Kalamity Kroakers.

Ex-Governor Campbell's reference to the tariff issue, in his speech at Columbus last Saturday night. We call the following extracts:

"The whole country rises up and calls the Wilson bill blessed.—American carpets are selling in Arminister. I hold in my hand a piece of cloth sent to me by the American consul at Bradford, with the words: I enclose you a small sample of the American goods sold here at 50 cents a yard and of which I have ordered a suit.

"The few men candidates for office in Ohio, who have declared for a return to the McKinley law, for a tinkering of the tariff, and an ebbing of the tide of prosperity, will go down to defeat at this year's election in this state; and their hobby will be relegated to the rear in the next republican national convention. They are the 'Kalamity Kroakers' now. How pitiful and how ridiculous they look as they sit croaking in the sunshine, their feeble voices drowned by the joyous whistles of the reviving industry."

Matthews as an Orator.

Governor Matthews has made many great speeches, all couched in the most pleasing language, and most beautifully expressing the sentiments of patriotism. His speech at the dedication of Chickamauga was no exception, and will rank well with the best productions of the great orators.

"Is it a wonder," said he, "that we are here to honor heroes living and heroes dead? That a great state, in grateful remembrance, should erect monuments commemorative of the valor of her sons? We will weave the willow in our garland of triumph, and in the pean of victory mingle a sigh for the dead. Is it fitting that here should be established a great national park, for all of the battles of the war this was a national battle ground. Twenty-eight states of the Union sent their sons to contend for the right as they saw it. In this time of peace, when swords are beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning hooks when the grass waves and the flowers bloom alike upon the graves of olden foes, what a meeting should this be of brave, generous and magnanimous men. Though once arrayed against each other—the one side filled with the consciousness of right, and the eternal justice of their cause; the other wrong as proved by the arraignment of arms, and the verdict of the following years, but equally brave, honest and sincere."

"As brave men they fought, as brave men they resignedly accepted the exactions, returned to their homes with but little left save their manhood and the virtue of their women, to take up the work of the American citizen; that adds to the common prosperity of the country. Had they not been brave foes the victory would not be worth the boasting; were they and you less brave and generous now, you were not worthy to be citizens of a great republic."

"Here is given strong rebuke to the narrow souls which would yet prize of dissensions or sectional strife and hate. The lesson sent forth to the world from this battle field will be that of forgiving, but not forgetting the great cause of strife. The American people, whether from the north or from the south, are brothers in sympathy and heart and purpose, marching steadily on, hand in hand, to achieve that grander destiny which awaits us as a nation in the future—as one people, of one country and under one flag."

Ragweed for Diarrhea.—A ragweed is said to be one of the most effective remedies for diarrhea for mankind and domestic animals. For the forms of diarrhea common in late summer and early autumn, it is as nearly specific as can be found for any disease.

Horse shoes are being made of aluminiun with steel face, weighing from one ounce for racing shoes to six ounces for heavy draft.

Aerial Navigation.

The world is destined to be forced into giving aerial navigation a respectful consideration and to advance a step or two beyond kite flying. There is to be a gathering in Vienna of the men of all nations who are earnestly endeavoring to work out the problem of aerial navigation. Herr Kress, who has distinguished himself by his clever inventions, has succeeded in producing a flying machine, which he exhibited in a large hall. Immediately after he had placed the machine on a table it rose "like a bird" and flew to the end of the hall, amid the vociferous applause of the spectators. It was said that such machines might be made to exactly resemble birds, in order to be shot at by sportsmen who desire to improve their shooting capacity.

Must Have a New Carpet.

With the meeting of every new Congress a new carpet is placed upon the floor of the House of Representatives. The carpet costs a snug little sum. It is one of the stipulations of the contract that the manufacturer shall not furnish the same design to anybody else, which is done so as to prevent bargain hunters being beguiled into buying carpets "just like Congress uses." The old carpet is cut up and used in committee-rooms, but, owing to the detectable habit of the average law-man in chewing tobacco, a good deal of it is worthless.

Although on land a clumsy animal, the seal is wonderfully quick in the water, and in a fair race can generally catch almost any fish.

It is said that the flesh on the fore-quarters of the beaver resembles that of land animals, while that on the hind-quarters has a fishy taste.

Curious Cases of Cruelty.

A great deal of work has been done this year by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Nearly 8,000 cases of cruelty have been investigated by its agents. Although many were settled without prosecution, and many were found to have been misrepresented, 297 were prosecuted, and in some cases quite heavy penalties were necessary. One man, who drove his horse to death, was sent to jail for six months. For overdriving two other men were sentenced to three and four months, respectively. As usual, there were a number of convictions for beating and kicking animals, one man being so gratuitously brutal as to beat a gray squirrel. Another man, while drunk, bit three inches off the tail of a cat. It cost him $5 an inch. Two Frenchmen were fined $5 each for exhibiting a bear. The animal was confiscated and killed, so that there will be no more cruelties practiced on that bear at any rate. A butcher was fined $10 for hanging up a steer before slaughtering him. Two men, while drunk, attempted to kill a hog with an ax. They mangled his tibia, and were each given ten months in the House of Correction. Two cases of docking horses' tails cost the offenders $100 each.—Boston Transcript.

And so Peffer is going to see if it that any further bonds issued by the secretary of the treasury of the United States are repudiated. He is almost as funny as Artemus Ward, who once offered to liquidate our national debt.—Boston Herald

GLAD TIDINGS!

Did you ever see the New Adjustable Reclining Chair Swing? If not, you have yet to behold one of the most enjoyable inventions ever introduced. Everybody uses it, the balance sell it, the remainder are engaged in making it, while the sum total are employed in sounding its praise.

It has been said, and that most truthfully, "It is the 'Parents' Comfort, the Children's Consolation, and a Perfect Delight to all."

It does not take your breath or make you dizzy, as does the long, so-called swing; neither does it convert into a counterfeit of the Bow of Ulysses as does the Hammock, but it can be adjusted so as to be a comfort for all.

"Yes, 'tis for the children small, Or the giant, like Golath tall;

And best of all, the fat as well as lean, May enjoy its benefits most serene."

As a swing it is unequalled; truly the "Monarch of all we survey." We use only first-class material in making, and guarantee satisfaction. Prices follows:

Single chair, without frame, $4.00, with frame, 10.00.

Two chairs with double frame, 15.00.
