"Doan's Ointment cured me of eczema that had annoyed me for a long time. The result was lasting." Hon. S. W. Matthews, Commissioner, Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

George Lowman and nephew, Russell Smith, returned to Amboy today after two or three days' visit here. George has a farm near here. He expected the thrashers to reach his place before he left but they did not get around to it.

Joe Lash spent yesterday at his east farm, where Os Ritchie, Jr., lives, and where the Kanne boys were thrashing. Joe has built cribs to take care of 40 bushels to the acre oats crop. The cribs are full, the corn crib has been appropriated and filled and there was still many acres to thrash. A field of 35 acres averaged 70 bushels to the acre.

George W. Beatty, the aviator, became angered at his young wife a few days ago and struck her. She had him arrested and a justice at Mineola, N. Y., who heard the case, reprimanded Beatty, and advised that himself and wife live apart for a month or so until he cools off, which, the court said, he should have no trouble in doing in a lofty aeroplane flight.

Mrs. J. F. Warren, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. E. L. Clark, and other relatives and friends for the past three weeks, left today for Chicago, where she will join her husband. From there they will depart for their home in Oklahoma City, Okla. Mr. Warren has been taking treatment at the Battle Creek, Mich., sanitarium for the past five weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Armstrong, of Michigan City, and their son, W. E. Armstrong, of Buffalo, N. Y., are visiting Charles Armstrong and family, of Barkley township. Mr. and Mrs. E. Armstrong are engaged in the practice of Christian Science healing and are meeting with much success. He has made several trips abroad and his work takes him all over the United States.

Gifford Pinchot, whose insult to the president resulted in his discharge as a matter of discipline, is quoted by Louis Ludlow, the bitter democratic correspondent of the Indianapolis Star, as saying that Taft is like a balloon with a hole in it, and can not rise above mediocrity in statesmen. Pinchot has the true spirit of the disgruntled office seeker and his opinion will have but little weight.

Theodore Roosevelt certainly handed out a big batch of Bluff in North Dakota the other day. He don't take much stock in the Biblical injunction: "Judge not ye be not judged," but he told folks at Jamestown that every man that opposed the new party was allied with Wall street. There will be a good many people pass judgment on Theodore on election day and he will find that they understand that he is allied with the steel trust and the harvester trust, and they will show their disapproval in an unmistakable manner.

Rensselaer Well Represented In Colleges This Year.

The belief in the value of education and in the necessity of special training is surely well founded and is making itself more manifest as each year goes by. Each year marks expansion in the various colleges and universities throughout the United States necessitated by the decided increase in enrollments. A great per cent of the college attendance is furnished by the smaller towns and cities. In this respect Rensselaer has always been well represented in the colleges. This year twenty-seven young men and women will be in colleges or universities, which is probably the largest number that has ever been in attendance from here at any one time. Of this number five will graduate at the end of the coming school year. Seven of the members of the 1912 graduating class will go to college this year. They are as follows:

Cope Hanley, law, Illinois University.

Alfred Thompson, liberal arts, University of Michigan.

Vergil Robinson, chemical engineering, Purdue.

Edward Parkison, agricultural, Ames, Ia.

John Groom, pharmacy, Purdue.

Bernice Rhoads, normal course, Terre Haute.

Ethel Davis, music and art, DePauw.

Mae Clark, domestic science, Rockford Girls' College, Rockford, Ill.

Walter Lutz, agriculture, Purdue.

Walter English, mechanical engineering, Purdue.

George Long, pharmacy, Illinois School of Pharmacy, Chicago.

Wade LaRue, dentistry, Indiana Dental College, Indianapolis.

Emma Tanner, liberal arts, Taylor University, Upland, Ind.

Of the remaining fifteen, none will graduate this year:

Fay Clarke, agriculture, Purdue.

Neil Meyers, liberal arts, DePauw.

Clarence Smith, civil engineering, Purdue.

John Knox, pharmacy, Illinois University.

Helen Murray, domestic science, Wisconsin University.

Jane Moody will attend a college at Wichita, Kansas.

Marceline Roberts, liberal arts, Miami University.

Martha Long, liberal arts, Western Girls' College.

Lucy Healy, music, St. Elizabeth's Institute, St. Louis, Mo.

Martha Ramp, music, St. Elizabeth's Institute, St. Louis, Mo.

Ruth Harper, domestic science, Hillsdale, Mich.

Harriett Shedd, liberal arts, Northwestern University.

Leonard Elder, liberal arts, Franklin.

Jay Nowels, liberal arts, Hanover College.

Floyd Meyers, who has been attending Franklin College, will probably study law at the University of Colorado.

James Ellis, liberal arts, University of Virginia.

Kentland News Notes

From the Enterprise.

The foundation for the new Mt. Zion church is completed and Don Brothers will start laying brick next week.

The McCray Herefords are showing at the state fair this week. At Des Moines last week the herd was awarded many first and second premiums, and were within the money in every class in which they were shown.

George Ade, who has been enjoying an automobile trip in Europe, landed in New York the other day. In a letter to home folks here he states that there will be no political rally at Hazelden this fall.

C. E. Hatch & Son are showing their prize O. I. C. swine at the Kankakee fair this week, and will exhibit at Streator, Peatone, Watseka and other fairs before returning. They have a fine herd that made a good record at the fairs last fall.

Trustee Rainford, John Hess and Henry Stoner were down from the Village Monday on business in commissioners court. Mr. Stoner left Tuesday for Grand Forks, North Dakota, to represent the International Harvester company.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hess returned last week from an extended and most enjoyable trip through the northwest, visiting in Canada, Oregon, Washington and other points, and taking a trip through Yellowstone Park. Mr. Hess expects to soon open an office for the practice of law.

For Rent—Unfurnished or nicely furnished rooms. Mrs. Claude Kruzan, South Weston street, next to C. M. Blue.

JOHN M. WASSON.

touching eulogistic remarks on Mr. Wasson's life and relating to his association with the deceased. Rev. Kinney delivered the funeral sermon and spoke very eloquently and sincerely of Mr. Wasson's devoted life as a father, companion, churchman and businessman. Mr. Wasson was held in great esteem with those who knew him and none ranked higher in citizenship. The Masons gave the Masonic burial service at the grave and the G. A. R. took charge of the body at the grave. Rev. R. D. Utter, of Lafayette, who was to have assisted Revs. Harper and Kinney at the funeral, pronounced the benediction. Rev. Utter was delayed in his arrival here by a late train.

Four sons-in-law and two grandsons acted as pallbearers. They were Albert E. Coen, Arthur Nowels, Judson J. Hunt, Jesse E. Wilson, Alvan Coen and Russell Nowels.

Those from out of town who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Coen and son, Alvan, of Berwyn, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Jesse E. Wilson and children, of Hammond; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Nowels and son and daughter, Russell and Helen, of Columbia City; Mrs. Ellen Kerst and son, Howard, of Greenville, Ohio; Mrs. Peter C. Wasson, of Winchester, Ind.; David Wood, of Terre Haute; Mrs. Filena Graves, of Winchester, William Wasson, of Union City, Ind., and Wm. McClure.
