Patriotic Songs Must
Be Sung in Schools.

All county superintendents of the schools in the state have received from Horace Ellis, state superintendent of public instruction, a communication which directs attention to the law of the state compelling the singing in the schools of patriotic songs on all patriotic occasions. The law as passed in 1915 is quoted as follows, and its enforcement demanded:
"That the state board of education shall require the singing of the Star Spangled Banner in its entirety in the schools of the state of Indiana upon all patriotic occasions." In addition to the above section of the statutes, Mr. Ellis' letter states:
"As president of the state board of education, I respectfully direct you to require from all teachers of your county (city, town and rural), a strict compliance with this statute. If some omissions of this duty have heretofore occurred, there must be none now. If ever occasion demanded the cultivation of the sentiment of this inspiring song, certainly the crisis through which we are now passing constitutes that occasion."

Do Your Part in Cleaning Up Our City.

Civic bodies throughout the country have joined in the crusade against the prevalence of rubbish and dirt and the dull, forbidding aspect that follows in the wake of failure to preserve and beautify with plants. They are laying special emphasis upon the paint-up feature. Paint makes any frame structure twice as enduring and ten times as attractive, and the adornment phase of its merits in full to brick structures.

Spring Colds Are Dangerous Sudden changes of temperature and underwear bring spring colds with stuffed up head, sore throat and general cold symptoms. A dose of Dr.
King's New Discovery is sure relief, this happy combination of antiseptic balsams clears the head, soothes the irritated membranes and what might have been a lingering cold is broken up. Don't stop treatment when relief is first felt as a half cured cold is dangerous. Take Dr. King's New Discovery till your cold is gone.

Another Viewpoint.
Mrs. Peaseley's young hopeful had carried off the primary prize, and the other mothers were crowding around to congratulate her with the best grace they could summon.
"But don't let it make him conceit-ed, dear," admonished one experienced parent.
"Oh, no; indeed," fluttered Mrs.
Peaseley. "I always tell him it's not because he's so bright that he wins, but because the other children are so dull."—Everybody's Magazine.

HUNTING FIREFLIES IN JAPAN

Remunerative and Pleasant Occupation That Engages the Attention of the Mikado's Subjects.

In Japan there is followed the pretty custom of employing in garden parties and in various other social functions the native fireflies for purposes of decorative illumination. In some cases these tiny creatures are disposed about in cages; sometimes they are released in swarms in the presence of guests.
To meet the demand for fireflies thus used, it follows that there must be some systematic method of effecting their capture in sufficient quantities.

There are a number of concerns in the Japanese cities that employ men to catch the fireflies. These hunters proceed about their task in this way: The start is made at sunset, and the hunter takes with him a long bamboo pole and a bag of mosquito netting.
When a suitable growth of willows near water is reached the hunter makes ready his net and strikes the branches, filled with the insects, with his pole.
This jars them to the ground, where they can easily be gathered, if one proceeds about the job quickly, before they have had time to recover and fly away.

This work proceeds until about two o'clock in the morning, at which hour the insects are beginning to leave the trees for the dewy soil. Then the hunter changes his tactics. He brushes the surface of the ground with a light broom to startle the insects into flight, when they are taken as before. It is said that an expert may capture as many as 3,000 in a single night.

NEW FACTS ABOUT THE SUN

Scientific Findings as to Amount of Heat Thrown Off by Mother Earth's "Big Sister."

As one result of an exhaustive study of solar radiations by the director of the Smithsonian astrophysical observatory, it has been found that at the earth's mean distance the heat of the sun's rays is sufficient to melt in a year's time a layer of ice 428 feet in thickness. This, it is announced, indicates that the aggregate heat thrown off by the sun of 12 months amounts to the same as would be obtained by consuming 400 sextillion tons of hard coal.
Incidentally, and most fortunately, only a small portion of this tremendous volume of heat reaches us, says Popular Mechanics Magazine, all but four ten-billionths of it being lost in space.
Another very interesting and important discovery, which is acclaimed the principal result of the investigations, is that the sun is a variable star. The heat emitted by it, instead of being constant in intensity, changes from day to day and year to year. It is believed probable that this has a direct bearing upon the climatic conditions of the earth. In the hope of gaining further enlightenment on this score, a South American expedition is to be undertaken this year for the purpose of making additional and more complete observations of solar variation.
The work will be undertaken in the most favorable cloudless region.

Taste in Music.

There is a certain group in almost every great city that makes symphony orchestras and philharmonic concerts possible, because it really loves good music; but it is not a large public and its finances are limited, so the clamor of the far larger public that wants musical comedy and gets it, puts a premium on just that sort of thing, to the general exclusion of music itself.
The same is true of religious music.
Who is there who wants plain song or Russian choirs when he can have quartettes with their heads together breathing harmonies, choir boys in serried and cherubic, if strident, ranks, or, better still, men, boys, women and girls, all in cassocks and cottas and all singing in accordance with the nineteenth century ideal of what constituted an "uplifting musical service?" In the standard type of English cathedral. Organists with ingenious instruments far too big for them and their churches given by sentimental millionaires, and tempting to a plausible virtuousity; choir-masters whose ambition outruns their discretion, join in the full-voiced chorus, and the holy chant of St. Ambrose, St. Gregory and the Eastern churches gives up the battle.
