MILITARY MANNERS.

When Lisbon was besieged by the Spanish in the fifteenth century such Portuguese as were captured were maimed; their eyes were put out, their noses, lips or ears were cut off, their finger nails or fingers amputated, and in this miserable plight they were sent back into the city with the announcement that whomever was taken all the defenders would be similarly treated.

Red has always been a favorite military color. Its employment dates from the time of Lycurgus, the Spartan, who commanded his army to be arrayed in red tunics in order that new recruits might not be dismayed at the sight of blood. Its first use in the British army dates from 1523, when the yeomen of the guard were dressed in red.

In one of Du Guesclin's victories so many English were taken captive that even the humblest soldier among the French had one or more prisoners. The victors, however, fell to quarrelling, and ill-feeling becoming rife in the French army in consequence of these quarrels over the prisoners Du Guesclin ordered all the captives to be butchered, and the brutal order was carried out.

The bearskin hats of some British regiments were at first devised with the idea of striking terror into the hearts of their enemies. The same principle is shown in the dreadful figures worn by the knights on their helmets and sometimes emblazoned on their shields. The ancient Germans wore horned helmets to inspire terror in the enemy, and carried figures of strange animals as standards.

In modern warfare the destruction of churches and cathedrals, as well as of libraries and public buildings, has been very common. During the devastation of the Palatinate by the French all cathedrals and churches were ruthlessly plundered and destroyed, even the tombs of the emperors at Speyer being pillaged and demolished. In 1814 our Capitol at Washington, the President's house and other public buildings were burned by the British. According to Edwards "Germans in France," at the bombardment of Strasbourg by the Germans not only did they purposely direct their fire on the cathedral and library, but also fired on the firemen and fire engines endeavoring to put out the conflagration.

They Kill Gamblers in Japan.
Such is the propensity of the Japanese for high play that they were compelled to make a law that "Whoever ventures his money at play shall be put to death."

The Business Man's Statement.

LaFAYETTE, IND., May 2, 1894.

Lyon Medicine Co., Indianapolis, Ind.

GENTLEMEN—It is with pleasure that I can conscientiously say a good word for LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS. For more than a year I was troubled with indigestion and stomach disorders. Various remedies which I tried gave me no relief, until one day last summer I was told by a brother drummer of the virtues of LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS. I concluded to try it, and am happy to say one box, costing only one dollar, entirely cured me. To those who suffer as I did I would strongly advise them to use LYON'S SEVEN WONDERS.

Yours truly,
JOHN R. SPENCER,
State Agent Royal Baking Powder Company.

The brick and stone work of the Presbyterian church is about complete, and the roof is going on rapidly.

This morning the water is reported to be within three inches of the floor Berk's bridge.

Nuts and candy, by the bushel, at H. J. Dexter's new grocery.

No county in Northern Indiana has increased in wealth more rapidly than Jasper county, and the old shell used for a court house is a disgrace to the county. The people could not advertise their progress and establish their proper standing among the counties in this part of the state in any more fitting manner than by the erection of a modern temple of justice.—White County Democrat.

Jasper county will erect a "temple of justice" in the near by and by in keeping with her wealth and enterprise. The preliminary steps have been taken, and there is not a "kicker."

Buy your Holiday goods, candies, nuts, or amental dishes, lamps, etc., at the new grocery of H. J. Dexter.

Advertised Letters—Wm. F. Rippy, Henry A. Kuhlman, Geo. Gillet, Miss Della Orr, Nellie Roger.
