

DAILY SENTINEL

B. J. BRIGGS, Proprietor.

Oct. 27, 1861.

161-2 E. Washington Street, Sentinel Building.

Tuesday Morning, August 2.

The President on the Southern Mission.

A Washington special to the New York Herald, dated the 20th of July, says:

"Nothing has occurred to show that the President has any desire to interfere in the election in Mississippi, but he has expressed his determination that there shall be a fair one. The district commander of the 2d division of Mississippi, composed of one Radical, one Conservative Republican and one army officer."

The same information comes from other sources, so that it may be accepted as the expression of the President as to his policy in the approaching Southern elections.

If the President does not intend to interfere in those elections, at least two members of his cabinet are doing so actively, and they have pledged their official influence and the official patronage under their control, to the wing of the Republican party which they recognize as the "sound corn."

Bourwell is backing his candidate for Governor in Tennessee, and Cusick is doing likewise. This interference by Federal officers in State elections meets with rebuke from even Radical papers. The New York Times, one of the most ably conducted Republican journals in the country, says:

"We wisdom of the course pursued by the President in his relations with the South is doubtful. 'Great interest' in the contest, he may naturally be right, but he certainly is in 'bullying' the South, and in this he has violated the general property of the State depend largely upon the continuance of the Republican party in power. But we are unable to see that he can do this without interference in behalf of one section of the Republic party and against another section; the section as well as the Federal party, to influence the election of the President with the general policy of the President and with the desires and purposes of the party everywhere."

The Albany, New York, Journal, another influential Republican paper, the State organ of that party in New York, is no less decided in its condemnation of the attempt of Federal officers to influence State elections. It exclaims:

"Has not the Secretary made a mistake? When he sent to the South to negotiate with a quarrel purely local? So far as a Republican is concerned but one of the candidates for Governor in Tennessee is to be nominated, and Cusick is a rebel who was supposed that rebellion was likely to succeed and to ally the State with the Confederates. Each becomes a party to the other, and to the party of violence. And so it has since acted with the party, supporting all the measures, including emancipation, investigation of the news with citizenship and establishment of equal rights as a constitutional principle."

The telegram of both Bourwell and Cusick, expressing the warmest sympathy for Stokes, in this "purely local quarrel," have already been published, so that there can be no doubt as to the interference of both in that State election.

On last Saturday the gubernatorial canvass in Tennessee closed at Nashville, and both candidates spoke. We quote from the closing reply of Stokes, to show the length that he would go to prevent the expression of the will of the people, or to see it said if it should be adverse to him. General Stokes in his rejoinder to Mr. Senter, says:

"I will now raise my warning voice to notify the people that if they go after that man Senter they will be led into trouble. The Federal party, in their efforts to elect the Radical and vote for me, will be well; but if you elect Senter, I will swear, by the powers above, I will pursue him to the grave. I will not be satisfied to accomplish this. Finally, I am perfectly at the counterfeiter."

The official return of the late election in Virginia develops the fact that the negroes voted more nearly their registered strength than the whites. This disposed of the stale old allegation of intimidation.

The Philadelphia Age says the Military Commission that sat upon General Grant's dead horse, have returned a verdict of "botul."

Spurious Testimony Notes.

The Washington special to the Cincinnati Commercial give the following information to the reference to the new counterfeiting ten dollar notes:

Sporadic ten dollar legal tender notes are coming into the Treasurer's office from the banks of the Northern States and the city banks. As a master of course of the counterfeiting of these notes, he is perfectly at the counterfeiter."

HOW THE COUNTERFEITERS WERE MADE.

The American Bank Note Company engraved the face and backs of the ten dollar notes, while the National Bank Note Company had for a long time past been printing these notes. A large plate and back plate have been stolen from one or two of these companies' vaults and used for this fraudulent purpose. It is not possible to say which of the two companies' plates, the back or the face, was first obtained, but it is temporally suffering, in consequence of his recent accident, he has declined in a letter in which he expresses his warning to the public.

The exhibitions occur only in the daytime, and are gratuitous. The rooms will be open to visitors from eleven until two o'clock, and the door will be closed at half past twelve, and the door will be closed when the door will be opened at nine and close at five. On Friday there will be trade shows.

The exhibition room will return visitors attending the exhibition free of charge, if they have paid full fare going and have a certificate from the Secretary. I hope you will go down and write you the particulars.

DAILY SENTINEL.

Tuesday Morning, August 2.

Two copies of the SENTINEL are sent to every county in the State for the use of the public. They are addressed to the county offices.

CITY NEWS.

Gov. Governor Baker was expected home last night.

It is said that the chicken cholera is raging fearfully in this section.

Vice President Colfax leaves Chicago for San Francisco to-morrow.

Henry O'Brien was yesterday arrested for selling feathers from a car.

The proposed excursion to Niagara Falls will be the next important event of the season.

The State Geologist has got his laboratory, adjoining the State House, completed.

New wheat continues to pour into this market, and grain transactions are quite lively.

Mr. J. A. Coburn, the Washington claim agent, is in the city, stopping at the Bates House.

The Junction Railroad Company has placed an elegant new train of cars on their road.

Colonel Milton A. Osborne, of Putnam county, was registered at the Palmer House yesterday.

The eclipse excursion, next Saturday, will be a "big thing." Everybody talks about going.

Dr. L. D. Waterman will read an essay on "Propriolism," before the Academy of Medicine to-night.

The exodus to the summer resorts has fairly commenced, and we miss many familiar faces from the streets.

The Internal Revenue officers were busily engaged in admiring up the distillery business of the State.

We suppose that due notice will be given of the costume ball, to come off at the Academy next Friday.

Mr. Henry Haasman has purchased the drug store of J. C. Green & Co., 404 West Washington street.

The County Commissioners have a constable to appoint at their present session. Candidates are not wanting.

Mr. M. P. Sallor killed a mad dog in front of his premises, 172 West Washington street, yesterday afternoon.

Articles of association were yesterday filed with the Secretary of State for the Rockville and Chicago Railroad.

Mayor Macauley leaves to-day on a visit to his old home, in Buffalo, New York. He will be absent one month.

Exquire Wallace will preside on the bench of the City Court during the absence of Mayor Macauley this month.

The Board of Managers of the House of Refuge will hold their regular monthly meeting at Plainfield to-day.

The thermometer ranged at ninety degrees in our composing room at nine o'clock last night. "How's that for hit?"

The portraits of all the Governors of Indiana to this date, are soon to be painted and hung up in the State House.

It is said that the great eclipse can be plainly seen at Marionville, through a piece of smoked glass, on next Saturday.

Two very ordinary drunks constituted the business of the City Court yesterday. They both paid the usual penalty.

The grand cornice is being mounted on the front of the Citizens' National Bank. The work has progressed rapidly.

The St. Louis train ran off the track near Mattoon, night before last, and was derailed several hours. No damage resulted.

The citizens of Springtown claim that the eclipse will be total in that vicinity next Saturday. They want an excursion.

The eclipse, which is to come off next Saturday, is absorbing a large share of general conversation on matters and things.

We hope soon to be able to furnish our readers with a complete mortuary report weekly. Our suggestion has been adopted.

The Home for Friends' Women and Girls will be located north of the Deaf and Dumb Institute, on the line of Michigan street.

Manager Leake will give a grand ball in the Academy of Music some time next month, of which due notices will be given by the press.

Manager Leake will give a grand ball in the Academy of Music some time next month, of which due notices will be given by the press.

A fight took place between two men, in regular prize ring style, on Virginia Avenue, yesterday. No arrests, and nobody much hurt.

The work of trimming shade trees for the benefit of the gas lamp has commenced, and some of the trees have been cropped very closely.

We understand that two buildings with fronts similar to the new Citizens' National Bank, will be erected on Washington street this fall.

It appears that our friend William R. Hogbin has not yet left for the land of the setting sun, having concluded to await the eclipse exhibition.

Mr. John Montgomery, of the St. Louis Railroad Supply Company, is in the city with his Patent Fare Collection Box, said to be a good thing.

A petition has been sent to Governor Baker, signed by a number of busy farmers, asking him to postpone the eclipse of the sun until Sunday.

At this time last year spring chickens were abundant at $1.00 and $2.00 per dozen. Now they are scarce at $4.00 per dozen. Why this wide difference?

It is said that a great antipathy exists between the urchins and dogs. Some of the old dogs have been caught once too often, and have a keen recollection of the place who will join the party.

An old gent called upon the County Clerk yesterday, and forced marriage license being issued to his son. The young man being of legal age, as well as his affiance, the instruction of the "engaged parent" was of no avail. The young folks got the necessary documents, and were spliced by the male pickpocket.

The Sinnissippi Guards will have a grand picnic excursion to Rushville on the Junction Railroad to-morrow (Wednesday), on which occasion the Guards will make their first appearance in uniform. Trains will leave the Union Depot at half past seven A. M. The excursion train will be met at Connersville at a large concourse of citizens of that place who will join the party.

The young man being of legal age, as well as his affiance, the instruction of the "engaged parent" was of no avail. The young folks got the necessary documents, and were spliced by the male pickpocket.

The Habit of street car drivers stopping their cars on the crossings is very annoying to pedestrians, and as there is no necessity for it, should be prohibited by law.

Two members of the chain gang escaped yesterday. One was Peter Smith O'Brien, and the other was not. A cloud of dust rose from their heels as they bounded out of the city limits.

During the last term of the Civil Circuit Court, there were 962 cases on the docket, of which the Court disposed of 386, in thirty-eight days, leaving 600 to be carried forward to the new docket.

Two holes were cut through the brick wall of the dog pound on Sunday night. It is supposed that the boy had exhausted the supply of dogs and took this method of "pulling the market."

To grade and travel Alabama street and sidewalks from Cedar street to the corporation line.

An ordinance appropriating $2,075 on account of the Ray street sewer.

The subject of the City Prison was taken up, and the majority and minority reports of the Committee on Buildings, together with other papers on the subject, were called.

Dr. Woodburn thought if the business men on Maryland and Meridian streets were so much opposed to the erection of a city prison, they should not be allowed to have it in their city.

He opposed to disturbing the foundation made by the city for the building of the Friends' school, which had already appropriated $7,500 to a Protestant school, and it would be nothing more than fair to donate this foundation to the Catholic Society of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd.

Mr. Thalman understood the object of the Sisters of the Good Shepherd was to turn the proposed institution into a pay school, and that the business men were opposed to giving them the foundation.

Mr. Glider said their object was altogether charitable one. It would be a good school, and the business men were not opposed to giving them the foundation.

Mr. Brown could not say how many could be made out of a reformatory school.

Dr. Woodburn was called to the chair.

Mr. Brown stated that he should not object to any disposition Council might propose to make of the property in question.

Mr. Brown offered the following:

Resolved, That the Mayor of the city of Indianapolis be directed to make a demand of conveyance to Stoughton A. Fletcher for the property of the Friends' school, for the use of the city for the Friends' school, and to appropriate $1,000 to the Friends' school, and to appropriate $1,000 to a Protestant school, and to appropriate $1,000 to a Catholic school.
