She died Tuesday, April 6, 1920, aged 52 years, 5 months and 16 days. She was an active and devoted member of the Pythian Sisters for many years. Her sickness was brief and death unexpected, and she leaves to mourn their loss her husband, four children and one granddaughter, Patricia Ann Nowels.

She was a faithful wife and very much devoted to her children and home. Her death will be a great loss to her many friends and neighbors.

After a brief funeral service at the home Thursday, April 8, she was consigned to her last resting place in the cemetery lying just at the edge of the city on the west.

OBITUARY.

John Redd Gray

son of David and Elizabeth Redd Gray, was born in Miami county, Indiana, July 21, 1846, and died at his home in Rensselaer April 6, 1920, aged 73 years, 8 months and 15 days.

He was of a family of eight children, three of whom are deceased. Those surviving are Mrs. D. C. Gordon, Bloomington; Mrs. Bruce Banta, Mrs. Charles Lowe and Wm. M. Gray, of Monon.

The greater part of his life was spent in Jasper county.

April 4, 1871, he was united in marriage with Mary E. Coppess in Gilliam township. To this union were born six children. He is survived by his wife and four children, Cora M. and Florence having preceded their father in death. Those surviving are Mrs. D. V. McGlynn of Remington; Clyde Gray, Walla Walla, Wash.; Ira C. Gray, Dayton, Wash.; and Mrs. Zern Wright, Rensselaer. He is also survived by nine grandchildren, one of which, Dewey, was killed in action during the late war.

Bro. Gray was baptized by Bro. D. T. Halstead in 1890, and had been a faithful member of the church ever since, having been a firm believer in the things concerning the kingdom of God and the name of Jesus Christ. Funeral services were from the church in Rensselaer, where the house was filled to capacity to pay their last tribute of respect to one whom they had learned to love and respect. We drew our lesson from 1 Cor. 15, as Bro. Gray had previously made request. We laid him to rest in the cemetery at the edge of the city to await the Lord's coming.—S. J. Lindsay.

ALWAYS FAITHFUL TO DUTY.

Concerning the decision of Leonard Wood to cancel all speaking engagements on account of the strike situation, I have this to say, that coincides with every act of his career. With him it has always been duty first. I am reminded of what he said to his officers after he had learned that he would not be allowed to go with his division to France. His officers had protested, but General Wood said to them: "Do not concern yourself about my case, but get your mind on the war. If you would please me, play your part cheerfully and well. That means when in action never fail to take your objective and never be late on your objective." I am sure he would now say to us and all his friends "My campaign is in your hands and I want you to go ahead." Your activities have been based not on your personal acquaintance with Wood but because you believed in the principles for which he stands. It will require more active work from the volunteers in Jasper county. For all his admirers will miss the inspiration of a speaking campaign but surely after all nothing is more inspiring than his high conception of duty. His last act although a candidate marks him a man of courage, where others would have faltered, he did not hesitate. The issue of law and order is now clear. This issue will always win in America. His decision was made voluntarily not on orders from Washington. If the strike is over before May 4th, we may have a Wood tour. Don't let up.

LOWDEN WINS IN ILLINOIS

WOOD CARRIES COOK COUNTY, JOHNSON IS POOR THIRD.

Chicago, April 13.—Governor Frank O. Lowden carried his home state today on the face of incomplete and unofficial returns in the republican presidential preference primary with Major General Leonard Wood second, and Senator Hiram W. Johnson third, the latter's name being written in by the voters.

Returns from 4,256 precincts out of 5,690 in Illinois, gave Lowden 203,659, Wood 136,423 and Johnson 37,023. These returns were from 99 counties out of 102.

General Wood carried Chicago and Cook county, but Governor Lowden's vote in the state outside of Chicago gave him a lead which progressed steadily with the counting of the returns.

Only the names of Wood and Lowden appeared on the ballot. Senator Johnson's strength was in Chicago where most of his votes appeared. Herbert Hoover's name appeared on some of the republican ballots.

There were no democratic primary candidates for president, but the names of a half a dozen democrats were written in the ballots in scattering returns.

Women Vote As Courtesy. Governor Lowden and General Wood were the only candidates who made any speaking campaigns in Illinois.

Women cast a courtesy vote in many counties, and in some places the election clerks failed to separate men and women ballots. The women's vote, however, was so comparatively light as not to effect the result and it was divided in much the same ratio as the male vote. The vote received up to 10 p. m. in the districts where Lowden delegates were contesting with delegates who signified that they had no preference, showed the Lowden men leading with one exception, in the tenth district.

Hard Boiled in Chicago. In Chicago, where the presidential preference primary was combined with an election of ward committeemen, the kidnapping of election judges and workers, shootings, sluggings and other acts of violence marked the balloting.

Complaints of frauds, from intimidation of voters to marked ballots, kept the police and election commissioners' officers busy throughout the day.

In one precinct 200 feet from the polling place, an unidentified election worker was shot after a quarrel. The wounded man was spirited away before the police arrived. Seven shots were fired during the clash.

Mayor William Hale Thompson, republican national committeeman from Illinois, gained full control of the republican county organization for the next four years through the election of ward committeemen having his backing.

DAY OF DAYS ARRIVES; MAJORS UNDER WAY

National.
St. Louis vs. Pittsburgh.
Chicago vs. Cincinnati.
New York vs. Boston.
Philadelphia vs. Brooklyn.

American.
Cleveland vs. St. Louis.
Chicago vs. Detroit.
New York vs. Philadelphia.
Boston vs. Washington.

The greatest of all American days has arrived—the day that the base ball lid is pried off throughout all this broad expanse. There will be more frills, pomp, pop and pop corn present at the opening day ceremonies than since before the pre-war days. The curtain lifts on sixteen well conditioned ball clubs, and the class of the various clans is apparently far above that of several years.

Cold weather prevails in the majority of the sixteen major league cities, but the ardor of fandom has not been frozen up one whit, and the advance sale of tickets has been very heavy. The rulers of the base ball universe predict that the year of 1920 will be a successful one in every way.

In the Johnson loop the Cleveland, Detroit and New York clubs seem to pack the best base ball wares, and for the most part sport critics are predicting that these three clubs will finish in the order named. The White Sox, league winners of 1919, seem to be sadly demoralized with the absence of the capable Gandil at first base and an efficient hurling corps.

In the older circuit, the National, Cincinnati, world's champions, New York, Chicago and Brooklyn look to be the strongest to the scribes, with Cincinnati and New York a 50-50 proposition in the predicting league.

The White Sox open in Chicago with Ty Cobb and the remainder of the Bengal tribe. Williams has been selected to stop the Detroiters with Schalk receiving. Jennings has nominated the veteran Boland for opening day service on the mound, with Ainsmith behind the plate.

The Cubs are at Cincinnati where with Ainsmith behind the plate. Killifer the backstopper. Reuther is slated for slab work for Cincinnati with Wingo catching.

WASHINGTON NEWS IN BRIEF.

Washington, D. C., April 13. President Wilson moved today to deal with the menacing situation brought about by the railway strikes. He called a cabinet meeting for tomorrow morning and announced the appointment of the railway labor board, the members of which will be confirmed by the senate tomorrow. The board will have its headquarters in Chicago.

Spurred by the menace of a nationwide transportation tieup, senators today were disposed to the conviction that nothing short of a straightout prohibition of railroad strikes would serve as a permanent safeguard.

The growing conviction among government officials that there is behind the spreading railroad strike a covert motive that strikes at the vitals of American institutions, led the department of justice today to increase its vigilant search for evidence on which to proceed against the agitators.

The war department today released for public consumption its surplus food stores in Chicago and other centers, and the department of justice urged all district attorneys to curb profiteering that might arise as a result of the strike enforced food shortage.

With four Democrats voting in the negative, the house adopted a resolution reported from the McKenzie subcommittee of the war investigating committee requesting the attorney general to institute criminal and civil proceedings against army camp contractors.

In order that the parcel post may be used to a greater extent during the railroad strike Representative Randall of California today introduced a resolution providing for the consideration by the postmaster general and interstate commerce commission of the advisability of increasing the present weight and measurement maximum.

Martin J. Gillen of Racine, Wis., was today appointed by President Wilson to be a member of the shipping board, succeeding Henry M. Robinson of California.

LINCOLN ASSASSINATED 55 YEARS AGO TODAY

Today, April 14, is the fifty-fifth anniversary of the assassination of Abraham Lincoln, the Great Emancipator, who carried the country through the most trying days that the nation has ever faced.

The assassination of Lincoln occurred about ten o'clock in the evening as he was witnessing a play at a theatre in Washington. Lincoln's assassin was John Wilkes Booth, an anarchist of the most pronounced type. Booth was shot a short time after committing the act when he barricaded himself in a barn and attempted to fight off the posse that had surrounded him.

POURED SHELLAC ON HEAD OF SCHOOL TEACHER

Schuler P. Hall, a chemistry instructor at Jefferson high school, was roughly handled by a group of high school boys Monday evening as he was leaving the Y. M. C. A. building at Seventh and Columbia streets. They met him at the doorway and asked him to take a walk. Marching him up the alley north of a barn, it is alleged, poured shellac on his hair and painted his face with mahogany stain while he cried loudly for help. Tuesday Hall was unable to leave his room at the Fowler hotel. Some of the shellac had run into his eyes and they were badly inflamed. He was also severely bruised about the face and body, the result of his rough treatment. The school boys are said to have had the help of at least one Purdue student in the escapade. No specific charge was made against Hall by his assailants but it is known that he has made himself unpopular with student of the school. The school authorities are investigating the case.—Lafayette Journal.

VAN NORMAN SERIOUSLY INJURED

Van Norman, who lives on the Kirschner farm in Barkley township, was seriously injured this morning when a horse kicked him in the head. He had gone to feed his stock and when he didn't return as soon as usual, his wife became alarmed and went in search for him and found him lying in the barn unconscious. He was immediately brought to the hospital and at this time little hopes are entertained for his recovery. Mr. Norman is the son of John Norman of this city.

"The Right of Way"

A drama of law and love, and of a man who scorned men and flouted God. Wherein a highly finished product of civilization finds his only peace in the fringe of wilderness. Portrays the dilemma of a man who thought he loved a woman and who persuaded her of his despite her real love for another. A picture with a magnetic star in the most masterly character of a great author has conceived.

A photoplay which does not adapt but reproduces a great work of modern fiction. How a woman saved a man who scorned the love she used to save him. Proves a man may be too clever for men, but not too clever for life. There is a multitude of such dramatic moments in "The Right of Way."
