati machinery is very brisk, but other trades only fair. Collections are not as a rule, quite satisfactory, owing to bad weather and bad country roads. But the Treasury has again put out about $3,000,000 in a week more than it has taken in, and no signs appear of heavy gold exports as yet. The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number 243 as compared with a total of 243 last week. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 300.

BALLETS IN MINNESOTA.

McCall's Prohibitory Bill Passed by the State Senate—Counter-Move by Managers.

The managers of the opera houses of St. Paul, Minneapolis, and Duluth, who at first regarded the McCall ballet bill, prohibiting the wearing of tights at theatrical performances, as a joke, have become alarmed at the outlook, the Senate having passed the measure by a vote of 37 to 12. After fully considering the very dubious outlook, the managers drafted and sent to the House the following amendment: "Be it further enacted, that no female person, or persons, shall be allowed to assemble at any theater, public hall, banquet room, dinner party, or any gathering whatsoever, wearing that article known as 'low-neck' dresses with short sleeves, exposing thereby their necks, shoulders, or busts. Any person, or persons, found guilty of so doing shall be subject to a fine of not less than $500, or imprisonment for not less than one year."

PATENT ANNIVERSARY.

That is, the Patent System Has Been in Existence Just One Hundred Years.

The opening session of the Congress of Inventors and Manufacturers of Patented Inventions, in celebration of the beginning of the second century of the American patent system, was held in Washington, D. C. President Harrison and a large number of prominent men who have been selected as vice presidents of the congress occupied seats on the stage. The hall was filled with a representative gathering of the inventors and manufacturers of the country. Mr. Thomas A. Edison, Mr. Alexander Graham Bell, Mr. George Westinghouse, Mr. Gustav Franklin, and others whose names are well known in the annals of inventive achievements, have co-operated with the executive committee in making the exhibition worthy of the event.

HAILSTORM IN MEXICO.

Several Persons Injured While Riding in a Railway Coach.

At San Antonio, Texas, two sleeping coaches, the Romulus and Valjeo, running between the City of Mexico, San Antonio and Washington, D. C., via the Mexican National Road, came in a dilapidated condition. The Mexican train to which they were attached passed through a cyclone and hailstorm near Torreon, Mexico. So large were the hailstones that the headlight of the engine and every pane of glass on one side of the train of cars was smashed. The tin roofs were battered so badly that not a particle of paint remained. Several persons in the day coaches were injured, and a Mexican at Torreon Station was killed. The train was forced to stop for half an hour until the storm passed. Those in the sleepers say the cyclone must have created great havoc.

MALICIOUS REPORTS.

Plenty of Feed for Cattle in Sioux City. All Rumors to the Contrary.

Reports telegraphed from Sioux City, Iowa, regarding the wholesale starvation of cattle by reason of feed shortage are absolutely unfounded. There is plenty of hay for sale both in city and country, and the present condition of the cattle market indicates anything but an eagerness to sell. Stock and feeding cattle of all grades fall short of the demand. Prices rose 36 to 50 cents in a week, and are now higher than at any time during the past twelve months.

DIED FROM THE GRIP.

The baggage car is said to have come over an embankment. It is reported that four trainmen and a number of passengers were injured. George Liebtage, the engineer, and W. E. At Kingston, N. Y., Pratt Post Grand Army of the Republic, has appointed a committee with Mr. Martin Snyder at its head to investigate the recent Italian outrage at Lefevre Falls in the Ulster cement district where several Italians who worked in the quarries held an indignation meeting over the New Orleans shooting, and out of revenge hoisted an American flag to the top of a pole and riddled it with bullets. As the Italians who were implicated in the outrage were at once discharged by the quarry owners, it is believed that they will make rapid strides for New York or some other haven of refuge.

Bloody Affray in Arkansas.

News comes of a bloody affray near the junction of Black and Current rivers. Eight men indulged in a free fight, two being killed and two more probably fatally wounded. Steve Ross and a man named Anderson had some words about the division of some whisky. Anderson cut Ross. Ross seized his gun, but before he could use it Anderson had buried his knife several times in the bodies of four other men, one of whom, Moore, died instantly. Finally Ross sent a ball into Anderson's body which passed through his heart. He made an attempt to reach Ross with his knife, but fell dead in the effort.

They Stole a Barn.

At Grand Forks, N. D., John Marble and William Rogers, farmers, were arrested on the somewhat remarkable charge of stealing a barn belonging to Joseph Murphy. It appears that Murphy impounded two cows belonging to Marble and Rogers and refused to give up the animals except on receipt of payment for damage done by them. The owners of the cattle waited until nightfall to get even. About midnight they came back with three teams and dragged the barn entirely off the Murphy farm.

He was not drowned, but suffocated from falling head first into the deep mud.

The engine of freight train 25, north-bound, on the Wisconsin Central, jumped the track near Vernon, Wis. It tipped over, pinning Dan McMullen, engineer; B. A. ## THEY WILL RISE AGAIN.

GREAT DESTRUCTION BY FIRE IN CHICAGO.

Loss Occasioned by the Flaming Amounts to a Million Dollars—Bungling Work of a Juggler Doing Tricks with a Lighted Lamp—Miraculous Escape of the Audience in the Museum and of Occupants of Other Structures.

Once more has Chicago received a costly visit from the fire king. Not since the little Chicago fire which swept everything from Twelfth and Clark streets north to Van Buren in 1874 has this latest call ever been eclipsed in its damaging work. The other afternoon a fire started under the stage in Kohl & Middleton's West Side Dime Museum on Madison street, and before it was taken in control by the fire department it had destroyed the immense furniture establishment of John M. Smyth, Kohl & Middleton's Museum, and five other five-story business blocks, and damaged several of the adjacent structures. A low estimate to place on the loss is $1,250,000.

Aside from its terrible effects, says a Chicago dispatch, the fire was a grand sight to behold. Fierce and furious were the flames, eating all before them. The sky, at first blackened by the huge volumes of smoke that poured forth from the seething flames, soon took on a rose-ate hue as the tongues of fire darted through the black mass. Great fire-brands sailed through the air, and falling started blazes which threatened with destruction the surrounding edifices.

It appeared as though the western part of the city was doomed. The high wind carried the firebrands here, there, and everywhere. People ran about demoralized. Thousands of persons were in peril of their lives. Kohl & Middleton's museum was jammed with amusement seekers, who in an instant had their pleasure turned into greatest terror. So fast did the fire burn that
