

SUPREME COURT MEETS FOR ITS YEAR'S WORK

Swear in McReynolds and Pay Visit to President Wilson, According to Custom.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—The supreme court convened today according to law for its year's work, with 652 cases ready for consideration or nearly $5 less than last year. Every member of the tribunal was in the city and ready to take his place on the bench. Two features distinguished the court's labor for the day. One was the swearing in as an associate justice of James C. McReynolds, who when the court adjourned last June, faced the tribunal as attorney-general. He succeeds the late Justice Lurton. The other business of the day was a formal call by the court on President Wilson in conformity with a custom established years ago for the head of the judicial branch of the government to pay its respects to the head of the executive.

Justice McReynolds had already taken the oath to support the constitution, but the oath to administer justice alike to all was postponed until today. The former oath is usually subscribed to in private but the latter hearing the solemn obligation to administer justice "without respect to persons and to do equal right to the poor and to the rich" has without exception in late years been taken in open court.

Despite the fact that lawyers knew no motions would be received and no arguments heard during the day, many crowded the little court to witness the ceremonies.

GERMANS LOSE 45,000

LONDON, Oct. 12.—10:25 a. m.—"It is stated that the Germans lost 45,000 men during the attack on fortresses Waelhem and Ypres at Catterin at Antwerp," says a Central News dispatch from Amsterdam.

HUNGRY SAILORS REACH PORT.

Subsist Mainly On Beans After Being Driven Off Course.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Thirty hungry sailors, who experienced a close call to starvation on the sea, reached New York today aboard the schooner Alice Lord, long overdue from St. Martins in the Danish West Indies. The little vessel had been driven by a hurricane nearly 1,000 miles from her course. For five days the only daily ration her sailors had was a plate of bean soup and two or three pancakes apiece. The Alice Lord sailed from St. Martins 35 days ago with a cargo of salt. She was short of provisions when she put into port there. St. Martins was short too and all the captain could buy was beans. Of these he purchased nearly 1,000 miles from her course. For five days the only daily ration her sailors had was a plate of bean soup and two or three pancakes apiece. BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets Are a Harmless Substitute.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. They are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. His efforts to banish it brought out these little olive-colored tablets.

These pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids.

It is best not to take calomel, but to let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Most headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." Note how they "clear" clouded brain and how they "perk up" the spirits. At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

GIRLS! GIRLS! YOU MUST TRY THIS! DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR

For 25 Cents You Can Make Your Hair Lustrous, Fluffy, and Abundant.

Immediate?—Yes! Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil, and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair. A delightful surprise awaits those whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair, growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

Raymond Hitchcock never had a better night in Terre Haute than he gave last night in "The Beauty Shop."

Such is the consensus of opinion of local theater-goers, who have seen all of his productions at the Grand.

Certainly, Mr. Hitchcock never was fiercer to me than he was at the Grand last night.

And by the same token Mr. Hitchcock played to more money than he ever did before in Terre Haute today before the curtain went up, the lower floor and balcony seats were disposed of early in the evening.

Mr. Hitchcock's engagement was in the theater when he was only a child. He learned on his arrival from Louisville that a "sell out" was in sight. Sunday night has not been Mr. Hitchcock's best night, according to his own admission. He isn't particularly anxious to play on Sunday, especially in cities he visits only once.

Mr. Hitchcock had not played here in four years and theater-goers sometimes resent neglect. Manager Smith had made motion picture fans out of most of the regular patrons of his theater by giving them Vitaphone and Lubin feature productions right off Broadway for ten cents.

The wide ones were saying "Hitchy" wouldn't have his usual capacity house—not on a Sunday night, with money tight, and the sun shining so bright. In view of the conditions and the pessimistic prognostications and the prospects of non-theater-going weather, it was a pitying, indeed, to see that magnificent audience. It was a vote of confidence in Mr. Hitchcock and his manager, indeed, to see that magnificent audience. It was a vote of confidence in Mr. Hitchcock and his manager, indeed, to see that magnificent audience.

And now, after this bit of felicitating, let us proceed with the story. "The Beauty Shop" is the story of a woman who keeps "house" for a man who is a famous actor. The story is told in a series of scenes, each of which is a masterpiece of acting. The story is told in a series of scenes, each of which is a masterpiece of acting.

The story centers around Dr. Budd, a famous doctor, who leaves a horde of creditors in New York to pick up a legacy in Corolla, and discovers there that the result is a smart and speedy entertainment, with nary a halt in the merriment. The only breathing spells are those of the doctor, who is seen in some of his best scenes. Earl Benham, a good looking young fellow who used to black up in minstrel shows, is the juvenile lead. He is a sprightly dancer and sings well. Joseph Herbert, Jr., demonstrates that it is quite possible for a historic talent to pass along from sire to son. The dancing numbers were staged by James Gorman, who has originated more terpsichorean novelties than any man of his time. Mr. Gorman was on the stage of the Grand last night too. Mr. Gorman, the composer, was in the pit directing the special orchestra. It was a big city production, and it was a big city production. It was a big city production, and it was a big city production.

His funniest scenes are with the well named Marion Sunshine—for she lights up every stage picture she appears in. Mrs. Sunshine represents a Spanish dancer. With Hitchcock she figures in a burlesque on the tango that is indescribably funny. Christine Mangasarian, Mr. Hitchcock's sister-in-law, and Ann Orr are sprightly ensembles. Gertrude Webster, who first appeared with a Catherine Rowe Palmer make-up and later discloses her own comely features, was a capital feeder to Mr. Hitchcock in some of his best scenes. Earl Benham, a good looking young fellow who used to black up in minstrel shows, is the juvenile lead. He is a sprightly dancer and sings well. Joseph Herbert, Jr., demonstrates that it is quite possible for a historic talent to pass along from sire to son. A MEDICINE OF MERIT

A proprietary medicine, like everything else that comes before the public, has to prove its merits. The law of the survival of the fittest applies in this field as in others. The reason for the tremendous success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is because it has been fulfilling a real human need for forty years, so that today thousands of American women owe their health and happiness to the marvelous power of this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs—nature's remedy for woman's ills.

a comedy juggling act, are the entertainers on the new bill at the Varieties opening this afternoon.

During the world's series of baseball games the regular motion picture program at the Grand will begin immediately after the game is played on the electric score board, usually about three o'clock.

"The Only Son," the Jesse L. Lasky film production of Winchell Smith's play, will be shown at the Grand today and tomorrow. Thomas W. Ross, who played the leading part in the original production, is also the star in the film version. "The Only Son" is by the author of "The Fortune Hunter" and "Brewster's Millions," both of which have been successful films. The Lasky company is going in for motion pictures in a big way, having arranged to produce Belasco, Liebler and Cohen and Harris plays.

John Philip Sousa is making a whirlwind tour of the country with his band, giving two performances a day, frequently in two cities. It has been a rather strenuous year for the march king. His band was one of the features of the Lamb's gambol. And the Lamb's covered a lot of territory during their brief tour. For instance, they played in Indianapolis one afternoon, in Cincinnati the next, and continued to make two cities a day during the greater part of the swing around the circle. Sousa will give one concert at the Grand, next Saturday night.

"The Price of Crime," a three reel Albequerque feature, with Dot Farley in the leading role, will be shown at the Savoy tomorrow. This picture is one of the film sensations of the year. The Strand war pictures will also be shown tomorrow.

William Farnum fell off a horse while rehearsing for a motion picture production of "The Battle Cry" at Fort Lee and broke his arm. An X-ray examination revealed a very serious fracture.

German authors and composers are feeling the effects of the war. English managers have been admonished not to pay Germany for the use of their plays. There's a ban on everything German in London and it is considered criminal to play the music of Wagner, Mozart or Mendelssohn in theaters. Even American performers with Teutonic names have been barred from the music halls.

ENGLAND IS ONLY WARRING NATION BUYING MUCH GRAIN

Grain Dealers' Association Reports That Other Belligerents Are Below General Per Cent.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 12.—England alone, of the belligerent European powers, is buying grain normally, according to delegates to the eighteenth annual congress of the Grain Dealers' National association which convened here today. Nearly 1,000 delegates representing export and commission firms and country dealers are in attendance.

The grain trade to England was entirely normal, the dealers asserted, but France was buying now only about ten per cent of its usual amount. Germany and Austria, they said, were purchasing nothing. The dealers pointed out that Italy, Spain and Portugal, which ordinarily do not buy American grain until January, were now buying heavily. Russia, it was declared, never had obtained grain from this country and was not doing so now.

SUES JUDGE WHO SENTENCED HIM ON CONTEMPT CHARGES.

Man Who Spent Thirty Days in Jail Asks $25,000 Damages From Kenesaw Landis.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Suit for $25,000 damages, filed against United States Judge Kenesaw Landis on Saturday, it became known today, is the result of thirty days spent in jail by Frank Blackledge on a contempt charge provoked by the federal judge.

If the suit is pressed to trial, it will be the first time in local history, it was said, that a United States judge was sued for damages as a result of one of his decisions.

Blackledge became involved in a bankruptcy suit and Judge Landis accused him of perjury. He based his claim for damages on alleged impairment of his health due to his stay in jail, loss of his position and $2,400 which it is alleged was involved in the bankruptcy proceedings.

DRY FARMERS IN SESSION.

Annual International Congress Opens in Wichita, Kan.

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 12.—With a parade headed by Governor Hodges, of Kansas, executives of other western states and a battalion of the Kansas national guard, the ninth international dry farming congress convened here today.

In the sessions, which will last four days, marketing and rural credits, livestock, dairying and silos, crops and soils and all connected topics will be discussed in their relation to the less humid climates.

ANTWERP DAMAGE SLIGHT.

Correspondent Says Suburb of Berchom Suffered Most.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—3:35 a. m.—"Antwerp was not seriously damaged by the German bombardment," says the Chronicle's Amsterdam correspondent. "Only the suburb of Berchom and the southeast quarter of the town suffered badly. The Germans continued to shell Antwerp long after their evacuation. They feared that many mines had been planted to blow them up and hoped to dispose of the danger in this manner."

The Awakening of Peggy

PEGGY STILL A RUMOR AND MAKES AN ENGAGEMENT.

WHEN Peggy took her place on the dance floor, she found herself unconsciously looking about to see if Patty Smith and Parker Conroy had arrived. And as she whirled through the first dance with Bill Burbank, her thoughts were not at all on what Bill was saying. When the looked-for couple arrived, Peggy was quite aware of a jealous pang as she observed how well Patty looked, and how interested her partner seemed to be in her. Peggy's abstraction and her dampened spirits did not escape Bill, who partly realized how effectual he was. When a girl is feeling the blight that affected Peggy, the young man of the moment is only a cross to her.

any. After what I'd heard, though, I didn't expect to see you here tonight. But somebody would have me believe that you had turned your back on all worldly pleasures."

"Not I," Peggy assured him. "That would be a waste not for a girl of my years, wouldn't it? How could such a thing be? I'm just as lively as ever."

"I suppose," replied Conroy, "that somebody has been jumping at conclusions since you began working in your father's office."

"Well, you can help me by telling people that I'm just as alive as ever. I like my good times just as well as anyone else."

"Since we met on the street one day just after we had both quit work," Conroy said during the pause before the encore, "I've been thinking quite a bit about what you said about serious purposes and the like. You'd make a hit with my father. He says the girls of nowadays are all butterflies, and perhaps he'd like to know of an exception. I'd like to call round some evening, if you don't mind, and get better acquainted. May I?"

After a show of some consideration, Peggy said that she would be glad to see him the following Monday evening.

A FAMOUS WHITTAKER.

Mr. F. W. Foster, of Waterbury, Conn., has whittled with his ears, and two he is said to have whittled the off leg of the dining room table, and thus laid the foundation of his future hobby. When table legs began to give out, his father bought him a harmless little whittling set—not so much to encourage him in his art as to save the rest of the household furniture. After whittling most of his fingers, young Foster settled down to real work and began to turn out some really remarkable carvings. He whittled while at school, and thereby attracted the attention of his teachers, who were not always in sympathy with him. When he left school he still continued to whittle, and in fact, he has been whittling, on and off ever since.

In his home at Waterbury, Mr. Foster has dozens of wonderful models among them being a cabbage-board which contains no fewer than twenty-five hundred pieces of wood, so marvelously put together that it is difficult, without the aid of a microscope, to find the joinings. You will also see a locomotive and an old-fashioned square-rigged whaling ship. The latter apparently fast in the ice and surrounded by polar bears, all waiting to take a bite at the crew as soon as they show their faces. Then there is the battleship Maine, with fifty-five sailors drawn up on deck, each far being exactly one-and-a-quarter inches tall. Many other models of a minor importance, as Mr. Foster modestly puts it, are to be seen, but these are far too numerous to describe.—September Strand.
