Ayer's Hair Vigor Makes Hair Grow

Beautiful eyes grow dull and dim as the swift years steal away. Beautiful, willowy forms so slim. Lose fairness with every day. But she still is queen and hath charms to spare. Who wears youth's coronal—beautiful hair.

Preserve Your Hair

and you preserve your youth. "A woman is as old as she looks," says the world. No woman looks as old as she is if her hair has preserved its normal beauty. You can keep hair from falling out, restoring its normal color, or restore the normal color to gray or faded hair, by the use of

AN ELEPHANT STORY.

Once there was a man who sold produce in his town for a week, and as the proprietor could not pay for the produce, he gave a mortgage on the elephant. When he could not meet the bill the produce dealer foreclosed on the elephant, and proceeded to lead him home by a rope. There at the village gathered about a hundred men what he was going to do with the elephant, and where he was going to put him. He replied that he should put him in the chicken-coop and keep him. Now the chicken-coop was pretty big for a chicken-coop, and even compared favorably with the house and barn; but when the elephant stood by its side its proportions assumed a changed aspect, and the elephant would not fit. The elephant started about in the yard and ate up produce and everything else, for a week; and then the owner of the newly acquired luxury sent word to the former owner, "Come and get your elephant at once. I have a family to feed."

HOG CHOLERA IN INDIANA.

Purdue Experiment Station Bulletin. According to reports received by the Station during the early part of this month we are safe in saying that there is probably more swine disease in the state now than at any corresponding period in recent years. This disease, which is an indication of severe loss to follow in the season, and it should be a warning to farmers to exercise more than usual care to prevent loss. Remedial measures are easily and are not successful; preventive measures to be successful must be applied soon. Large herds should be divided into bunches according to size; clean pastures with a reasonable amount of shade and an abundance of pure well water are safer than pens; do not permit the use of wallows or of surface water under any consideration. It has been found in a series of years that the highest percentage of loss has occurred along the rivers and streams to which the hogs have access. Use any ration that will keep the hog healthy. An occasional drink of soap suds to expel worms and the use of coal, salt and ashes as an alternative will prove beneficial. If the disease should break out in the herd separate the well from the sick and not the sick from the well. On removing the well hogs from the sick place them on a part of the farm where no diseased animal has been. Burn those that die as it is the only sure method of destroying the germs. Keep everything clean and let the sun have a chance to do the disinfecting. The Station will undertake a number of field experiments this year and we desire very much to have immediate reports as the presence or absence of the disease in every locality in the state. It is as important to us to know where the disease is absent as where it is present. We therefore ask immediate reports giving us as far as possible the date of the beginning of an outbreak, the percentage of loss, and any marked peculiarity of the disease in that locality. We also solicit like information upon all fresh outbreaks as they occur during the season. Address, A. W. BITTING, Veterinary Department, Purdue Experiment Station, Lafayette, Ind.

This is the most resourceful country on earth and should be the most prosperous. It is rich in everything that tends to make a country prosperous. The only trouble comes from laws that foster trusts and from an unwillingness of the law-making power to tax superfluous wealth.

A MONSIEUR DOUBLE MENAGERIE WITH JOHN ROBINSON AND FRANKLIN BROS. SHOWS COMBINED.

The menagerie department of these combined shows is beyond a doubt the greatest that the world has ever known. The two menageries have been blended into one, and the combining of these two separate and distinct departments alone would make a display the equal of which has never been seen in this country. There are two distinct herds of elephants, camels and all sorts of lead stock, two separate departments of lions, tigers, panthers, and the only pair of real black tigers that has ever been seen in this country. The den of panthers is a positive revelation to amusement seekers and the same thing was never seen in this country before with a traveling show.

A great many dens of the wild beasts are displayed daily in the magnificent street parade, which is free to all and will take place daily at 10 a.m. And the very important fact must not be overlooked that the parade, like every other department of these great shows is a double one unlike any ever before seen. Many of the shows have and do at the present time advertise dishonestly that they have two shows in one, but there is never been a combining of two really great shows in this land before, and people who are in doubt as to the genuineness of the putting together of the John Robinson and Franklin Bros. Shows can really set their minds at rest. This is most amusement institution comes to Rensselaer Monday, July 26th, for one day and will give two complete performances.

The sugar schedule, as agreed to by the conference committee of the two houses of congress, provides for a rate of duty that will prohibit the importation of refined sugars and gives the Trust a monopoly of the sugar trade in the United States. What more could the trust ask?
