as second-class matter.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1880.

MINNESOTA'S official majority for Garfield is 40285.

SHAKESPEARE is the new Mayor of New Orleans.

GEN. GRANT is to receive a dinner from the Lotus Club.

ODEN, Utah, will adopt the electric light on the 1st of January.

DURING last week there were 415,994 standard silver dollars distributed.

NEARLY 8,000 people passed through Kansas City on last Thursday for new homes in the West.

KENWOOD PHILP was bound over Saturday by Judge Davis in the sum of $5000 to answer the charge of criminal libel.

JAMES GROVER aged 50 shot his child wife aged 18 after six months marriage at Red Bank, New Jersey. No wonder the State is Democratic.

THE Russian Government is dealing severely with the Nihilists, and the heavy sentences pronounced upon those recently convicted will rob king-killing of some of its romance.

The engineering corps, which started from Toledo in September to survey the Wabash canal and investigate the practicability of a ship canal will report favorably to Congress this winter.

THE Postmaster General has directed that no more registered letters be delivered to J. B. Gaylord, manager of the so-called National School of Design, a lottery concern at 124 Wells street, Chicago.

THE eldest boy of the Czar and the Princess Dolgorouki, named Boris, is a handsome child between nine and ten years old; the next is a girl about six years old, and there is one younger child.

THE divers who have been digging for several months in the Hudson River for Captain Kidd's treasure have found one of them—an old gun, discovered yesterday in the wreck of a vessel buried forty feet in the mud.

NOT a reasonable doubt exists in the mind of any well informed man that Alice Oates has had more husbands than Sarah Bernhardt, but, unfortunately, Alice hasn't got the numerous living proofs of her affection that Sarah has.—Kansas City Times.

AT Los Vegas, a few nights ago, three murders, two train robbers and a horse thief escaped from jail. A posse started after them, and overtaking them, a general fight ensued, which resulted in the killing of Allen and Davidson, the murderers. The rest escaped.

COLONEL W. H. CALKINS, member-elect to the House of Representatives from the Laporte, Ind., district, was in the city yesterday, and stated that the Hon. Godlove S. Orth would be a candidate for speaker, supported by the Indiana delegation.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

FIFTEEN candidates for Congress will contest before the next House the seats of antagonists who were counted in, and there is a fair prospect that several of the contestants will be seated, so barefaced were the frauds that "barred" some of the districts, particularly in the South.

SENATOR HAMPTON says: "I think it very important, especially to the South, that the Democratic party should retain its organization. The fact that our friends of the North were not able to give us as large a vote as they hoped for is no reason that we should desert them. The policy of the party will be dictated by future events. I regard the Presidential election as settled, and I should oppose any action looking to a contest on mere technical grounds, as revolutionary."

It is understood that Grant is at the head of a big international railroad scheme. It is a railroad to run from the city of Mexico to Colorado, and the Mexican Government is expected to give it large concessions. General Albert Torbert lost his life going out to Mexico for Grant's syndicate in this matter. The Drexels are in it.—Gath.

The "old man" is sought after on "all hands," and although one of the worst beaten candidates that ever entered a nominating convention, he is the most loved and is honored more than any man in the nation to-day.

THE correspondent of the Times at Rome says: "It is well known in Vatican circles that the Pope is much embarrassed about Irish affairs. He fully understands that it is not a question between Protestants and Catholics, but between the friends of order and the anarchists. He openly disapproves the agrarian movement, and sincerely desires to assist the English government if possible. He is well aware that he is only hearing one side of the case; and he feels that, were he to break silence, he might, in seeking to do good, produce a contrary result, through his imperfect knowledge of the affairs."

GRANT FOR PRESIDENT.

It is reported that the State of Missouri has declared her intention to cast her electoral votes for Grant for president and with the 138 votes of the Solid South 47 votes, the number required to accomplish the object, could be easily secured from the North, and thus Grant would be inaugurated as president on the 4th of March instead of Garfield. While it may be true that there exists no written law compelling the electors to vote for Garfield in the various state Electoral Colleges where Republican electors were elected. Yet Electoral Colleges are presumed to be independent bodies exactly in the same sense as State Legislatures, and vote for President, as members of the Legislature vote for U. S. Senators. An Elector, however, who would violate his trust to the people, having been elected with the instructions to cast his vote Garfield, and then cast it for some one else, "his would be a treason so black that all the shores of hades would not contain a place sufficiently hot for his punishment. It is, all the same, an illustration sufficient to demonstrate the peculiarities of the Southern mind as to what they consider Political honor, and that such a suggestion should come from that quarter is but natural, for their motto is "rule or ruin."

We are sincerely glad that the Northern mind is not so debased as to consider any such a proposition, except with disgust, and were such a proposition made to the "old chief," he—well, we are of the opinion that he would treat it as an honest man would naturally spurn a proposition of treason, for it must be understood that although there is no written statutes to control the votes of the electors, each stands in the attitude of a trustee, with an express trust for the people.

And while technically they are voted for, yet practically the voter casts his ballot for the Presidential Candidates. While this may be a deviation from the ideas of the framers of the constitution, who originally intended to leave the electors wholly independent, still one of our greatest law writers says that "an exercise of independent judgment would be treated as a political usurpation, dishonorable to the individual, and a fraud upon his constituents."

THE PERJURY CASES.

The people have perhaps got enough of the Morey Chinese letter forgery, but when such a Democratic paper as the New York Herald denounces it as one of the boldest attempts in modern history to break down the character of a good man like Gen. Garfield, the people will read anything pertaining to it with pleasure. The Herald on Saturday says:

The evidence thus far disclosed does not fix the origin of authorship of the bogus Chinese letter. What the public would be glad to know is, first, who committed the stupid forgery, and second, the hideous agencies by which it was thrust into notice. The two poor devils, one from Massachusetts and one from Maryland, who perjured themselves and have confessed their perjury, were accomplices after the fact.

There is no pretence that they had anything to do with the preparation or publication of the letter. They came in after the fact; they were suborned to swear to the existence of the fictitious individual to whom it purported to have been addressed. The main question lies back of their perjured testimony. Who forged the letter? Were its promulgators conscious of its fraud or were they deceived? These are points which ought to be settled, and the wicked conspiracy to bolster up the forgery after it had been committed throws no clear light on the origin of the villany. The confessions of the perjurers do not touch the question of origin, since they were not suborned until after the publication and swore to the existence and acts of a man of whom they never had any knowledge.

The statements of self-confessed perjurers are not a very trustworthy kind of evidence. They did not confess until after their perjury had been exposed by other testimony, and nothing they say deserves credit except so far as it may be corroborated by other evidence. These poor miscreants, who swore falsely for money, may again swear falsely for mercy. They may, indeed, put the public authorities on the track of true testimony; but their own has no other value, since they have shown themselves capable of any kind of tough swearing from a paltry sense of interest. The character of reputable citizens cannot suffer from the unsupported testimony of these perjured wretches. But still their confessions may furnish a clew to evidence which is more trustworthy than their own.

We hope the investigation may be pursued with unsparing vigor, and that all who had a part in planning or a hand in executing this vile attempt to traduce a public man may be brought to condign punishment. It would be a miscarriage of justice if the needy miscreants who were suborned after the fact were alone punished and the original concocters and accomplices of the fraud should escape unwhipped.

THERE was a tremendous excitement at Mr. Mapleson's opera in New York Wednesday night over the presence of General Grant, who quietly entered a box accompanied by his wife, his son Jesse, and Mrs. Commodore Garrison. The opera was in full progress, but as soon as the act closed the orchestra played "Hail Columbia," and the people applauded, so vociferously, the audience rising and shouting, that finally General Grant rose and bowed. There was a crush of elegantly attired people waiting in the lobbies to see him depart, and they were as greedy as if they never hope to have such another opportunity. General Grant wore gloves at the opera, and now the New York gentlemen, who had mostly discarded this hand-covering, are contemplating a revival of the custom.—Inter Ocean.

JOHN KELLY says that "Samuel Judas Tilden is the traitor."

A FEW days ago the bark St. Lawrence arrived at Baltimore, from Demarara, having on board a wonderful electric eel, which was caught in Demarara, and is three feet long and two inches thick, and is kept in a tub of water. The characteristics of these eels are well known. They are so heavily charged with the electric fluid that they can by contact knock down or stun, and in many cases kill, the strongest man or beast. A man who touched the one in question with his umbrella, the ferule of which is iron, felt the electric current very perceptibly.—Inter Ocean.

WHERE IS BARNUM.

ALL the Russia Nihilists arrested some time ago for being implicated in plots against the life of the Czar have been found guilty. Five of them sentenced to be hanged and eleven to imprisonment ranging from life to fifty years. Three women were sentenced to fifteen years penal servitude.

THE Chicago Times has ordered several type setting machines from Belgium. The invention is said to work successfully, and a branch manufacturing establishment is to be founded in Chicago.

Father and Son.

"If you wish to train up your child in the way he should go, just skimpish ahead on that line yourself," said wise Josh Billings, and if he was not addressing fathers or thinking of boys, he ought to have been. The writer was present once at a social religious meeting, when a very large man with a very large nose, and no doubt a very large heart, also, arose and used his space of time to tell what a good mother he had, and how her influence had guided him, and finished with an exhortation to all mothers to make good men of their boys.

The divines followed in a similar strain and ended with the same exhortation, and all the brethren settled themselves more comfortably into their seats, and all the sisters bowed their heads with meek faces as if sweetly taking up the heavy burden thus flatteringly laid upon their frail shoulders. No, not all; for one sat bolt upright, too indignant for speech, to see those great broad-shouldered men thus calmly shirking the greatest responsibility God ever called them to bear.

Because some mothers blessed with mighty faith and powerful will, have borne their sons triumphantly over the quicksands of youthful temptations and planted their feet firmly on the pleasant upland of righteous manhood, shall it be demanded of every frail woman to whom God has given a son, that she do the same? No, with equal justice it might be demanded of every woman that she write books like Mrs. Stowe, entrance large audiences like Miss Willard and Anna Dickinson or be a brilliant newspaper correspondent like Mary Clemmer.

What weight has a mother's word when weighed against a father's example? The mother says: "My son, do not smoke; it is bad for your health, bad for the purse, bad for the morals, and the pleasure it affords is trifling compared to the evil it works."

"What does mother know about smoking?" reasons the boy; "she never smokes; father smokes, and I am going to too."

"Don't spend your evenings about the bar-room and village store," pleads the troubled mother; "the conversation there is not such as I wish you to listen to."

"What does mother know about bar-room talk?" questions the boy; "she is at home, cooking the baby or darning stockings; father is there, and I'm going." One out-spoken ten-year-old boy said: "I like my mother well enough; but I think father is a great deal smarter," and he expressed the feeling of the average boy when he enters his teens. Now, which parent is likely to have more influence in forming the character of that son?

"I'll take what father takes," said the boy at the hotel dinner table, and boys are taking what their fathers take all the world over.

A father and son were clambering up the rough, steep sides of a mountain, when the father paused to decide which of many paths to take; the boy said: "Be sure to choose a good path, father, for I am coming right behind you."

Fathers, upon the hillside of life, be sure you choose a "good path," for your sons are just behind, and almost certain to follow in your footsteps. If the bewitching voice of pleasure entices you into by-paths of self-indulgence and sin, remember that where you trip he will stumble, and the same foul mire that soils your garment will engulf him. But if you choose to walk the pleasant high-ways of temperance, virtue and Christian manliness, he shall keep even step with you, and at last dwell in peace at your side.

"The just man walketh in his integrity; his children are blessed after him."

TO ROAST GEESER AND DUCKS.—Boiling water should be poured all over and inside of a goose or duck, before you prepare them for cooking, to take out the strong oil taste. Let the fowl be picked clean, and wiped dry with a cloth, inside and out; fill the body and crop with stuffing; if you prefer not to stuff it, put an onion inside, and roast it brown. It will take about two hours and a half.

These fowls always require a brisk fire, and should be roasted until they are a light brown, but not too much, otherwise they lose their flavor by letting the gravy run out.

Imitation meerschaum pipes are manufactured from potatoes in France. A peeled potato is placed in sulphuric acid and water, in the proportion of eight parts of the former to one hundred of the latter. It remains in this liquid thirty-six hours, and is then dried with blotting paper, and becomes material that can be readily carved. The counterfeit is said to be excellent. An imitation ivory, sufficiently hard for billiard balls, can be made by still greater pressure. An imitation of coral is obtained by treating carrots the same way.

Humbugged Again.

I saw so much said about the merits of Hop Bitters, and my wife, who was always doctoring, and never well, teased me so urgently to get her some, I concluded to be humbugged again; and I am glad I did, for in less than two months use of the bitters my wife was cured, and she has remained so for eighteen months. I like such humbugging.—H. T. St. Paul.—Pioneer Press.
