BOYS' CLUB ACTIVITIES.

Work and Play Keep Lads Busy During Week.

Work and play at the Flora Gulick Boys' club made that place a busy establishment during the past week. The educational classes are being well attended, 212 boys having been in the classes during the two weeks that they have been open. Twenty new members from Taylorville were taken into the club during the week, making the total enrollment 270. Saturday afternoon the boys took a hike into the country under the direction of Assistant Superintendent Raymond Miller. Lunch was eaten out in the open, and the boys returned to the city in the evening, tired but happy. These hikes will be weekly features as long as the weather will permit. Mrs. I. D. Preston presented the club with two oil stoves recently, and Mrs. Valentine gave them a number of games.

COON HUNT INVITES OUT.

Annual Chase At Black's Rifle Sanitarium to Be Given Oct. 24.

Invitations were issued Saturday for the ninth annual coon hunt at Black's Rifle Sanitarium on the Wabash river north of the city on the Clinton road, October 24, said notices being issued from the private office of William H. Johnson, chief coon hunter, and countersigned by Hal H. Dronberger, as secretary to the chief. For several years these coon hunts have been a feature of the coming of fall, and always they have been an occasion of enjoyment to those given the opportunity of participating. This year the coon hunt is to be given added features, and when those invited assemble at the Elks' club house to start they are likely to be given thrills which will be new to those that have heretofore had in connection with the annual coon hunt.

MANY SEEK MINE OFFICES.

Nominations Pour In on Secretary Charles Fox.

Nominations for the various offices elective in the eleventh district of the United Mine Workers of America have been pouring into the district office within the last few days, and Charles Fox, the secretary-treasurer, has been swamped. So far there have been nine men nominated for president, twelve for vice-president, six for secretary, and more than a hundred for district tellers and auditors. It is required that the nominees consent to their name appearing on the ballot before the ballots are printed. The list of the nominees will be given out October 25, when the nomination blanks are required to be in the hands of the district officers. Practically all of the present district officers have been nominated, Mr. Fox said.

Scusa's Band Here

Not by Mique O'Brien). Mique O'Brien was away Saturday, and he told me to "cover" Sousa's band. Next to attending a watermelon feast, I don't know anything I'd rather do than "cover" Sousa's band. Did you ever hear how Sousa got his name. His name originally was Giuseppe Philippos. He played in the Ninth regiment band, New York. In the army his name was too long for the captain to spell, and he told him to change it. Giuseppe Philippos was in the U. S. A. (army), and he just changed his name to John Philip Sousa, the U. S. A. being part of his name anyway. He first learned to play a cornet in Woolwich, Mass., taking up the cornet in opposition to a parlor organ on the floor below. Sousa won out and won a good deal of fame. Well, last night he pleased what crowd was there. The umph-pah-pah of the trombones and blaw-blow of basses made the windows rattle, and when they cut into the "Stars and Stripes" it made one feel like going to Mexico to fight. They played also some pieces from Liszt, Puccini, von Beethoven, and some other Irish composers, and then a few selections by Irving Berlin and Harry Von Tilzer, and some other Swedish composers. Then we had a few classics like "Get Out and Get Under" and "The Musical Mokes." Sousa's all right, but Creator gives you more for your money. I think Creator playing "St. Vitus Dance" is one of the best band selections I ever seen. Mique's Sub.

U. C. T. PLANS SOCIAL EVENTS.

Appoints Committee to Arrange for Dance and Entertainment.

The Terre Haute Council of the United Commercial Travelers held a large and enthusiastic meeting Saturday evening in the rooms at the Pythian temple. Harry O. Moline was initiated into the organization, and the transfer of W. G. Hadlock was received.

An entertainment committee was appointed during the evening and is making plans for a dance to be held Saturday evening, Oct. 31. This will be the first entertainment under the auspices of the new committee. Plans are also being made for the semi-annual dance which will be held sometime before Christmas.
