KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

Saved a Girl from Drowning.
Miss Katherine S. Gelling has just been awarded a testimonial by the Royal Humane Society. She is only 16 years of age, but while she was bathing on the coast of the Isle of Man last summer she saved a life under particularly difficult circumstances. She saw another young girl, Ellen Powell, out of her depth, and sinking. Miss Gelling was at this moment burdened with a child she was teaching to swim. She could not desert her little pupil, and so she swam, carrying her on her back, to the drowning girl's assistance, and managed by great efforts to get them both to shore.

The mirror ranks far higher in Japan than our notions of a looking-glass would allow us to imagine, and takes the place of the cross in Catholic countries. The "two great divine palaces" at Ise, containing the yata no kagami, the first made mirror, have, in the eyes of the Japanese, the same importance as has the Holy Sepulchre for the Greeks and Armenians, and Mecca for the Mohammedans.

Baby's First Visit.
Folk lore has handed down some curious manners and customs of our ancestors. The following, relating to that exacting personage, the baby, may not prove uninteresting: On a nurse taking out a baby for the first time to show it to different friends, the one upon whom the first call is made should give it a little flour and a little salt, each wrapped in paper; an egg, and a sixpence, or any other coin, so that the child, in its future career, may never want money, or food, or its necessary seasoning.

NO SECRET IN THIS WOMAN'S CASE.

Mrs. Campbell Wishes Her Letter Published so that the Truth May Be Known.

(SPECIAL TO OUR LADY READERS)
Of the thousands of letters received from women all over the world by Mrs. Pinkham, not one is given to the public unless by the wish of the writer. Thus absolute confidence is established between Mrs. Pinkham and her army of patients; and she freely solicits a letter from any woman, rich or poor, who is in ill health or ailing.

In the case of Mary E. Campbell, of Albion, Noble Co., Ind., her suffering was so severe, her relief so suddenly realized, and her gratitude so great, that she wishes the circumstances published, in the hope that others may be benefited thereby. She says:—

"My physician told me I had dropsy and falling of the womb. My stomach and bowels were so bloated I could not get a full breath. My face and hands were bloated badly. I had that dreadful bearing-down pain, backache, palpitation of the heart, and nervousness. "One of my physicians told me I had something growing in my stomach; and the medicine that I took gave me relief only for a short time. I thought I must die. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it worked like a charm. After taking the first bottle I could walk across the street, now I am well. I advise all my friends to take it."

POLITICS OF THE DAY

IMPORTED STEEL RAILS.

The signing of a contract for the importation of 10,000 tons of steel rails will probably induce some of our McKinley contemporaries to assert that the reduction of the tariff duty from $13.44 to $7.84 per ton has already begun to "paralyze" the domestic steel rail industry. The truth is, however, that the importation has been invited and caused by the greed of the Steel Rail Combination, which persists in exacting a ring price out of all fair proportion to the cost of raw materials or the price of other similar products. This price is $28 per ton at Eastern mills, and $29 at mills in the West.

There has been permitted no such competition as would show what is a fair price for steel rails in this country. Last year, when the cost of raw materials was so low—Bessemer pig iron selling at lower figures here than in England—the price of rails was kept up by the combination. It costs but very little more to make steel rails than to make steel billets, but the price of billets now is $18 at Pittsburgh, while the price of rails there, and elsewhere, is $28. If the price of rails were determined by competition, as the prices of Bessemer pig iron and steel billets are, it would be impossible to import rails over the duty of $7.84, except at considerable loss. At present the price of English rails, free on board, is $21.87, and we suppose they can be delivered at this port, duty and charges added, for about $31. Freight charges from American mills must be added to the ring price of $28, but even after this addition has been made rails cannot be imported at this port to advantage. The rails covered by the contract in question are, it is stated, to be shipped to a Pacific or Gulf port, where the cost of domestic rails is considerably increased by freight charges. But imports even at such ports are clearly caused by the unlawful exactions of the domestic combination, exactions which the tariff duty enables them to make, up to a certain point.—New York Times.

President Cleveland's Comparison.

In a pithy paragraph in his annual message the President makes the following "striking" comparison between the Wilson tariff and the McKinley law:

"By command of the people a customs revenue system, designed for the protection and benefit of favored classes at the expense of the great mass of our countrymen, and which, while inefficient for the purpose of revenue, curtailed our trade relations and impeded our entrance to the markets of the world, has been superseded by a tariff policy which in principle is based upon a denial of the right of the government to obstruct the avenues to our people's cheap living or lessen their comfort and contentment for the sake of according special advantages to favorites, and which, while encouraging our intercourse and trade with other nations, recognizes the fact that American self-reliance, thrift and ingenuity can build up our country's industries and develop its resources more surely than enervating paternalism."

The small-fry Republicans who have been "demanding" that the President should sign a bill restoring the McKinley law, in event of its being passed by Congress, will learn from this that the author of the tariff-reform message of 1887 stands today where he did then—in favor of a tariff for revenue, and against all "protective" legislation.

Republican Micawbers.

The proposition to re-enact the McKinley tariff law, which some of the more venomous protectionists insist upon, would not be consistent with the plan of maintaining the gold reserve by increasing revenue. As a revenue producer the tariff of 1894 brings more money into the treasury than did the tariff of 1890. Some substitute for the income tax will have to be temporarily adopted, as a companion piece for the McKinley monstrosity, in order to bring revenue within half of ordinary expenditure. The Republican leaders in Congress who will really control the work of legislation are not such fools as to stake the next year's elections on the hazard of popular vacillation and wavering. Whatever the spoiled infants of tariff coddling may expect, the astute Republican leaders are only mad north-northwest in their protectionism. They will not stultify themselves by making false moves. They will prefer to do nothing they shall not be obliged to do, as the custodians of legislative power and initiative, to keep the wheels of government moving.—Philadelphia Record.

Action in Order, Not Sneers.

During the years he has been in public life Mr. Reed has been chiefly known as a critic of what was being done. He has been one of the most successful faultfinders of his generation. His sneer has passed into history, and it may be said that it has been partially directed against members of all parties, including his own. He has objected and obstructed in a way which has apparently given great satisfaction to him. He has done these things to the utter lack of constructive statesmanship. The time has come when he may no longer obstruct, when he may no longer obstruct. He must act.—Des Moines Leader.

"Enervating Paternalism."

In his message to Congress President Cleveland speaks of "enervating paternalism." The phrase is good. A paternalistic government is destructive of individualism, and individualism is the safety of a republic. The socialist would have government do everything for everybody. The Democrat proposes that government shall do nothing for anybody that he is better able to do for himself. The Republican party is socialistic, and socialistic at its worst. The fundamental of socialism is that the government shall be parent of all. The Republican modification of the socialistic doctrine is that the government shall be the parent of a few and the step-parent of the many.

Paternal government is enervating. The citizen of a republic who should be independent is taught by Republican statesmen that he may lean upon government for support under all circumstances; that exertion on his part, mental or physical, need be made but per-

Field's Joke on the Make-Up.

When Eugene Field was city editor of the Kansas City Times, he found great amusement in annoying one of the characters employed on the paper. Ferguson was one of the "make-ups" on the paper, and in Wyandotte, where he resided, just over the line from Kansas City, he was the leader of a local temperance society. For over a year, Field, on coming down to the paper to go to work, would write a personal concerning Ferguson. Generally it ran like this: "Mr. John Ferguson, the well-known 'make-up' of the Times composing room, appeared for work yesterday evening in his usual beastly state of intoxication. This entertaining bit Field would send down in some bundle of copy, and the others of the composing room would set it up and say nothing. Poor Ferguson knew that this awful personal was in his midst, and every night would go carefully over every galley for the purpose of locating and killing it. It gave him vast trouble. Every now and then Field would not write his personal about Ferguson, and then the bedeviled Ferguson was 'worse off than ever. As long as he could not find it, it might still be there. It almost drove the poor man off the paper. Now and then it escaped his eagle eye and was printed. On such occasions Ferguson's burdens were beyond the power of even a Christian spirit to bear.

All women suffering from any form of illness peculiar to their sex are requested to communicate promptly with Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women only.

A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established the eternal confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America.

This confidence has induced more than 100,000 women to write Mrs. Pinkham for advice during the last few months. Think what a volume of experience she has to draw from! No physician living ever treated so many cases of female ills, and from this vast experience surely it is more than possible she has gained the very knowledge that will help your case. She is glad to have you write or call upon her. You will find her a woman full of sympathy, with a great desire to assist those who are sick. If her medicine is not what you need, she will frankly tell you so, and there are nine chances out of ten that she will tell you exactly what to do for relief. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has relieved thousands.

Surely, any ailing woman, rich or poor, is very foolish if she does not take advantage of this generous offer of assistance.

Protection Against American Sheep.

The report cabled by the World's London correspondent yesterday that the British Government is about to shut out American sheep, as a concession to the farming class that supported the Conservatives in the elections, is interesting and instructive. The Ohio idea in this country is that our sheep need protection against the pauper sheep of Europe. But here are the sheep raisers of England calling for an embargo on American sheep upon the transparent plea of danger from contagion. What they really want is their own "home market." It is a standing refutation of the disparaging contention of the McKinleyites that sheep raising can be carried on here without the sustaining help of a tax on the clothing of all the people, that free-trade England has long sustained on her high-priced land nearly as many sheep per capita of the population as we have kept under protection on our cheap land.—New York Herald.

Bright Outlook for Democracy.

The Democrats of New England have been particularly successful in municipal elections. Every city in Rhode Island but one went Democratic in the recent municipal elections. Many Massachusetts cities went Democratic for the first time in years. Democratic Boston was redeemed. The Democrats cannot complain of the results in municipal elections, and doesn't this show that the Presidential fight next year will see some vigorous work done by the Democrats?—Utica Observer.

Needs to Be Cautious.

Speaker Reed is having more trouble in making up his committees than he anticipated, and he will not be able to announce them this week. Mr. Reed has appointed committees before, but never with the Presidency depending upon their personnel. It is no wonder he is cautious.—Kansas City World.

CAUSED BY VACCINATION.

From the Journal, Detroit, Mich.
Every one in the vicinity of Meldrum avenue and Champlain street, Detroit, knows Mrs. McDonald, and many a neighbor has reason to feel grateful to her for the kind and friendly interest she has manifested in cases of illness.

She is a kind-hearted friend, a natural nurse, and an intelligent and refined lady. To a reporter she recently talked at some length about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, giving some very interesting instances in her own immediate knowledge of marvelous cures, and the universal beneficence of the remedy to those who had used it.

"I have reason to know," said Mrs. McDonald, "something of the worth of this medicine, for it has been demonstrated in my own immediate family. My daughter Katie is attending a high school, and has never been very strong since she began. I suppose she studies hard, and she has quite a distance to go every day. When the small-pox broke out all of the school children had to be vaccinated. I took her over to Dr. Jameson and he vaccinated her. I never saw such an arm in my life and the doctor said he never did. She was broken out on her shoulders and back and was just as sick as she could be. To add to it all neuritis set in, and the poor child was in misery. She is naturally of a nervous temperament and she suffered most awfully. Even after she recovered the neuritis did not leave her. Stormy days or days of anxiety or sleep or preceded a storm, she could not go out at all. She was pale and thin, and had no appetite.

"I have forgotten just who told me about the Pink Pills, but I got some for her and they cured her right up. She has a nice color in her face, eats and sleeps well, goes to school every day, and is strong and vigorous in every particular. I have never heard of anything to build up the blood to compare with Pink Pills. I shall always keep them in the house and recommend them to my neighbors."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are considered an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price ($50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50; they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

How Fast the Earth Moves.

Most persons are aware that the earth makes a complete revolution on its axis once in twenty-four hours, but probably many are ignorant as to the high rate of speed in accomplishing the feat. The highest velocity ever attained by a cannon-ball has been estimated something like 1,000 feet per second; and the earth must turn almost equally fast. In short, the rate of speed at the equator has been estimated at nearly 1,500 feet per second, or a mile every 3.6 seconds, or 17 miles a minute.
