MI-O-NA

Drives Distress from Upset Stomachs In Five Minutes.

MI-o-na stomach tablets not only cure indigestion but build up the entire system and make the weak and frail, strong and vigorous.

They cause the glow of health to appear in the cheeks and make the eyes bright and sparkling. They chase out bad blood and cause pimples and sallow skin to disappear.

MI-o-na stomach tablets are such wonderful stomach invigorators and upbuilders that they are sold under an agreement to return your money if they do not cure indigestion or any other trouble arising from an upset stomach such as biliousness, dizziness, sick headache, loss of appetite, fermentations, nervousness, sleeplessness, nightmare, etc.

"I had stomach trouble, was weak, bloodless and depressed, but MI-O-NA built up my health and made me strong."—Mrs. J. Newton, Bellevue, Mich.

MI-o-na costs only 50 cents a large box at druggists everywhere and at B. F. Fendigs.

Miss Alice Potter, 21 years old, is dead at Vincennes, of injuries sustained Sunday evening when a switch engine struck an automobile, killing Miss Rachael Johnson. Miss Potter would have recovered, although both limbs were amputated, had not acute peritonitis developed from an internal injury.

Diarrhoea is always more or less prevalent during September. Be prepared for it. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is prompt and effectual. It can always be depended upon and is pleasant to take. For sale by all dealers.

That former President Roosevelt would be the insurgent's candidate for president in 1912 was intimated by United States Senator J. P. Dolliver, of Iowa, in the course of an address at Manitowac, Tuesday night, when he spoke in behalf of the re-nomination of Senator R. M. LaFollette in the coming primaries.

Don't forget the Nye Entertainment at the Christian church next Tuesday night.

LEADING EDUCATOR ON STATE TICKET

S. C. Ferrell, for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Fine intelligence, a gracious personality and wholesome comeliness of character are combined in Samuel C. Ferrell, the educator. Mr. Ferrell is strong among teachers and school workers in Indiana, and in his race for superintendent of public instruction, this year, it is predicted that the influence of county superintendents and instructors generally will be thrown in large measure to his cause. Mr. Ferrell's many years as a district school teacher, as a high school teacher and principal, as a city superintendent at Shelbyville, and as a county superintendent in Porter county, fit him to deal with all phases of school work in the state. His own experience—working his way through college, to his A. B. degree, before he was 21 years old—gives him the viewpoint of the aspiring student, and gives him the ability to see the needs and the actualities of the school system. He has all the sympathy of the self-made man for the youth who is struggling upward toward success. Mr. Ferrell already is known widely as a helper of the young. As state superintendent he will widen that reputation in a most practical and beneficent way.

Lyda-Cox Murder Trial Recalled By Death of Starling Cox.

The death of Starling Cox, aged 48, which occurred at a Lafayette hospital last Thursday, recalls the exciting Cox-Lyda murder trial in 1901. A correspondent of the Indianapolis News thus recalls the facts:

William Lyda, a prosperous farmer living near Fowler, died suddenly of poisoning, and suspicion pointed to Cox as the murderer.

Star Cox was an employe on the Lyda farm at the time, and he and Mrs. Lyda were indicted by the Benton county grand jury for murder in the first degree. It was alleged that Cox had won the affections of Mrs. Lyda, and feeling was so high in Benton county after the indictments were returned and the arrests were made that they were spirited away one night and brought to the jail in Lafayette to escape lynching. They remained in jail there for several weeks and the case against Mrs. Lyda was called first. She obtained a change of venue and the case was sent to White county. It was an exciting trial at Monticello and attracted much interest in this part of the state. Mrs. Lyda was defended by the best lawyers of Lafayette, Fowler and Monticello and succeeded in being acquitted. She then returned to Lafayette and worked for the quashing of the indictment against Cox. She succeeded in convincing the state authorities that he was innocent and the case was nolle.

Mrs. Lyda is now conducting a boarding house at Momence, Ill. Cox had for some time been in the real estate business at Francesville and was taken sick two weeks ago, with typhoid fever. He was taken to a hospital in Lafayette in a dying condition. It is said that Cox and Mrs. Lyda never saw each other after his case was thrown out of court.

A report just issued by the relief department of the Pennsylvania railroad shows that during the first seven months of this year nearly one and one-half million dollars in benefits was paid to members unable to work and to families of members who died. During the month of July $162,337.04 was paid out in benefits, and since the relief departments for the lines east and west of Pittsburg and Erie were established the sum of $28,820,337.24 has been paid out.

POLITICAL PARAGRAPHS

So far as known the date for Mr. Bryan's Indiana speech has not been announced. Mysterious delay somewhere. Let's have the Bryan date.

Joseph Folk was right when he told Indiana Democrats that their gravest danger lay in the drift from the Democratic party as now controlled, into the Republican party.

What did Colonel Bryan say to Colonel Watterson about "Harmon and Harmony"? The two men met at Evansville, Ind. Will the Democratic publicity bureau tell an anxious public what Colonel Bryan said to Colonel Watterson?

R. K. Bedgood, of Lafayette, Republican candidate for joint representative in Tippecanoe and Montgomery counties, is a strong friend of Senator Beveridge. He says he finds the people are for Senator Beveridge, and are determined that he shall be returned to Washington.

Samuel Gompers is a pretty plain talker. He says: "If I come to Indiana to speak in this campaign, it will not be under the auspices of any political party." Th. Democratic manager who announced Mr. Gompers' name as one of the party's stellar orators, is still rubbing the bump where Mr. Gompers' wallop landed.

Low Ellingham, Democratic candidate for secretary of state, says that if labor men continue their fight against him, he will "fight back." It is pretty well understood that labor men will carry their campaign against all their enemies right up to the polls and there give it all the force they are able to give it. Mr. Ellingham's boast of being ready to "fight back" is not expected to intimidate the men who are on his political trail at this time.

Democratic managers of the Parker fiasco campaign of 1904 abused Theodore Roosevelt and made his personality the issue. Their folly was pretty well proved by the 2,600,000 plurality that rolled up for Teddy. It is unbelievable that these same Parker Democrats would repeat in 1910 the unutterable folly of 1904. Yet we have Stokes Jackson, Democratic state chairman, attacking Roosevelt on the assumption that someone, somewhere, has "discredited" the former president. Mr. Jackson apparently does not recall the 94,000 plurality Indiana gave to Rooseveltism. Mr. Jackson seemingly ignores the fact that Rooseveltism is a large issue of the year in Indiana.

The sudden arrival of Thomas Taggart in Indianapolis Thursday was due to the fact that the educational system of Indiana demanded his presence. Five hundred thousand school children and their pleading parents, with an army of educators, were holding out their hands to Mr. Taggart, appealing to him for help. So Mr. Taggart came back to Indiana to select for the children, their parents and for the educators of Indiana a candidate for superintendent of public instruction to fill a vacancy on the Democratic ticket. It is painful to think what might have happened to the schools of Indiana if Mr. Taggart had remained in the east instead of hurrying back to do his duty as mentor of the state's great educational system.

EXCHANGE VALUES OF 1910 AND 1896.

The average prices of the principal farm products in March, 1896, as shown by the bulletins of the United States Bureau of Labor, reveal in a striking manner the prosperity of the farmer.

The real value of any article is its exchange value. The real worth of farm products is measured by comparison with the value of articles which the farmer wants to purchase.

Figuring on the general wholesale price of articles, ten bushels of corn in 1896 would buy 21 pounds of Rio coffee, in 1910, 70 pounds; ten bushels of corn equalled in value 53 gallons of refined petroleum in March, 1910; 23 gallons in March, 1896; ten bushels of corn equalled in value 1,040 brick in March, 1910, and 519 in March, 1896; ten bushels of corn equalled in value 337 pounds of wire nails in March, 1910, and 95 pounds in March, 1896; ten bushels of corn equalled in value 181 pounds of sugar in March, 1910, and 69 pounds in March, 1896, etc.

A 300-pound hog, when valued in merchandise at the wholesale rate, equalled 36 barrels of salt in March, 1910, and 16 barrels in March, 1896. Twenty pounds of butter shown equal values as follows when measured in the wholesale price of staple articles: Coffee, No. 7 Rio, in March, 1910, 70 pounds; in March, 1896, 29 pounds; granulated sugar, 130 pounds in March, 1910, as compared with 83 pounds in 1896, etc.

A case of eggs which would have bought 72 yds. of Amoskeag gingham in March, 1896, would have bought 110 yards of the same material in March of this year.
