

EXPERTS CALL DEVICE A BOMB

"Because we were due at Ninth and Wabash avenue at that time."
"How long did you stop near the plant?"
"About a minute."
"What made you stop so long?"
"There was a car ahead of us."
"What did you stop there so long for?"
"To allow the conductor to cross the tracks."
"Who was the conductor?"
"David Skean."
"Then it was while you were waiting for the conductor to signal you that you saw this fight?"
"Yes."
"What started it?"
"A man and a woman came out and a girl stepped up and started to scratch the man."
"Then the man that got shot elbowed his way through the crowd and said something to this man that was fighting the girls, didn't he?"
"Describe how this man was dressed."
"He had on overalls and his shirt sleeves were rolled up. He had on gauntlet gloves."
"He had the gloves on?"
"Yes."
"What was the man in the vestibule doing at the time you saw this man elbow his way through the crowd?"
"Just standing there."
"How close was the man that elbowed his way through the crowd from Mr. Ehrmann?"
"Within striking distance."
"Was he to the east of Mr. Ehrmann?"
"He was north."
"Where were the man and woman who were fighting?"
"At the doorway."
"How close to them was this man that got shot?"
"About two feet."
"How far was Mr. Ehrmann from Cora Donham and Max Howard?"
"About three feet."
Saw Wade Strike.
"How did this man strike Mr. Ehrmann?"
"Well, he struck once and was in the act of striking again when he was shot."
"Did he hit him?"
"I couldn't tell."
Here the "bill," which has been introduced as the defendant's exhibit was presented the witness, and Attorney Whitlock asked:
"Did you see this in his hand?"
"No; I didn't see it."
"How did Mr. Ehrmann hold the gun when he shot?"
"Like this," said the witness, holding his right hand close to his body and his elbow back.
"When did you first talk about this case to any of the defendant's attorneys?"
"About three weeks after the shooting in the traction office."
Whitlock then excused the witness, and Mr. Wallace asked on re-direct examination:
"Did Wade have on gloves when he struck Ehrmann?"
"Not on his right hand. He took his glove off while elbowing his way through the crowd." He then was excused.
Talked to Wade.
J. E. Morton, a motorman on a St. Mary-of-the-Woods car, was called to the stand. The defense endeavored to show that Wade had asked a man named Webster and him to go down to the Ehrmann plant and see the "fun."
"What was it he said?" Attorney Hickey asked.
"He said, 'let's go down and see the girls and have some fun.'"
"Which way did Wade go then?"
"He left and went east toward the factory."
"Did you hear any conversation of the striking girls prior to the shooting?"
"Yes, I heard some of them make remarks."
Charles Whitlock then took the witness. He asked:
"How long have you been a motorman?"
"Sixteen years."
"Who is this man Webster?"
"He's a teamster."

DRUGS EXCITE YOUR KIDNEYS, USE SALTS

If Your Back is Aching or Bladder bothers, Drink Lots of Water and Eat Less Meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. Famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot irritate; makes a delightful effervescent glass-water drink which everyone could take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, so keep up the water drinking, and doubt you will wonder what became your kidney trouble and backache.

GRANDMA USED SAGE
TEA TO DARKEN HAIR

She Made Up a Mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to Bring Back Color, Gloss, Thickness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant, remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, gray or dry, scraggly and thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss. While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur no one can tell because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

"Was there anything said about Emil Ehrmann in this conversation at Ninth and Wabash?"
"No."
"Was there anything said about Mr. Reckert?"
"No."
"Was there anything said about Howard?"
"No."
"You weren't invited to go there and do anything, were you?"
"I was invited to go along."
"Was there anything else said there besides, 'Let's go down and see the girls having fun'?"
"No."
"Have you ever acted as a traction company spotter?"
"No."
The witness was excused.

CROWDS ATTEND TRIAL.

People Go to Rockville to Attend Court Sessions.

By Special Correspondent.
ROCKVILLE, Ind., Oct. 15.—Although Rockville can ordinarily care for a crowd quite comfortably with its hotel accommodations, the crowd that has been brought to the county seat by the Ehrmann trial has packed the hotels to capacity. In the lobby of the Parker hotel the other night, Charles Whitlock, one of the attorneys for the state, and Carson Hamill, an attorney for the defendant, were playing cards while Judge Barton S. Aikman looked on. Emil Ehrmann, the defendant, walked into the lobby and watched the game for a minute and some one remarked: Get the jury and we'll have a night session. Interest in the Ehrmann trial among the women has gone somewhat above par this week. Almost every afternoon the court room has been crowded with women. Rockville will be amply entertained this week with the coming of a carnival and farmers' festival which opens a three days' engagement on Thursday. A parade of floats will be given Saturday under the direction of the business men of the town.

VICKERS SPURNED HELP.

Drowning Man Refused Assistance Offered Him.

Further evidence that the drowning of Raymond Vickers in a gravel pit near West Terre Haute, Tuesday morning, was deliberate, was obtained Thursday by Coroner Jett in the story told by Fern Passenau, a young man who was visiting in West Terre Haute and witnessed the drowning. According to Passenau, he was walking along the edge of the gravel pit at the time Vickers walked into it. He said he ran quickly to the spot and waded into the water with a long stick in his hands that he extended toward Vickers. He begged the drowning man to grasp the stick, but Vickers paid no heed to him. Passenau said he could have reached Vickers, but was afraid to go out any farther for fear that the drowning man would drag him under.

A Mean Trick.
"Let me plow this field."
"Thanks."
"I'm canvassing this district for congress," said the willing worker, after finishing the field. "Do you own this fine farm?"
"Oh, no," replied the other man. "I'm the candidate on the other ticket. The farmer has gone to town, but I assured him the field would be plowed by the time he got back."—Detroit Free Press.

FARM FOR THE IMMIGRANT.
Speaker Says Food Demand Will Force Law to Put Them There.
WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 15.—That the time may come when the United States government will be obliged to force all immigrants to the farms by law, in order to balance the scale in the relation to population to food supply, was the assertion made before the international dry farming congress here today by Dr. E. Dana Durand, professor of economics in the University of Wisconsin.
"The question of feeding our millions of people is an old one in the United States," he said, "but little by little it has become a more pertinent one, until now it has reached an alarming stage."
Hope for early legislation for rural credits, criticism of banks for alleged unwillingness to make ample loans to farmers and pleas for more stock raising in connection with dry farming were expressed by other speakers.
