PRINTING THE BALLOTS

COUNTY AND TOWNSHIP TICKETS ARE NOW AT PRESS IN THE STAR-DEMOCRAT OFFICE—TWICE THE NUMBER ACTUALLY NEEDED ARE BEING MADE—BESIDE THERE ARE SIX SAMPLE BALLOTS FOR EACH PRECINCT.

THE TOTAL NUMBER IS 23,664

The Work Was Begun Yesterday Morning and Will be Completed This Evening—Jas. Denny, Fay Hamilton and William Sutherland Are Superintending the Work.

The printing of the county and township ballots for the election to be held next Tuesday is now going on at the Star-Democrat office. In all 23,664 ballots will be printed. Of these 11,730 are county ballots. Then there are the same number of township ballots. Beside these there are 204 sample ballots.

The number of ballots to be printed is computed from the number of votes cast for president in each precinct at the last general election. Twice the number of ballots are printed for each precinct as the total of the number of votes cast in that precinct for president at the last general election in 1904.

The printing of the ballots is supervised by the election commissioners. This board is composed of William Sutherland, Fay Hamilton and James Denny. This year Mr. Denny is looking after the county ballots. He stands at the press and personally sees that each ballot is properly printed. He also counts them and puts them away in packages of 100 each. The commissioners also see that all disfigured ballots are destroyed.

While Mr. Denny is supervising the printing of the county ballots, Mr. Sutherland is looking after the printing of the township ballots. No one is allowed in the press room, outside of the commissioners and the workmen, during the time the ballots are at press. Two presses are kept going continually. At night the forms from which the ballots are being printed are taken from the presses and locked in a safe.

As fast as the ballots are printed they are taken to the County Clerk's office and locked in a safe. After the printing of the ballots is completed the commissioners will meet in the clerk's office and arrange them for distribution. The ballots for each precinct will be put in a sealed package and delivered to the election board of each precinct the day before the election.

Following is the several precincts and the number of ballots allotted to each:

CARS BURN

A string of seven empty freight cars, belonging to the Big Four, was burned Sunday morning, causing a loss of two thousand dollars. The cars were on the old track near Barnaby's mill. It is supposed they caught fire from fires put out by tramps.

HAVE SECRET AGREEMENT LAST MEETING TO-MORROW

Working Compact Between the Anti-Saloon League and Republican Headquarters Shows Partisanship Of the League.

REPUBLICANS SEND LEAGUE MAIL

The following letters explain themselves. The first one, sent out by James P. Goodrich, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, to Republican Precinct Committeemen, was intended to put in his possession the names of "from five to ten reliable temperance Democrats." When he had secured these names, the other letter given below was mailed to them by the "Anti-Saloon League." The letters show the close-working arrangement between the Republican State machine and the "League." If any "reliable temperance Democrats" receive the "League's" appeal, they will understand that it comes to them merely as a part of the Republican campaign.

Here are the letters:

Indianapolis, Oct. 21, 1908.
My Dear Sir:

This is very important. Please send us in the enclosed envelope just as quickly as possible, the names of from five to ten reliable temperance Democrats of your precinct. If you will do this, I am sure that there will be votes made for the Republican ticket.

Please write the names and post-office addresses on the back of this sheet and return it to us in the enclosed stamped envelope by return mail.

Very truly yours,
James P. Goodrich, Chairman.

When the names were received this letter was sent out from Republican headquarters.

Dear Sir:

In our opinion, Indiana is confronted with the most serious crisis since the civil war. Unless the friends of temperance stand together against the liquor interests at the coming election we may lose those advantages which have been gained by years of strenuous endeavors. It is the intention of brewers and other managers of the liquor interest to elect a governor, a lieutenant-governor and a legislature in Indiana that can be depended upon to repeal the county local option law. They are doing their utmost to defeat Attorney-General James Bingham for reelection, because he has brought suits against the leading breweries in the State to have their charters annulled on account of their constant, open and flagrant violation of law.

There is no time for the friends of good government to dwell upon mere party differences or microscopic differences in temperance methods. We are confronted by a common foe, bold, brazen, determined and unscrupulous, and it is now necessary for good citizens of whatever party or church affiliations to stand together like a wall of adamant.

We therefore urge voters to stand by those candidates for re-election who voted for the passage of our county local option law. We urge that every candidate favorable to the saloon be defeated. For your further information we publish herewith the accurate records of the two leading candidates for governor. Do not lose sight of the fact that one of these candidates is sure to be elected the next governor of Indiana.

If the people of our churches and all other decent, self-respecting and law-loving citizens will now sink minor matters out of sight and unite in this crisis to oppose the ruinous policy of the leaders of the liquor men, we can promise that this crisis will be safely passed and the liberties of the people in self-government once more successfully defended and secured.

Yours for Righteous Government!

Most Successful Bryan and Kern Club Will Hold Its Last Regular Meeting in the Assembly Room at 7:30 O'clock Wednesday Evening—Brilliant Orator Will Address Crowd.

W. V. ROOKER TO BE SPEAKER

The last regular meeting of the Bryan and Kern Club will be held tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the court house. W. V. Rooker, an attorney of Indianapolis, and one of the most talented orators of the state will address the crowd. On account of the prominence of the speaker and it being the last regular meeting a large crowd will be out.

The club, which was formed early in the campaign has been a most successful organization. The club has met on each Wednesday night and large crowds have turned out on each occasion.

MUST TAKE TICKETS SOON

Those who ordered lecture course tickets held for them at Langdon's Book store should see that their tickets are all reclaimed by Saturday afternoon. Tickets will be held for those who find it necessary to wait until early on the evening of the performance but it is the desire of the management that the tickets all be reclaimed by Saturday afternoon in order to avoid confusion in the evening and in order to make way for those who are still wanting tickets for the course in case any of those which are now being held should not be reclaimed.

There are still several good seats remaining on the lower floor of the hall and balcony. Those who are wanting tickets for the entire course should see to this before Thursday for the tickets for the single admission of Victor's band go on sale Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The sale this year has been a good one but if there are any students or citizens of the city who are still in need of course tickets they should see to it that they purchase them early this week for they are still selling and by the latter part of the week it is thought first-class seats on the lower floor will be hard to find.

Course tickets, however, can be purchased until the night of the first performance but those waiting that long will not have much choice. Single admission seats for Victor's band next Saturday night will sell at 50 and 75 cents each, the latter going on sale Thursday afternoon.

PERSONAL

J. M. Duncan of Cloverland has taken rooms at Mrs. Young's on the corner of Jackson and Poplar Sts. Mr. Duncan is the night agent at the interurban.

Mrs. Dr. Young of Evansville, is visiting her daughter, who is in school here. Mrs. Young was formerly Miss Emma Blake of this city and is a DePauw graduate of the class of '78.

Wm. Madden and son, Edwin Madden of Washington, D. C., are visiting at the home of Mrs. John T. Maloney on West Franklin Street. Mr. Madden and his son are both loyal Democrats and are here to cast their votes for Mr. Bryan.

Al Shuttleworth of Parsons, Kas., who has been visiting at his old home in Philadelphia, Penn., is visiting old friends in the city and will return to Kansas, the latter part of the week. He says that Melvin Walls is now in the Philippine Islands. It was reported sometime ago that Mr. Walls had been killed.

Mrs. Sylvia Burtis of Indianapolis was here today calling on Mrs. W. A. Kreigh. Mrs. Burtis lost a watch in Indianapolis last Tuesday and advertised her loss in The News. Mrs. Kreigh who had found the watch while shopping in the city, wrote Mrs. Burtis with the result that the latter lady was able to claim her property.

TILL AFTER THE ELECTION

Have We Another Case of Postponed Action on the Part of the Republican Party or Was the Wish Father To the Thought.

MAN WITH JAG THINKS HE'S SAFE

"I'm safe till after the election." This was the statement of a man on the street this morning, a man already well under the influence of the essence of corn or rye or whatever his favorite decoction was. He was trying to borrow a quarter to purchase "medicine" with, as he declared to the friend who was being besieged for the favor. The friend remarked that it was not medicine that was wanted but more strong water which would land him in jail. The man replied that he wanted the medicine, but was safe on the other anyway till after the election.

On being asked why he was to acquire that exemption, he winked wisely and remarked that he was a Republican. Then with another prodigious wink he stumbled on down the street. Now this man may have been mistaken in the intentions of the marshal and his force. But wouldn't it be shattering the trust of a good voter to really put him in the battle, under the circumstances? We simply mention this to show what a hard proposition a Republican marshal is up against these days. We suggest that the thirsty refrain as far as possible, lest the marshal's sense of duty override that peculiar feeling that makes all Republicans kin before an election, and the trusting voter get a rude shock. And that would never do.

REPUBLICAN BANKER'S VIEW

A Republican Banker hit the nail on the head today when he expressed himself regarding the proposed bank guarantee legislation which the Democratic National platform declares for.

He was told that many Republicans were in favor of Bank Guarantee. "Oh, that's all right," he said. "It's a good thing and lots of Republicans are in favor of it, but they are not in favor of having the Democratic party arrange for it."

SIGNS POINT TO COLD WEATHER

Geese Go South and Wind Changes to The North Leading Weather Prophets to Prophecy Snow Storm.

Get ready for snow. This is on the authority of those who study the signs of the times. The first flock of wild geese went south at noon today, at least the first flock reported. The appearance of these birds together with the change of the wind into the west has brought the weather-wise from their concealment, and prophecy is rife this afternoon. Especially in evidence is the man who has held that we would have no rain till after it has snowed. This man and his kind are saying that the snow is coming, and are ready to cry, "I told you so," if rain follows.

Many declare that we are to have a cold winter because of the thickness of the corn shuck. Others declare that they have been unable to find any corn in order to examine the shuck, and therefore can make no prediction. All are agreed, however, that it looks and feels like snow this afternoon.

S. C. C.'S MEET

A. called meeting of the S. C. C.'s was held last night at the home of Mrs. Ernest Browning. The special meeting was in honor of a visiting member, Mrs. Nettie Sellers Rose of Jeffersonville, and anticipated the coming of Hallowe'en. Autumn leaves were used as decorations and jack-o-lanterns and candles were used for lighting. A "dumb supper" was the feature of the evening and was followed by stunts of various sorts which the S. C. C.'s claim are not for publication.

Be sure to read "The People's Column" on the second page of the Herald today. There is food for thought there.

NOTICE TO PATRONS

On and after November 4 all of the barber shops will close at 7 o'clock p. m. instead of 8 p. m. each evening except Saturday. On Saturday night the shops will close at 11 o'clock.

Those who have tickets at Langdon's will be able to get them up to the night of the first performance, next Saturday night. Please call early Saturday to avoid inconvenience in selling tickets.

CHAS. CAWLEY DRAWS FARM

GREENCASTLE MAN ONE OF THE LUCKY DRAWERS ON THE UNITED STATES DRAWING FOR LANDS IN THE ROSEBUD LANDS OF NORTH DAKOTA—HIS NUMBER IS 390.

IS ASSURED A GOOD FARM

In All There Are 5,000 Claims and The Local Man Will Get His Choice After 389 Have Chosen the Land They Desire—Will Move Family to the West in the Near Future.

Charley Cawley of this town is one of the lucky drawers of the Government lands in North Dakota. The lands are known as the Rosebud lands. Each claim consists of 160 acres. In all there are 5000 claims.

Mr. Cawley drew number 390. This gives him the choice of the claims after the 389 persons who drew the numbers before his get their choice. The fact that Mr. Cawley's number is among the first drawn assures him an excellent piece of land.

It is the intention of Mr. Cawley to close up his business here and move his family to the West before many months. His sister, Miss Florence, will accompany him and make her home in the West. The lucky young man is receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

The Woman's League.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's League of the College Avenue church will be held in the chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A program of exceptional interest has been prepared. Mrs. Gobin will discuss "The Church's Relation to the Poor" and Mrs. Peck will present "The Church's Relation to Education." After the program refreshments will be served by the committee consisting of Mrs. Alice Thomas, Mrs. Pyke, Mrs. Stevens, Mrs. Landes and Mrs. Marshall.

The little five-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kennedy is critically ill of pneumonia.

THE CAMPAIGN LIE.

The opening days of the last week of the campaign have been noteworthy because of the number of wilful misstatements that have been sent out by the Republican party leaders. Men who have become notorious for their lack of political honesty, and are far-known for their broken political pledges, have taken the stump and the pen to pour out falsehood and misrepresentation. They believe that their statements will have weight. We are sorry to say they will. Under the influence of campaign bias men will believe things they would ordinarily pass by with a shrug. Thus the lie as to Marshall's record as a temperance man is being broad-casted again. It is being stated that he has been drunk and that his wife accompanies him to prevent such a lapse. And this in spite of the declaration, over his own name, of the clergyman of Mr. Marshall's church in Columbia City. The railing of such a barefaced falsehood should lead all voters to be wary of all statements issued from such a source. This week's papers will be filled with insincerity. The stump will be made the place for distributing misstatement, not by all Republican speakers but by many. When you see or hear, this week, believe in proportion to the record for political honesty of him who writes and speaks. And then you will believe too much.

The letter from Mr. Foster Pickett appearing in another column of today's Herald should be read by everyone. It's argument is sound, and the light it throws upon some of the claims of the Republican party in regard to prohibition is illuminating. Some time since the Herald noted that the Prohibitionists of Putnam County did not intend to scratch their own ticket in favor of the Republican nominees. This letter confirms the statement and gives the reasons for the action of staunch members of the Prohibition party. The letter is well worth reading.

It is a remarkable fact that the men who are opposing Marshall in Indiana because he is said, by them, to have the support of the brewers, are supporting Taft, who has the united support of all the brewers of the country and of other interests usually considered contrary to good government and good morals. This on the word of the national Prohibition paper. Can it be that there is interest in temperance only for political purposes among those who shout so loudly at all times these days?

Mr. Marshall has now refused to allow any friend to pay the expenses of a train for this, the last week of the campaign, that Mr. Marshall may make another tour of the state. Mr. Marshall refuses to allow any one to pay any of his expenses. Contrast this with the campaign made by Mr. Watson on the money of other people. There is a difference of character revealed here that is worth thinking about.

At Last. Mrs. Silas Bennett was a philosopher. On a certain dismal occasion some of the neighboring women were condoling with her. With commendable cheerfulness she replied:

"I've raised four girls an' three boys, expect'n' every time they'd be twins and red headed like their Grandpa Bennett, an' yet they ain't."

"An' I've worried consid'ble over smallpox breakin' out in my big family. So fer 'tain't."

"Last summer durin' July an' August an' mebbe part of September I was real meloncholic, fearin' I'd got an appendix, but I guess I ain't."

"An' though it all it never once occurred to me that I'd be the one to fall through them rotten old meetin' house steps an' break my leg in two places, but I be."

In Extremis.

Late one night a clergyman was called out to minister to an old man—a worker upon the adjacent railway—who was supposed to be dying. The summons was brought by another old man, the elder brother of the stricken one. While he was bustling about, making preparations for departure, the clergyman forgot momentarily the social status of his visitor and asked, "Is he in extremis?"

The old man was not going to be beaten. "Aye, he's right in, your reverence." After a pause he added as a clincher: "Clean in, poor chap. Right up to the neck, sir."—Cornhill Magazine.

He Had Been There.

Rodrick—Howdy, old man? We are going on a camping trip soon. Did you ever enjoy a camping trip where you had to do your own cooking and sleep beneath the stars? Van Albert—Nope. Rodrick—What? Do you mean to say you have never been on a camping trip? Van Albert—No, I mean to say that I never enjoyed one.—Chicago News.

THE PEOPLE'S COLUMN

LET TRUTH PREVAIL.

Interesting Letter From a Putnam County Prohibitionist Giving His Views of the Present Temperance Situation.

Editor Star and Democrat:

Dear Sir: With the near approach of the election the usual crop of scare-heads and campaign fiction crowds to the front in the hope of misleading the unwary voter, or terrorizing the timid.

In the Indianapolis Star of the 23rd inst. appeared a statement by Capt. Eli F. Ritter which has the flavor of exaggeration, to say the least. Capt. Ritter is quoted as saying that, from his talks with Prohibitionists of Indianapolis and elsewhere, "10,000 of the 23,000 votes cast for Mr. McWhirter four years ago will be given, this year, to Watson and the Republican legislative ticket." Election returns may be necessary to confirm Mr. Ritter's estimate but, if its correctness be conceded now, what will the Prohibitionists gain by voting the Republican ticket? Absolutely nothing in the way of promoting the principles for which they have been contending in the Prohibition party. Were ten thousand and Prohibition voters too dense to penetrate Governor Hanly's scheme in the passage of a local option law by extra session? And are there still ten thousand who cannot see that the chief aim of such a bill was the "side-tracking" of the liquor question during the remainder of the campaign?

It is a glaring absurdity for any party which permits, by its own consent, the liquor license law to remain a statute, to call itself a prohibition party, and the man who supports such a party and calls himself a prohibitionist is trying to perjure the flag under which he has no moral right to march. Furthermore, if he thinks to deceive by such assertions, unsupported by his own actions, he must be a self-deluded fool, in capable of using the intelligence of the average Prohibition voter.

It is no exaggeration to say that the Republican party is the pioneer in wholesale political corruption and trickery; and whatever party follows in its footsteps of civic unrighteousness should suffer the appropriate which it merits—which it will surely receive when true patriotism reaches its ascendancy.

While this brief article is not intended to fight a battle for either the Democratic or Republican party there is more to be said against the Republican party's efforts to get credit from Prohibitionists for the local option bill. They tell us that the brewers are bestowing their corruption fund upon the Democratic party, which, they affirm, is strong evidence that this local option is more inimical to their interests than any legislation by the Democrats would be. In the face of these things let every Prohibitionist remember that Mr. Marshall spoke truthfully when he said in one of his speeches that neither the Republican party nor the Democratic party is a prohibition party, but only strives to "regulate the sale" of intoxicating beverages.

As to the corruption fund of the brewers, perhaps none but the treacherous floater and his equally unscrupulous purchases will fully fathom the loathsome sink into which it will drop; but woe be upon any man whose hands are defiled by its touch.

Should Mr. Ritter's predicted slump be confirmed by election results the thirteen thousand who stand by their colors will not be robbed of the knowledge that whatever steps the Republicans may seem to have taken toward prohibition they have taken mainly for their party's sake and because the issue was forced upon them by the increasing prohibition sentiment. They could not evade the issues and, therefore, they have been temporized by the enactment of a "make-shift" law, but—they should read "The Parable of the Ninety-two Thistles."

Respectfully,

FOSTER PICKETT.

General Lee's Democracy.

Editor Greencastle Herald:

For one who is not in politics I regret that some papers have recently given me an unsought notoriety with a coloring and interpretation, in some particulars, foreign to my views.

While in certain respects I may admire Mr. Bryan, yet from my personal acquaintance with and admiration for, Mr. Taft, I have a higher regard for his practical ability as a statesman and believe that he will be more successful in carrying out the wise reforms in augurated by President Roosevelt.

My preference is not based on the fact that Mr. Taft was Secretary of War when I was promoted to Major-General. I have never assumed to advise old soldiers as to whether they should vote for Taft or Bryan, nor have I felt called upon to suggest to them to support Mr. Marshall and other Democrats because I would vote for them.

These matters, I believe, they will think out and decide for themselves regardless of the appeals of political demagogues, or of vote-buyers who may be in evidence on election day.

I hope to see Mr. Taft elected President; and also hope that Mr. Marshall and the balance of the State Democratic ticket may be successful.

I am an independent Democrat; and while my "through and through" predictions are in full accord with the fundamental principles of the Democracy of the Jacksonian and Cleveland type, I do not subscribe to any vagary because it bears a partisan label.

Being such a Democrat I feel free to support the best man when I think I know who and what he is, regardless of the shifting planks of vote-catching platforms—platforms to get in on, but not to stand on.

It seems evident that the masses—"the plain people"—are generally Democratic in principle, if not always so in practice, while among the classes that are aristocratic, money is regarded as omnipotent as a means to an end, whether right or wrong.

It seems almost incredible that any true American can accept the pernicious doctrine that any set of men or party has a monopoly of patriotism and civic virtues for public weal.

Should the belief ever prevail that a party long entrenched in power, state or nation, can not be dislodged without causing widespread ruin in legitimate industries and enterprises, our representative Democracy will speed to decay, and we might as well have a dynasty and dispense with all elections for legislative, executive and judicial officers. It will then be "an easy mount" from the "grounding" to "the man on horse-back."

A firm adherence to the principles of genuine Democracy will avert the disaster of either socialistic or plutocratic control of our Republic, and it will not be a question, "Shall the People Rule," but the question of how shall the people rule?

Against Laboring Men.

While William H. Taft is traveling about Ohio and elsewhere making frantic appeals for the support of laboring men, his running mate on the Republican ticket, James S. Sherman, is giving his endorsement to the statement that "labor unions are composed largely of anarchists, socialists and demagogues." Mr. Sherman heard the organized wage worker of the country thus denounced by a trust magnate who presided at a meeting where he spoke, and gave approval of the sentiment expressed. When Mr. Sherman appeared recently at Akron, Ohio, the meeting which he addressed was presided over by O. C. Barber, president of the Diamond Match Company. Mr. Barber introduced Mr. Sherman to the audience. In doing so he made use of the following language, as stenographically reported:

"One of the main reasons for the success of the Diamond Match Company is that its directors HAVE NEVER TOLERATED UNION LABOR IN ITS SHOP. THEY HAVE ALWAYS BEEN OPEN. We have had no one to dictate to us what wages we shall pay, what men we shall hire, and what hours our employees shall work. LABOR UNIONS TODAY ARE COMPOSED LARGELY OF ANARCHISTS, SOCIALISTS AND DEMAGOGUES."

But for the blessed Dingley tariff American newspapers could buy news print paper in Canada for $1.75. On this side they are paying all the way from $2.35 to $2.60. Canadian paper is as good as the domestic product and the labor employed in making it is as well paid as that on this side the border.—Johnstown Democrat.

MACK SEES VICTORY

Democratic National Chairman Declares That Bryan Will Carry East and West.

REPORTS SHOW RISING TIDE

Ohio, Indiana and New York in the Democratic Column.

Norman E. Mack, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is confident of the election of Mr. Bryan as president. In a statement summing up the situation he said:

"Three weeks ago it was apparent that the tide had turned toward Democracy, and that every outward evidence pointed to a Democratic victory in November. The situation is far better now than then, and I am confident in the belief that Mr. Bryan will be elected president. In fact, the campaign, from the Democratic viewpoint, has steadily improved with each succeeding week. As Mr. Bryan has presented the issues in various sections of the country, the people have become more and more convinced that his election is for the permanent prosperity and best interests of the nation."

"Of the many reports I have received from the various states there has not been one discouraging to our cause. On the other hand, all of our information has indicated that there will be a remarkable decrease in the Republican vote, and this statement applies alike to the banner Republican state of Pennsylvania as well as to states like New York, Ohio, and Indiana. Mr. Bryan will not only receive the majority of the electoral vote, but one of the greatest popular votes ever given a candidate."

Says Fight is Won.

"The fight is won, but we must keep everlastingly at it for the remaining two weeks of the campaign. Our reports have been of such an encouraging nature that I have at times had fears least some of those on duty would, in their enthusiasm, let up in the fight, and my parting word to those at headquarters is that they continue their efforts just as aggressively as if the contest had to be won in the declining days of the campaign."

"The Democratic party has a greater membership than the Republican party. The only question with us in recent years has been to get our folks together in harmonious and united phalanx. I do not believe there is a Democrat in the entire country who is outside of the breastworks in this campaign, and that is the greatest reason to my mind why Mr. Bryan will be inaugurated president on March 4 next. I will not attempt to give figures, but I will say now that New York, Ohio, and Indiana are Democratic this year, and my prediction does not take into consideration a number of other states that will swing from the Republican to the Democratic column on election day."

Republicans Pass the Lie.

Republican campaign managers have been endeavoring to create the impression that James Duncan, first vice president of the American Federation of Labor, is not in sympathy with the labor movement advocated by Mr. Gompers, urging union labor to support its friends and defeat its enemies in the present campaign. Mr. Duncan was advised of this fact and asked to state his attitude in the matter. His reply is explicit and gives the lie to the Republican managers who have been seeking to place him in a false light.

List of Trust Allies.

The Republican national committee is sending out a letter asking for "cash contributions," in which the declaration is made that "the election of Judge Taft and James S. Sherman is essential to the welfare of the country."

The letter is of interest by reason of the character of the men whose names appear on the letterhead, and who make this appeal. Here are the men who sign the letter informing the people of the country that Bryan's election will be dangerous:

Charles F. Brooker, head of the brass trust and vice president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, against which a government suit is now pending in the Federal courts.

Charles Nagel, of Missouri, one of the general attorneys of the Standard Oil company. This Standard Oil representative is in charge of Republican national campaign headquarters in Chicago.

Frank O. Lowden, multi-millionaire son-in-law of the late George M. Pullman, and now head of the great Pullman Palace Car trust, to which the traveling public pays tribute.

T. Coleman Du Pont, the head of the powder trust, which is fighting a suit against dissolution.

Boise Penrose, the political "boss" of the corrupt political machine in Pennsylvania.

George R. Sheldon, the personal representative of J. Pierpont Morgan, in the capacity of director in all his trust companies, and who collected trust money for the election of Governor Hughes of New York.

William Nelson Cromwell, the legal representative of Edward H. Harriman and probably the greatest trust lawyer in the United States.

Fred W. Upham, the "fat fryer" for the Republican party in the west, and the man who wrote letters to corporations whose property he assessed by virtue of his position as a member of the board of review in Chicago.

Farmers and Business Men Know.

This is a fine outfit to advise the farmers and business men in the west how to vote. Two of the signers are heads of corporations which are fighting for their existence in the courts.

Of course these men think Bryan's election dangerous; that is natural when one becomes acquainted with their connections. But there is not a legitimate business man in the nation, small or large, who has any reason to fear a Democratic victory.

Nursing Mothers and Over-burdened Women

In all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by over-work, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating restorative strength ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless safeguard against the system for baby's coming and render the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable, pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs from weakness of parts will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully and fairly persistently Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

This world-famed specific for woman's weaknesses and peculiar ailments is a pure glyceric extract of the choicest native, medicinal roots without a drop of alcohol in its make-up. All its ingredients printed in plain English on its bottle wrapper and attested under oath. Dr. Pierce thus invites the fullest investigation of his formula knowing that it will be found to contain only the best agents known to the most advanced medical science of all the different schools of practice for the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses and ailments.

If you want to know more about the composition and professional endorsement of the "Favorite Prescription," send postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his free booklet treating of same.

You can't afford to accept as a substitute for this remedy of known composition a secret nostrum of unknown composition. Don't do it.

Where Bulletins Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done me worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c at the Owl Drug Store

WILLIAM ALSPATH,

TURKISH ARMY OFFICERS.

They Are Neither Loved Nor Respected
by Their Men.

Very seldom if he can help it does the Turkish army officer appear on horseback, and when not on duty he looks upon his horse merely as a method of locomotion. He has no affection or understanding for the horse. The superior officers have no horses of their own, and, being generally bad riders and without military qualities which would raise them in the estimation of their men, they are neither loved nor respected by them. Married officers keep entirely to themselves, such things as invitations to one another's houses being unknown, and the only occasions upon which officers meet together at all are on the days of assembly, when they are called together for the sultan's birthday or accession celebrations.

The pay of the lower ranks is as small as that of the superior officers is high. The young cavalry officer who makes a good impression on his entry into the service soon falls by the wayside through want of occupation either of mind or body. The greater part of the morning and evening he sits over his coffee and cards or dominoes. There are but few newspapers, and those that do exist are so severely censored by the government that they contain little but weather statistics, gazettes and announcements of the bestowal of decorations.

What the Turkish officer really thoroughly enjoys is a gramophone. Instruments playing the waltzes and reproducing the music hall songs of all the cities of Europe are in the greatest possible request, chiefly because they make music without any personal trouble.—Chicago News.

A PRECARIOUS EXISTENCE.

Mental Tribulations of the Superstitious Woman.

The superstitious woman started to go downtown, but found that she had forgotten something. It was hard work to get her to go back for it, but when she did sit down for a few minutes to "take the curse off" before going out again. On the sidewalk she passed a cross-eyed man and had hard work to keep from spitting three times over her left shoulder. The first car that came along was No. 13. She let it go by and waited eight minutes for another. On the way downtown she remarked to a friend that she "had been in excellent health lately." Instantly she was obliged to loose her glove and rub her bare palm on the wood of the bench before her. As she and her friend were walking on Twenty-third street some thoughtless person darted between them. The superstitious woman was much disturbed and worried over the thought of a coming separation.

That night her husband upset the saltcellar. She insisted on his taking a pinch of the salt and throwing it over his shoulder. When she discovered for the night she discovered that she had been wearing one stocking wrong side out all day. It was the sign of good luck, and it allowed her to go to bed happy. But some time in the night a dog howled distinctly under her window. From that moment she has been looking for a calamity. Nothing will make her believe that there will not soon be a death in her immediate family.—St. Louis Republic.

When the Noise Let Up.

Two young women of stolid, common sense appearance were the sole feminine occupants of a subway car until there entered a flashily dressed girl, with face made up like a cosmetic advertisement and accompanied by a young man attired in the "extreme." The two young women eyed the newcomer with interest while they continued their conversation. The train slowed down at the next station, the rattle and bang of operation ceased and the voice of one of the young women became suddenly audible:

"If I had a face like that, do you know what I'd do? I'd hock it." The girl with the makeup looked daggers, her escort looked foolish, the speaker looked out of the window and a dozen passengers looked as though they enjoyed it.—New York Globe.

His Insignia.

The mayor of Z. is a self-made man, and, as in the case of some others of that kind, not too much attention was paid to his early education. A little while ago a gentleman who was engaged in compiling a work on corporation regalia wrote to his worship requesting a photograph of his insignia. The mayor by return of post replied that he was only too pleased to accede to the other's wish. "But," he wrote, "instead of a mere photograph I beg to send you the genuine article." And there followed immediately underneath in good round copperplate the mayoral signature.—London Answers.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Lady (entering breathless): I want to stop the divorce suit! Lawyer—Why, you said your husband was an abominable, beastly brute and you wanted to be rid of him at any cost! Lady—Oh, yes; I know. But now an automobile has run over him, and I want you to start suit for damages.—Lippincott's Magazine.

He Smoked.

"What do you mean by smoking my pipe, young man?" queried the stern father of a precocious five-year-old. "Mamma said if I teased the cat again she'd make me smoke for it," explained the little fellow. "and I teased her again."—Chicago News.

After all, it is the imponderables that move the world—heat, electricity, love.—Holmes.

GREENSTREET IS INJURED ADDRESSES THE LAW CLUB

ONLY METHODIST INJURED IN GAME WITH GEORGETOWN.

THE HOSPITAL LIST IS SHORT

Greenstreet is the only cripple on the squad as a result of Saturday's contest with Georgetown. Greenstreet is suffering from a painful injury in the shoulder and will be out of the game for several days although the physician says the injury is in no way permanent and is not expected to keep the halfback out of the Purdue game Saturday.

Peck is off the squad for the rest of the season with a wrenched knee received in last week's practice. Peck was a new man on the squad and was making good in practice.

Schladerman is still suffering from an injured thigh, received in the Indiana game but will be in condition to play part of the contest with Purdue.

COMMITTEE HAS BALANCE

FIFTY-TWO DOLLARS TAKEN IN
AT McKEEN FIELD SATURDAY MORNING

EXPECTED CROWD TO BE LARGE

Arthur Kirkpatrick, president of the student council, yesterday announced that $10.65 was cleared on the "Old Gold Day" celebration. The gate receipts aggregated $52.25 and the expenditures amounted to $41.20. The money was applied in paying printer's bills, telephone expense, ribbons, rope, the band and a banner which was presented to the freshman class.

These figures were far beyond those which the committee expected although the crowd would have been much larger had the weather been more favorable. As it was a crowd of nearly seven hundred watched the freshman-sophomore football game and scrap.

HON. S. A. HAYS ADVISES ASPIRANT TO THE LEGAL PROFESSION.

COACH BROWN MADE MEMBER

"Any young man of ordinary intelligence if he had the proper perseverance can hope for reasonable success in the profession of the law," said Silas A. Hays, when addressing the Law Club last evening.

In continuing he said in part: "There is no royal road to success in the law. You can not hope to achieve early eminence nor is it a quick way to gain a fortune. Success comes slowly and only with hard work but it is greatest of all successes when you have once won."

"Of the three branches of our Government, executive, legislative and judicial the last is controlled entirely by the legal profession, and ninety per cent of the important places in the other two all held by lawyers. So when success does come it is big success."

"But do not be impatient to enter on your work. By all means complete your college education. There is no knowledge that is not needed in the law. Build well, work long and hard and success is yours. But you can't hope to win by trickery or shrewdness. Only squareness will bear you to the coveted goal."

Coach Brown was elected an honorary member. Donald Elliott, Fred Wallace and Harry Shakelford were elected to active membership. The next meeting of the club will be held at the Phi Psi house.

GIVE NUMERALS

Freshman and Sophomores Will Reward Class Representatives.

A worthy action has been taken by the members of the freshmen and sophomore classes in awarding class numerals to their representatives in the athletic contests upon "Old Gold Day." It is thought that this will stimulate class pride and result in a larger number of men turning out in next year's contest. That it has not been an easy matter to win these numerals could easily be seen from the fact that almost two teams could have been formed by either class in both basketball and football. That this is a healthy sign for DePauw athletics there can be no doubt. Aside from the numerals the underclassmen will have no distinctive dress but a movement is already being agitated by members of the junior and senior classes to establish some distinctive garb such as the semibros of the juniors last year and the sweater vests of the seniors. Definite action will take place upon the matter within the next two weeks.

SPY TAKES PLAYS

It is Said That Purdue Men Watched Saturday's Game.

It is reported that Purdue had a representative recording Brown's plays during last Saturday's game with Georgetown. The coach is not worrying, however, over anything Purdue may have gained from the contest Saturday.

"Such a plan is to be expected," said he, "that's a common practice and will in no way interrupt our preparations for next Saturday's game at Lafayette."

His Own People.

The negro blood wherever it is, declares Ray Stannard Baker in American Magazine, supplies an element of light heartedness which will not be wholly crushed. In illustration he tells this story of a very light mulatto of Tennessee:

A number of years ago it came to him suddenly one day that he was white enough to pass anywhere for white, and he acted instantly on the inspiration. He went to Memphis and bought a first class ticket on a Mississippi river boat to Cincinnati. No one suspected that he was colored. He sat at the table with white people and even occupied a stateroom with a white man. At first, he said, he could hardly restrain his exultation, but after a time, although he associated with the white men, he began to be lonesome.

"It grew colder and colder," he said.

In the evening he sat on the upper deck, and as he looked over the railing he could see down below the negro passengers and deck hands talking and laughing. After a time when it grew darker they began to sing the inimitable negro songs.

"That finished me," he said. "I got up and went downstairs and took my place among them. I've been a negro ever since."

WHICH WAS THE GUILTY MAN?

[Original.]
I am retired from the banking business after thirty years' service. On one occasion during this long term a singular thing occurred. The bank I was connected with was a small affair, and we rarely had in the vault over fifty or sixty thousand dollars in currency, but at one time, owing to a peculiar financial condition of the country, we had over two hundred thousand. This money had accumulated during the week and reached the above figure on Saturday at the close of banking hours.

That Saturday night I fell to thinking about this great sum on hand. Our safe was an old pattern and could be readily opened by any bank robber with an ordinary capacity for his business. The combination was known to two officers of the bank (the president and cashier) and myself. I was paying teller. I was not thinking of any danger from within, only from without. The matter having once got into my head I couldn't get it out. I sat at home thinking about it till after midnight and then, without any definite purpose, put on my hat and walked to the bank, which was but a few blocks away. I strolled past the building, turned back and, yielding to an impulse, went in, made straight for the vault, saw no evidence of change and was about to turn away when a desire seized me to see that the cash was there. I was turning the combination knob when the door opened and the cashier entered.

"What are you doing here?" he asked, evidently astonished and at the same time suspicious.

"I came to see that the cash is all right. What did you come for?"

"I came for that too. I confess I didn't expect to find the teller of the bank opening the vault at this time of night."

"And I didn't expect the cashier to put in an appearance. Your tone indicates a suspicion that I am here to rob."

"I can't think of anything more suspicious than the teller of the bank opening the vault at 1 o'clock in the morning."

"What's happened?" he asked quickly. "Any funds missing?"

"I think not," said the cashier. "But there is no telling how much would have been taken had I not arrived at the nick of time."

"I was worried," I faltered, "at having so large an amount of currency in the safe and could not resist an impulse to come and see that all was right."

"And count the funds!" sneered the cashier.

"What brought you?" asked the president of the cashier.

The cashier tried to stammer out a better excuse than I had given and, failing, finally blurted:

"And what brought you, for the matter of that?"

"I? I often come to the bank before going to bed to see that all is safe. Sometimes I get up at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, come here, look around and go home. Tonight, having so much currency in the safe, I was especially anxious."

"Having come first," I said, "on the same errand, I presume I am caught in the act."

"What were you opening the vault for?" asked the cashier. "Couldn't you see that it hadn't been tampered with?"

"I could see that it hadn't been broken open, but I couldn't see that the lock hadn't been picked or that some one knowing the combination hadn't opened it and taken the funds."

"Gentlemen," said the president, "we will have a look at the money and go home."

I was directed to open the safe. The bills were found in piles as they had been left in the afternoon, and the safe was closed, and we separated.

The next day I was called before the president for an examination, which lasted two hours, and when I came out of his private office I saw the cashier go in, as I inferred, for a similar purpose. Notwithstanding that I showed a clean record, the president and cashier after consultation decided to dismiss me.

I appealed to the board of directors, giving them a statement of the facts.

After a meeting for consultation the board gave out a decision that the meeting of the three in the bank was a coincidence, that there was no guilt attached to any one of us, but, rather, we were all to be commended for our watchfulness.

The only good this did me was that I retained my position. I was still under suspicion. This was fostered by the cashier, who, I supposed, won over the president to his views. Nevertheless the president acquiesced in the decision of the board and exonerated me.

It was but a few weeks after all this happened that we were startled at an announcement that the president had resigned and the cashier had been promoted to the vacant position. I was smarting under what I considered a blow, for, since the cashier considered me guilty of an intent to rob the bank, he would likely put me out in time, when the new president informed me that I had been promoted to succeed him as cashier.

I was thunderstruck. He did not refer to the past, and I went about my new duties in ignorance of what had happened to change the situation.

In ten days it came out that the president had lost $200,000 in the stock market.
