PITY THE POCKET PLAYERS.

EVANSVILLE BEATEN TO THE TUNE OF TWELVE TO FOUR.

THE AUDIENCE WENT WILD—A SILVER SHOWER TO HOME RUN CONLEY FROM THE GRAND STAND.

Yesterday was a red-letter day at the ball park—a day for the copious pouring forth of the wildest enthusiasm—a day for civilized Americans to howl themselves hoarse and beat their waving hats into tatters and shreds. No wilder demonstration was ever witnessed. It cast into the depths of shade the scenes of excitement which prevail at the great races and eclipsed any mad uproar that Roman gladiators ever called forth. Modestly speaking, it was all of the above.

The first inning was uneventful; the home team went out without reaching first and the visitors followed suit. Ducky Hemp starting them by a fan out.

O'Brien, after Lotz went out on a fly, made a hit in the second inning and sneaked to second bag. Cantillon didn't hit LaTouche's delivery, but Rademaker failed to take in Donovan's ball and O'Brien came over the plate. Eiteljorg went to the bat and made a hit, Donovan struck second. Donovan, Dorsey fanned out, leaving the bases full. In their half of the second the visitors tied the score. Whistler getting first on balls, Crothers sacrificing and, owing to Donovan's failure to hold the ball, Whistler and Herr scoring. Calhoun couldn't hit Dougan's ball. In the third Conley hit and was put out at first. Lotz went to first on balls, continuing on Cantillon's strike-out to second, where he died. The visitors failed to reach first in their half, LaTouche being thrown out by O'Brien and the two following batters flying out to second.

Donovan started the fourth by sawing. Eiteljorg hit and was advanced a base on Dougan's sacrifice. Schneider hit, allowing Eiteljorg to make second, from where he came home on Calhoun's error. Dorsey fanned and Schneider died on third. Gilman reached first on Cantillon's error, but was thrown out by Donovan while trying to steal second. Rademaker went out from second to third. Whistler made three strikes, but Donovan dropped the ball, threw over Lotz' head and Whistler got safely to first, but ventured too far away from it and was put out by a swift throw from Dougan.

Conley hit to left field to start the fifth and made first. Lotz sacrificed, advancing Conley to second, and O'Brien made second on a hit and a steal. Cantillon followed with a hit which brought in Conley, and O'Brien stole home. Cantillon stole second and made third on Donovan's sacrifice. Eiteljorg and Dougan followed with hits, Cantillon scoring and the two dying on bases. Schneider going out from Recius to Whistler. In the last half Herr made first on Lotz' miff of Schneider's assist, and went to second on Crother's sacrifice. Calhoun then made the first hit for Evansville. Herr scoring. LaTouche sacrificed and Ducky Hemp hit a long fly to left, making second and Calhoun scoring. Recius hit to Cantillon, who touched hemp on the line.

In the sixth, Dorsey, Conley and Lotz went out in order, the two former hitting to pitcher and Lotz flying out. The visitors did not score in their half. Whistler got first on balls, but Donovan threw him out at second. In the seventh the locals did not get to first, O'Brien flying out to Whistler. Cantillon being thrown out by Herr and Donovan by Recius. In the last half Herr fanned, Crothers was nipped by Schneider's assist and Calhoun was put out by Cantillon.

The home players struck out in the eighth, Schneider dying on first which he got on balls. The visitors didn't do any business in their half. Recius made a hit, but died on first.

To open the last inning Conley went to the bat, and, as he usually does when he tries, sent the ball into the field. That was the signal for a thunder of applause. The immense audience was thrown into the wildest commotion. They sprang up and down and howled and whooped and threw their hats in the air. Prominent, dignified citizens utterly forgot themselves and yelled and beat one another like mad. It was simply terrific. The money showered around the hero of the moment as he walked proudly in from the diamond. When the turbulent throng had settled down and grown more quiet, Ben Lotz hit a single, stole second and went to third on O'Brien's sacrifice, scoring on Cantillon's hit, who, in turn, went to second on Donovan getting hit with the ball. Cantillon sneaked third, Donovan second and both reached the plate on Eiteljorg's hit, Dougan following with a three-bagger and scoring on Schneider's fly to center. Dorsey went out from Recius to Whistler. The visitors in their half went out in order, making the score as follows:

H. F. SCHMIDT—A WORD CONCERNING HIM.

It is by no means mal-apropos at this juncture in our ball team's successful history, to say a word in commendation of the gentlemanly and enterprising Mr. Schmidt, to whom the thanks of the city are due for the many fine ball games which have been witnessed this year at our ball park. For time immemorial, anterior to Schmidt's debut as a base ball man here, Terre Haute had allowed that game to go to the dogs. There was an absence of the harmless and delightful amusement furnished by this peerless athletic game.

But this year it is revived in all its glory and this man is the sole individual to receive the thanks for it. He is enterprising, liberal and sagacious; he is a good citizen, a model base ball team owner and pre-eminently a gentleman.

HORSE NEWS.

The annual fall meeting of the Terre Haute Trotting association commences October 8th and continues four days. Great sport is promised by the association as witnessed by the liberal purses hung up. Each purse is $1,000 more money than has ever been placed and trotted for in the state of Indiana. The three colts races will bring together some of the greatest colts of noble breeding ever gathered together in one race course of America. The bad weather seems to have no effect upon the association as they offer double the amount in purses ever offered before. Johnson, the sensational pacer, will be here, driven by the greatest of all living reinsmen, Budd Doble.

NOTES.

The stallion Nelson secured a record of 2:14 at Hartford.

Rob Sturtevant's Black Diamond has won every race in the Missouri circuit.

C. J. Hamlin thinks that Mand S. and Belle Hamlin could trot a mile to pole in 2:12.

In a recent race where Kingston defeated Firenze, Mike Dwyer bet $50,000 to win $10,000.

Three new Terre Haute horses have records in the 2:30 list, viz.: Laura Belle, Merries and Louly Stoner.

Mayor Hubbard, an eminent turf writer, died recently in the New York hospital from a complication of diseases.

Cyclone ran three-eighths of a mile in 34 seconds, reducing the record a quarter of a second, at Helena, Mont., last week.

Reno's Baley secured a record of 2:37 at Independence, Iowa, last week. She is a sure starter in the 2-year-old stake this fall.

A. G. Newsom & Co. have sold to Senator Hearst for $5,000 the 2-year-old bay filly, Miss Belle, by Prince Charley, out of Linnet.

The average time for forty-four heats trotted and paced at the Poughkeepsie meeting was 2:18 97-100. This makes the grand average for the five big meetings, beginning at Detroit, 2:18 35-100.

The gray gelding Hendryx that started in the 2:22 class here last spring, winning the second heat, severely injured himself in his car while going from Poughkeepsie to Hartford so that he will not be able to start again this season.

Hambletonian Bashaw, 19 years old, made a grand showing at Mansfield, Ohio, last week on a half mile track which was deep in dust. He was brought out for an exhibition mile, and was sent the first half in 1:11, when he was eased up and finished the mile in 2:30; an excellent performance for an old fellow.

GIRLS, DON'T DO IT.

Girls, don't talk slang! There is an elegant, systematized language which you can use just as well. Don't allow men to think that you value yourself so cheaply as to show yourself so ready to appropriate their coarse expressions. Leave "I bet" and "you bet" to men who are trading horses or land. Don't so easily bring yourself down from the pedestal of purity upon which you are placed, to the coarse associations of men's daily life. They don't expect it, and they are disappointed in you when you do so descend. A young gentleman may talk and laugh with a young woman who uses slang, when, at the same time, deep down in his heart there is a feeling of contempt for one who could so forget her dignity and what was due to herself as a true lady. Girls of really good education fall into this habit, thinking it shows smartness, when it is neither ladylike nor becoming. Men expect you to be purer and better than they and you may walk before them an angel of light, leading them to nobler, purer lives, or walk hand in hand with them and encourage by your example coarseness and wickedness. You can not be the pure, refined lady you ought to be with coarse expressions in your heart and on your lips and to those unused or averse to it, it is positively shocking.—Toledo Blade.

AN ASTOUNDING STORY.

The history of the rise and fall of Henry S. Ives, as told by his former associate, Edward W. Woodruff, and published exclusively in The World this morning, is one of the most extraordinary narrations, whether of fact or fiction, ever made in this city. It tears away all the glamour of mystery and romance from the corner of this whilom "Napoleon of Finance," and shows him as he was—a common rogue, "whose only claim to distinction is that he invented a new way to steal, and who only differs from a Bowery pick-pocket in the amount of his theft."—New York World.

WHAT DID HE TAKE?

The champion absent-minded man lives in Kingston, N. Y. The other evening he was desirous to see a man on business who resides not far from his own home. He started out on this errand and walked around several blocks immersed in profound thought. By the merest accident in his wanderings he came to his own residence. He paused in front of his own house and rang the door bell. He had evidently still retained the original purpose of starting out, for, when his son answered the ring, he calmly inquired of the lad whether his father was at home.

SENATOR EVARTS' HAT.

Senator Evarts complains bitterly because the comic artist always portrays him with a shabby hat. He declares that he buys more high hats than any man in public life and always takes great pains to brush the nap the right way. But when a caricaturist makes a hit he has to stick to it consistently, no matter how wide of the mark he may be. The public have grown so accustomed to seeing Senator Evarts represented with an ancient and shabby tie that it would not recognize him without it. It has become his trade-mark, so to speak.—The Epoch.

A NEW EMANCIPATION.

Jim Robinson is telling a story around Toledo which is worth printing. Of course it is about electric street railways, but that doesn't hurt it. It seems a northern company recently put in an electric road in Nashville, Tenn., and an old dandy was showing it to his wife.

"Look at it! Look at it!" he said. "Bress the Lord, these Yankees are great people. Twenty-five years ago dey come down heah and freed the niggah, and now dey come down and free de mule!"—Toledo Blade.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—The public schools will open Monday, September 9th, 1889. The boundaries of the different districts will remain the same as last year and pupils will attend school accordingly, with the following exceptions:

1. Pupils promoted to the A division of the eighth year grade will attend, and continue their regular studies, at the High School building.
2. Pupils of the Eleventh (Training School) district will occupy a part of the first floor of the Normal building.
3. Pupils promoted to the B division of the eighth year in the Thirteenth district will be continued in that building.

The text-books recently adopted by the State Board of Education will be sold by the principals to the pupils for cash, or in exchange for old books in good condition and the balance in cash. The law does not permit sales on credit. All other text-books will be purchased from the dealers as heretofore.

A special examination will be held at the different buildings at 9 a. m., Saturday, September 7th, for the classification of new pupils and for those who may have withdrawn before the schools closed in June last.
