WASHINGTON NEWS.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 16. The end of the treaty fight in the Senate may come this week, if Senator Lodge accedes to the suggestion of Senator Hitchcock that to avoid waste of time the reservation to article 10 of the league covenant be first considered and disposed of. If agreement on this provision can be reached the treaty can be ratified; if not the question of the league of nations will be taken to the people in the presidential election campaign.

Senator McCormick re-opened the treaty debate in the Senate with a speech reiterating his opposition to the treaty and scorning Senator Lodge for entertaining any proposals looking to the modification of his reservations.

COUNTY EDUCATIONAL NOTES.

A very successful as well as novel joint township institute was held in the auditorium of the new high school building at DeMotte last Saturday. The school corporations participating were Keener, Kankakee, Wheatfield and Wheatfield town. Miss Margaret Marshall, principal of the DeMotte schools, presided. All teachers were present except Mrs. Rosa Feldman, who is a Keener township teacher. The County Superintendent, Trustee C. E. Fairchild and the local minister were present also. The forenoon work was given over to discussions of points relative to problems that confront the teachers in their daily work as suggested from the institute outline. The vigorous discussions kept the institute alive from the time it opened until the noon hour arrived. The dinner had been previously planned by Miss Addie Harris, domestic science teacher at De Motte, and Miss Marshall. The teachers retired from the auditorium to the dining room where they found a table superbly decorated. The place cards revealed the fact that St. Valentine had not been forgotten. The walls of the room were decorated with portraits of Washington and Lincoln, both of which were draped with American flags. The entire room decorations were expressions of plain and appropriate recognitions of America's two greatest patriots. There were also samples of domestic science sewing and agricultural collections thus linking patriotism and industry as twin subjects taught in the schools. After each teacher had found her place at the two tables announcement was made that all should remain standing to sing the first stanza of America. A chorus of high school boys and girls lead in the singing in an adjoining room. This furnished an excellent patriotic setting for the many after dinner speeches that followed the superbly prepared and served dinner. Miss Margaret Marshall acted as toastmaster and started the speaking off by announcing that an attempt would be made to do triple honor to St. Valentine, Washington and Lincoln in the after dinner speeches. Ransom Halleck, a junior in the DeMotte high school, was introduced by the toast master and he responded by reading Jefferson's "Character of Washington," after which he spoke Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address." The young man stood under the portrait of the patriot whom he was eulogizing, in each rendering. Miss Marshall called upon a number of the teachers who gave appropriate tales and stories in memory of either Lincoln or Washington. Those who responded were Mrs. Fred Wolf, Grace Poole, Margaret Delahanty, Lottie
