FACE SEASON'S HARDEST GAME

UNBEATEN LOGANSPORT ELEVEN WILL ATTEMPT TO CHECK LOCALS SUNDAY

When the Logansport independent eleven comes to Riverside park Sunday afternoon for a clash with Coach Parker's pets, football fans will have the opportunity of watching two unbeaten elevens in action, two elevens which are admittedly among the real class in state semi-pro circles. The Cass county team threw the football surprise of the year by defeating the Wabash A. A. team. For many years Wabash has boasted of one of the strongest elevens in the middle west and their present team is far from being a weak sister, which shows the class of the aggregation Rensselaer is to face Sunday. Rensselaer has taken four straight games this year without a single reverse marring their record, and they are confident of finishing the season unbeaten.

The grueling game of last Sunday against the Lafayette team brought injuries to several of the Parkermen, but they were slight ones, and every member of the squad will be in top form for the Logansport game. With the addition of Kirk and Parks Coach Parker feels that he has a far stronger squad and with Eigelsbach, who will return home November 11, in the backfield Rensselaer will be prepared for the best of them.

AGRICULTURAL NEWS.

Fight Insect Now With Plow.

Fall plowing is the most universally effective way of controlling the insect pests that annually cause great losses to the grain farmer. It is much easier and cheaper to prevent an insect outbreak in this manner than it is to stamp out the infestation once it is fully developed. The Hessian fly, so destructive to wheat, is one of the insects that can hardly be eradicated once it is established in the crop. Fall plowing is recommended because it breaks up the soil and destroys the grubs and pupae of many insects by exposing them to the sun and air.

Farmers' Bulletin 835, prepared by the Bureau of Entomology, tells how to control the most common and dangerous of grain farmer's insect enemies. It gives briefly the life histories of the Hessian fly, army worm, cutworms, grasshoppers, white grubs, billbugs, corn root aphids, and wireworms, with authoritative data describing the characteristics of each pest and the best practical remedies for control. The bureau advises the grain farmer to plow in the fall if possible; to keep a supply of insecticides and a spraying outfit on hand, to watch the crops carefully for an outbreak, and to report all outbreaks to the county agent, or direct to the Bureau of Entomology, United States Department of Agriculture.

Live Stock Association Meeting.
Members of the Live Stock Breeders' Association, and others who are interested in live stock, met in the county agent's office Saturday evening, October 30. It was a very enthusiastic and interesting meeting and many important matters were discussed and voted upon. Report of the live stock show held on the 21-22-23 of October was read by Secretary Lane and approved. All business pertaining to the completion of our last show was satisfactorily disposed of. The promulgation of a Jasper County Fair Association was brought up and discussed. Favorable comment was passed by all present and it was voted that we appoint two committees—one to investigate the project and the other, a legislative committee, to locate suitable men who would be willing to head the organization.

Our past experience has proved that our old plan of running our stock show has not been as satisfactory and successful as it should be. It was thought by all that a Fair Association would put all farming interests on a fairer and more satisfactory basis, alleviating many of the hardships and embarrassments connected with the arrangements for the show. It would also give all farmers, as well as business men, a chance to exhibit anything they wished to on a more equitable basis. On November 13, there is to be another meeting, at which time the different committees will report and further plans for the Fair Association will be formulated. All interested in the live stock of your county are invited to attend and take active part in this newly formed project.

County Agent's Conference.
The County Agents' Conference of Indiana will be held in the Agricultural Hall in Lafayette, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 3, 4 and 5. All county agents of the state, as well as club leaders, will be in attendance at this very important meeting of the year.

Poultry Association Meeting.
The Jasper County Poultry Association met in the Red Cross rooms in Rensselaer, Friday evening, October 29. The purpose of the meeting was to work out the detailed arrangements for the poultry show to be held in Rensselaer the first week in January. It was also voted that there be a corn show in connection with the poultry show. The different boys' and girls' clubs of the county will also take active part in this show. Prizes and cups will be awarded as premiums. It is hoped that all interested in a show of this nature will begin to make preparations for it.

Correction in Award of Stock Show.
In compiling the list of awards of the stock show, there was a mistake made in the awards of the big type Poland China breed under

Getting Ready For International.
Preparations for the World's Greatest Live Stock Exposition at Chicago during the first week of December, are now well under way. Each season this spectacle of animal life is given a new stage setting, involving the labor of hundreds of men for several weeks and an expenditure of many thousands of dollars. Part of this is necessitated by essential convenience for man and beast; part goes to furnish the coloring that has given the exposition atmospheric brilliancy, intensified as each season rolls around. An enormous sum is required for light effects, a feature of the "International" that has always been abreast and much of the time in advance of such improvement as electrical ingenuity develops. This year a number of scenic novelties have been introduced, arrangement of exhibits has been perfected and a more elaborate setting given the latest addition to this aggregation of spectacles—the Grain and Hay Show, under the auspices of the Chicago Board of Trade.

When the gates are thrown open to the public, November 27th, a month hence, all this elaborate and expensive getting-ready programme will insure the most successful International Live Stock Exposition since the inauguration of that enterprise, which has been effective in promoting the welfare and progress of the live stock industry of all sections of North America.

REMAINS OF JOHN KNOX ARRIVE FROM OVERSEAS

Thomas Knox received the following message from New York this Tuesday morning, telling him of the arrival of the remains of his son, John Knox, who died overseas during the late war, in that city Monday:

"New York, N. Y.

Nov. 2, 1920

Mr. Thomas Knox, Rensselaer, Ind.
The body of Private John Knox has arrived in New York and will be shipped to you at government expense, but not until we receive telegraphic instructions from you.

Following the receipt of the message, Mr. Knox wired instructions to send the remains to this city.

No more popular boy took up his country's cause from this country than John Knox and the news of his death in a French camp was the cause of much general sorrow. Universally liked and a brilliant student it seemed as if the years ahead of him were destined to be filled with brilliant successes. But he gave his all that his country might live, and now as a tribute to the valiant services he rendered the local post of the American Legion will give him a military funeral on a day to be named later, perhaps Armistice day. Every ex-service man who can possibly do so is urged to attend the last rites in uniform and pay to their fallen comrade the tribute he so richly deserves.
