An unusually good program was given at Barkley church last Friday night. Owing to the whooping cough epidemic which was prevalent for some time no effort was made to have any of the children who were not in school prepare to take part in the Christmas program and the Pleasant Grove, Kennedy, and Center schools furnished the program.

Miss Lucy Hauser, teacher of the Pleasant Grove school was in charge of arrangements in general and many who have attended the Christmas program at Barkley for years past, pronounced the program of last Friday evening as excellent.

There will be Sunday school next Sunday morning at Barkley church at ten o'clock. The community is practically rid of whooping cough and there is no danger now of your children taking it at Sunday school. They will be preaching services at seven o'clock Sunday evening. The roads have, in some places, been too bad for machines to get thru, now if the snow stays get out your bob-sled and gather up your neighbors and come.

FURTHER EVIDENCE THAT

O'BRIEN WAS MURDERED

Monroe, Ill., Dec. 29.—Further evidence that Lieut. Pat O'Brien, hero-aviator, who died in his room in a Los Angeles hotel, Dec. 18, did not commit suicide but was killed by a shot fired from some distance, was elicited today from J. E. Melvey, undertaker, who made a careful examination of the body upon its arrival here for burial a few days ago.

Questioned by relatives of O'Brien, who are determined upon further investigation of the former bird-man's death, Melvey declared today that there were no powder marks or burns about the wound and that the shot must have been fired "from some distance."

Contrary to the statements of Los Angeles authorities yesterday and at the time of Lieut. O'Brien's death, Melvey declared that O'Brien had not been shot through the mouth and that only one bullet had taken effect and it has passed from the right temple to a point just above the hairline on the left temple.

"I made a careful examination of Lieut. O'Brien," Melvey said, "and I found no evidence at all of a bullet having been fired through the mouth and emerging from the top of the head. There is only one fracture in the skull and this was just above the hair-line on the left temple, where the bullet had evidently emerged. There were no powder marks or burns about the wounds, which had been filled with gelatin by the Los Angeles undertaker."
