BASE BALL BRINGS GRIEF TO PAPA EGER

Papa Eger is all put out this bright Monday morning—all because he harbors beneath his roof a young man who is ambitious to emulate the deeds of the famous Rube Waddell. Rube Marquard and other famous southpaws of bygone days.

With the first touch of Spring the younger Eger hies himself to paper families and touches him for a new base ball glove. Papa Eger, his heart a-flutter with pride, readily consents to being ransacked for the price of the necessary article and hurries himself to the nearest sporting goods house and purchases a glove.

The time and place shifts here. Sunday morning (perhaps we should say Saturday) the junior Eger, his heart filled with joy, with the new glove, takes himself to Billy Grant's baseball orchard and announces himself as a candidate for a position on the latter's club. The young leader places Mr. Eger on the infield—and then the trouble begins.

Papa Eger had committed a monumental blunder by purchasing for his offspring a glove which fits the flapper with which young Mr. Eger throws!

Utterly oblivious to the fact that his future great was exhibiting the eccentricities belonging to the small colony of left-handers by throwing his slants from the south side, and taking it for granted that his son was normal in every way, the fond papa lays down four dollars for a glove to be used by righthanders only.

And now there's trouble a-brewing. Young Mr. Eger wants to be a regular ball player and have a glove that conforms to his style of flinging; the older Eger can't see the joke of laying down four more dollars to fit his son's eccentricities, and the sporting goods man won't exchange the glove as it has been used.

Someone's got to lose in the tangle, and we're venturing the prediction that it won't be young Mr. Eger nor the sporting goods man.

Take your choice.

FEDERATION OF FARMERS' ASSOCIATION

Indianapolis, Ind., March 22.—(Special).—All the plans have been completed for a co-operative live stock reporting service by the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations working in conjunction with the United States Department of Agriculture, which, if successful, will be a great aid in the marketing of live stock in this state and tend to steady the market along with a more even supply from day to day.

The project calls for a listing of all cattle, swine and sheep from each township in the state along with data showing the number being used for brood purposes, the approximate date the stock will be ready for the market and other information calculated to give the reporting service an exact line on the available supply.

In addition to tables which will be sent to the various county units of the Indiana Federation of Farmers' Associations and turned over to the township units ever three months to be filled out, a ten day service is to be tabulated at the headquarters of the farmers in this city.

Lewis Taylor, general secretary, said that the quarterly reports will show when the stock will be ready for the slaughter houses and that the farmers will be advised from time to time concerning conditions so that they can keep an even flow of live stock on the market and thereby do much in the way of obtaining steady prices.

"A meeting in every township of the state has been called for March 31," said Mr. Taylor, "and at that time the farmers will be called upon to fill out the blanks we have prepared. The working program of the plan will be explained and we have high hopes that the system will prove of immense benefit to the producers. Under present conditions we find the market glutted one week and the following week a scarcity. If we tabulate this supply, we will be in a position to advise the producers so that a more steady flow will come to the yards. Officers of the federation are optimistic of the success of the venture. Many other states will watch the movement in Indiana, the first in the country to try out the plan."

The reporting blanks have three divisions, one for cattle, one for swine and one for sheep to be made out quarterly, based on the following number on farm, birth during quarter, sold off farm during quarter, slaughtered, died, females on hand for breeding, stock being prepared for market, number on feed at end of quarter, number that will be finished during next ninety days, approximate date of finishing, and approximate average weight per head at time of finishing.

Word has been received by Secretary Taylor from several members of the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation, to which the Indiana organization is getting well under way. J. B. Howard, of Iowa, national president, with a coterie of able assistants will soon start an active campaign in many lines to promote the general welfare of the agriculturists of the nation.

WOLCOTT FIREBUG IS FOUND TO BE SANE

Dr. R. M. Reagan, of this place, last week visited Frank Warner at the Michigan City prison, having been appointed by special Judge Ed. Pruitt to pass upon his mental condition. The doctor found Warner rational and coherent in his replies on various topics introduced for the try-out.

His report to the court was favorable, both as to the mental and physical condition of Warner, and the latter will return to his home.

Warner became violently insane several years ago when he terrorized the town with gun and torch, threatening the lives of any who came within range of his artillery. He was taken into custody and committed to the insane colony at Michigan City, to remain until his mental condition should justify his release. A. K. Sills, Jr., and E. B. Sellers appeared as his attorneys in the application before Judge Pruitt.

STUDY OF FEET INTERESTING

Me Two Pair of Them Alike, and All Tell a Story to the Observant Individual.

In the subway and on the surface cars—in fact, in every sort of public conveyance—I have always found it interesting to while away the time spent in transit by making a study of feet. Large feet, small feet, narrow feet and broad feet have characteristics all their own, and no two pairs of them are alike. The long, slender, graceful foot of the woman of fashion, she with the rather lavish taste, betokened in the extreme heel and narrow, buckled vamp; the smartly shod foot of the executive business woman, with mahogany calf and military heel; the neat but worn black leather shoe of the shop worker, and the ultra faddish down-at-the-heel, high-cut kid shoe of the stenographer or factory girl. All of them tell a story. The girl who cares about getting ahead, and the boy who is ambitious, watch out that your feet do not betray you. Very often I have seen a well-groomed business girl whose appearance was entirely spoiled by a muddy or run-down pair of shoes, and I always judge her accordingly. An employer, hiring an office boy or a clerk, will invariably base his decision on the get up of his applicant. Unshined shoes and torn stockings may cause you to lose that opportunity for which you have always been looking.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Tree That Rotates.

A cross section of a great old spruce tree from Alaska tells the story of a tree which executed a spin, like a ballet-dancer. This cross section shows a most peculiar structure, which has caused a great deal of speculation among the various foresters throughout the country, and a very interesting explanation is advanced in American Forestry.

It is known that a tree grown at a slant forms on the lower side of the trunk a dense reddish wood known as "rotholz." This spiral in this case is of such sort, and as it is a continuous formation, winding from the center to within half an inch from the circumference, it is surmised that it was growing in an inclined position on the edge of a glacier, where by some shifting it was caused to rotate, so that all sides of the tree were successively on the downward side. Thus, as the tree grew, and its rotation continued slowly, the "rotholz" developed into a spiral.

Seaweed Scenes.

With a needle and human hair pictures have been produced on silk and ivory which have amazed the art critics.

This fact is recalled by a catalogue of freak pictures which has lately been published. Landscapes, seascapes, portraits, and natural history pictures have been produced with extraordinary skill.

Needlework and beadwork pictures are fairly common, and shell, seaweed, and feather pictures were also very popular at one time. Seaweed pictures date back to 1780, when "an unknown lady" exhibited three landscapes in oil, "the trees and shrubs being laid in seaweed—a new invention," to quote the catalogue.

Pictures cut in paper were also frequently exhibited, while on one occasion a lady exhibited a festoon of flowers cut in cork.

Reduced Rates.

Judge—You are guilty of assaulting a man wearing glasses. I fine you $10.
Defendant—But, your honor, the plaintiff wore only a monocle.
Judge—Then your fine will be but $5.

Crawfordsville, Wingate and Stivers (O.) high schools are the three surviving teams in the basketball tournament which opened in Chicago last Friday for the national title. Wingate and Stivers will meet in the semi-finals and the winner will meet Crawfordsville for the championship in a curtain-raiser to the Chicago-Pennsylvania game. Crawfordsville and Wingate were suspended by the Indiana H. S. A. A., and for that reason were not permitted to participate in the state tournament held recently.

Having been last to get in the war, the Senate seems to be determined also to be last in peace in the hearts of its countrymen.—Nashville Southern Lumberman.

Germany is reported rushing preparations for the trial of war criminals, which may indicate that the medals will soon be ready.—Brooklyn Eagle.
