Marshall Gives It Out Straight; He'd Like to Be the President.

Governor Marshall has come out in the open as a candidate for the democratic nomination for president of the United States. Three years ago he was a small lawyer, practically unheard of outside of his own and a few surrounding counties. He was chosen as the democratic nominee for governor by the fortunes of politics and was elected because the republican candidate was running on a temperance platform. He has been governor a little over two years and has made himself believe that he is a "big" man. As to whether he has fooled the people as well as himself in this respect there is some doubt. In Indiana it is probable that Tom Marshall stands much less of an idol than he was before his election. He has done nothing to indicate statesmanship. He has forgotten his political promises about economy; he has signed bills that give him appointive power that makes a machine head of the governor's office; he has deceived the temperance people of the state by participating in a scheme to reinstate saloons in many counties of the state and by advocating and signing a measure that throttles the temperance people in any effort to see that the temperance laws are enforced.

Marshall will prove a very poor governor and his presidential bee looks a great deal like a huge joke, hardly worth front page discussion in Indianapolis newspapers.

A Distinctive Drink

BONANO, the hot-fruit drink, is a distinctive drink. Though similar in some respects to coffee, tea, chocolate and cocoa, it is, in other respects, quite unlike them. Possessing the good qualities of all these drinks, it has none of their harmful qualities.

BONANO—served hot—is flavory, appetizing, bracing, satisfying and extremely nourishing. A real food drink.

BONANO is the only table beverage in which high-food value is combined with harmless stimulation.

And BONANO has a delightful, spicy aroma—a rare, good flavor all its own.

Don't be prejudiced against BONANO. It is not a substitute for something else. We want you to serve it at your table for its own delicious goodness—and for no other reason. Try BONANO a week or two. We know you will like it.

BONANO is healthful, strengthening and never harmful. Let the little folks have all the BONANO they want.
