

DAILY SENTINEL

R. J. BRIGHT, Proprietor.

OFFICE: 161-2 E. Washington Street, Sentinel Building

Wednesday Morning, August 4.

Grant.

The telegraph from Washington announces that the President will not return to Washington again for several weeks. When he took the oath of office he declared that he entered upon its vast responsibilities without fear, and it seems as though a similar feeling influenced his administration of public affairs. All the predecessors of General Grant have given the closest attention to the important and weighty duties that the position devolves upon the incumbent, and all who held the office any length of time had long experience in the civil affairs of the Government, but the present Chief Magistrate, without that experience, and at a most critical period in the history of the nation, apparently measures the gravest questions with no more concern than a ball or dress parade at Long Branch. Apparently he takes more interest in a drive behind some noted horse; an entertainment given by HAMILTON FINN, or some other good liver, than the most interesting questions relating to either the domestic or foreign affairs of the nation. It is evident that the President intends to make himself comfortable, to enjoy all he can of life, no matter whether school keeps or not, so far as the affairs of State are concerned.

It appears that the President did express an opinion, while on a brief visit to Washington the other day, in regard to the condition of affairs in the South. He said, in a conversation with some Southerners, that he "desired the success of the party which would, in good faith carry the reconstruction acts, ratify the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution, and give protection to life and property in Mississippi."

It is the universal testimony of all who have been in the South recently that protection of life and property in that section of the country is fully equal to any other, and the election in Virginia furnishes ample evidence that "professions of loyalty" will be carried out in good faith. Now, if the President means what he says, there is no question but he will have the intelligence and influence of the South generally in the support of his administration. But BOUTWELL and CARSWELL place a different construction upon his administration than is attributed to the President. The election of WALKER in Virginia was considered a triumph of the ideas and policy of the President, while BOUTWELL looks upon the success of that wing of the Republican party as a Radical defeat. The ideas that triumphed in Virginia will not doubt be successful in the election of SENATOR in Tennessee, but BOUTWELL and CARSWELL, so far as they can, are throwing the influence of the Administration in favor of STOKES. The predecessors of General Grant would not have permitted this interference, but he seems more intent upon a first dinner than the unity and success of his administration.

The President expressed some more ideas. The telegraph reports him as saying, at the convention referred to, "that he intended to take up the subject of the 16th debt, and the integrity and honor of the nation rendered it inevitable, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied." If the President would direct his attention to the circumstances attending the creation of the debt, its contraction in a depreciated currency, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."

If the President would direct his attention to the circumstances attending the creation of the debt, its contraction in a depreciated currency, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."

THE TOTAL ECLIPSE.

What we may Expect to See.

Observations of Former Eclipses.

Highly Interesting Particulars.

A view of a total eclipse of the sun—one of the most interesting and startling phenomena in nature—is something not often vouchsafed to us. Very few now living in this part of the world have ever seen one, and it is not probable that many of us will ever see another. Their appearance in the same locality is exceedingly rare. No total eclipse was seen in London from 1160 to 1724, a period of five hundred and seventy-five years. There was only one seen in Paris in the eighteenth century, and there will be no more till the close of the nineteenth, a period of about one hundred and seventy-five years.

The eclipse which is to take place on Saturday, the 7th of August, will be total nearly the entire breadth of Southern Indiana, its western limit being a little beyond Evansville, and its eastern near Lawrenceburg.

The following are some of the principal places in the State, with the hour and minute at which the eclipse will be visible; Wabash River, twenty miles north of Vincennes, 5:10; Washington, 6:12; Corydon, 6:17. Either of these points will be the best in this State, to witness the phenomena. The north line of the eclipse is fully twenty miles southwest from this place, was thankfully accepted.

Thankfully accepted. Would any other person have proposed this position to be thus used in the interest of a private speculation? When the five members of the present administration are reviewed, is there not a striking contrast in character, dignity and ability, with the most indifferent of those that have preceded it? If we may be fortunate, providential perhaps, that in the present condition of affairs, we have a chief magistrate who consults his ease rather than assume ease and trouble by intermeddling with, or attempting to shape, public affairs. With the let alone policy of the President, if policy is to be termed, the country may right itself, as it seems to be doing by the indications in Virginia. How different would it be if a narrow partisan, industries in mischievous, like BOUTWELL, was in the place of GRANT. The revolution has commenced, and the country should be thankful that the chief magistrate will yield to the current of events, of according to reason and that the outburst, which is bound to come, will be peaceful.

The Great Exhibition of Textile Fabrics.

The Cincinnati papers of yesterday have lengthy reports of the origin and history of the Exposition of textile fabrics, which was opened yesterday with imposing ceremonies.

The exhibition is held under the auspices of the Wool Growers and Wool Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest. This was formed in Chicago, on the 15th day of January, 1888, and on the 4th, 5th and 6th day of August, held its first exposition in the city of Chicago. Though an experiment, this turned out to be a complete success, the display greatly exceeding the expectations of the most sanguine.

When the place of holding the Exposition of this year was to be determined, a delegation of merchants from Cincinnati

Chicago, and was successful, as it was held at that place, in inducing the association to select the products of the r

er, the fair will be to-day

and to-morrow. The arrangements to-day will be complete in the rooms set apart for the display of the textile fabrics, while the machinery by that time will all be in running order. The visitors will not only be permitted to see the goods, but will also have the pleasure of witnessing the improved machinery by which they are now produced. A banquet will be given to the contributors and invited guests to-morrow evening. Up to Monday night there were 973 entries, and more were added to the list yesterday. The entries were from the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, and included various descriptions of woolen and cotton goods, and samples of wool. The following establishments in Indiana had samples and specimens on exhibition: Lawrenceburg Woolen Manufacturing Company, Rising Sun woolen factory; Seymour woolen mills; Wabash woolen mills, Terre Haute; Mecca mills, Parkersburg; Vandy knitting mills; John Bruce, Edinburgh; Richmond woolen mills; Peru woolen mills, and BANNY BENDY, Wheeling, Spanish Merino wool.

This exhibition is of great importance to the West and the South, and although only a portion of the cotton and wool factories are represented, enough appear to show that manufacturing is not only a large interest and on the increase in these sections, but that the goods manufactured are of the best grades, and equal in quality and style to the manufacturers of the oldest establishments of the East.

The Next Democratic State Convention.

The New Albany Ledger in the discussion of some topics local to the Second District, says the following:

"The State Convention will probably be held in June or July, it being now generally conceded that the eighth of June will be the date. We hope the prospective candidates for offices, State or Congressional, will not be begun for some time.

"We cannot endorse the views of the Ledger, as to the time for holding the Democratic State Convention. The old and honored days of the eighth of June are past, and we hope the agitation about the reconstruction acts, ratify the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution, and give protection to life and property in Mississippi."

It is the universal testimony of all who have been in the South recently that protection of life and property in that section of the country is fully equal to any other, and the election in Virginia furnishes ample evidence that "professions of loyalty" will be carried out in good faith. Now, if the President means what he says, there is no question but he will have the intelligence and influence of the South generally in the support of his administration. But BOUTWELL and CARSWELL place a different construction upon his administration than is attributed to the President. The election of WALKER in Virginia was considered a triumph of the ideas and policy of the President, while BOUTWELL looks upon the success of that wing of the Republican party as a Radical defeat. The ideas that triumphed in Virginia will not doubt be successful in the election of SENATOR in Tennessee, but BOUTWELL and CARSWELL, so far as they can, are throwing the influence of the Administration in favor of STOKES. The predecessors of General Grant would not have permitted this interference, but he seems more intent upon a first dinner than the unity and success of his administration.

The President expressed some more ideas. The telegraph reports him as saying, at the convention referred to, "that he intended to take up the subject of the 16th debt, and the integrity and honor of the nation rendered it inevitable, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."

If the President would direct his attention to the circumstances attending the creation of the debt, its contraction in a depreciated currency, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."

THE TOTAL ECLIPSE.

What we may Expect to See.

Observations of Former Eclipses.

Highly Interesting Particulars.

A view of a total eclipse of the sun—one of the most interesting and startling phenomena in nature—is something not often vouchsafed to us. Very few now living in this part of the world have ever seen one, and it is not probable that many of us will ever see another. Their appearance in the same locality is exceedingly rare. No total eclipse was seen in London from 1160 to 1724, a period of five hundred and seventy-five years. There was only one seen in Paris in the eighteenth century, and there will be no more till the close of the nineteenth, a period of about one hundred and seventy-five years.

The eclipse which is to take place on Saturday, the 7th of August, will be total nearly the entire breadth of Southern Indiana, its western limit being a little beyond Evansville, and its eastern near Lawrenceburg.

The following are some of the principal places in the State, with the hour and minute at which the eclipse will be visible; Wabash River, twenty miles north of Vincennes, 5:10; Washington, 6:12; Corydon, 6:17. Either of these points will be the best in this State, to witness the phenomena. The north line of the eclipse is fully twenty miles southwest from this place, was thankfully accepted.

Thankfully accepted. Would any other person have proposed this position to be thus used in the interest of a private speculation? When the five members of the present administration are reviewed, is there not a striking contrast in character, dignity and ability, with the most indifferent of those that have preceded it? If we may be fortunate, providential perhaps, that in the present condition of affairs, we have a chief magistrate who consults his ease rather than assume ease and trouble by intermeddling with, or attempting to shape, public affairs. With the let alone policy of the President, if policy is to be termed, the country may right itself, as it seems to be doing by the indications in Virginia. How different would it be if a narrow partisan, industries in mischievous, like BOUTWELL, was in the place of GRANT. The revolution has commenced, and the country should be thankful that the chief magistrate will yield to the current of events, of according to reason and that the outburst, which is bound to come, will be peaceful.

The Great Exhibition of Textile Fabrics.

The Cincinnati papers of yesterday have lengthy reports of the origin and history of the Exposition of textile fabrics, which was opened yesterday with imposing ceremonies.

The exhibition is held under the auspices of the Wool Growers and Wool Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest. This was formed in Chicago, on the 15th day of January, 1888, and on the 4th, 5th and 6th day of August, held its first exposition in the city of Chicago. Though an experiment, this turned out to be a complete success, the display greatly exceeding the expectations of the most sanguine.

When the place of holding the Exposition of this year was to be determined, a delegation of merchants from Cincinnati

Chicago, and was successful, as it was held at that place, in inducing the association to select the products of the r

er, the fair will be to-day

and to-morrow. The arrangements to-day will be complete in the rooms set apart for the display of the textile fabrics, while the machinery by that time will all be in running order. The visitors will not only be permitted to see the goods, but will also have the pleasure of witnessing the improved machinery by which they are now produced. A banquet will be given to the contributors and invited guests to-morrow evening. Up to Monday night there were 973 entries, and more were added to the list yesterday. The entries were from the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, and included various descriptions of woolen and cotton goods, and samples of wool. The following establishments in Indiana had samples and specimens on exhibition: Lawrenceburg Woolen Manufacturing Company, Rising Sun woolen factory; Seymour woolen mills; Wabash woolen mills, Terre Haute; Mecca mills, Parkersburg; Vandy knitting mills; John Bruce, Edinburgh; Richmond woolen mills; Peru woolen mills, and BANNY BENDY, Wheeling, Spanish Merino wool.

This exhibition is of great importance to the West and the South, and although only a portion of the cotton and wool factories are represented, enough appear to show that manufacturing is not only a large interest and on the increase in these sections, but that the goods manufactured are of the best grades, and equal in quality and style to the manufacturers of the oldest establishments of the East.

The Next Democratic State Convention.

The New Albany Ledger in the discussion of some topics local to the Second District, says the following:

"The State Convention will probably be held in June or July, it being now generally conceded that the eighth of June will be the date. We hope the prospective candidates for offices, State or Congressional, will not be begun for some time.

"We cannot endorse the views of the Ledger, as to the time for holding the Democratic State Convention. The old and honored days of the eighth of June are past, and we hope the agitation about the reconstruction acts, ratify the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution, and give protection to life and property in Mississippi."

It is the universal testimony of all who have been in the South recently that protection of life and property in that section of the country is fully equal to any other, and the election in Virginia furnishes ample evidence that "professions of loyalty" will be carried out in good faith. Now, if the President means what he says, there is no question but he will have the intelligence and influence of the South generally in the support of his administration. But BOUTWELL and CARSWELL place a different construction upon his administration than is attributed to the President. The election of WALKER in Virginia was considered a triumph of the ideas and policy of the President, while BOUTWELL looks upon the success of that wing of the Republican party as a Radical defeat. The ideas that triumphed in Virginia will not doubt be successful in the election of SENATOR in Tennessee, but BOUTWELL and CARSWELL, so far as they can, are throwing the influence of the Administration in favor of STOKES. The predecessors of General Grant would not have permitted this interference, but he seems more intent upon a first dinner than the unity and success of his administration.

The President expressed some more ideas. The telegraph reports him as saying, at the convention referred to, "that he intended to take up the subject of the 16th debt, and the integrity and honor of the nation rendered it inevitable, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."

If the President would direct his attention to the circumstances attending the creation of the debt, its contraction in a depreciated currency, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."

THE TOTAL ECLIPSE.

What we may Expect to See.

Observations of Former Eclipses.

Highly Interesting Particulars.

A view of a total eclipse of the sun—one of the most interesting and startling phenomena in nature—is something not often vouchsafed to us. Very few now living in this part of the world have ever seen one, and it is not probable that many of us will ever see another. Their appearance in the same locality is exceedingly rare. No total eclipse was seen in London from 1160 to 1724, a period of five hundred and seventy-five years. There was only one seen in Paris in the eighteenth century, and there will be no more till the close of the nineteenth, a period of about one hundred and seventy-five years.

The eclipse which is to take place on Saturday, the 7th of August, will be total nearly the entire breadth of Southern Indiana, its western limit being a little beyond Evansville, and its eastern near Lawrenceburg.

The following are some of the principal places in the State, with the hour and minute at which the eclipse will be visible; Wabash River, twenty miles north of Vincennes, 5:10; Washington, 6:12; Corydon, 6:17. Either of these points will be the best in this State, to witness the phenomena. The north line of the eclipse is fully twenty miles southwest from this place, was thankfully accepted.

Thankfully accepted. Would any other person have proposed this position to be thus used in the interest of a private speculation? When the five members of the present administration are reviewed, is there not a striking contrast in character, dignity and ability, with the most indifferent of those that have preceded it? If we may be fortunate, providential perhaps, that in the present condition of affairs, we have a chief magistrate who consults his ease rather than assume ease and trouble by intermeddling with, or attempting to shape, public affairs. With the let alone policy of the President, if policy is to be termed, the country may right itself, as it seems to be doing by the indications in Virginia. How different would it be if a narrow partisan, industries in mischievous, like BOUTWELL, was in the place of GRANT. The revolution has commenced, and the country should be thankful that the chief magistrate will yield to the current of events, of according to reason and that the outburst, which is bound to come, will be peaceful.

The Great Exhibition of Textile Fabrics.

The Cincinnati papers of yesterday have lengthy reports of the origin and history of the Exposition of textile fabrics, which was opened yesterday with imposing ceremonies.

The exhibition is held under the auspices of the Wool Growers and Wool Manufacturers' Association of the Northwest. This was formed in Chicago, on the 15th day of January, 1888, and on the 4th, 5th and 6th day of August, held its first exposition in the city of Chicago. Though an experiment, this turned out to be a complete success, the display greatly exceeding the expectations of the most sanguine.

When the place of holding the Exposition of this year was to be determined, a delegation of merchants from Cincinnati

Chicago, and was successful, as it was held at that place, in inducing the association to select the products of the r

er, the fair will be to-day

and to-morrow. The arrangements to-day will be complete in the rooms set apart for the display of the textile fabrics, while the machinery by that time will all be in running order. The visitors will not only be permitted to see the goods, but will also have the pleasure of witnessing the improved machinery by which they are now produced. A banquet will be given to the contributors and invited guests to-morrow evening. Up to Monday night there were 973 entries, and more were added to the list yesterday. The entries were from the States of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, South Carolina, Alabama, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Mississippi, Iowa, Michigan, Wisconsin, and included various descriptions of woolen and cotton goods, and samples of wool. The following establishments in Indiana had samples and specimens on exhibition: Lawrenceburg Woolen Manufacturing Company, Rising Sun woolen factory; Seymour woolen mills; Wabash woolen mills, Terre Haute; Mecca mills, Parkersburg; Vandy knitting mills; John Bruce, Edinburgh; Richmond woolen mills; Peru woolen mills, and BANNY BENDY, Wheeling, Spanish Merino wool.

This exhibition is of great importance to the West and the South, and although only a portion of the cotton and wool factories are represented, enough appear to show that manufacturing is not only a large interest and on the increase in these sections, but that the goods manufactured are of the best grades, and equal in quality and style to the manufacturers of the oldest establishments of the East.

The Next Democratic State Convention.

The New Albany Ledger in the discussion of some topics local to the Second District, says the following:

"The State Convention will probably be held in June or July, it being now generally conceded that the eighth of June will be the date. We hope the prospective candidates for offices, State or Congressional, will not be begun for some time.

"We cannot endorse the views of the Ledger, as to the time for holding the Democratic State Convention. The old and honored days of the eighth of June are past, and we hope the agitation about the reconstruction acts, ratify the fifteenth amendment to the Constitution, and give protection to life and property in Mississippi."

It is the universal testimony of all who have been in the South recently that protection of life and property in that section of the country is fully equal to any other, and the election in Virginia furnishes ample evidence that "professions of loyalty" will be carried out in good faith. Now, if the President means what he says, there is no question but he will have the intelligence and influence of the South generally in the support of his administration. But BOUTWELL and CARSWELL place a different construction upon his administration than is attributed to the President. The election of WALKER in Virginia was considered a triumph of the ideas and policy of the President, while BOUTWELL looks upon the success of that wing of the Republican party as a Radical defeat. The ideas that triumphed in Virginia will not doubt be successful in the election of SENATOR in Tennessee, but BOUTWELL and CARSWELL, so far as they can, are throwing the influence of the Administration in favor of STOKES. The predecessors of General Grant would not have permitted this interference, but he seems more intent upon a first dinner than the unity and success of his administration.

The President expressed some more ideas. The telegraph reports him as saying, at the convention referred to, "that he intended to take up the subject of the 16th debt, and the integrity and honor of the nation rendered it inevitable, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."

If the President would direct his attention to the circumstances attending the creation of the debt, its contraction in a depreciated currency, and when this should be accomplished he would be satisfied."</p

DAILY SENTINEL.

Wednesday Morning, August 4.

Two copies of the SENTINEL are sent to every county in the State for the use of the public. They are addressed to the county officers.

CITY NEWS.

The hotels look desolate and deserted. Peaches and plums are now abundant in the market.

Pickpockets are operating freely, look out for them.

Who can pitch on another site for the new City Prison?

Business in all the State and county offices is sleepingly dull.

Several recruits for the Cuban army left this city on Monday.

The colored population had a grand dress parade and picnic yesterday.

A lot of very fine watermelons were brought to market yesterday.

New wheat is still pouring into the market, and has advanced to $1.15.

Whooping cough is prevailing to quite an extent among the children of the city.

Governor Baker has returned from his home trip, looking in fine health and spirits.

The Trade Palace robbers have been arrested, and the stolen property recovered.

The interior of the Fourth Presbyterian Church is undergoing a thorough reconstruction.

Stringtown enjoyed another first class free gift before last, and no reporters were on hand.

Sarah Brewster was yesterday appointed administrator of the estate of John H. Brewster, deceased.

A speaking likeness of Governor Joseph A. Wright is now being painted by Mr. Jacob Cox, for the State.

The weather has been sweltering warm for several days past, the thermometer ranging at 80° in the shade.

A valuable set of single horses was stolen from Ike Davis' stable a few nights ago. Stable thieves are increasing.

Articles of Association were yesterday filed with the Secretary of State, for the Indiana Surgical Institute, of this city.

The Emmett Guards will picnic at Rushville to-day. Trains will leave the Union Depot at half-past seven o'clock A. M.

Mayor Macauley left for Buffalo, New York, his native health, last evening, where he will rusticate during the present month.

The great eclipse is the all absorbing topic of conversation among all classes. It is the best advertised exhibition of this age.

We understand that bees are biting ravenously at Broad Ripple. There is some talk of getting up an eclipse excursion to that point.

Old wheat held last year at $1.00 per bushel, is now pouring into the market, and goes begging at $1.10. Better board money than grain.

The elite of the colored population of the city, filling five coaches, enjoyed a picnic excursion to Arcadia, on the Penn railroad, yesterday.

A party of very scientific young men, of this city, will go up in a balloon on Saturday to survey the eclipse, and sail around the moon.

Trains arriving and departing are filled with passengers. Travel is unusually brisk, but we notice very few stopping over at this point.

JUSTICES COURTS.—Catherine Gray was tried before Esquire Curtis on a charge of assault and battery, found guilty, and fined one cent, with costs $12.50.

It is said that one of our prominent "three ball merchants" got badly bitten, a few days ago, by an itinerant "Peter Funk," who was in the "ring" business.

It is urged by some that a liquor inspector badly needed. It is not true, however, that the Cincinnati garbage whisky has been introduced in this city.

New freight have been reduced to forty-five cents per hundred pounds, on account of the heavy shipments of grain, and empty cars returning.

We are soon to have a special detective police for the exclusive "benefit" of burglar and the light-fingered gent who are operating so freely in this locality.

A number of towns in the State are claiming a total exhibition of the great eclipse. We are pretty well satisfied that the eclipse will be partial to our sky gazing.

We are pained to learn that T. J. Conn, Esq., of Louisville, who was on a visit to our city last week, is now lying dangerously ill at his home in Louisville, Kentucky.

The Chicago excursion made a heavy draft on the wallets of the sporting fraternity, and some of them are trying to raise the wind for the Martinsville trip on Saturday.

Mr. W. R. Henderson, one of our most promising young lawyers, left on Monday for Austin, Texas, where he will permanently locate, and enter on the practice of his profession.

It has been suggested that Beedle's Dime Novels would be about as cheap as any books that could be bought for public school purposes, and they would be popular with the youngsters.

From what we can understand the dog pound is about to go into bankruptcy, and the boys are left with a surplus stock of dogs on hand, which they are ready to dispose of at unusually low prices.

H. Speckman, for removing cigars from the manufacturer without paying the special tax, has been fined in the sum of $600, which is considered low, as it was his first offence. "How is that for low?"

The Board of Commissioners were to have met at the House of Refuge yesterday, but postponed the meeting on account of the death of a child of Mr. Ainsworth, the Superintendent of the Institution.

A lady who arrived here yesterday on the Beloitine Railroad, discovered that she was minus a pocket book containing the sum total of her finances, together with a through ticket to her home on the Mississippi.

An old dog which had been "gobbled" several times by the juvenile "trappers," yesterday walked around to the dog-pound of his own accord, and surrendered himself, thus bating the enemy out of twenty-five cents.

THE NEW COURT HOUSE.

Plan of the Building.

M. A. Hodgeson, who was appointed architect for the proposed new Court House, for this county, submitted his plans and drawings to the Board of Commissioners, yesterday, for their approval. The drawings present a building 275 feet in length—formed by a center building 75 feet front by 130 feet deep, with two equal wings, each 101 feet front by 104 feet deep—three stories in height, over raised basement, surmounted by a half story formed by a Mansard roof. The architecture is of the Renaissance style, and presents a very handsome appearance; the center building being surmounted by a dome, the top of which is 200 feet from the ground, with a pavilion on either extremity of the wings. The height of the main cornice of the center is 81 feet and that of the wings 56 feet.

The plans of the interior exhibit various rooms in the first floor, suitably arranged for the use of the different county officers, flanking the main hall. The main hall is 30 feet wide by 160 in length, and is approached from three entrances—one from the center, another from the west, and a third from the east. The main room on this floor is 21 by 85 feet, and the largest 22 by 45 feet. The second floor contains five large court rooms, with hall and cloak room, and an office for the use of the Judge, convenient to each grand jury room, several rooms for the convenience of witnesses, and one for a law library. Each of the court rooms are carried to the full height of the third floor, with galleries forming a mezzanine in each. On the third floor, in addition to the space occupied by the court rooms, there are space rooms and a room for the use of the janitor.

The plans describe the building as being set back eighty-five feet from, and fronting Washington street, with the wings extending east and west. Plans were also presented for a new jail and sheriff's residence, to front on Market street, covering a space one hundred and fifty-five by fifty feet, directly in the rear of the center building and connected with it by an underground passage. These plans reflect great credit upon the architect, and will doubtless be accepted by the Commissioners with few, if any, modifications.

A COUNTRYMAN SURPRISED BY AN INDIAN.—Thomas C. Swan came in from the country, yesterday, in a one-horse carriage, and after driving about town awhile, feeling somewhat drowsy, hit his horse and lay down to pleasant dreams in the yard of a gentleman living on North Alabama street, near the market space. He was aroused from his slumber in a very preposterous manner by an Indian employed about the place, who ordered him off the premises. Springing to his feet and fled only to fall into the clutches of Officer Aldrich, who marched him off to jail. The horse and vehicle were afterwards taken in charge by the same officer and put up at Gads' livery stable. The countryman had in his sleep been dreaming of a trip over the Pacific road, and upon being aroused by the gentle savage, his first impulse was to fight for his life and scalp.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and the men and uniforms for the company involve quite an outlay. To-day they have a picnic at Rushville with their friends, and we sincerely commend our gallant young friends to the good graces and favor of the kind people of Rushville. The real object of the picnic to-day is to aid in equipping the Emmett Guards, and we hope that the young men will still be partial to this social gathering. The "boys" appear for the first time in their uniform of light blue pants, dark blue vest and jacket, with green regulation caps, trimmed with gold tape. It is a uniform both neat and pretty, and speaks well for their good taste. We feel proud of the Emmett Guards, and our very best wishes go with them for a happy and glorious picnic at Rushville on this their facility.

BOOK NOTICES.

THE EMMETT GUARDS.—The fine company, which has recently been organized in our city, is composed of the very best class of young Indians, natives of the Emerald Isle, and of Irish extraction. The young men have thus far had a good deal of expense to shoulder, as it is altogether a private enterprise, and