DEMOCRATIC NEWS

Two Pictures.

Few of the people of Parke County saw the moving pictures presented by one of the local theatres last Wednesday evening, and fewer still saw in them the significance that they portray. By far the greater part of the spectacle was devoted to Mr. Taft, the Republican candidate. He was first pictured standing at one of the imposing entrances to the army and navy building in Washington City; well dressed, portly, even kindly in appearance, talking to a cabinet officer. The scene then changed to the beautiful surroundings of the White House; next Mr. Taft was shown going for a morning gallop, attended by two officers of the army; then he is shown reviewing a regiment of cavalry, and a battery of artillery; the splendid trappings of the horses, the military bearing of the officers, their salutes, the formalities, all a part and parcel of what is daily seen in Russia or any military despotism, told of the form of government for which Mr. Taft stands—a government of force that people fear, and obey because they fear.

The scene changed. A great concourse of people was shown in the foreground. It is an unsightly wharf at one of the great cities of the country. People are coming and going, boats are moving on the water, but in all the throng every man is clad in the dress of a citizen—not a uniform of any kind is seen. A steamer comes to its landing, and a great throng press forward. From the boat a crowd surges and passes along the gang plank. In the crowd a figure appears. 'Under the slouch hat left and right' as he glanced to acknowledge the plaudits of the people is seen a well known face—the face of a man known in every hamlet and on every farm in the land—the face of William J. Bryan. The scene changes to a roughly built speaker's stand. A man comes forward. He is surrounded by smiling and happy faces, he is patted on the back, his hand is grasped by men and women. It is Bryan. Bryan the demagogue, if you will, but a splendid demagogue, a demagogue such as Gladstone was, such as Lincoln was—the man of the people, standing for a government by consent of the governed, a government whose laws are to be obeyed and respected, not through fear, but love! —Rockville Tribune.

Judge Millard Cox, who writes editorial articles for the Democratic State Committee, says: "Who dares James E. Watson's campaign? Is it the steel trust, in which Dan G. Reid of the Indianapolis Star, Republican State organ, is a shining light? Is it the ship subsidy graft combination? Is it the Standard Oil Company? Does help come from Joe Cannon, who, while a member of Congress on $5,000 a year, has managed to make $2,000,000? Can James A. Hemenway, who entered Congress twelve years ago a poor man and is not reputed to be rich, spare a little for Watson? At any rate, where did (and does) he get it? It is said that his nomination cost him between $50,000 and $100,000. There was a scandal in the Republican State convention about the purchase of delegates. There was scandal in many places, notably Ft. Wayne, Anderson, Muncie, Terre Haute, South Bend, Marion and Evansville, about the election of delegates, and it was said that "money flowed like water." Where did it come from? Who put it up? Watson says he is a poor man. If so, who are the people who are backing him? And why are they backing him?"
