DEMOCRATIC NEWS

A Matter of Veracity.

Prior to election day in 1904 Democrats charged that representatives of the special interests were providing the Republican party with campaign funds. Mr. Roosevelt hotly denied the accusation, denouncing the Democrat who made it as a liar.

Later it developed that E. H. Harriman had collected $260,000 for the use and benefit of the Republican party in that campaign. This money came from Standard Oil officials and others, the detailed contributions being as follows:

Edward H. Harriman, $50,000.
H. McK. Twombly (representing the Vanderbilt interests) $25,000.
Chauncey M. Depew (personal) $25,000.

James Hazen Hyde, $25,000.
The Equitable Life Insurance Society, $10,000.
J. Pierpont Morgan, $10,000.

George W. Perkins (New York Life Insurance Company) $10,000.
H. H. Rogers, John D. Archbold, William Rockefeller, (Standard Oil Company), $30,000.
Cornelius N. Bliss (personal), $10,000.

James Speyer and Banking Interests, $10,000.
"Seven Friends" of Senator Depew $5,000 each, $35,000.
Sent to Mr. Harriman in smaller donations, $20,000.
Total $260,000.

Does any one believe that Mr. Roosevelt would have dared tell the people, prior to election day, that these men had contributed $260,000 to his campaign fund?

Will any one contend that the people were not entitled to know these facts prior to election day?

Now in 1908 publicity concerning campaign funds is demanded, prior to election day.

But Mr. Roosevelt insists that the people must trust the Republican managers and that the source of the Republican party's campaign fund will not be revealed until after the election!

And Mr. Taft—Mr. Roosevelt's candidate for the presidency—echoes this Roosevelt sentiment. The people must wait until they have cast their votes for the Republican ticket before they are to be told by the Republican managers of the interests by which the Republican campaign is being financed!—Commoner.

If Theodore Roosevelt is really looking for undesirable public men he need go no further than the Republican national ticket. Let him inquire how many millions of dollars of Indian oil leases have been given away since James Sherman was chairman of the committee on Indian affairs of the house of representatives. Let him find out what the Indians ever got for those leases in excess of a bottle of whiskey. Let him find out how many times those leases were given away in some omnibus appropriation bill and how few were granted in bills whose title stated their contents.

If the Republican party proposes to appeal to the conscience, the patriotism and the incorruptible citizenship of the country it must rid itself of the candidacy of James Sherman or its campaign is a forgery on its face.—Buffalo (N. Y.) Times.

I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at the Owl Drug Store.

COULDN'T STAND SHELTON.

Even Lt.-Gov. Woodruff, a Trust Character, Said the Present Treasurer of the National Committee, Would Jeopardize the State Ticket.

George R. Sheldon, treasurer of the Republican National committee, whose trust interests are well known, was compelled, under fire, to withdraw from the New York state ticket in the fall of 1902 when he was eager to accept the office of Lieutenant-Governor. His connections with the trusts and especially those owned and dominated by J. Pierpont Morgan and other favored trusts, became such an issue at that time that Governor B. B. Odell fought against his name being placed on the ticket. Odell even went so far as to wire Timothy Woodruff that he would not run on the same state ticket with Sheldon. United States Senator Thomas C. Platt was determined to have Sheldon on the ticket and informed the Republican leaders at the state convention at Saratoga that Sheldon's name would remain on the slate. The wires between the convention city and Albany were kept hot and, finally, Governor Odell was compelled to take a train for Saratoga in order to prevent Sheldon's name from appearing on the ticket. Governor Odell went direct to Senator Platt's home in Saratoga and, after a conference which lasted until 2 o'clock in the morning, Platt yielded and Sheldon's name was withdrawn and F. W. Higgins was nominated for the office sought by George R. Sheldon.

When it was announced that Sheldon would not be on the ticket three hundred delegates in front of Platt's house cheered the glad tidings.

Lt.-Gov. Woodruff, when asked at that time why he objected so strongly to Sheldon, said:

"I have no personal animosity toward Mr. Sheldon. I believe that the objections that have been raised to him are of the gravest sort and that they jeopardize the state ticket."

Gov. Odell had this to say a day before Sheldon's name was taken off the slate:

"I fought against George R. Sheldon because his business connections imperiled the whole ticket."

A Friend in Need.

A speaker in the recent Shropshire (England) election relates the following incident: One night he spoke in the poultry market at Wiltchurch. The next morning a young man stopped him in the street and said:

"I was looking well after you last night."

The speaker expressed surprise at the necessity.

The young man continued his story: "I saw a young man come into the meeting with his coat pockets bulging out in a way that made me suspicious. Two of us followed him in. He stood at the back of the room, and we stood one on each side of him. Gently but firmly we pressed against him. There was a faint crackling sound of breaking eggs, and the man was out of action."

Arms, Legs and the Man.

How many of us have noticed that we walk with our arms as well as with our legs? Sitting on a grassy slope overlooking a seaside promenade I was struck by the mechanical swing of the arms of the stream of passersby—the right arm always keeping position with the left leg and the left arm with the right leg. By attempting to reverse the order of the swing I found that I had a tendency to progress like a crab, while the effort to keep them fixed by the side was like the shutting off the steam from the engine. Arms and the man!—London Chronicle.

Would Mortgage the Farm.

A farmer on Rural Route 2, Empire, Ga., W. A. Floyd by name, says: "Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured the two worst sores I ever saw; one on my hand and one on my leg. It is worth more than its weight in gold. I would not be without it if I had to mortgage the farm to get it." Only 25c, at the Owl Drug Store.

The Women of Belgium.

No one can travel in Belgium without being struck by the extraordinary activity and prominence of the women. Over the doors of shops of all descriptions the name of the owner or owners is frequently followed by "Soeurs" or "Veuve." You find them proprietors of hotels and restaurants. They are often custodians of the churches. They are employed to tow the boats along the canal banks. They cut up the meat in the butchers' shops, and they are even to be noticed shoeing horses at the forge.

To those afflicted with kidney and bladder trouble, backache, rheumatism, Pileuses for the Kidneys brings relief in the first dose. Hundreds of people today testify to their remarkable healing and tonic properties. 30 day's trial $1.00. They purify the blood. Sold by Badger & Green.

Artist—It rained the whole day yesterday.

Post—Yes, and I was persecuted by bill collectors from early morning until night.

Artist—There was no escape?

Post—None. I chanced to look up, and even the sky was dun.

TRUST RIDDEN PARTY

Republican Leaders Should Be in Courts for Violating Anti-Trust Laws.

THE WEST COOL TO TAFT

Forgery of Ex-President Cleveland's Name by Republicans.

Mr. Taft Carries Three Press Agents on a Luxurious Train and Has to Send Out Postal Cards to Get People to Greet Him in the Cities.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 1.—Special.—Congressman Ollie James, of Kentucky, who made the speech of the Denver convention in seconding the nomination of Mr. Bryan, has arranged speaking dates in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kansas and Nebraska. Mr. James is a popular speaker, and there are as many demands for his appearance on the stump as any other campaign orator. While a visitor at Democratic National headquarters this week, he said:

"Bryan will be elected president in November by the greatest landslide the country has ever known. The record breaking crowds that greeted Mr. Bryan in Judge Taft's home city and state bespeak the sentiment of voters throughout the nation."

Ex-President Cleveland's Name Forgery.

"The dishonest and corrupt method the Republican party is resorting to in its desperation to defeat Mr. Bryan should cause all honest men to rebuke it," continued Mr. James. "The circulation of the pretended article by Grover Cleveland against Mr. Bryan shows to what extent the Republican party is willing to go in order to entrench in power for four years longer the agents of monopoly and the servants of plutocracy. They were willing not only to desecrate the memory of Mr. Cleveland, but to forge his name to an assault upon Mr. Bryan as well as an arraignment of the Democratic party. A party that is willing to desecrate the dead and prostitute the memory of a great ex-president will hesitate at nothing that is necessary. We may expect them again to invade the trust funds of widows and orphans held by insurance companies; we may expect them again to write other letters to 'My dear Harriman,' who was a director in thirty railroad corporations, corporations that had created a trust upon transportation and monopolized the highways of commerce, telling Harriman we are practical men and asking him to gather up a quarter of a million dollars to be used to elect the Republican party. What difference can the people distinguish between the Standard Oil company sending $50,000 to Senator Foraker to buy up newspapers and further the cause of the Republican party, and Harriman, who at the behest of President Roosevelt, got the trusts and monopolies to contribute $250,000 to be used directly on the voters, except that in the first instance Senator Foraker returned the money to the Standard Oil when he found out he could not purchase the newspapers? But Roosevelt allowed the Republican party to use the money that Harriman contributed to aid in his election. If the President desires in some way to make amends he should at least see that his party returns the money which Harriman contributed, to the widows and orphans of the insurance companies whose funds were depleted by a conscienceless band of pirates in the interest of the Republican party."

Republican Treasurer Trust Magnate.

"The treasurer of the Republican campaign fund is a well known trust magnate, a director in many monopolies; he is a force and power in Wall street. Mr. Wm. Nelson Cromwell, who we are informed, contributed $50,000 to the Republican campaign fund, is also a director in many trusts that the Roosevelt party should have before the courts answering indictments for violating the anti-trust law rather than contributing to the Republican campaign fund."

Elegance vs. Simplicity.

The contrast between the Democratic simplicity with which Mr. Bryan has traveled and the elegance of the Taft accommodations on rail, is as marked as the contrast between the size and enthusiasm of the audiences which have greeted the Democratic candidate, and those which Mr. Taft has addressed. While one great New York newspaper which is supporting Mr. Taft and which maintains a press association service has refused to have a correspondent with Mr. Bryan, ample accommodations are afforded aboard the Taft special for the special correspondents of all the large papers. In addition, for the first time in the history of any campaign, Mr. Taft is carrying with him three press agents paid by the national committee for the purpose of influencing public opinion.

Hired Press Agents.

Notwithstanding all this, the reports come from all along the line that Mr. Taft's receptions have been remarkably chilly, and that the audience have been indifferent to his speeches and involved explanations of his attitude upon public questions. At George Ade's Indiana farm a large crowd was gathered because a harvest festival had been advertised. The people ex-chairman of the Press Bureau, said: "I was in New York when the Times printed the fraudulent Cleveland letter. To my mind, it bore upon its face the evidence that it was a crude forgery, doing violence to the known sentiments of Mr. Cleveland. I found that most of Mr. Cleveland's friends and nearly all the newspaper men believed it to be a fake. Mrs. Cleveland has protected the memory of her distinguished husband by her course in the matter, for the letter, as published, did violence to his utterances and to his public career. I was informed at the time that the forged letter was offered to the New York Herald and to the New York World, but they refused to touch it. The New York Times has a good motto—'All the news that's fit to print.'—It would do well to add—'no fake stories printed that other journals refuse.'—Those Republicans who have been spending money derived from trusts to circulate the fraudulent Cleveland letter must, if honest, spend as much money to circulate pamphlets saying that the letter they circulated was a clumsy fraud."

Post Card System.

When Mr. Taft learned that the mountain would not come to Mahomet, he decided that Mahomet must go to the mountain. When he found that the people would not come to him and listen to his speeches from the golf links at Hot Springs and from the front porch of Brother Charles's palatial residence in Cincinnati, he determined to go out among the people.

Apparently, however, there is grave fear among the Republican leaders that their candidate will not be gladly received by the people. In order to overcome this difficulty and in an effort to bring out a crowd to greet Mr. Taft, the Chicago managers have found it necessary to send out postal card notices to the faithful, begging them to go to the railroad station and give the distinguished visitor "a cordial welcome." During the past few days prominent Republicans have received the following notice from Fred W. Upham, assistant treasurer of the Republican National Committee:

Chicago, September 21, 1908.

Hon. Wm. H. Taft, the Republican party's candidate for president and the people's choice, will arrive in Chicago, Wednesday (September 23) evening at 5 o'clock, at the La Salle Street station of the L. S. & M. S. Ry. Please be at the station with your friends and give him a cordial welcome. It will be Mr. Taft's first visit since the famous convention which nominated him for president. Very truly yours,

Fred W. Upham.

Small Hall for Taft.

To give Mr. Taft an opportunity to explain his attitude toward labor and his injunction record, in a city where hundreds of thousands of laboring men are interested in what he has to say, the Republicans selected a hall with a capacity of less than 2,000 and provided for admission by card only, in order that none but those who agree with him might be allowed to enter. This hall was selected in the heart of the business section after an option on a hall with 15,000 capacity in the center of the working men's district had been refused. The inference is plain that the Republican managers feared to have their candidate appear in a distinctively laboring district where all who would might come and hear, lest the great welcome planned for might be turned into a demonstration for his political opponent, or that Mr. Taft might be asked embarrassing questions.

Stumping Falls Flat.

The fact of the matter is that Mr. Taft's stumping experiment has fallen flat; he has produced absolutely no enthusiasm among the voters, and he has said or done nothing which will improve his chances. Republicans are unable to conceal their feelings of disappointment over the poor showing which their candidate has made. Mr. Taft's progress thus far, and the manner in which he has been received is complete vindication of those Republican leaders who from the first opposed the plan of having him take to the rear platform. They advocated a front porch campaign wherein the candidate should be kept in the background, and others allowed to make his canvass upon Roosevelt's record. The advocates of a stumping campaign prevailed, however, and now they are sorry it was ever begun.

Senator Crane Trust Ally.

The appearance of Senator W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts, upon the Republican scene as chief "advisor" of Chairman Hitchcock in the management of Mr. Taft's campaign, is regarded as further unmistakable evidence of the alliance of the Republican party with the trust interests for the election of Taft. Senator Crane may not be very well known by the farmers and laboring men of the west, but he has a very extensive and intimate acquaintance in Wall street and with the trust protected interests of the east. He belongs to that little coterie of men who rule the United States senate. He is the principal advisor of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, who stands at the head of the Standard Oil list of senators. Senator Crane is second in command.

The failure of Chairman Hitchcock's campaign for Taft made it necessary for the Republicans to form a closer relationship with the trusts in order to procure funds with which to carry on their propaganda. No man is better suited to do the cementing than is Senator Crane. He is a Republican of high standing and is a trust magnate. His interests lie with those who are monopolists and with the trusts.

A Discovery

(Original.)
Last summer I went to the seashore with a party of young people, my intimate friends. Among them was Virgina McGregor, for whom I had long had a fancy. I did not consider myself good enough for Virginia, and there was a fellow about her all the while with whom she seemed especially pleased. At least whenever I saw them together she looked at him with her big eyes in a way she never looked at any other man, certainly not at me.

One morning at the bathing house we all went down to the beach for a bath. Virginia had on a pretty shade of brown mohair that suited exactly the tint of her Titian hair. She certainly looked entrancing, and I couldn't keep my eyes off her. She didn't appear to notice my admiration, and I fancied that, being absorbed in thought with the other fellow, she was not likely to notice any admiration but his.
There was one thing about her that attracted my especial attention. About her neck was a gold chain to which hung a tiny brass key. I wished to know what the treasure was that it locked, but I don't consider curious questions well bred.

Virginia was a good swimmer, I a fair one. She stepped lightly into the surf, jumped over the first two waves and took a header under the third.
When she came up she swam like a mermaid straight out beyond the roped inclosure. I was talking to one of the girls of the party at the time and as soon as I could get away went in after Virginia.

The wind was blowing up the coast from the south, crossing the waves rolling in from the east, a condition productive of sea pounce. From the top of a wave I saw that Virginia had been caught in one of these whirlpools and was being carried out. At the same time she gave a shriek. The bathing master heard it and plunged in, while two men standing on the beach, seeing her danger, pulled the lifeboat to the surf, launched it and hastened to the rescue.

Meanwhile I swam for Virginia and by a vigorous effort succeeded in reaching her. She had become paralyzed by fright and could do nothing whatever for herself. While trying to get my hand on something by which to support her my fingers got caught in the gold chain about her neck. I grasped it and held her up by it till a moment before the simultaneous arrival of the lifeboat and the bathing master, when it broke. I held on to it while we were both being pulled into the boat.

Virginia was too exhausted and excited to notice her loss then, and I said nothing about it. As soon as we were safe ashore she thanked me for my effort, but there was no warmth in her gratitude. She then left the beach and I saw no more of her till the evening. I should have given her the broken chain and the key still attached, but I did not. I thought I would wait awhile. She did not mention them, and finally I asked her if she had them on. She said regretfully that she had lost them in the ocean. I sympathized with her in her loss, remarking that she seemed to prize them. The only reply I received was a blush.

I kept the articles, thinking every day that I would return them, but somehow I couldn't make up my mind to do so. The truth is I coveted Virginia, though I scarcely realized it.
When a fellow covets a girl he is apt to hold on to anything of hers he can get his hands on. I have known a lover to carry a shoe string next his heart. I couldn't give up the chain that had clasped Virginia's neck nor the key which I fancied might lock some man's love letters.

That winter I was made much of by the McGregor family, they considering that they owed me Virginia's life. One evening, being at their house at a social gathering, the premises being thrown open, I concluded to reconnoiter with a view to getting a sight of the mysterious inclosure that contained —I was curious to know what. Passing a bedroom the door of which was open, I saw a curious box of brass and mosaic on a dresser. I listened, and not hearing any one on the floor stepped in and, taking my key from my vest pocket, put it to the keyhole of the box.
It slipped in as though it had been made for the lock. I hesitated, blushed at the dishonorable act I was tempted to perform, remembered that it was fair in love and war and turned the key. A tiny click and I raised the lid. There was a faded rose falling to pieces. Indeed, it was but scattered stem and petals. There was a bit of folded paper.
I opened it.

To say I was astonished expresses nothing. First I recognized my own handwriting. Next I saw that it was a message I had passed to Virginia long before when a lot of us boys and girls were amusing ourselves together with bits of nonsense. The only other thing in the box was a photograph face down.
I turned it, and, behold, it was my own honest face when I was half a dozen years younger. I had just time to put the articles back in the box, lock it and get out when I heard Virginia's voice at the foot of the stairway. I met her halfway down.

I didn't propose to Virginia right off. Oh, no. I played with her as a cat would tease a mouse. Why should the girls have all the fun? I made love to her confidentially, knowing her secret, occasionally pressing her to tell me what the key locked. But not till after our marriage did I confess that I knew as well as she.

DEPAUW NEWS

COACH BROWN MAKES PLANS VARSITY VS. SCRUBS TODAY

DePAUW WILL PROBABLY BE REPRESENTED IN STATE
CROSS-COUNTRY.

THE BOARD TO GIVE CONSENT

It is probable that DePauw will be well represented in the state cross country run to be pulled off at Notre Dame on November 24. Coach Brown is confident that there is sufficient material in the university to give us a good showing and it only remains for the officers of the athletic association to give their formal consent to make the matter a definite plan.

There are now a dozen or so athletes from which to select a likely bunch for the event. These men have been taking cross country runs all fall under the direction of Prof.
Barnes and the organization of a good squad would therefore be a comparatively simple matter.

The university athletic association would be required to pay the expenses of our representatives in case the invitation of the Catholic school is accepted and as soon as the proposition is definitely settled active preparations and training for the event will begin.

CAN STUDENTS BE TRUSTED?

PROFESSOR BARNES HOLDS IN-TERESTING SESSION OF JOURNALISM CLASS.

HEARS REPORTS FROM TIPS

Can the college student be trusted? This is the momentous question which is filling the mind of all the members of Prof. Barnes' journalism class after last night's lecture hour.

Last Monday at the recitation period each student was given an assignment and took an honor-bright pledge not to confer with any of his fellows in the matter. At the same time two students were assigned the apparently impossible task of finding what the others had to do in the way of reporting.

Last night when the lecture hour opened the professor called upon the two detective students to give their report. It was an exceedingly surprised and embarrassed looking class of young men which heard the testimony of the two newspaper men, for there were only few assignments which had not been discovered. This brings an answer to the question, can the college student be trusted?
As a negative one.

This test of Prof. Barnes has been often tried in various journalism classes and newspaper offices of the country, with like results, but, of course, it is seen at once that no moral issue is involved.

PEACE ORATORICAL

Officers Are Elected at Yesterday's Meeting.

The Peace Oratorical Association held a business meeting in Plato Hall last night. Arthur Adams was elected recording secretary. Arrangements were made for the meeting next Friday evening at which time Miss Minnetta Taylor will address the association.

President Flynn and the officers of the association urge as many De-Pauw students as can to attend.
Miss Taylor is one of Indiana's foremost literary women, and an opportunity to hear her speak should not be neglected.

Debate Council Meets.

Jay Carpenter the president of the Debate Council has called a meeting of the Council to be held in Plato Hall at 1 o'clock today.

All the members are urged to be present. Three unexcused absences now are sufficient for an expulsion and hereafter the rule will be enforced.

If you are a sufferer from piles, lief with the first application. Guaranteed. Price 50c. Sold by Badger

THE REGULARS AND COLTS
WILL PLAY AN EXHIBITION GAME.

THE TEAMS SHOW DEVELOPMENT

This afternoon at the usual practice time the varsity and scrubs will be pitted against each other for an exhibition game on McKee Field.
The object of the public practice is to give the students an idea of the development which the last two weeks has produced in the squad.
Two short halves will be played. It is not known just who will be on the line with the regulars but it is probable that some varsity material may be put in to balance up the scrub side of the lineup.

Yesterday's practice consisted only of signal work. If the game at Omaha is taken on to the schedule it will mean hard work for the squad next week as the proposed game will follow the Rose Poly game with only three or four day's intermission and an extra large varsity squad will necessarily be needed to be ready for actual service should any injuries to the team result from the first game.

JUNIORS ELECT OFFICERS

NO STORMY SESSION ACCOMP-ANIES THE NOMINA-TIONS.

MR. McLEAN IS MADE PRESIDENT

In a meeting of perfect tranquillity held yesterday afternoon in Meharry Hall, Henry W. McLean was elected president of the Junior class along with the entire Independent ticket.

As a marked contrast to the heated and turbulent meetings of former times the election went off in a parliamentary manner. Prof. Gough acting as chairman. There was but one ticket in the field and hence the election of the Independent candidates were made unanimous.

Here are the new officers of the Junior class:

President, W. Henry McLean;
Vice-president, Edna Coffing; Secretary, Gladys Rogers; Treasurer, Wilbert Ward; Sergeant-at-Arms, Paul Shawalter; Basketball Captain, Charles Crick; Basketball Manager,
Harry Hess; Baseball Captain, W. F.
Reagan; Baseball Manager, Claude Lisman; Football Captain, William Smith; Football Manager, Louis Hays; Track Captain, Clinton Man-gun; Class Poetess, Alma Gobin; Class Historian, Bernice Bassett;
Student Council, Roscoe Gephart, Paul Riddick, Arthur Cornell.

ACADEMY NOTES

The Academy Literary Society will meet in Room One, West College, this evening at 7:30. All students of the University are invited.

Professor Kleinsmidt reports that a very satisfactory schedule has been arranged for football games this season. The team is working hard and it now looks as if they would have an unusually successful year.

The Academy football team will play the Greencastle high school team this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on McKee Field. This is the first season the high school has had an eleven for some time. We were told they had a good team, but Captain Long expects his bunch to pile up a big score on them.

Mrs. Clark of South Bend has entered the School of Art for some special work in designing.

Mrs. Bott of Star City is visiting her daughter of the Music and Art Schools at Woman's Hall.

Miss Steele has gone to her home in Martinsville, Ill., and Miss Walls to hers in Farmersburg to spend Sunday.

MISS KERN PUBLISHES BOOK

"LITTLE STORIES RETOLD" IS NOW BEING READ BY FRESHMEN.

FOLK-LORE STORIES ARE TOLD

A little book has recently been issued by the American book company and has found its way to the desks of many DePauw students entitled "Little Stories Retold" with no less a personage for author than Miss Minna Kern of this University, assisted by her brother James R.
Kern.

As the title indicates it is a series of old German Maerchen or folklore stories which were originally gathered from the people by the Grimm brothers and which are now retold simply for beginners in German by Miss Kern, our eminent German professor.

Although the book in a measure belongs to the Grimm brothers yet Miss Kern's strong personality is felt in every line. The book will be used by the Freshman class this year as a reader.

Eating the Octopus.

At Atlantic City one day a fisherman caught an octopus, a rare fish in those waters. The octopus, which resembled a frayed and ruined football of brown leather, was carried home by the fisherman in a bucket of water.

"What am I going to do with it?" he said. "Why, I'm going to eat it.
I'd almost as soon eat octopus as scallops. I am a traveler, and I learned in Italy and France the octopus' excellence. You can't give an Italian of the Riviera or a Frenchman of the northwest coast, where the fish abounds, a more welcome dish. What does it taste like? It tastes like scallops or like tripe and oysters."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Cynical Jowett.

Professor Jowett's comments on the young men of Balliol often took the form of crushing sarcasms. "The college, Mr. X., thinks highly of you," he once said, "perhaps too highly, but not half so highly. I am sure, as you think of yourself." After a lengthy survey of one's person, as if one was some rare animal, he has been known to ask of the instructor, "Mr. A. is an intelligent young man, is he not, Mr. Y.?"

Greencastle, Ind., Oct. 10, 1908.

In connection with the above letter of thanks the following letter from Comrade Alexander the distinguished and revered Department Commander speaks for itself:

Bedford, Ind., Oct. 9, 1908.

General Jesse M. Lee, Greencastle, Ind.

Dear Comrade:

I take this occasion to thank you in my "own proper person" for courtesies extended to me on yesterday, and also to you, and the Comrades of your Post and the Woman's Relief

In the name of the department of Indiana for your splendid meeting, and the courtesies and kindness shown to all, the officers of the department and visiting comrades. It was certainly a "red letter day" to us all. My train was late in arriving in Bedford, and when I reached home I had a "roaring headache," but glad I had the privilege of being with you all, for I certainly enjoyed being there, and meeting so many Comrades. I was not very well all day, as I had a little fever, which lasted me until in the night.

Accept my kindest wishes for yourself and the continued prosperity of your Post, and all Posts in your county, and believe me as ever,

Your Comrade in F. C. & L., John D. Alexander, Comr. Dept. Ind. G. A. R.

LETTER OF THANKS

Editor Herald: The Ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Comrades of Greencastle Post, G. A. R., desire to express their most cordial thanks to one and all who contributed to the splendid success of the reunion on last Thursday, the 8th instant.

Their special thanks are extended to the patriotic citizens for the beautiful display of flags and bunting as a welcome to the visiting Posts; to the Court House officials for the use of the Assembly Room and corridors, and assistance of attendants; to Mr. W. A. Grogan of the Belnap Hotel and to Mr. E. B. Lynch and R. J. Gillespie for their generous courtesies; to the Fire and Drum Corps consisting of Hon. T. T. Moore and Messrs. J. S. Hunter, Elam Denny and Chas. Conklin, for the inspiring and martial music; to Comrade Rev. D. K. Landes for his eloquent and appropriate invocation; to Comrades Martin, Starr and Ratcliff for their apt and happy responses to the welcome extended to their Posts; to Comrade J. D. Alexander for his ornate and touching address, "in which he poured out his patriotic soul;" to Mrs. Frank Donner for her thrilling recitation of "The Old Veteran;" to Mr. Albert Moran for his spirited rendition of the patriotic song, "The Sword of Bunker Hill;" for the heart-to-heart talks of a most delightful variety—in reminiscence, pathos, and merriment, from Mrs. Aggie Hitt, of the Woman's Relief Corps, from Comrades Fessler, Daugherty, Baisley, Wheat and Hardin, and to Rev. Dr. VanDyke for his impressive benediction.

To the Banner and to the Herald we express our thankful appreciation for the generous and timely publication of the notices and program of the reunion, and also for their full and faithful reports of the exercises.

There was not a single incident to mar the enjoyment of the occasion; and the Woman's Relief Corps and Greencastle Post expresses their highest gratification to the visiting Posts from Cloverdale, Bainbridge and Portland Mills, and to other guests for their prompt and patriotic response to our invitation—a response which has made Thursday, October 8, 1908, "a red-letter day," of unalloyed pleasure in the reunion of the Woman's Relief Corps and the Grand Army Posts of Putnam County.

Maye we meet again!

FRESHMEN ENTERTAINED

The High School Freshmen were entertained last night at the home of the class president, Jack Bridges, on Franklin Street. Near fifty of the class were present and enjoyed the evening which was spent in transacting the class business and in playing charades and other games. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. The Freshmen say the Sophomores tried to disturb them but that they weren't worried at all.

Just Issued.

Every reader of this article who has idle money, is requested to write for a little booklet just issued, that explains a first real estate mortgage, with a good rate of interest and gift endge security back of it. All successful farmers, business men, school teachers, bankers, professional men and capitalists are especially invited to read the book. It gives good photographs of the land and its products and explains the method of a 6 per cent first mortgage real estate bond issue. The Marion Trust Company, of Indianapolis, Ind., is trustee. The book will be mailed free upon request by writing W. J. Stapish, Anderson, Indiana. You must act without delay or you will miss more than you realize. Successful farmers should be specially interested.

He was a frank New York beggar, soliciting in Fourteenth street, who, when asked why he didn't go to work, answered, "Why should I try to get work when I couldn't earn more than a couple of dollars a day and I can make three or four dollars a day much easier?"

In the reign of Edward III, there were eminent clothiers and woolsen weavers whose family name was Blanket. They were the first persons to manufacture that comfortable material which has ever since been called by their name and which was then used for peasants' clothing.

Kitchen Shower.

The members of Fillmore Rebekah Lodge No. 652 to the number of 35 or 40 gave a kitchen showers at their hall Tuesday night in honor of two of their members, Oliver Coffin and wife who were married last week. They received several valuable and useful presents. The groom is the eldest son of Jesse and Elizabeth Coffin who reside east of Fillmore and the bride is the highly respected daughter of T. J. and Melvina Ruark who reside east of Greencastle. The groom is employed as operator by the Vandalia Railroad Company working as second trick man at Fillmore. They will go to housekeeping at once in their beautiful new home in the south part of town which the groom has prepared for his bride. May they live long and prosper is the wish of their many friends.

Locking the Telephone.

The telephone began to ring in the lawyer's office. He unlocked the little padlock on it, answered the call, then carefully padlocked it again.

"I always do that now," said he, "on account of my friends. I didn't the first month I took the office. At the end of that month I had a bill of $53.05, telephone calls. Oh, yes; long distance and every other kind."—New York Press.
