GET READY FOR OUR CHAUTAUQUA.

Lenzo's Band, Smith-Spring-Holmes, Orators, Entertainers and Everything De Luxe.

It would seem impossible to cram more good things into five days than the Mutual has found place for on the bursting programs now announced. The Circuit that opens here shortly is one of the four operated by the Mutual that will be busy this summer conducting Assemblies of Democracy throughout the Middle West.

The program as outlined is one of the best balanced ever offered to any community anywhere. In spite of increasing high costs for salaries, railroads, printing, canvas, and every item that goes into Chautauqua overhead, the Mutual still continues to hold tickets down to pre-war prices. Tie a string to your finger! Do not take it off until you have bought a Season Ticket for every member of the family. The Junior Chautauqua is part of the child's education. Do not wait till someone asks you. Go to the committee today and get your tickets. The committeemen are doing the work without hope of reward, other than helping our town to better things. Get tickets today!

This then, is a brief outline of the program in store for us:

FIRST DAY.
Ricketts' Glee Club presents a pleasing variety of wide range both instrumental and vocal, and introduces many novelty numbers with ensemble and quartet appearances not usual with Male Quartets. A musical treat for opening day!

Dr. James H. McLaren has a world view. He takes his hearers into the far corners of our little earth and explains forces and facts not always familiar before. The Doctor is an orator of rare ability, but he carries even the children with him through the peroration.

SECOND DAY.

The Hamilton Company presents a varied program of delightful vocalization. Mr. Hamilton has attained distinction in Oratorio work and has associated as co-artists only those who have equal claim for distinction. In a very novel way this company includes the audiences in their programs.

William Sterling Battis, who delivers an unusually strong lecture in the afternoon, gives over his evening hour to unmatched characterizations of Dickens' characters in costume with speaking parts taken directly from the works of that master of fiction.

THIRD DAY.

Smith-Spring-Holmes Orchestra Quintette is 100 per cent in past achievements, originality, appearance, novelty, ability, individual excellence, ensemble and the good taste they leave behind. This is a company that plays only the best in music and wins by an unvarying adherence to this policy.

Maynard Lee Daggy, "the man from the Northwest," who comes like a breath of a whirlwind from the Puget Sound Country with a message of vital interest for everyone who wants to help the world in its forward urge.

FOURTH DAY.

Lenzo's Wizard Band is outstanding in the number of different things it can do well. The band divides into smaller units of trios, duos, quartets and sextets, each with a specialty of offering distinctly its own, then reunites in the spectacular ensembles. This is a Wizard band, long to be remembered.

FIFTH DAY.

June Elliott and Sipher-Schwartz Co. is a double entertainment number for the last day that leaves everyone wanting more. Reading and Novelty Music forms the base of the program and the numbers read, and variety of instruments played will surprise and delight the crowded tents.

Julian B. Arnold has traveled over twenty countries and has known intimately many of the men and women who have made the history of the world in the fast few decades. Mr. Arnold's delivery is replete with gem phrases that fasten themselves in the mind. No better speaker could be chosen for the final sessions.

The Season Ticket Idea.

Chautauqua could not exist without a Season Ticket. Failure has always resulted when other plans are tried. The advance sale of a ticket good for everything at the Chautauqua has been the successful basis of Chautauqua promotion.

People who buy Season Tickets are the Backers of the Institution, and these give spirit to the Guarantors who invite the Assembly.

By the purchase of a Season Ticket the single numbers cost but a few cents each. Every forward looking citizen will secure Season Tickets for each member of the family, this plan alone spells success.

Our Coming Chautauqua.

The advance copies of the Chautauqua programs which have been received here look especially good—that is the array of talent, and the plans for the assembly which is soon to appear, are full of promise and will meet the demands of the most critical.

The experience which the Mutual people have gained in their years of service is very evident and a great feast of good things has been prepared both in music and lectures. The entertainment features, too, have not been neglected.

The Circuit Chautauqua has developed into a wonderful institution, which has become so popular that there is scarcely a town which has not now or will not soon be seeking the special permanent benefits which the Chautauqua brings.

Tenancy.
Knicker—Jones lives in the past.
Bocker—The only place where there are any vacancies.

Credit Not Tight.
Knicker—Banks are reducing loans.
Bocker—But there is no restriction on borrowing trouble.

Corresponding Action.
"What did Smith do when the hold-up man on the road told him to fork over?" "He knifed him."

Great Saving.
Adam became enthusiastic.
"I'm perfectly willing to economize by wearing old fig leaves," he cried.

His Cost More.
Samson was plainly peeved.
"I don't see why they think a dollar haircut is expensive," he cried.

Small Potatoes.
"What can I do for you, madam?"
"Can you give me small change for this potato?"—Cartoons Magazine.

Curtain.
"What do they mean by a curtain lecture?" "It usually follows smoking in the parlor."

The Main Thing.
"That little waitress has taking ways." "I wish she had some fetching ones."

Forget It.
Nilly—Who invented classical music?
Willy (gloomily)—What's the difference; it's here.—Musical Courier.

His Lack.
"Noah would never have made a very successful poker player."
"I suppose he wouldn't when he never held more than two of a kind."

The End.
Young Bride—Mother, dear, how long does the honeymoon last?
Mother—Until you ask your husband for money, my child.

Joseph Kosta of Union township was in Rensselaer Monday and reports that his nineteen year old daughter, Julian, is very sick.
