HOW TO FIND OUT.

Fill a bottle or common glass with urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates a diseased condition of the kidneys. When urine stains linen it is positive evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent desire to urinate or pain in the back, is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

WHAT TO DO.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in relieving pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder, and every part of the urinary passages. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effect following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night to urinate. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists price fifty cents and one dollar. For a sample bottle and pamphlet, both sent free by mail, mention Democratic Sentinel and send your full post-office address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. The proprietor of this paper guarantees the genuineness of this offer.

FIVE SERIAL STORIES.

Five strong serial stories are announced for publication in THE YOUTH'S COMPANION during 1898. They are: "The Freshman," a romance of college life, by Jesse L. Williams; "The Gold Fields of the Yukon," a story of placer mining in Alaska, by Irving Andrews; "Ferried Fairfax, Writer," the story of a girl who wanted to do newspaper work, by Marguerite Tracy; "The Story of a Bee Farm," by Edith A. Fairfield; and "The Making of Zimari Bunker," a rousing tale of heroic deeds in Nin-tucket during the War of 1812, by William J. Long. These stories make up only a small part of the good things that will be spread before readers of THE COMPANION during 1898. It sent readers of THE COMPANION who renew their subscriptions, and new subscribers will receive free a beautiful calendar printed in twelve colors, and embossed in gold. The paper will be sent free to new subscribers every week from the time the subscription is received to 1898; then for a full year to January, 1899. An illustrated prospectus will be sent free to any one addressing Lost All Her Sails.

Capt. Wilson, of the British ship Crocodile, has made a report to the Merchants' Exchange describing a phenomenon witnessed on the way from Newcastle, New South Wales. The Crocodile left Newcastle June 22. In 145 degrees west longitude and 10 degrees north latitude the strange appearance of the clouds was first noted. They were crossing and recrossing each other with great rapidity. The barometer fell from 29.95 at noon to 29.87 at 7 p.m. The wind increased to a gale in the evening, and at midnight the sky was lit by vivid electric flashes. The sea reached a terrific height, and a great twisting, writhing column came into view, apparently bearing down on the ship. Lightning flashed from this pillar and splintered into sparks on the sea. It looked as if the Crocodile was certain to go to the bottom, but the cyclone passed astern. Instantly, as it passed, every sail on the ship was ripped away from its fastenings. The Crocodile keeled over until the water was almost even with her hatches. She righted, and a terrific wave washed over her fore and aft. It was then discovered that her cargo had shifted. It took several days to right the cargo before the ship was ready to make sail.—San Francisco Chronicle.

The Elephant as a Playfellow.
A man who has traveled in India a great deal says that an elephant is a better playfellow for a boy than a dog. The native boys make the elephants take them in swimming. They climb on the elephant's back and ride in triumph to the best swimming hole. The elephant walks into deep water and keeps right on walking until there's nothing to be seen of him except his trunk and a good, level island of back. The boy stands on the island and yells like—well, just about like a good, healthy American boy, and he dives off the island, and the elephant grabs him with his trunk and puts him up onto "dry land," and answers his yell with a cry that's half snort and half whoop, and altogether he gives that boy just as good a time "in swimming" as if he had lived in America and never dreamed of using an elephant's back for a spring board. Queer country, India, isn't it?

FIGHTING WITHOUT FIREARMS.

THE Welsh were subdued by Edward I, principally by the aid of the archers. The battle of Hastings was won by the superior skill of the Norman archers. The use of complete chain or ring armor was discontinued about A. D. 1300.

The bola, Patagonian, is a long cord having two stone or metal balls at the ends.

Long-bow strings were of plaited silk, and worth five times their weight in gold.

STONE arrow points and hatchets have been found in every country in the world.

In 1216 heavy cavalry were covered, horse and man, with scale or chain armor.

The latest cross-bows were drawn by the aid of pulleys manipulated by two men.

MILITARY hooks were used in the siege of Tyre, 713 B. C., by Nebuchadnezzar.

The saber is an Oriental weapon. It was introduced into the French cavalry in 1710.

The catapult was invented in Syracuse, 406 B. C., in the reign of Dionysius the Elder.

At the siege of Jerusalem the Romans had 400 large and nearly 200 small catapults.

The Balearic slingers served as mercenaries in the armies of both Carthage and Rome.

SHIELDS were not used in Europe save on parade, after the time of Francis I., 1550.

HENRIOT, the Saxon conqueror of England, about A. D. 449, had iron scale armor.

The sling was made of woollen stuff, and the slingers always stood behind the infantry.

The great two-handed sword was when not in action, carried on the back like a guitar.

The ancient Mexicans used wooden swords in war that they might not kill their enemies.

The battering ram was a beam suspended to the middle, drawn back and thrown forward.

RICHARD I. built movable towers of three stories high and capable of holding 500 men.

EGYPTIAN bronze swords made, B. C. 1200, were from two to three feet long, with double edge.

MILITARY maces, clubs with iron heads, came into Western Europe in the seventh century.

The sword of Henry the Pious, D. of Silesia, was six feet long and weighed thirty pounds.

Taking

a course of Ayer's Pills the system is set in good working order and a man begins to feel that life is worth living. He who has become the gradual prey of constipation, does not realize the friction under which he labors, until the burden is lifted from him. Then his mountains sink into mole-hills, his moroseness gives place to jollity, he is a happy man again. If life does not seem worth living to you, you may take a very different view of it after taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills.
