Required to show our line of Carpets,

Furniture and Baby cabs.

Prices are lower than in the large cities. Styles are choice, from the best manufactures of the country.

When we entered the Furniture business, we sat down a rule that the poorly made article we would not buy. We have found it to work well, even if a set of well made furniture costs a little more than a poorer one, it will last that much longer and the purchaser has the satisfaction of not having shabby made goods in his house.

Full stock coming in very rapidly. Car loads of Furniture and Carpets, Baby cabs and Oil cloths have arrived this week.

THE CHURCHES.

FAIR WEATHER INCREASES THE ATTENDANCE.

—REV. HOLLINGSWORTH'S SERMON.

The scarcity of ministers in the city yesterday and an unusually pleasant day resulted in a large attendance at Centenary and Asbury. At Asbury in the evening Miss Leonard attracted a crowd which taxed the seating capacity of the church. In the morning Rev. Hollingsworth's sermon was founded on Paul's charge to Timothy, a brief extract of which is given:

"In what an awe-inspiring manner this charge is introduced: 'I charge thee therefore before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead, etc.' Before this old veteran of the cross would deliver his last charge to this young preacher, he would lead him into the presence of the great God and the Son, and point out to him the judgment throne. O what a change would take place in our lives and conduct did we but live with an eye on the judgment throne!

What is the nature of this charge? First, 'Preach the Word.' Not art, current literature; materialistic philosophy, etc., but the plain old gospel of Jesus Christ. It only is the 'power of God unto the salvation of every one that believeth.' It only can dispel the gloom and bring in the light. We must earnestly proclaim our message. 'Be it instant in season, season and out of season,' for time is short, souls are perishing, the judgment is approaching, and Satan is busy. And besides, many are rapidly drifting into a state of worldliness and formalism, where they will 'endure sound doctrine.' They turn away from the truth and believe a lie. They have caught the itch in the ear. They want the sensational novel, gliding, O, beloved, forget not that we are 'set for a defense of the gospel.' Let us not pander to the vitiated taste of a world-loving multitude. As an inspiration to Timothy to be a true herald of the cross, Paul spoke of the courage and confidence and triumph that possessed his own soul in the face of death. For the true, self-sacrificing, courageous man or woman of God, there is laid up a 'crown of righteousness' a crown that will not dim nor crumble, but will glow with a richer luster as the ages roll on."

In the evening Miss Leonard spoke on Christian or moral perfection to which her audience listened attentively. In the afternoon there were about thirty who went to the altar seeking the path which she had so eloquently pointed out to them. Many in the congregation rose thereby expressing their determination to seek perfection, among these were several prominent business men. Miss Leonard spoke for one hour of which the substance and text is given briefly:

"Therefore leaving the principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works and of faith toward God. The need of thorough repentance as the initial step in the Christian life was urged. But we are not expected to keep on repenting year after year, should not be laying foundations all our lives, but rear the superstructure. As the child leaves the alphabet and goes on to higher studies, so the Christian should leave first principles and go on to perfection. 'What is this perfection?' Not the perfection of God, of angels and of Adam. 'Christian perfection' is not a state free from temptation or mistakes, or infirmities, or from which one cannot fall. It is to love the Lord with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind. The heart must be emptied of all sin and filled with the love of God."

HERE AND THERE.

Looners about the court house have been amusing themselves or slaughtering time by cutting their initials on the stone pillars, and to stop the offenders the county commissioners to-day ordered signs put up offering $20.00 reward for the arrest and conviction of any one found defacing the building in the future. In the tower of every enthusiast who has climbed its many steps felt called upon to record the fact that it might be handed down to posterity, and consequently every available inch about that point of observation is defaced by knife cuttings and pencil marks, and this will hereafter be forbidden. There is an old saying to the effect "that fools names are like their faces are often seen in public places," and truly to view the tower one would think, with this saying in mind, that he had struck a lunatic asylum. Said one young man to me: "I have been up in the tower twenty-three times and have written my name every time."

LETTER CARRIERS WANT BACK PAY.
The letter carriers who have just been relieved from duty are preparing a petition to be forwarded to the department at Washington. The petition will contain the number of extra time that each carrier worked over the eight hours fixed by law in 1888. In Washington City an ex-carrier was recently granted pay for extra time, and the carriers here concluded that they should enjoy the benefits of the law as well as their progressive eastern brother. If the petition is granted each carrier will receive about $200, which will be very serviceable to several of them who have not yet succeeded in obtaining other employment.

FASHION'S CAPRICE.

A flower pot inverted describes the new high hat that is called fashionable in London.

In men's cape nishers the fashion will be stripes of reddish hue; the ulster is cut very long.

The newest oyster plates represent one enormous oyster shell, and have no compartments.

Glass berry dishes now come with engraving on the side of various fruits, berries and flowers.

Silver snake bracelets, which can also be worn about the neck, emanate from expensive Paris jewelers.

Among new autumn headgear for young girls will be hats made of striped and checked cloths of which men's suits are made.

Gauze fans, on which owls, moons, stars and other things suggestive of night are painted, and gold-mounted, are new from Paris.

Tailor-made suits for autumn of cloth, according to high authority, are to be plain skirts, gathered in at the waist in big box plaits, and with a "coat-tail" bodice.

Russian net of black is a material very much in vogue among Parisian women. It can be worn over different colored silk skirts and is declared to be always "dressy" and stylish.

Wicker trunks covered with waterproof cloth are fast crowding out the ordinary leather-covered or wooden ones. They are very strong and durable, and resist the most violent efforts of the baggage-smashers.

The Leghorn hat, with nodding ostrich plumes, is out again in all its glory at Newport and Lenox. A genuine, and consequently expensive Leghorn is the fashionable rule. Better go without than have the imitation article.

Many of the most elegantly dressed women abroad wear the long, black kid gloves, with back-stitching of white. These solemn hand coverings are also used with full evening dress, the effect, with a white costume, being effective if not startling.—New York Mail and Express.

PEOPLE OF PROMINENCE.

CHIEF-JUSTICE FULLER'S handwriting is described as the "worst that could possibly be seen."

GENERAL SHERMAN recently made the ascent of Pike's Peak and was delighted with the experience.

MRS. HARRISON'S dislike for notoriety increases every day. On her recent trip from Deer Park to Washington she displayed a nervous dread of reporters.

JAY GOULD says that for the first year of his married life he lived on $100, got up at daybreak, went to church every Sunday, and was as happy as a boss bumble bee in sweet clover.

MRS. EDISON sticks to her husband like a shadow. She is always at his elbow in working hours, with book and pencil, taking down his ideas and experiments. She is, in fact, a helpmate in every way worthy of his abilities.

MR. SPRUNGEON, the well-known London preacher, has a beautiful residence at Beniah, Upper Norwood, with extensive grounds and handsome conservatories. A silver casket from the Queen is one of his most precious household gods.

THE late Chief-Justice Waite was seventy-two when he died. Justice Bradley is seventy-five, Matthews sixty-four, Harlan fifty-five, Blatchford sixty-eight, Gray sixty, Field seventy-two, Miller seventy-two and Lamar sixty-three.

PRESIDENT HARRISON plays a fairly good game of billiards. There is nothing brilliant about it, and almost anybody in regular practice could give him odds, but he has sufficient command of the balls to make a very respectable score. He is fond of the game.

THIS grand reception room in Mrs. Secretary Whitney's Washington house is said to remind one of the salons of Versailles about 1680. The walls are covered with brocade silk, made in France to order, after the styles of Louis XVI. and old masters, and there is an abundance of Gobelin tapestry hung about.

MRS. GEORGE GOULD has the credit of first introducing into this country the fashionable tan suede shoes which are now so popular. Mrs. Gould has a curious fancy for tan-colored garments, and it is said that she is devoted to dresses made up in that color.

"BUFFALO BILL'S" ranch is located on the North Platte, in Nebraska, and contains nearly 5,000 acres of fine land. Mr. Cody has about 200 head of thoroughbred horses and 2,000 or 3,000 head of cattle. His residence is a big frame house near the railroad, on the roof of which is painted in large letters, "Colonel W. F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) Scouts' Ranch," and over it every day floats a big American flag.

TIN youngest member of the new Cabinet is Attorney-General Miller—48; the oldest, Secretary Windom—62. Messrs. Blaine, Proctor, Tracy and Rust are of about the same age—59. Two of the eight—Tracy and Miller—were born in New York; three—Windom, Noble and Rust—in Ohio; two—Blaine and Wananaker—in Pennsylvania; leaving one—Mr. Proctor—to the credit of Vermont. Three of the eight served in the late war.

Points for the Housewife.

A scientific journal gives ten good things worth knowing:

1. Salt curdles milk and should not be added until the dish is prepared.

2. Clean boiling water will remove fruit and fat stains from white cloth, and also from the hands.

3. Boiled starch is much improved by the addition of a little dissolved gum arabic.

4. Beeswax and salt will make rusty fastenings as clean and smooth as glass.

5. Blue ointment and kerosene in equal proportions applied to bedsteads is an unfailing bug remedy.

6. Kerosene will soften boots and shoes when hardened with water and render them pliable.

7. Kerosene will make tea kettles as bright as new; saturate a woolen rag and rub with it.

8. Cool rain water and soda will remove machine grease from washable fabrics.

Phrenology and Observation.
Phrenology teaches that fullness under the eyes denotes language. Observation teaches that black and blue marks under the eyes denote bad language.

A MUSCULAR CHRISTIAN.

He Wipes the Floor with a Scoffer and Then Weeps for His Anger.

The Detroit correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean tells a good story about H. O. Wills, the evangelist, who was long a noted bummer in that town.

Persons who know Wills in the old days appreciated the struggle he was making toward a better life. A few, however, began with his change of character to jeer and jibe him in season and out of season, seeking to drive him by ridicule back into the gutters. One of these is a man named Dolton, who for several years has sought opportunity to abuse Brother Wills on the streets and especially on the street-car.

Wills, though a powerful man physically, bore this outrage uncomplainingly for a time. Recently Wills boarded a street-car and found his tormentor there. Several ladies were also in the car. Dolton began his petty persecutions. Wills stood it with remarkable patience for a time; then he begged Dolton to desist. This had no effect, and Wills asked the conductor of the boat to quiet his persecutor. Another gentleman passenger also urged the conductor to go to Wills' assistance, but with no result. Then Wills turned to Dolton:

"My friend, you must stop this kind of monkey work. I can't do any thing while there are ladies in the car, but I warn you that unless you let up on your abuse I'll trouble you."

Dolton laughed derisively. The ladies got out. Dolton resumed his taunts, becoming more and more abusive. His victim again issued a note of warning, but Dolton believed that the evangelist's religion would not permit him to retaliate.

Suddenly it came clearly to Wills that to get an answer to his prayer for protection from the tormentor he must use the means placed in his hand, and he sailed into Dolton.

He mopped every part of the car with the person of his tormentor. The swish-swash of the body around the car could be heard a block away above the din and roar of the busy thoroughfare.

Dolton cried for mercy, but Brother Wills had a duty to perform, and he did it nobly. Not until Dolton was thoroughly whipped, until he admitted his meanness, did Wills let up. Then, with a parting shake of the trembling man's hand, the evangelist said: "Now you go home and thank God that I did not kill you."

Wills then sank into the seats and sobbed over his giving way to anger. Later he went to Justice Miner and explained the circumstances. The judge congratulated him for the good work, and Brother Wills was happy.

A SECRET WORTH KNOWING.

"Young man," said the long-haired passenger to the occupant of the seat ahead, "do you know that I've never spent a dollar for liquor in my whole life?"

"Really?" responded the young man, turning half way round with a look of great interest on his face, "how do you work it?"—Life.

GO WEST, LADIES.

Women are not allowed to practice law in New York. There is hope, however, owing to the facilities for reaching Chicago that the inhabitants of that emigrant landing may soon catch up with the spirit of the age.
