

ANDY LOCKRIDGE IS WED

SON OF MR. AND MRS. ALEX LOCKRIDGE OF THIS CITY MARRIES A SAN FRANCISCO HEIRESS—NEWS COMES TO HIS MANY FRIENDS AND RELATIVES AS A COMPLETE SURPRISE.

ON HONEYMOON TO HONOLULU

Miss Mabel Randall of Los Angeles, who often has visited Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Swahlen here, a personal friend of the bride—Letter from Mrs. Reynolds to relatives here is first news of the marriage.

Andrew Lockridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Lockridge of this town, was lately married in San Francisco to one of that city's most wealthy young women. The news of the marriage was not received here until yesterday. The marriage of Mr. Lockridge comes as a complete surprise to his many friends and relatives here.

Fall Greeting

We take pleasure in announcing our readiness for the fall and winter shoe business. Everything that is good and desirable in the footwear line is here, ready for your choosing. With this store it's always "how good" rather than "how cheap."

Our aim has always been to furnish such satisfactory footwear as would induce our patrons to tie to us—come here themselves and induce their friends to come. It is on this platform that we have built up our large shoe business and upon this platform that we base our hopes for the future.

We believe an investigation will convince you that this store gives you the best all around shoe satisfaction—best shoes—best styles—and best prices. w 13t d m w f 13t39

Fair tonight and probably Saturday; rising temperature.

MEN'S CLOTHING TO ORDER

We are having the best time this fall with our line of Men's Clothing to measure.

Every Suit and Coat (and we have taken orders for a lot of them) has proven satisfactory to the men ordering them—They've "come up" right—they have style and individuality—are made and lined as you like them—And then—they have been good fitters—

And the Price—Decidedly less than you would pay a merchant tailor for equally good results.

We would have you consider this an invitation to look over a line of some 500 odd swatches—Let us take your measure for a suit or coat—And if they don't please you—why—they are our clothes—and you are not out a cent.

This sounds to us like a fair proposition

tives here and he had told no one of his plans.

A letter received from Mrs. Randall, who has visited Dr. and Mrs. W. F. Swahlen here and who has many friends in Greencastle, was the source of the first news of the marriage.

Just Returned from Honeymoon.

Mrs. Randall in her letter stated that her daughter, Miss Mabel, who also has visited here, had just returned from a trip to Honolulu, where she had gone as the guest of Mrs. Andrew Lockridge. In her letter she spoke as though she believed that the details of the marriage were known here.

She said that her daughter was a personal friend of Andy's bride and that she had been invited to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Lockridge on a trip to Honolulu. She further said that they had intended going on to China and Japan but that the weather became so hot that they returned to California.

Surprise to His Friends.

Mrs. Randall said that her daughter had just returned to Los Angeles but did not state where Mr. and Mrs. Lockridge are. It is supposed, however, that they are in Los Angeles. The letter says that the bride is one of San Francisco's most popular heiresses.

Mrs. Alex Lockridge said this morning that she was not aware of her son's marriage. She said that she had a letter from him a short time ago stating that he was going to Honolulu but that he did not intimate that it was a honeymoon trip.

Carrington-Cooper.

Mr. Lorenzo D. Carrington and Miss Stella Cooper both of Putnamville were married Thursday at 3 p. m. at the parsonage of the College Avenue Church. Dr. Hoagland, the pastor, performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. Mr. and Mrs. Carrington returned in the evening to Putnamville where the groom is established in business and where they will be at home to their many friends.

NO MURDER DEVELOPMENTS

Now Looks as Though Mystery of the Killing of Otis Hendren Would Not be Cleared up—Officers Intimated This Morning That Another Arrest Might Possibly be Made Soon.

IS NO CONCLUSIVE EVIDENCE

The mystery of the murder of Otis Hendren on last Monday night is still as mystifying as ever. No new clues have been obtained by the police and detectives and it now appears as though the murderer would not be apprehended.

The officers said this morning that another arrest might possibly be made but it is probable that they have no conclusive evidence against anyone.

THERE IS NOTHING DOING

The City Authorities Make No Move Towards Forcing the Water Works Company to Make Good Its Contract.

Editor Herald: Some time ago I noticed in your columns an article calling attention to how the Greencastle Water Works Company failed to make good its contract with the city in the matter of public drinking fountains, and the resultant filth consumed by our citizens who drank water from the horse trough facilities furnished to supply drinking water for man as well as beast. The subject was so strongly put and so truthfully stated that I fully expected the city authorities to take some action in the matter at an early day, but so far there is nothing done. The nasty conditions continue and those makeshift public fountains continue as of yore. Do the city authorities stand in with the Water Works Corporation? Are the taxpayers of Greencastle not entitled to the sanitary service in the matter of public drinking fountains set forth in the contract existing between the City of Greencastle and the Greencastle Water Works Company? If Greencastle's officials have not the will to protect the people in their legitimate rights they should step down and out and give place to men who will not trundle to corporate greed or corporate dictation.

A WORK OF APPRECIATION

"I wish to thank each and every one who helped me during the Star and Democrat Contest. Although I did not get first place I appreciated the second just as much. Everyone was interested in the contest and each went to work with great zeal."

Dr. Sasamori's Address.

Dr. U. Sasamori president of Chinzai College, Japan, and fraternal delegate of the Methodist Church to the last General Conference spoke last night in the chapel of the College Avenue Church. The auditorium was well filled with citizens and students. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Hoagland who paid a well deserved tribute to Dr. Sasamori's worth as an educator and a Christian gentleman. The address was unique and intensely interesting. He told of his own conversion and determination to educate himself for the ministry. He spoke of the marvellous awakening of his nation and said every sign indicated that Japan would be a Christian nation in a generation. He spoke of the college of which he is the head and said there were in attendance four hundred young men and a third of whom were professed Christians and all were sympathetic with the Christian religion. He said the Orient was rapidly turning to Christ and that the Christian church with its evangelistic, educational, and humanitarian agencies was the hope of Asia.

GAMES FOR TO-MORROW

Throughout the West, tomorrow's schedule will call for a number of promising contests. Several of the larger universities will clash on the gridiron in games which will tend to prove their metal.

At Lafayette there will be a general exodus of Purdue students on the special which will be run to Chicago. Under a new coach and with a splendid squad on the field Purdue hopes to redeem her past defeats.

This afternoon Franklin will meet the Wabash College eleven at Crawfordsville when the "Little Giants" will put forth strenuous efforts to better the score which DePauw rolled up against Franklin last Saturday considering the fact that Coach Brown made no attempt to establish a record breaking score it would not be strange if Wabash succeeded in her designs.

The following schedule includes the more important contests:

Franklin and Wabash at Crawfordsville.
Olivet and Charlotte High School at Olivet.
Oberlin and Hiram at Oberlin.
Indiana and DePauw at Bloomington.
Illinois and Monmouth at Urbana.
Notre Dame and Hillsdale at Notre Dame.
Grand Prairie and St. Viator's at Kankakee.
Lombard and Notre Dame at Notre Dame.
Iowa and Alumni at Iowa City.
Knox and DePaul at Chicago.
Michigan and Case at Ann Arbor.
Earlham and Antioch at Richmond.
Chicago and Purdue at Chicago.
St. Louis University and Missouri School of Mines at Rolla.
Minnesota and Lawrence at Minneapolis.
Michigan Agricultural and Flint State at Lansing.
Grinnell and Leander Clark at Grinnell.
Nebraska and Doane at Lincoln.
Ames and Coe at Ames.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gardner and daughter Miss Nellie left last night for a visit with friends in Newton, Kansas and Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. They will return by way of Hot Springs, Arkansas, where they will try the benefits of the Hot Springs as a health resort.

David Maze went to Terre Haute yesterday to meet his daughter, Mrs. C. G. Shaw and her children of Linton, who accompanied him here and will visit with Mr. and Mrs. Maze for several days. Mrs. L. O. Coffman and children of Cloverdale are also here the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Maze.

Word has been received here of the marriage of Miss Ethel Campbell of Indianapolis and Mr. John T. Dunn of Louisville, Ky., on Jan. 18, 1908. They were quietly married at Cincinnati and have kept their marriage a secret from their friends up to this time. Mrs. Dunn was formerly a Greencastle girl and is well known here. They will make their future home in Indianapolis.

THE LIGHT FANTASTIC

Is Not Altogether Bad, Says Dr. Stephenson, So Long as it Does Not Interfere With the Work of the Class or Cause the Participants to Suffer From Lack of Sleep.

HAVE THREE DANCES A WEEK

Report is that Dr. Andrew Stephenson, head of the history department in DePauw University, expressed his views on dances to his class in French revolutionary history yesterday. Dancing in DePauw is forbidden, and this rule is enforced.

Dr. Stephenson said the only objection he had to student dances was that he was not among those invited that he was willing for the students in his department to have three dances a week if they came up with a good lesson each morning. But if it became a habit with the man who is studying history to appear in the mornings with a sleepy look and no knowledge of the assignments when there are no dances he took it as a sign that they had been doing things perhaps worse.

NOTED JAPANESE TALKS

Dr. U. Sasamori, president of Chinzai College, at Nagasaki, Japan, delivered an interesting talk at chapel service this morning, where he received a hearty welcome from DePauw students. Dr. Sasamori is acting as the fraternal delegate of the Methodist Church of Japan to General Conference at Baltimore. He has received many honors in his own country and has made many friends in America. He graduated from DePauw in the class of '91 and also took post-graduate work. A more enthusiastic DePauw man never received a diploma from the local institution.

Goes Over Until Monday.

The case of Beemer vs. Pollum, on contract, wherein the point at issue is a domestic gas lighting plant, was heard by Judge Rawley today. After the evidence was all in His Honor suggested to the parties to the suit that the evidence submitted was incomplete and unsatisfactory and to render an equitable decision was practically impossible, hence he suggested that the plaintiff and defendant each secure an expert to give the gas plant a thorough examination and test and report the result to the court at as early a date as possible. In the meantime he would take the case under consideration.

IS DePAUW'S "MOTHER"

With the rapid completion of the new DePauw Library, which building will become the latest addition to the University circle, comes to mind an interesting fact concerning Mrs. J. R. M. Allen who might well be called "A mother of DePauw." Mrs. Allen has had the pleasure of seeing the laying of every corner stone, and dedicatory exercises for every building on the college campus even to the first building erected in 1836. Such a record is remarkable and unique in extreme.

Mrs. Allen is the mother of Walter Allen, of the class of 1880, and is at present enjoying the blessings of longevity at his home. She has reached the unusual age of 93 years but still enjoys fairly good health. She has two daughters both of whom graduated in the class of 1873 and who now live at Los Angeles, Cal., namely, Mrs. James Hawk and Mrs. M. M. Bovard. All of her sons-in-law have graduated from the school whose growth she has watched from first until last.

With the dedicatory ceremony of this month which will mark the completion of the library, Mrs. Allen will have the great fortune in seeing the latest advancement in the progress of the old school.

A Timely Sermon.

The tragic death of Otis Hendren will be the subject of a special sermon at the Christian Church next Sunday morning. Those who desire to attend the evening service can secure tickets of admission at the door.

HOSPITAL FAIR A SUCCESS

MORE THAN $100 WAS TAKEN IN BY THE WOMEN THE FIRST DAY AND TODAY'S RECEIPTS ARE EXPECTED TO FAR EXCEED THOSE OF YESTERDAY—TWO LARGE CROWDS ATTEND DOG AND PONY SHOW LAST NIGHT.

SUBSCRIPTION FUND IS STARTED

Several of Putnam County's Prominent Men Promise to Give $100 if 100 Persons Agree to Give $5 Each—Good Headway is Being Made—Bainbridge Band Furnishes Excellent Music.

The Hospital Fair is proving a big success. Yesterday the receipts amounted to more than $100 and today it is expected that much more will be taken in by the women. The dog and pony show at the opera house is proving to be a big attraction and last night two large audiences attended. The receipts of this show will go to the Hospital Fund.

All of the booths are doing well and the receipts from this source are encouraging. Especially well are the home-made cakes and other pastry selling. The receipts from that booth are probably larger than any other. The Bainbridge band and a piano and drum are furnishing music.

Large Crowd Last Night.

Last night a large crowd was out and tonight another large one is expected. There will be two dog and pony shows tonight as last night. The first begins at 7 o'clock and the second at 9 o'clock.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hampton received the silver cup given yesterday for the prettiest child, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hughes won second place. In the foot race the little Pierce boy reached the tape first and received a knife. The little McIntosh lad was second.

Plan to Raise Much Money.

A scheme to raise a subscription fund was started yesterday. David Houck, Charles Barnaby and S. F. Lockridge have agreed to give $100 each if the women secure 100 persons who will give $5 each. So far about 50 names have been secured and it is expected that the required number will easily be secured.

As to Experience.

Mr. Beveridge, in his speech at Terre Haute, made the declaration that Mr. Marshall ought not to be elected Governor of Indiana because he had had no experience as a legislator or executive. He also stated that Mr. Watson was the logical man for the place because he had legislative experience, though no executive experience. It occurs that a man may have experience that unfits him to be the representative of the people, an experience that is worse than no experience at all. Mr. Watson's experience has been of this kind. As right hand man to Speaker Cannon he has learned that the wishes of the people are of little weight in legislation. As whip-of-the-house under this same Cannon he has become expert in forcing upon the people legislation they do not desire and killing those bills they do desire. His experience has shown him ways and means to defeat the people. Thus he was able to force upon the country the ship subsidy bill, the Aldrich-Vreeland currency bill, was able to add Speaker Cannon to smother the Littlefield liquor bill. His experience has taught him that it is better to be on the side of party and the interests than on the side of the people. All this, shown from his record, is the kind of experience that unfits a man to be the honest representative of the people.

As a matter of fact the great executives of this state and nation have been men with little or no experience. Governor Morton, Presidents Grant and Lincoln were such inexperienced executives. Governor Hughes of New York and Johnson of Minnesota are other examples. We are inclined to believe that honesty, and strength of purpose, the belief that the people's desires should be respected, a belief in the theory that "public office is a public trust" are more desirable qualities in a governor than experience as second in command to one of the worst foes of the people and of progress that this country has seen. We prefer honesty and ability to the experience of the perennial candidate and professional politician.

DEMOCRATIC NEWS

Experience as a Qualification.
 In his speech at Terre Haute on Tuesday, which, by the way was in the best temper, Senator Beveridge, after speaking in the kindest terms of Mr. Marshall, said:

His best friends must admit that he is inexperienced either as a legislator or as an executive. What man would select to manage his business a man who had had no experience whatever in that business? What farmer would employ to do his farm work a man who had never been on a farm?

This is one of those arguments that prove too much. Oliver P. Morton, the greatest Governor in Indiana's history, had had no experience "either as a legislator or as an executive," when he assumed the office of Governor in 1861. Ulysses S. Grant had had no such experience when he was nominated by the Republican party as its candidate for the presidency in 1868. Even Mr. Lincoln had served but a brief term in Congress, preceded by an unimportant career in the Illinois Legislature. There are many cases of this kind in this country and in all other countries. Indeed, an application of the rule laid down by the senior Senator would have excluded him from consideration as a possible candidate for the high office which he now adorns. For he, too, was at the time, inexperienced either as a legislator or as an executive.

So we suggest that it will not be well to press this argument too strongly. Experience, is no doubt valuable, but then men can not get it unless they have the chance to get it, and a beginning has to be made some time. The important question is whether a man is honest, able and intelligent enough to profit by experience when it comes to him. To say that a man without experience in office shall not be elected to office is to say that he shall never be allowed to get the experience. Besides, a man may serve long in a legislative body without developing one of the qualities which is supposed to be necessary to fit him for executive position. Much depends on the man, and on his ability to measure up to the duties he may be called on to perform. We saw this in the case of Governor Hughes, who is now so great a favorite with the President. When he was nominated two years ago as the Republican candidate for Governor of New York he had not had the slightest experience "either as a legislator or as an executive." Yet he made such a fine record that the President of the United States felt that the party could not afford to set him aside. Thus it will be seen that there are many exceptions to the rule laid down by Senator Beveridge. Men are appointed to the Cabinet—Secretary Cortelyou, for instance—who are guileless of any experience in public life, either as legislators or executives. And such men often make brilliant records.—Indianapolis News.

A Typical Republican.

The Kansas City Journal bubbles over with eulogy of Speaker Cannon. It is good to see him at close range, the Journal asserts, because it affords the people of the West a living proof of how little stock can be taken in the slanders and misrepresentations of newspapers that have been vilifying him. To quote:

"There is nothing so hateful in the eyes of a mugwump newspaper as a straight-out, hard-shell Republican like Cannon. These newspapers, and some would be party leaders who seek to carry favor with them, have pictured him as a tyrant and despot, the autocrat of the House, and they have constantly sought to inculcate the idea that he is out of sympathy with the masses of his party. Uncle Joe is a genuine Republican, with all the honesty, sincerity and patriotism that the term implies."

There is, to be sure, quite a good deal to be said in behalf of Mr. Cannon.

As a stranger of good legislation he has no equal, but his advocacy of certain policies during campaigns as well as between them is more admirable than the shiftiness of leaders who promise anything and everything in contradiction of the policies of their party when the campaign warms up. Mr. Cannon is not going about the country seeking to bamboozle the voters with statements that if the Republicans are elected there will be a revision of the tariff in the interest of the people.

"Uncle Joe" expressed the opinion that this country is a hell of a success and stands pat. He does not preach high morality and reform and practice high protection and graft. He leaves the preaching to politicians whose tastes run more in that direction than his. If the attitude of the American people toward reasonable prosperity coupled with unreasonable graft had always been as complacent as that of Speaker Cannon we might have remained until this good day a colonial possession of Great Britain. Mr. Cannon is not the type of men whose energies are bent in the direction of advancement. Letting well enough alone suits him. But he is at least not as tricky as the gentlemen in his party who erect a pulpit on the front porch and a reception room for the rich malefactor just within the side door. He is a typical Republican in that he advocates policies by which the Republican party has profited and by which it hopes to continue to profit. He would be more typical as a leader if he should imitate the leaders who advocate one policy during a campaign and another after the election.—Courier Journal.

Greatest Danger to Swimmers.
 "It isn't cancer," said a life guard, "that carries off so many good swimmers. After all, what is a leg or arm cramp? Couldn't a good swimmer easily turn on his back and float till the attack departed? No, cramp won't account for the strange seizures that in a twinkling turn a very fish of a swimmer into a helpless, speechless, drowning paralytic. What accounts for this business is water inhaling. A swimmer inhales spray through the nostrils, it passes through the pharynx, behind the epiglottis or windpipe guard and so down into the windpipe. The result is nearly certain death. Swallowing water does you no harm, but breathing it may kill you. How to avoid accidentally breathing it, though, that is a question nobody seems able to answer."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Ice and Mice.
 For horses suffering from inflammation of the lungs an old prescription was a mixture of shot and powder in milk. This has been applied to human beings. In "Idelhurst" mention is made of sparrow shot, five or six to the dose, to be taken twice a day, as a remedy for "brown kitters," which is believed by the English farm laborers to be caused by the "lights" (their term for lungs) rising up the windpipe. The shot is supposed to weight them down in their rightful place. Sussex, England, is the scene of "Idelhurst." It was a Sussex woman who was ordered by the doctor to put some ice in a bag and bind it on the temples of her sick boy. Inquiring after his patient the next day, the physician received the reply, "Oh, Tommy's better, but the mice are dead!"

Then He Got His.
 A young Lancashire lad joined the army and soon after his arrival at headquarters got into trouble. Accordingly he had to face his commanding officer next morning.

The usual preliminaries were gone through, when, contrary to orderly room etiquette, the recruit commenced to defend himself.
 "Silence!" roared the adjutant.
 "Then shut up," said the prisoner.
 "I'm not speaking to thee, I'm talking to the old chap in the chair."—London Scraps.

Too Much For Him.
 "How true that old saying is about a child asking questions that a man cannot answer," remarked Popleigh.
 "What's the trouble now?" queried his friend Singleton.
 "This morning," replied Popleigh, "my little boy asked me why men were sent to congress, and I couldn't tell him."—Chicago News.

Did He?
 "You never saw a man who understood women."
 "Well, I knew a man once who claimed that he did."
 "And did he?"
 "Well, he never married one."—Houston Post.

Had a Close Call.
 Mrs. Ada L. Croom, the widely known proprietor of the Croom Hotel, Vaughn, Miss., says: "For several months I suffered with a severe cough, and consumption seemed to have its grip on me, when a friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery. I began taking it, and three bottles affected a complete cure." The fame of this life saving cough and cold remedy, and lung and throat healer is world wide. State general fund disbursements 1906 (no payment on state debt).....5,093,255

The state auditor's report for 1905 sets out the total receipts and disbursements for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1905, as follows:

Receipts.....$9,260,827.07
Disbursements.....9,127,568.36

The report of the state treasurer for the fiscal year ending October 31, 1906, sets out the total receipts and disbursements as follows:

Receipts.....$9,702,867.76
Disbursements.....9,099,212.32

(The disbursements included nothing on the state debt.)
 The report of the treasurer for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1907 (only eleven months, due to a change in the law as to the ending of the fiscal year), shows the following as to total receipts and disbursements:

Receipts.....$9,159,625.83
Disbursements.....8,067,001.71

(The disbursements included nothing on the state debt.)
 It will be remembered that the heavy receipts and disbursements for the month of October are not included in the 1907 statement because of the shortening of the fiscal year. No full comparison, therefore, can be made of 1907 with other years.

In marked contrast with the above reports of Republican management is the report of the fiscal year ending October 31, 1894, the last year the state offices were occupied by Democrats. The financial statement for the year 1894 is as follows:

Receipts.....$6,848,967.65
Disbursements (including $647,088 on account of state debt).....6,458,456.36
Excess of disbursements 1905 over 1894.....2,669,412.00
Excess of disbursements 1906 over 1894.....2,640,755.96

This enormous increase in annual expenditures is out of all proportion to the real increase in the cost of administering the state's affairs. The multiplication of needless offices, boards and commissions, the increase in official salaries and reckless appropriation of money in all directions are some of the reasons for the growing burdens that have been put upon the taxpayers.

Under the last Democratic administration of the state the tax levy for all state purposes was 32 cents on the $100. This included 3 cents levied for the state debt sinking fund, which left the levy for all other purposes at 29 cents. The levy made by the last Republican legislature is 33.35 cents on the $100. This includes nothing for the state debt sinking fund until 1908, and represents an increase of 4.35 cents on the $100 for general state expenses. The assessment of property for taxation has been enormously increased. The 4.35 cents increase in rate and the increase in assessed value will show the taxpayer where some of the extra tax burden comes from. It is merely his contribution to the Republican variety of "business administration" in state affairs.

NATIONAL EXTRAVAGANCE.
 A comparison of the cost of the national government under the last Democratic administration and the present Republican administration, as shown by the Congressional Record, Vol. 42, No. 33, pp. 7613-19:

Total expenditures for four years ending 1897.....$1,758,902,482
Average per year.....439,725,615
Total expenditures for four years ending 1903.....3,428,809,371
Average per year.....857,202,343

The appropriations made by the last session of congress for one year alone were.....1,008,804,894
 Total expenditures for army and navy, 1892-1897.....484,299,699
 Total expenditures for army and navy, 1903-1908.....1,328,679,524
 An increase for these two purposes in the last six-year period over the first of.....844,379,825
 Number of new offices created in the six-year period, 1893-1898.....10,279
 Cost of these new offices.....6,018,417
 Number of new offices created in the six-year period, 1903-1908.....99,319
 Cost of these new offices.....69,543,506
 Total expenditures for last four years Roosevelt administration.....3,428,809,371
 Total expenditures Civil War years 1862-1865.....3,394,830,931
 Excess of Roosevelt expenditures over Civil War period.....33,978,440

RUNNING WILD.
 Speaking of the enormous expenditures of the Republican party, the Indianapolis News (Republican) at the close of the late session of congress, referring to the appropriation of more than a billion dollars for one year, said: "No congress which appropriates more than $1,000,000,000 for a single year can hope to escape criticism on the score of extravagance. It has not been long since a billion-dollar congress was considered remarkable. Now we have a billion-dollar session, or a two billion-dollar congress. Surely it is time to display the danger signal."
 "With expenditures far outrunning receipts, with these monstrous appropriations, with the cruelly high cost of living, with extravagant local governments and with a regime of generally high taxes, it seems to us that an economical public policy ought to be popular. The business depression is still with us, and there are many men out of employment. Yet the tax-gatherer is busier than ever. Local governments are heavily in debt and local tax rates are increasing, and the borrowing capacity of many of our counties and municipalities is exhausted. On top of it all we have this $1,000,000,000 appropriation for the ensuing year. This disposition to run wild ought to be checked."

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes broadcast and on each bottle-wraps, what his medicines are made of and verifies it. This he feels he can afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftentimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating, nervous prostration, neuritis, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs. A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities to Doctor Pierce's Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

DEPAUW NEWS

PEACE CONTEST IMPORTANT SECRET SIGNAL PRACTICE

PROF. GOUGH DEPLORES THE ATTITUDE OF STUDENTS
TOWARD ORATORICAL.

SAYS IT IS A BIG THING

In the course of his lecture yesterday Professor Gough took occasion to make a few remarks regarding the Peace Oratorical Association. The students of DePauw do not half appreciate their peace association and the peace oratorical contest said the Professor. To my mind it is one of the biggest contests open to our orators. It is a tremendous big thing to win this contest and it is getting bigger all the time.

This problem of peace is not a mere local, or interstate or national affair. It is one of international interest. It is a problem that is becoming more and more vital every day. Some of the world's greatest statesmen, orators, scholars and men of affairs are giving their time to the study of this movement.

But this problem is not one originated from the brain of some super-heated agitator. It is a large and important social question; one that affects every citizen and every student. Its magnitude can be imagined when we recall that eighty per cent of the appropriations of the parliaments of the world was for armament in some form or another. Surely here is a theme for orators.

The peace association is a branch of the Intercollegiate peace association of the United States. The DePauw branch will hold monthly meetings this year for the purpose of listening to some eminent speakers. All students interested in the movement should hand their names to Albert Mann, Wm. Smith or Clarence Flynn.

Membership in the association is a requisite to entering the contest. The winner of the local contest will receive $25, of the state $100, and of the Interstate $100, not to mention the honor of representing DePauw.

Freshman Class Meeting.

The Freshman Class held its first organized meeting Thursday afternoon at 1:15 in Meharry Hall. Mr. Cox, the yell leader, emphasized the need of good yells and class spirit to make them go. A committee to consider the selection of class colors was appointed. The next meeting will be this afternoon at the accustomed time and place and it is desired that all Freshmen turn out with a vim to make their class a live one.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done me more good than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at the Owl Drug Store

BROWN TEACHES HIS MEN NEW PLAY BEHIND CLOSED DOORS.

FINISH PREPARATION 10-DAY

Secret practice has been the program for Brown's men for a day or two. It is understood that some new plays are being developed for the Indiana game Saturday. The squad spent an hour or so Wednesday evening in the gym working out some of the new stunts on the coach's list, and yesterday's practice was spent behind closed gates at signal practice with the new plays brought in with good measure. With scrimmage practice every day this week, Coach Brown wound up that branch of the business yesterday with a hard half-hour against the preps, using the regulars both on the defensive and offensive. But the coach didn't stop with that the varsity was set to work again for a second round of stiff signal work. There is only one more day left for final developments before meeting the men from the state school and the squad is utilizing every minute in practice.

Several subs have been worked considerably at some of the line positions and dopsters are at a loss to know how to figure on next Saturday's lineup it being probable that more than eleven men will see the gridiron on the DePauw side of the line.

ACADEMY TEAM TO PLAY

PREPS TO MEET BRAZIL HIGH SCHOOL TOMORROW AFTERNOON.

OTHER PREPARATORY NOTES

The academy team will play the Brazil High School eleven tomorrow afternoon at Brazil. The team had a game with Terre Haute for this afternoon but at the request of Rose Poly the game was postponed until a later date. The varsity is to meet the technical students on their own gridiron this season and for that reason it was thought best to postpone the prep game until after the DePauw-Rose Poly battle.

The football schedule for the preps has not been made public by their manager, but it was learned they have dates for more games than usual. It is rumored the team will take a long trip or two in the neighboring states and that they will meet some of the fastest high school teams in Indiana. It was learned that the preps have games for the next four Saturdays.

Yesterday morning at the chapel meeting Russell Long was elected a member of the Athletic Board by the Academy students. Long is captain of prep gridiron warriors, and has been prominently identified with academy athletics ever since he has been at DePauw. Mr. Long succeeds Professor Kleinsmid as the academy representative.

The material for the Fencing Club has arrived and parties desiring equipment for this work should see Albert Mann or H. F. Stiefel. About fifteen men have already joined the club. The next meeting will be on Wednesday afternoon.

Professor Kleinsmid leaves today for a trip to Chicago and Milwaukee. He will return to DePauw Tuesday.

Mt. Hebron Pastor Resigns.

Last Sunday was a great day at Mt. Hebron Church. The pastor Rev. Harris preached two sermons. Rev. Harris preached to the old people at the morning hour. His sermon was very impressive and at the close of the service a most heart-searching experience was manifested. Everybody was moved to tears, even Mr. Harris was overcome when he told his people of his departure he was soon to take. At the evening hour he preached to the young people from a text taken from Second Chronicles. "While he was yet young he began to seek the God of David." It was the best sermon and delivered in the most powerful manner of any he has ever preached. He was filled with the Holy Ghost and it had its effect upon his hearers. He spoke for 45 minutes. At the conclusion he announced it was his farewell and it was a touching scene.

When Mr. Harris came out here to preach he found a church in which no services had been held for months. Today it is in a lively condition. A

Sunday School with an average attendance of 40. The morning service had an average attendance of about 70. The average attendance is over a hundred and many times the seats were all taken. During the past 32 Sundays, Rev. Harris has preached 90 sermons, 49 being in this church and 41 elsewhere. He has the best wishes of the members and friends. It is an abandoned U. B. church and now is for sale.

HUMBLED THE PRINCESS.

Fall of a Dusky Beauty From the South Sea Islands.

One night John Sharp Williams, while a student at Heidelberg, Germany, was in attendance upon a swell function at which the guest of honor was a dark skinned princess alleged to have come from the south sea islands. This princess was magnificently bedecked and bedjeweled, and her warm olive complexion, set off by a mass of black, kinky hair, full red lips, snow white teeth and black, sparkling eyes, made her the center of the function. The masculine-like Germans swarmed about her like bees around a honeysuckle vine, and even Dutch femininity could not discount the charm of her manner or the beauty of her person.

John Sharp was introduced, of course, and immediately upon obtaining a near view of the princess (?) his southern instincts rose to the surface and his southern blood began to boil. Watching his opportunity, he managed to get to the beauty's elbow. Then, reducing his voice to a low, but perfectly audible key, he sent into her startled ears this alarming query:

"Look here, nigger, where did you come from?"

Panic stricken and with all her self possession scattered, the alleged princess turned upon her interrogator as she heard the familiar intonation of the southerner and looked into his unrelenting face. Then she stammered:

"Fum South Carolina, boss, but for de Lawd's sake don't tell it."

Whether John Sharp respected the piteous plea of a southern negress in a faraway land and permitted her to continue her bold imposition upon the credulous Germans the story does not tell. But the fact remains that the "princess" realized that she was in the presence of one who, from intimate knowledge of her race, had divined her African origin, and she could only throw herself on his mercy.—Biloxi Herald.

Immunity.

Satan had just ordered more coal thrown on the fire.

"By Tuminous," he cursed, "but that last arrival is a tough proposition. The more I try to roast him the more he smiles."

He called the chief stoker.

"Well, what luck?" asked Satan.

The stoker shook his head.

"He's still smiling," he answered.

"Where's he from?" cried Old Nick, out of patience.

"New York. He used to be a baseball umpire in—"

My Promotion.

(Original.)

When Alice Coale told me that she was engaged to Tom Martin I felt a sickening sensation about the heart that could only come to a young person. I might feel a bitter disappointment today, but it would not be of the same kind. Alice looked at me surprised. "Why, what's the matter, John?" she said.

"Nothing," I replied, endeavoring to pull myself together. "Only I'm afraid Tom mightn't turn out good enough for you—that's all."

"Oh, that's all, is it? Well, don't worry about that. A fellow as smart, as popular, as trustworthy, as Tom is good enough for a far better girl than I. Mother says she'd rather trust to his judgment in business matters than to that of older heads."

"Oh, I only meant he wasn't good enough for you."

"You lumbering, good natured stupid, John," she said, taking my hand and pressing it caressingly. "You will always be my dearest friend."

That was very kind of her.

A few months later I was startled by one of those mysterious rumors that are spoken under the breath for a brief period before they become public property. It was that Tom Martin had been borrowing money from any one who would lend it to him. Then I heard that he had disappeared. Following closely on this came the news that Mrs. Coale had given him all her money for investment, and he had either sunk it or taken it with him. Since he had paid none of his debts it was presumed that he had taken it with him.

Detectives visited his room and took away every scrap of paper they could find there, though Tom before leaving had left nothing to show where he had gone. He had borrowed a book of me, and I went to his room to see if I could find it. It was lying on his table, and I carried it home with me. That evening I took it up and opened it. Between the cover and the title page was a library card on which were entries of several books taken out within a few weeks. The book he had borrowed from me was "Australian Sketches." I wondered what kind of literature he had been taking from the library. Curiosity, mingled with a feeling that I might gather some clue with reference to his acts, led me the next day to take the card to the library and have a look at the books he had been reading. What was my astonishment to find that one was upon Central America, three upon Honduras and a fifth on the rubber industry of that state.

After some thought these were my deductions: Tom had at first thought of going to Australia, but had changed to Central America. He had selected Honduras and when he got there would invest the money he had taken in either the rubber trade or a rubber forest. More likely the latter, since it would give him a better chance to hide from the world.

The day after I reached these conclusions I started for Florida and from there sailed for Honduras. Landing at Puerto Cabello, I went into the interior. I made inquiries for an American who had come to Honduras to negotiate for a rubber tract. The state is not a large one, and any one going there with money would not remain unnoticed by its people. Of course it would be useless to inquire for one by the name of Martin, for the skulker was doubtless using an assumed name.

It was just two weeks to a day when I learned of a man answering Martin's description who was dickering for a rubber tract some ten miles away from me. I went to where he was and on a porch in a small town came upon the man I was hunting. When he saw me he collapsed. I told him that all I wanted was Mrs. Coale's money or as much of it as he had left. If he would give me this he might stay where he was for all me as long as he liked; if not he would go back to stand trial. He turned over eighteen $1,000 United States bonds, which was what remained of Mrs. Coale's little fortune. I accepted for it and started home.

I found that Alice had taken a position and gone to work. The evening of my return I called on her and her mother. This was the first time I had seen them since their misfortune. Mrs. Coale chided me for having kept away in the hours of their trouble, while Alice maintained a cold reserve. I didn't know whether to attribute it to the cause her mother mentioned or some other. In truth, she seemed stunned. I'm not naturally facile in opening subjects and sat for some time, speaking only when I did speak on commonplace topics, trying to frame what I should say concerning the object of my call. I knew I would make the mother glad, but was all in the dark about Alice. Finally, despairing of finding proper words, I took the bonds from my pocket and tossed them on the table.

"They're yours," I said. "I tracked him and got them. There's only a small loss."

I'm very poor at descriptions, among other things, and it wouldn't do for me to try to give the scene that followed. Mrs. Coale was so beside herself with joy that for a time she forgot even to thank me. Alice broke into sobs and, clutching my hand, her head sank down on it. When I came to myself I found my eyes wet and my arm around her waist. But meanwhile I had it there for some time without her discovering it either, so I didn't hurry to take it away.

Well, I was promoted from best friend to—the other thing.

Advice From a Thief.

"An acquaintance of mine had a queer experience the other day," said a man who has not much faith in anything. "A short time ago he was introduced to a pickpocket by a friend. The pickpocket is one of the best in the business."

"My friend didn't think anything more about him, but the other night he was in a saloon, after he had been celebrating most of the day. He was pretty happy, and the pickpocket came in. My friend had a diamond stud in his tie with a screw attachment. The pickpocket walked up."

"You may not remember me," he said, "but I met you the other night with So-and-so. Take a bit of advice from me. You may lose that shiner of yours if you're not careful."

"Then the pickpocket looked at the diamond. He said the screw attachment wouldn't stop a good thief from getting the diamond, but he could fix that. He fished around in his pockets and produced a rubber band, which he tied around the screw."

"Now," he said, "they can only get your stone by biting it off."—New York Sun.

A perfect ruby of five carats averages at least five times the value of a diamond of the same size and quality in the precious stone market of today.
