PRISONER TALKS AFTER SILENCE OF MANY DAYS.

Man Who Refused to Eat Restored to Appetite and Reason and Talks Freely to Sheriff Shirer.

The pint of milk which the jail physician and the sheriff and his aids succeeded in putting down the throat of the silent prisoner at the county jail, seems to have served not only as an appetizer but as a tongue lubricant as well. This Friday morning he was both hungry and talkative and seemed to be restored to normal reasoning. He told the sheriff that his name was W. H. Kearney, that he was a railroader and that his father resides at 210 Franklin street, Buffalo, N. Y. He states that he had been working in St. Paul, Minn., but went out during the strike there several months ago and had not worked since that time. He says that he went to Chicago, fell in with bad company, got to drinking and thinks he was doped. How he got out of Chicago and over near Goodland he does not know. He has eaten a square meal every time it was set before him since the milk was piped into him.

He asked if there was any charge filed against him and the sheriff said there was nothing except an application from Newton county to have him sent to an asylum.

He seemed to be perfectly reconciled at the jail and is not anxious to be released. He asked for a pipe and some tobacco at noon and apparently intends to enjoy life in his narrow quarters as well as he can.

The smooth, soft palms of his hands would discredit his railroading story and it is possible that he has been engaged in some life that he does not care to have made public. The sheriff surmises that his prisoner is a dope fiend. He told the sheriff that he found some opium in his vest pocket and did not know how it got there. It looks a great deal like a case of bad drunk and a lot of self-administered dope. He says the indentation over his eye was caused by an operation for the removal of an ulcer above the eye.

Sheriff Shirer expects to call Sheriff Sawyer, of Kentland, this evening and inform him of the progress his insane prisoner has made. It is probable that authority will then be given to release him.

Modern Woodmen of America Refuse to Settle Sayler Claim.

Watseka Times-Democrat. The claim of Golda Sayler for death benefits because of the murder of her father, John Byron Sayler, has been turned down by the Modern Woodmen of America. Notice to this effect was received by Golda last week in a brief letter from the fraternal organization, saying that "it didn't owe her anything."

After receiving the letter she sent it to Peoria to her uncle, Peter Weast. He decided to make a fight for the girl to collect the insurance money and sent the letter to Attorneys Morris and Kern at Watseka.

The refusal to pay Golda's claim was not in accordance with the recommendation of Attorney F. M. Crangle, who represented the Modern Woodmen organization, to pay $1,000 to Golda, but to deny the payment of the other half of the insurance, an additional $1,000 on the theory that it was the share of Mrs. Sayler. It was held by the company that her conviction released the company from the payment of half of the insurance on the theory that this was her share and she was not entitled to it because she contributed in the killing of her husband.

It is said in defense of the fraternal insurance organization that the refusal to pay Golda was because of her refusal to sign away her rights to the additional $1,000. A suit will doubtless be brought and contested.

Frank B. Posey Named for First District Congressman.

Frank B. Posey, who was the main speaker here at the unveiling of the Mirov monument, and who also spoke in Rensselaer on political day during the home coming in 1907, was nominated at Boonville Thursday by the republicans of the first congressional district as congressman. He had but one man to beat and he withdrew before the voting was completed and Posey's nomination was made unanimous.

WALLACE-HAGENBECK CIRCUS IS COMING TO RENNSSELAER.

First Menagerie and Circus Since Same Show Visited Our City on August 23rd, Three Years Ago.

The big circus is coming.

The Wallace-Hagenbeck show, one of the biggest on the road and popular in Rensselaer, will be here on Saturday, July 30th, and exhibit in the east end of the baseball park.

H. L. Massey, the advance agent, arrived here Wednesday and was piloted about the town by former mayor, J. H. Ellis. He decided that Rensselaer was the place to draw a big crowd and learning that there had been no show here since the visit of his own circus on August 23rd, 1907, he decided that the people in Rensselaer and hereabouts would be sufficiently circus hungry to turn out in great numbers. Mr. Massey states that the Wallace-Hagenbeck show is bigger and better than ever before and is drawing great throngs and delighting them. It is not the same old circus, the kind that when you have seen one, you have seen them all, but during the past three years numerous new features have been added and now the circus is practically all new since the last visit.

The first advertising car and crew will be here Saturday and will spread bills and posters all over Rensselaer and all up and down the line from Monon to Lowell. Another car will follow and bills will be posted at Remington, Wolcott, Goodland and other points.

The show will be in Monticello the day before it comes to Rensselaer and will go from here to Hammond.

Price of Eloquence.

The auctioneer held up a battered fiddle. "What am I offered for this antique violin?" he pathetically inquired. "Look it over. See the blurred finger marks of remorseless time. Note the stains of the hurrying years. To the merry notes of this fine old instrument the brocaded dames of fair France may have danced the minuet in glittering Versailles. Perhaps the vestal virgins marched to its stirring rhythms in the feasts of Lupercalia. Ha, it bears an imbrasion—perhaps a touch of fire. Why, this may have been the fiddle on which Nero played when Rome burned."

"Thirty cents," said a rednosed man in the front row.

"It's yours!" cried the auctioneer cheerfully. "What next?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Baseball is an awful game!" exclaimed Aunt Barbara.

"It is not generally considered so," her niece answered.

"Just listen to this," returned auntie, readjusting her glasses and reading: "Scoby brought two men in, but died himself." Any game that requires such heroism is dreadful!" she commented. Buffalo Express.

Don't think that piles can't be cured. Thousands of obstinate cases have been cured by Doan's Ointment. 50 cents at any drug store.

At Frankfort, Wednesday the seven-months-old babe of Mrs. Oscar Sheets was smothered to death. The babe was taking its afternoon nap on a bed in the spare room. A rain came up and Mrs. Sheets told her 13-year-old daughter to get a feather bed from the clothes line where it had been placed to air. She did so, throwing the tick on the bed where the child lay. An hour later the mother went to look after the child and found that it had smothered to death beneath the feather tick. She was distracted and her loud crying brought neighbors to her side, but the child could not be resuscitated.

Logansport Paper Is Praising the Home.

The Logansport Tribune of Thursday contained the following write-up of the Soldiers' Home:

"The Lafayette Soldiers' Home is making a fine record under the new board of control composed of Messrs. Collett, Rinear, Fulwiler and McCorkle. Since Commandant Haggard assumed charge a few months ago many improvements have been made which add greatly to the comfort and contentment of the members. The grounds, which are of great natural beauty, were never more attractive than now. All shrubbery and underbrush have been cleared away, walks and drives have been given attention and the spacious lawns are well kept.

The home buildings stand upon a bluff more than one hundred feet high and the view in all directions is magnificent. No pleasanter spot can be found in the state and that the advantages of this home are well understood is evident by the big number of applications for admission constantly on file before the board. A feature which appeals with force to all soldiers and their wives is the number of cottages built by various counties, each constructed as a modern dwelling, affording to members the satisfaction of real home life.
