GLAD TIDINGS!

Did you ever see the New Adjustable Reclining Chair Swing? If not, you have yet to behold one of the most enjoyable inventions ever introduced. Everybody buys it, the balance sell it, the remainder are engaged in making it. While the sum total are employed in sounding its praise. It has been said, and that most truthfully, "It is the Parents' Comfort, the Children's Consolation, and a Perfect Delight to all."

It does not take your breath or make you dizzy, as does the long, sweeping swing; neither does it convert you into a counterfeiter of the Bow of Promise as does the Hammock, but it can be adjusted so as to be a comfort for all.

"Yes, 'tis for the children small, Or the giant, like Goliath tall; And best of all, the fat as well as lean, May enjoy its benefits most serene."

As a swing it is unexcelled; it truly is the Monarch of all we survey. We use only first-class material in making, and guarantee satisfaction. Prices as follows: Single chair, without frame, $4.00, with frame, 10.00, Two chairs, with double frame, 15.00.

SENSATIONS IN ILLNESS.

Curious How a Man Feels When He Knows He Needs a Doctor. "It is curious," said a man yesterday, "the various sensations a man experiences when he goes to see a doctor or a dentist. There is a long, preliminary stage of mental agony, alternately exasperating and belittling your ailment, until finally in a moment of desperation you decide to go and see what is the matter, anyway. Perhaps you have a cold, which has settled on the lungs and developed a troublesome cough that keeps you awake nights. The cough itself is not so bad as the terrible possibilities it suggests. Visions of swift demise from pneumonia or slow, wasting away with consumption rise up before your eyes, and every wheeze and cough confirms these terrible premonitions. If you could, you would go then in a hurry, but in the morning you feel better.

"The cough is still there, but the terrors of the imagination have fled before the daylight, you put it off another day. But finally decide to go, and with firmness born of despair, march up to the medical man's door to learn your fate. In the case of toothache every one knows how a tooth will hop and jump and smart all day until you get to the dentist's, and then calm down so quiet and painless that you can't tell which one was aching. It is the same way with a cough or other ailment. As you go up to the door you secretly hope that the doctor is not at home. You pull the doorbell gently, and half wish that you had not come. Then the funniest part of it all is how mad you will get when you find the doctor is not at home, and feel as if you had been cheated out of one of your dearest hopes."—Washington Post.

His Clothes Were Deceiving.

A queer incident took place yesterday in the office of one of the natural gas companies. A seedy-looking and poorly dressed man entered the office and asked for the president. The clerk whom he addressed had been annoyed more than usual of late by beggars and tramps and replied brusquely: "Well, he don't want to see you, so clear out unless you have some business here, and if you have you can transact it with me."

"All right, I can deal with you. I did want to refer the president to a customer who is desirous of taking some stock in a new enterprise he is about to embark in. But I can see him at another time when he is not so carefully guarded by such zealous subordinates. I will pay the gas bill for my North Meridian street house, however, and I suppose you will be good enough to take my money."

The clerk's eyes bulged until they were in danger of dropping from their position when he was handed from a well-filled wallet a hundred-dollar bill to change in payment of a good-sized monthly account. He had been dealing with one of the city's most prominent and prosperous workmen who did not see it necessary to cease his manual labor because he had accumulated a fair proportion of wealth.—Indianapolis Sentinel.

ANIMAL LIFE.

The natural life of an elephant is said to be 120 years. It is, however, greatly shortened by captivity.

Oxen and sheep are believed by some stockmen to fatten better in company than when kept alone.

The rhinoceros has a perfect passion for wallowing in the mud, and is usually covered with a thick coat of it.

The lowest order of animal life is found in the microscopic jellyfish. It is simply a minute drop of gelatinous matter.

The mole is an excellent civil engineer. He always secures his own safety by having several entrances to his dwelling.

The outer layers of the alligator's skin are said to contain a large percentage of silica, hence the hardness of the hide.

Labor in Japan.

While the wages of the Japanese laborers appear small—$14 per month—they receive, in addition to this, house rent, the attendance of physicians when they are ill, and each is given a bit of ground upon which he raises almost all his food. They require little clothing or fuel in that warm climate, and the thrifty at the expiration of their three years' contract return to their own country with the greater part of their earnings, which, in Japan, among men of their class, constitutes quite a comfortable fortune.

County Enumeration.

Notice is hereby given that the Townships of the several townships of Jasper county, Ind., have made their returns of the enumeration of white and colored male inhabitants, over twenty-one years of age, as follows:

SPECTACLES OF BLANKS OPERA GLASSES

Whenever clear vision at a proper distance becomes difficult, it is proper to seek the aid of glasses. They become to the overburdened muscle of the eye as much of a necessity as food to the empty stomach, or a cane or crutch to him who has not the full power of his legs. There is no advantage in delaying their use. Call on or mail a postal card to CHAS. VICK, Optician, and get a perfect fit, with the best lenses in the world, at hard time prices, the best that money can buy. Rensselaer, Ind.

A prosperous Philadelphia banker was noticed by several friends a few days ago on a suburban train deeply absorbed in a large table of figures in a newspaper. Every now and then the banker made some memoranda in a small note book, a circumstance which led the watchers to believe some important financial deal was in progress. Finally, one more interlopers than the others approached the financier and begged to be let into the secret of the figures. With a smile the banker handed over the mysterious table, which proved to be the league baseball schedule.
