RED SOX SPANK ROBINS IN OPENER

Leonard Downs Marquard in Opening Game Marked By Slugging of Both Teams—Score 6-5.

In the opening game of the world's series played at Braves Field, Boston, this afternoon, Carrigan's Red Sox defeated Brooklyn 6 to 5. A crowd in excess of 44,000 viewed the battle. Carrigan selected southpaw Leonard to do the twirling for the Hose. Rube Marquard, veteran world series hero, was the choice of Robinson to do the heaving for the Brooklymites. Both hurlers were hit rather freely and several extra base clouts were made by both sides. Both teams were a trifle nervous, but the famed steadiness of the Boston defense saved Leonard.

Monday's game will be played at Boston, following which the two teams move to Brooklyn.

How Catarrh is Contracted.

Mothers are sometimes so thoughtless as to neglect the colds which their children contract. The inflammation of the mucus membrane, at first acute, becomes chronic and the child has chronic catarrh, a disease that is seldom cured and that may prove a life's burden. Many persons who have this loathsome disease will remember having had frequent colds at the time it was contracted. A little forethought, a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy judiciously used, and all this trouble might have been avoided. For sale by B. F. Fendig, C

Register Monday!

Unless your name is on the registration books in your voting precinct you cannot vote at the November election. Registration day comes on October 9th. Make sure that you are properly registered by visiting the registration place in your precinct early in the morning of October 9th.

Is your name written there?
As the day of registration of the voters draws near there is a fear that many voters in Indiana will neglect to see to it that they are properly registered and thus lose their right to vote at the November 7th election.

Unless you are properly registered you can not vote in November. This is the principal point for the voter to keep in his mind.

CAR PLUNGES TO CREEK BOTTOM

Carl Dallinger Becomes Ill and Drives Car Over Embankment Near Wolcott.—Is Injured

Wolcott, Oct. 6.—Carl Dallinger, who resides north of Wolcott, had a thrilling experience yesterday afternoon while on his way home. He was going toward Wolcott from the south, in a Ford, and when near the Monon creek was taken with a dizzy spell. He became unconscious and the machine ran wild. It went over the embankment and turned over twice, landing in the creek bed fifteen feet below. Tourists who witnessed the accident hurried to Mr. Dallinger's assistance, and rescued him from beneath the car. Luckily, he was not seriously injured. The machine was badly damaged.

Joe Elder Wins Game For Third Regiment With Homer.

Llano Grande, Tex., Oct. 6.—Who got Battery A's goat was a new cry which has swept this camp, raised by hundreds of soldiers and shouted from reveille to taps. It became so persistent that for once it completely put to rout what until now had been the eternal, "When are we going home?"

Not a little indignation spread over camp, especially in the Second Indiana regiment, when it became known yesterday that a pet goat, a mascot of Battery A, had been slaughtered within the night and that it was to be the piece de resistance of the noon mess of the Tell City company. Capt. Sim Cummings pronounced the death sentence on the goat after it had eaten a mosquito net, chewed tent ropes, nipped the stalks of banana plants and played havoc with camp flour beds. He is said to have used a bolo knife in executing the pet.

The Tell City company enjoyed a feast of goat meat, but it has had to bear the taunts of the entire camp. The question "Who ate the goat?" has been shouted innumerable times and always followed by the answer "Company L" or "Capt. Cummings." The company probably will never hear the last of the goat question. The battery had left its goat with the supply company of the Second, but it was stolen in the night by the Tell City company.

The men of the First Indiana infantry cheered as they arose yesterday because the bugler sounded the pay call immediately after blowing reveille. About $25,000 in pay was distributed in the regiment. The other Indiana organizations still await the paymaster's call.

The Third Indiana regiment walloped the Fourth Nebraska in baseball by a score of 5 to 3. A feature of the game was a home run drive which cleared a canal back of center field by Private Joe Elder of the Rensselaer company. Private Swartz of the Kendallville company, did the pitching.

$100 AND COSTS FOR ERNEST L. MORLAN

Judge Hanley Passes Sentence of $100 Fine and Costs—Prison Sentence Is Suspended.

Ernest L. Morlan, defendant in the recent perjury case that has been in the local court for the past week, came before Judge C. W. Hanley this Saturday morning to receive his sentence, on the charge that he was found guilty of by the court. Judge Hanley gave Morlan a fine of $100 and costs, which in all will amount to several hundreds of dollars. The prison sentence of two to twenty-one years was suspended by the judge, during good behavior. A suspended sentence means that Morlan is the same as a paroled prisoner and his conduct in the future will determine as to whether or not the suspension sentence will be revoked. In cases of this kind, where the prisoner's sentence is suspended on good behavior, the prison authorities send a man here and the papers are made, out which show that Morlan is a prisoner on parole, and will be such for at least the minimum of two years. Morlan will also have to provide bond.

In view of the fact that the evidence presented by the two factions in the case was so contrary as to leave a reasonable doubt in the mind of the court, the decision rendered by Judge Hanley in this matter meets with general approval, and for the most part the belief is that the defendant received sufficient punishment from the sentence imposed upon him, and if he is guilty on the charge of perjury, this should prove to be a lesson to him, and govern his conduct in the future. Judge Hanley's decision, however, in all probability will prove satisfactory to the public in general. There are always different opinions ventured in such a case as this and the case recently closed is no exception to the rule. Since the State of Indiana has found that Ernest L. Morlan was guilty of the charge upon which he was tried, the verdict that Morlan was guilty must be and should be accepted. Ernest Morlan perjured himself and was punished for it. The laws of Indiana were violated by him and as a result innocent parties were damaged by his untruths, a serious thing, and the sentence passed by Judge Hanley this morning was not too severe and was just in every way.

The trial of the state vs. Jay W. Stockton indicted on the same charge as Morlan, will be tried in the local court beginning November 15th.

Bank Cashier to Throw Self On Mercy of Court

Ellis Shookman, cashier of the Burrows, Ind., bank, who yesterday confessed a shortage of $18,000, will throw himself on the mercy of the court when arraigned, according to the father, George Shookman, who had a long conference with his son at the city prison today. The father, who is a farmer living near Decatur, was broken hearted when he learned of his son's predicament and declared that he would try to obtain bond for the young man's release.

After the conference at the jail, the elder Shookman said, "I always told my boy to be careful about handling other people's money. Ellis did not spend any of the money on himself. He told me he made a mistake when he advanced too much money."

Arthur Cravens, head of the state bank department, in speaking of the case said, "Since I have gone further into the books I am inclined to think that most of it went into overdrafts. I think better of him than at first. Shookman was an expert with his accounts and it appears that he kept the overdrafts carefully concealed until, as he says, they could be made up again. I think that the most of the money was let out in the last three months."

Shookman will be taken to Delphi for a preliminary hearing.

A meeting of the Jasper County Poultry Association was held Friday evening at the Wallace Produce Market, to make preliminary arrangements for the poultry and corn show to be held the first week in January 1917. Prizes aggregating $200 will be awarded to the winners of the different events. The show this year will be free to the general public. In past years an admission price of 10c was charged, but this will be abandoned in the future.
