

DAILY NEWS

TUESDAY, APRIL 13, 1880.

THE CITY.

NOTICE.

In the absence of any written authority, all advertising bills payable to the Daily News must be settled at the News Office, as no one has authority to receipt for monies due the News.

NOTICE.

The public will take notice that all bills due to and from the DAILY NEWS up to March 31st, will be settled by Seaman, Lewis & Co., and that on and after March 31, 1880, E. P. Beauchamp alone will be responsible for business contracts in the name of the DAILY NEWS.

SEAMAN, LEWIS & CO.

Subscribers not receiving the DAILY NEWS will confer a favor by leaving complaints at this office.

There is a watchman on the Van. R. R. who takes vengeance on boys who fail to wait for trains to pass, by throwing his flag-stick at them.

Citizens take great delight in gazing at the shop-windows along Main street. Thy dark back-ground of the stores are instrumental in making very nice mirrors.

Where were the Honorable members of our police force last evening that the crowd of vulgar mouthed boys which surrounded the entrance to Armory Hall were not dispersed.

Miss Lou Hedges repeated the Cantata of Esther at Clinton last Saturday. The affair was a flattering success, the Opera house being crowded with an intensely interested audience.

A fence is at last being erected along the grade west of the river. This is a need which the public has long experienced. When it is finished, it will cease to be "Death's Lane."

James Johnson, who is accused of attempting to commit a rape on Mary Schwarz, was committed to jail yesterday by Justice Cookerly on default of bail in the sum of $500 to await the action of the grand jury.

The 22nd has been fixed upon as the date for the dedication of the new Baptist church. Quite an interesting programme will be rendered. Profs. Shide and Zobel and Mrs. Haberly will assist in the musical part of the exercises.

J. B. Ewart will continue to execute the business at Mr. Shinkle's N. Fourth street store. Mr. E. has been successful in his business, and would like for his friends to remember him at his remodeled store, at 405 N. Fourth street.

About 150 new names have been added to the list of members of the Normal school. The number of students will not be so large as was expected. Arrangements have been made for the accommodation of 500, but the number will scarcely reach 400.

The hunting boat which is being built at the foot of Main street will make its trial trip next Sunday. It will carry upon its wheel-houses the painting used by Gail & Ax, as an ad. for their tobacco. This firm pays $100 for the privilege together with that of naming the boat "The Little Joker."

The wreck of steamer No. 2 yesterday was a piece of wanton carelessness on the part of the fire department. In the first place, every person in the city who knows anything about our water works system, knows that there is no excuse for a steamer going on Main street at a break neck speed with two or three men yelling like a lot of Comanche Indians. The fire department knew this steamer was in bad repair if the engineer tells the truth about notifying the proper authority eight months ago, and the department should be made pay the damage caused by their own negligence.

Carnival of Authors.

The scene at Dowling Hall last night was beyond description. The ladies of the Congregational Church assisted by their friends, have arranged the hall in the most artistic manner, representing with scenes and characters from the most noted authors. "Old Curiosity Shop," "Snow Bound," "The Alhambra," characters from Shakespeare, "The Spanish Court," "The Grotto," "Egypt," etc.

The characters were excellent and there never was a prettier or more touching scene than that of the beautiful young ladies as they floated by in the grand march. They were indeed to be admired, with their loose tresses rippling over their shoulders like waves of sunbeams kissed by the dews of youth. Their eyes wore an expression bright and soft as the dawn, passing away like the creature of pleasant dreams. Their modesty and stateliness made them look as if they could leave the festive scene and bow their heads 'neath the bright cold stars and mingle their breath with the eternal snows of purity and holiness.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Korthour, of Ohio, is visiting the family of Mr. Shale, east of the city. Mr. K. is one of the most skillful musicians that has ever visited our city.

Mr. Reynolds, the experienced taxidermist of Warsaw, has been exercising his skill by performing a series of surgical operations on the collection at the Ohio street gun store.

Marlin Grace, an old and well-known citizen, died at his residence yesterday, aged 56 years. He was in the British army some time, and since coming to this country held several official positions. He was buried this afternoon.

A Merited Letter.

Prof. Samuels:

DEAR SIR—Being among the first to avail myself of your professional services on your arrival in this city, and now having fairly tested the crystal glasses which you fitted upon me, I feel a sense of duty, as well as pleasure, in saying that they have proven thoroughly satisfactory, enabling me to read with the greatest ease and without wearing my eyes. I take pleasure in commanding you to all who may require artificial assistance to vision, believing your crystals to be the best in use.

STEPHEN D. MANN, M. D.

TERRE HAUTE, April 9, 1880.

Laura Ream.

It will be remembered that a few weeks ago a fearful cyclone passed over Indianapolis, destroying everything in its way. It so happened that the residence of Mrs. Dr. Dunlap, where Miss Laura Ream, the well known Cincinnati Commercial correspondent had apartments, was in the way of the cyclone. Miss Ream happened to be in Cincinnati, and in her absence the cyclone did its work of destruction. The walls of her bed chamber were blown in and her bed and other furniture including the accumulation of years of books and papers destroyed. The people of Indianapolis soon after tendered her a benefit and she responded by delivering a lecture on California and Nevada, where she had traveled extensively. A few days ago several gentlemen of this city invited her to deliver the lecture here, which makes the following letter self explanatory.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 3rd, 1880.

Messrs. John O. Hardesty, J. B. Hager, B. E. Rheads, I. N. Pierce, E. P. Beauchamp, Thomas H. Nelson, Hugo Duenweg, James H. McNeely, F. C. Danaldson, J. W. Craft, and others.

GENTLEMEN—In reply to your highly flattering and sympathetic letter of March 30th, I beg leave to say that it will give me great pleasure to repeat the lecture on California and Nevada, I had the honor to deliver here, in your city.

In regard to time, I would respectfully suggest that your judgment is much better than mine and I will be happy to accommodate myself to any selection you may make.

Please accept my thanks for your kindness and high appreciation of the honor you have done me, and believe me

Very sincerely,

LAURA REAM.

She will deliver her lecture at Dowling Hall on the 27th of April.

The Fire and a General Smash-up.

Yesterday afternoon about 5 o'clock the alarm of fire was sounded from the Fourth ward engine house. The cause of the alarm was the emission of smoke from the roof of the building occupied by Mr. Walmsley, near the corner of Chestnut and Fourth streets.

There seemed to be a defective flue and a few sparks fell upon the roof causing the most unnecessary alarm, for it appears that either one of the two things was true: the firemen thought that the city was on fire or else they knew there was no particular danger and thought they would make a hey-day sort of show.

There occurred, to say the least of it, an exceedingly strange accident which was very hard to reconcile with what an honest, fair-minded man would call proper diligence and care in handling the horses attached to the engine coming down Cherry street, west toward Fourth street, for as the engine came tearing down the street, almost as fast as they could go, the driver did not attempt to check the speed of the horses in the least, and as the engine turned the corner round into Fourth the horses were going with so much speed that the whole affair tipped almost bottom side upwards, and collided with, or rather run down a buggy and horse that stood hitched in front of Fosters' furniture store, causing a general demolition of both furniture and buggy, and even stripped the horse of his entire gearing; happily no one was hurt. The entire loss to the city in paying for the buggy and furniture smashed up, and the injury done to the engine, for it was badly demolished, will reach over one thousand dollars, making a rough guess. How is this for Democratic economy and good government.

L. Heinl.

L. Heinl is again in the field with a full stock of ornamental, as well as standard fruit trees, and can be found at his old stand, corner of Ohio and (south of post-office) Sixth streets, and hopes to see all his old friends.
